Carillon Bells Presented Ranger Church

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

We're still thrilling clear to the toes over the prospect of hearing Christmas music played in Ranger on carillon bells. And that's what's in store for us.

Greeted by that news early this morning we've hardly hit earth since. There is no finer music to be heard than the bells and we think it's safe to say that there are very few towns the size of Ranger to be so blessed.

We were immediately put in mind of the recent best seller, The Miracle of The Bells, and if there's a human being alive that can't be touched by the stirring music of carillon bells, we'd say he's too tough to be moved by even a miracle.

Hadn't it be wonderful to awaken on Sunday morning to the sound of the bells instead of the blaring of a juke box. The bells will carry two miles and that ought to be powerful enough to drown out a juke box nearby.

It's fitting, too, that the bells will be given in memory of one of Ranger's most beloved young ladies, the late Amelia Walker. To it's something that the whole town can enjoy, not just the membership of the church in which they'll be installed.

My, My, we can hardly wait.

Postmaster A. E. Crawley tells us that his office was honored by a visit from Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, his secretary and his son, Pat, Wednesday. The senator and party just dropped into the office for a routine visit, did a little looking around and visiting and left.

We haven't met anyone else who saw them.

The senator told Crawley that he was just passing through and thought he'd stop.

The Bulldogs play their first home game of the season in Ranger Friday night and Coach Warren indicated this morning that they may have to start their game minus three regulars.

Mysterly will definitely be out and it's doubtful if Balch and M. Wilson will see much if any action. All three were injured in the game with Fort Worth Tech.

The boys are expecting a tough tussle and they'll probably get it from reports on the other team.

The coaches were putting the boys through a light workout this afternoon in preparation for the game tomorrow night.

Accidentally, at the game Friday night, the band will parade and following that the Junior High football boys, wearing the suits recently purchased by the Quarterback Club, will be introduced to Ranger football fans.

The Quarterback Club also tells us that they have underway extensive plans for a big pep rally on the night before Ranger's game with Brownwood, which is the Bulldogs' first conference game of the season.

The rally is scheduled to be held in the Recreation building and it's gonna be for the whole town not just for the school kids.

Remember when we used to have 'em like that. Them was the good old football days, too.

So get your hat all set to be at that rally.

More Than 100 Horses In Show

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (UP)—More than 100 horses already have been entered in the Eighth Annual Nacogdoches County Horse Show and a field of at least 250 entries is expected by the Sept. 24 deadline, show officials have announced.

The exhibition will be staged here Oct. 1, 2, and 3.

Most entries to date are from Texas but some horses are coming from Louisiana, Mississippi, and Arkansas.

Five thousand dollars is being spent by the Horse Show Association in remodeling barns, replacing worn equipment and increasing the number of stables.

Admitted To United Nations

Representatives of two new United Nations members attend details of filling out membership papers after they were admitted by a vote of the General Assembly. From left to right are: Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations; Sir Mohammed Zafarullah Khan, chairman of the Pakistan delegation; Dr. Hanna Saba, of Egypt, a member of the UN, and Prince Se Iful Islan Abdullah, of the Yemen delegation. Pakistan and Yemen were admitted only after prolonged balloting. (NEA Telephoto).

MEN, MACHINES BRINGING FIRES UNDER CONTROL

By United Press

CONROE, Tex. — Men and heavy machinery appeared today to be breaking the back of 10-day old fires raging in the flat expanse of heavily wooded East Texas counties when the number of blazes was slashed to about 50 from a high of more than 100 yesterday.

At least 105 fires were burning only 24 hours ago, but an aerial reconnaissance early today disclosed the fire fighters were winning the fight against apparent incendiary in the vast pine forests.

Most of the major fires were in the pineland of Montgomery, San Jacinto, and Liberty counties. Yesterday the fires moved close to the Texas-Louisiana border when seven fires in Jasper and Newton counties destroyed 1,500 acres.

Five fires were spotted and put out in Polk county last night.

Two fires in Walker county were put out before they gained headway. North Harris county had seven small fires which were of short duration.

The Superior Oil Company's installation near Conroe was completely out of danger when it was reported that the woods fire near the plant burned itself out at the edge of the Tomball highway, which served as a fire barrier.

A special crew from the State Forestry Service halted the fire yesterday when it crept as close as 100 yards to the recycling plant where highly inflammable petroleum products are processed.

The State Foresters were using 30 pieces of motorized equipment and 10 additional plows and tractors were due from Mississippi.

"I would say that we have most of the fires under control now," said J. G. Burnside, chief of fire control for the Texas Forestry Service. "But the danger is not over yet, and we still have to worry about the continued activity of firebugs."

Burnside said Texas Rangers have questioned a number of persons, "but they won't talk about setting fires deliberately and the places have destroyed any evidence we could have obtained."

Forestry officials expressed concern over the weather bureau prediction of increased wind velocity over the region embracing 2,000,000 acres of timberland. About 45,000 acres have already been destroyed.

"The weather bureau told us he winds would reach a peak velocity of about 17 miles an hour by mid-afternoon and that there is a possibility that the low pressure area will move in, bringing high winds tomorrow," Burnside said. "Moist air and absence of winds assisted the 225 volunteers yesterday."

REFUGEE SHIPS EXPECTED IN HAIFA TONIGHT

By United Press

JERUSALEM — One of two refugee ships approaching Palestine with 3,596 —ews radioed today that "we shall reach Haifa tonight," indicating the abandonment of hope of running the British blockade.

Soon after the broadcast, British authorities in their first statement on the ships, reported that the convoy should put into Haifa some time tonight.

"We now are cut off by the navy," the radio report from the immigrant vessel said. "In a few moments we will be entering territorial waters. We expect the navy to take us under its wing at any moment."

The ships reported that they were surrounded by British warships. Unless the report of expecting to reach Haifa tonight were some sort of ruse, it apparently meant the Royal Navy was taking the refugees to that port.

The radio report was to the Hagana organization of the Jewish underground. Hagana set up loudspeakers along Allenby street in Tel Aviv to relay broadcasts from the vessels.

The ships were arriving from the Black Sea. One of them was named Redemption, the other Jewish State. Previous reports had indicated they hoped to steal through the blockade and put the refugees ashore somewhere along the north coast of Palestine.

Silver as Solder Used In Toys

NEW YORK (UP) — "Silver-jointed" tricycles are among the toys now being readied for distribution by Santa Claus this year.

Literally, the parts of the frames are stuck together with silver. It is another illustration of peacetime application of a technique expanded during the war; wider and better industrial use of silver brazing alloys.

Melted at relatively low temperatures, the alloys flow almost like water. Capillary attraction pulls the binding fluid in between the most closely matched surfaces. The solder is so strong that a film a thousandth of an inch or less is enough to bind joints second only to welding in strength.

Assuming well - machined surfaces, as much silver as is contained in a dime probably would be enough for the joint of a tricycle.

At least 100 gallons of good quality table syrup can be made from a ton of dried almond hulls, say University of California scientists.

New Paris Hat Fashions Literally Might Knock Your Eye Out

By SALLY SWING

United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Some Paris hats this season would knock your eye out.

Models at Pierre Balmain's for example, are especially designed to tickle your fancy, or your eyeball.

The hats are bicorns, like those Napoleon used to wear, except instead of looking sideways, the corns are turned fore and aft. Sticking out of the front corn is a long and dangerously pointed feather.

For cocktails, the single feather is replaced by a horizontal shelf of paradise feathers on a round hat, designed to shade the eyes, probably.

No matter what the Paris hat is, or where the feather may be, the millinery business in Paris is booming. One American buyer brought 150 models within a week.

Louise Brooks, another American buyer in hats, said the American woman cannot ignore new trends in headgear over here.

"The most interesting thing I've seen," Miss Brooks said, "was the pillbox worn well down on the head, and even cutting the forehead, which Paulette featured."

"This will be big news for the American woman, who for years has worn things on the back of her head."

The big trend, according to experts, in Paris hats is the move towards smallness.

The new little hats are designed to make the head look small, and often are worn towards the front. They are not the "doll" hat which was the leader with American women so many years, nor are they beanie (small caps on the back of the heads). They are not turbans or berets either.

GRAND JURY MAKES REPORT THEN ADJOURNS

The 91st District grand jury, which has just adjourned, made the following report to Judge Geo. L. Davenport.

We, the Grand Jury for the 91st District Court of Eastland County, Texas, August Term, A. D. 1947, desire to submit our final report.

We have spent eight days in session and have interrogated a considerable number of witnesses. We have returned sixty-one indictments.

We wish to thank the District Attorney and the Sheriff's Department and all Bailiffs for their efficient service and prompt cooperation with reference to all matters investigated.

We wish to commend especially the State Highway Patrol for their efficient work in connection with the highway accident occurring on the Cisco-Breckenridge highway.

We have investigated within our ability all matters that have come to our attention and have acted on those in accordance with the evidence presented.

There has been nothing brought to our attention concerning violation of weights and measure laws.

We have inspected the jail and found it to be in satisfactory condition, except that we recommend that the bath tub on the second floor be replaced, with a shower, that several commodes that are in ill repair be replaced and that those mattresses which are in bad conditions be rebuilt or replaced. Furthermore, we recommend that close supervision be had of the prisoners and that definite hours be prescribed and followed for visiting of prisoners.

We desire to commend the officers for the work that they have done in reducing reckless driving and that they be urged to continue with diligence the further correction of reckless driving.

We recommend that alleged violations of gambling statutes be investigated and more strictly and impartially enforced.

We are of the opinion that responsibility for delinquents is with the parents rather than the court. This condition is being studied and discussed by the people who are much more familiar with the handling of delinquents than the Grand Jury, and, therefore, we hesitate to make definite recommendations as to any change in the present procedure of our court.

Having completed our investigation of matters brought to our attention, we request that we be discharged.

Twenty 4-H Club Boys Will Go To The State Fair

Twenty Eastland County 4-H Club boys and eight of the boys' dads, accompanied by J. M. Cooper, County Agricultural Agent, will leave early Saturday for the opening day at the State Fair of Dallas. The day has been designated as 4-H Club and F.F.A. Day.

The group chartered a bus from the West Texas Transportation Company. They will return on Saturday night, it was said.

The group will look over the beef and dairy cattle exhibits, the poultry and hogs and see what is new in the farm machinery line as well as the crop exhibits.

They will be guests of the Fair officials for a fried chicken lunch at noon.

Only a few of the outstanding 4-H Club boys over the county will make the trip. Members from several different 4-H Clubs over the county are included among those going. Towns represented will be: Desdemona, Gorman, Ranger, Eastland, Morton Valley and Scranton.

Those from Eastland going are E. J. Sneed and son Ernest, T. E. Warden and son Guy; George I. Lane and son, George Jr.

Other club boys from Eastland include Tom Grissom, Jimmie Spaulding, Jack Muirhead Jr., Buddy and Edwin Aaron and Charles Mackey.

T. O. Friday and son, Rex, and B. O. Koince and son Joe Ben, from Desdemona plan to go as well as J. O. Jackson and son Ronald from Gorman.

Ranger will be represented by J. A. Stewart and sons Garland and Clinton.

Douglas and Gerald Williamson of Morton Valley, Clarence Case and Donald Walker also from Morton Valley will be along.

Friendly Wave Causes Officers Pick-Up Order

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—The long arm of the law drew back a nub here recently.

Texas Ranger Zeno Smith and State Liquor Control Agent Sandor Ambrus were cruising along a main street in San Antonio looking for anything suspicious.

Suddenly, a man slowly drew along side of them, spotted the occupants and sped away. A pickup call was hastily sent by Smith and Ambrus.

Within a matter of minutes, the suspicious automobile was halted to the curb by Police Officer William Porter. Peering inside, Porter was met by a man who enthusiastically identified himself as Phillip Medlin, Sheriff of Seguin, Texas.

"I merely slowed down to wave at Zeno," Sheriff Medlin explained.

Enrollment At U. T. Hits Peak

By United Press

AUSTIN, Tex. — University of Texas enrollment is the highest in its history at 17,343, officials reported today, but they believed veteran enrollment may have passed its peak and said here are some 400 fewer freshmen in classes than a year ago.

The junior college movement in Texas was assigned as the cause for fall off in freshmen enrollment.

Trees Ought To Grow In Northwest

SEATTLE (UP)—A total of 328,000 seedling trees were planted in the national forests of Washington and Oregon during the fiscal year of 1947, United States Forest Service officials report.

Principal planting areas were in the Olympic national forest in Washington, 47,000 trees; Snoqualmie, in the Washington Cascade range, 100,000 trees, and in the Sitka range on the Oregon coast, 138,700 trees.

In 1948, a total of 5,931,000 seedlings, made up of Douglas fir Sitka spruce, Port Orford cedar and ponderosa pine, will be set out, Forest Service officials said.

INSTRUMENT TO BE INSTALLED AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH BY CHRISTMAS

Gift Made By Hall Walker, Wesley Walker In Memory of the Late Amelia Walker

If present plans carry as is expected, Ranger will hear its Christmas music played on an elaborate set of carillon bells.

This was made known Wednesday night when it was announced at a meeting of the board of deacons of the First Baptist Church that the bells are being given to the church by Hall Walker and his son, Wesley Walker in memory of their daughter and sister, the late Amelia Walker.

The order for the bells was placed by long distance telephone last night after the deacons had accepted the gift.

Inspired by the generous gift, the deacons voted to buy a pipe organ for the church and when their decision was presented to the membership later, they too voted to proceed with the purchase of the organ. The organ will be a Hammond electric instrument.

Decision to go ahead with their plan to give bells to the church was reached by the Walkers after they with a group of men from the church visited Cleburne Wednesday and heard similar bells played in the First Baptist church there. Others making the trip to Cleburne were Rev. David C. Ham, T. J. Anderson, L. L. Bruce, John Tibbels, Hugh Smith and Joe N. Graham.

There will be 26 bells in the set and it is understood that their tones will carry two miles. Within the church there will be six earphones designed for use by people who are slightly deaf. There will also be loud speakers in the church to even the distribution of sound and one will be placed in the nursery so that those attending children there can hear the music clearly.

The instrument will be played by pre-recorded tape and records and will have a time clock so that that it can be set for programs at specific hours and the program concluded without the aid of attendants.

The bells were ordered from Schulmerich Electronics, Inc., in Sellersville, Pa. and will be one of the finest that can be bought. The company is the largest producer of such instruments in the United States and delivery of the bells will be expedited by the aid of Dr. Venting of Cleburne who is personally acquainted with some of the personnel of the company.

FARMERS TOLD TO MARCH ON ROME SUNDAY

By United Press

ROME, — While government officials held emergency meetings today in an attempt to stave off a 200,000-man "limited" general strike in Rome tomorrow, Communist labor leaders ordered 4,000 farmers to stage a "March on Rome" Sunday.

A source close to Premier Alcide De Gasperi's cabinet said: "After studying reports of what happened in Hungary, it seems as if the same sort of thing is going on here. The Communists are trying to keep the government so busy dealing with agitation it is almost impossible to do any governing."

The Communists gave the same reason for the threatened strike tomorrow and Sunday's projected march... They demand that the government do something about letting "farmers" work fallow land around Rome.

Government officials, labor leaders and representatives of property owners met to consider the Communist demand that 30,000 "unemployed" farmers be given at least 80 per cent of the uncultivated land in Rome province. More squatters moved into uncultivated land today despite heavy police patrols.

State Rests Case In Stokes Trial

By United Press

HENDERSON, Tex. — The state rested its case against Mrs. Dorothy Stokes, charged with the poison murder of Mrs. Dorothea Garrett, in a surprise move shortly after court reconvened today.

The court recessed briefly to permit the defense counsel to confer with witnesses.

In rebuttal testimony, the state was expected to offer a surprise witness whose testimony may reveal unforeseen development in the case.

A jam-packed courtroom of about 1,200 persons yesterday heard the defendant's signed confession admitted as evidence in the second trial of Mrs. Stokes.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—The study of U. S. resources which President Truman asked Interior Secretary J. A. Krug to make three months ago is now nearing completion. This is the first of three investigations to see how much aid the U. S. can furnish Europe without going broke.

Edson

First draft of the Krug report is a typewritten document about three inches thick. When finally approved by all government agencies that have had a hand in its preparation, the report goes to the President. It's up to him to decide whether the report will be made public. It should be.

There has been a tremendous amount of conflicting information put out about America's dwindling resources and its inability to produce more. Value of the Krug report is that it will be a complete postwar appraisal of U. S. surpluses and shortages. As such, it should have some bearing on future domestic policies as on the European aid program.

Main thing the Krug report may do is to point out the need for greater U. S. imports, particularly of the raw materials it lacks. U. S. imports have not come close to balancing exports since '38 and '37. Today, exports are running at the rate of $17.1 billion while imports are $5.7 billion—a 3-to-1 ratio. Last year it was 2-to-1. And, while the U. S. is now exporting about eight per cent of its gross national product of $23 billion, it imports only three per cent of that.

To the rest of the world this unbalance of trade is looked upon as a shortage of dollars with which to buy American products. Properly viewed, it is not a shortage of dollars but a shortage of goods, which the U. S. needs to buy from the rest of the world to bring its economy into balance.

U. S. supplies of things like tin—of which this country has none at all—must, of course, be imported before they can be exported in manufactured goods. In a slightly different category, the U. S. doesn't produce enough copper, lead or zinc for its own needs.

On materials like high-grade iron ore and petroleum the story is still different. U. S. reserves may be exhausted within a generation, though they are more than ample now.

There is enough American coal to last for centuries. With any kind of co-operation from the weatherman, the U. S. can produce all the food that's needed. The drain on soil to grow these extra supplies is insignificant, if good farming methods are followed.

Any idea that the U. S. can't turn out enough manufactured goods for its own needs and Europe's is, of course, fantastic. With the U. S. index of industrial production down from its peak of 239, in 1943, to 176, in 1945, and a rate of around 185 today, there is plenty of capacity to turn out more goods for wherever they may be needed.

In final analysis, however, these things aren't going to be settled on any economic basis. The play is for the Krug report to go to Chairman Edwin G. Nourse of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, who will appraise the impact of the aid program on the U. S.—whether it will cause prices to rise still higher.

Both reports then go to Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman and his committee of 15-18 big business men, six college professors and two labor leaders, seasoned with one representative of the public, ex-Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., of Wisconsin. They'll balance these two reports against the requirements for the Marshall plan drawn up at Paris, and make recommendations to the President on what he ought to do about the whole thing.

The President will then send a message to Congress. That message, this whole involved business will be settled on a political basis. The factors will be how much more burden the American taxpayer will stand, the effect of the aid program on U. S. price levels, and the degree to which European governments will co-operate with the U. S. in return for aid received. In short, how much is America willing to pay to keep Europe from going Communist?

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Tris Speaker, Harry Hooper and Duffy Lewis. They must have been good. Baseball people speak of them as though the trio played yesterday, although they sealed the heights as a combination 35 years ago.

They are to the outfielders what Tinker to Evers to Chance is to the infield. There was a premium on throwing in that era of the dead ball and scientific baseball, and the arms of Speaker, Hooper and Lewis had the power and accuracy of a sniper's rifle. They didn't bounce the ball into the catcher's hands. They threw strikes.

It was nothing short of suicide for a baserunner to try for an extra base or attempt to score from third after Speaker, Hooper or Lewis made a catch. Not even the venturesome Tyus Raymond Cobb would run the risk.

SPEAKER, Hooper and Lewis played catch in the outfield following a catch, threw the ball around like infielders.

Speaker played the shortest center field, could travel back farther than any other retriever. Theatrical agent Marty Farkins, a rival fan, called him Death. Even with the lively ball, Speaker contends outfielders play too deep, that too many hit drop in front of them.

They still speak of Duffy's knoll at Fenway Park, recalling Lewis' eventful years there.

Hooper specialized in coming in on low line drives, sliding on one knee for 16 yards or more in order to make a catch. He played right, his son fielded at Fenway Park, the most difficult of all big league fields.

Speaker spoiled the fastest batting average, broke Cobb's league-leading slugging with 384 in 1908, the first year with the Cleveland club.

Cattle, Airplanes Take Turn About

JACKSON, Wyo. (UP)—Air enthusiasts of this Jackson Hole town have found a new use for corrals. They put their airplanes in the pole enclosures each night to keep cattle and horses from eating the fabric. The animals run outside the corral. Then in the morning they put the airplanes out, and the cattle and horses inside the corral.

DOCTOR WOODWARD'S AMBITION By Elizabeth Saifer

THE STORY: Andrew drops in on the Glenn one Sunday afternoon. Jerry is hunting his studies and Andrew attempts to cheer him up. Andrew also tells Nikki not to let to be nervous. The story continues with a scene where Andrew and Nancy are talking.

her come alive, her perceptions sharpen, her feelings deepen. Andrew made her feel important, and attractive, and she did love to feel so. Any woman did! The music finished, Andrew left, quietly slipping out of the room. Jerry went with him to the door, and they heard him, later, stumping down the steps to his room. Nancy sat on, dreamy-eyed, before the fire, continuing to examine luxuriously her feelings for Andrew. A thread of the music lingered like perfume in her brain. NIKKI uncurling her legs, came over to the hearth, set the screen aside to place a fresh log across the grate. The firelight illuminated her face and Nikki's still kneeling upon the rug, she turned a little to look at her mother. "Dr. Woodward was as perky today as his red-spotted brown bow tie," she said lightly. Nancy looked up. She was wearing a blouse of very soft, white stuff, lace-set and embroidered exquisitely. It was becoming to her delicate coloring, her pale, shining hair brushed upward from her neck. "Do you see much of him, Nikki?" Nikki asked curiously. "I know you jelly with him occasionally." Nancy smiled at the term. "I like Dr. Woodward very much," she said softly. Nikki's brown eyes hardened. "If you were 18, I'd say he had a crush on the guy." Nancy's face went dead-white, her eyes hardened to the brightness of cold steel, her hand drew back, and for the first time in their lives, she slapped her daughter. Slapped her hard, the sound ringing through the quiet room, the mark of her fingers showing red against Nikki's cheek. Horrified, the two women faced each other for a minute that seemed more like an hour. Then Nancy moaned a little, reached toward Nikki, and the girl was in her arms, both of them sobbing together, a cup of coffee at the Huddle—little things to loom so large upon her horizon. But she cherished each meeting, and the way he seemed to make

U. S. AIR SCIENTISTS SEEK SUPREMACY IN JET FLIGHT

By Charles Cordry
 United Press Aviation Writer
 CLEVELAND, O. (U.P.)—Aviation scientists are working day and night on jet flying in the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics propulsion laboratory here.

They are convinced that the most likely answer to the problem of supersonic (faster than sound) flight is a small, uncomplicated device with no moving parts, the ram jet engine. A large part of their research effort is devoted to it.

In this federal research laboratory is in the field of jets of various types. NAACA experts believe that the conventional up-and-down, piston type engine would predominate in any war in the next five or 10 years. But they are looking beyond.

The supersonic plane, as envisioned here, would have two jet engines. One would be the familiar turbo-jet which powers present-day jet bombers and fighters. That would get the plane up to, say, 500 to 600 miles per hour. Then the ram-jet would be turned on. It is nothing more and speeds up to twice those of sound.

Elsewhere there is research in plastics to see whether they can withstand better the terrific temperature to which jet engines are subjected. A special plant is nearing completion for research in fuels that may give jets more range, an important matter for American combat planes.

MILWAUKEE UP)—It almost cost Wenceslaus Blaha $25 to learn not to invite a lady for a ride unless properly introduced.
 Mrs. Marcella Breitzman, 35, testified in court that Blaha tried to pick her up. When Judge Harvey L. Neelen imposed a $25 fine,
 Mrs. Breitzman said:
 "Go easy on him judge. Lots of men try to pick me up. I think he's learned his lesson. Besides he's got a wife and four children."
 Blaha commented that Mrs.
 Breitzman had looked familiar and he was only trying to be friendly. He added that he had told his wife about the incident.
 The judge resigned the fine.

Delivery Of War Dead Remains To Have Time Lapse

Colonel C. C. Strawn, Commanding Officer of Fort Worth Quartermaster Depot, announced today that there will be an operation time lapse between arrival of deceased military personnel at ports of New York and San Francisco and the final delivery of remains to next-of-kin.

This lapse of time may be as great as three (3) weeks, depending upon distance of residence of next-of-kin from port at which remains arrive and the number of rail transfer points and rail connections to be made between port, distribution centers and final destination.

Colonel Strawn stressed that next-of-kin will receive positive information from distribution point nearest residence of next-of-kin as soon as date of arrival at home is known.

Peanut Shelling Plants, Oil Mills Have Light Stock

Southwest peanut shelling plants and oil mills held only light supplies of shelled peanuts or peanut oil and meal this week, according to reports received by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration.

Occasional cars of shelled No. 1 Spanish sold at 16-14 to 16-12 cents per pound f.o.b. shipping point. Slow demand for shelled goods prompted shellers to use caution in acquiring stocks of farmers' stock peanuts for shelling.

Only a few mills had started operations in North Texas, and only scattered harvesting of early maturing fields took place. Oklahoma yield prospects remain generally good, since recent rains improved the condition of the crop. Harvesting got under way in the southeastern part of the state.

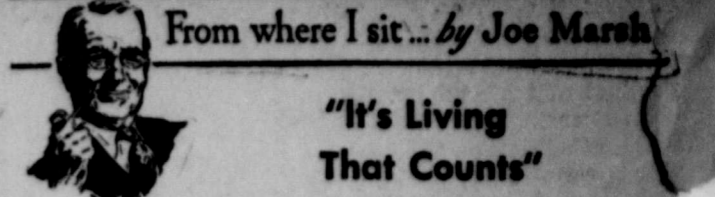

Judge Forgets His Coat So Court's Informed

SPARTA, Wis. (UP)—The circuit court room here sizzled in 90-degree heat, much to the dismay of attorneys who were required to keep their coats on.

Judge R. S. Cowie strode in and rapped the court into session. Then he discovered he had forgotten his coat.

He also observed that the attorneys had noticed and were busy peeling off their coats, too. No one bothered to ask the judge if his appearance was accidental.

Let There Be Light HUNTINGTON, Ind. (UP)—Mrs. Virginia Slipp Mitchell was taking a driving test. The license inspector directed her to back into a parking space. The car hit a light post. The inspector said he didn't see the light post either. Rosen once were used to stuff mattresses because they smelled so sweet.

I stole the title of this column from a magazine article that said a whole lot better than I can what farm and country life can mean. We talk about farm profits, production, research, and mechanical improvements... but isn't it true, what we really value is the life country living offers us?... the chance to be close to our families and neighbors... children sharing in the chores... working with our own hands at a worthwhile job. And country pleasures are simple: good talk at day's end, and

ABSOLVED NAZIS CALLED PERIL TO GERMAN PRESS

By Robert Haeger
 United Press Staff Correspondent
BERLIN (UP) — After two years of trying to build a democratic press in their zone of Germany American authorities face the threat of a gang of ex-Nazis grabbing the product of their labors.
 In licensing more than 40 newspapers, with carefully selected editors and publishers, the Americans took over whatever printing plants were available, most of them Nazi-owned. Now many of the owners, "purified" by German denazification courts, demand the return of their property.
 American military government press officials estimated that more than 70 per cent of the zone's newspapers are endangered by the threat.

To combat it, military government has engineered four plans to keep the papers going and in the hands of "reliable" persons.
 The plans are, in descending order of desirability:

Fires Still Burning In Texas

Only a highway separated this fire from the Superior Oil Co.'s Recycling Plant in the Lake Creek Oil Field near Conroe, Texas. Ben Kelly, operator at the plant, does what he can to stop the small blazes. Some 25 fires have been put out in this area but more fires were started in other sections of the timberland. (NEA Telephoto).

Flood Waters Expose Coal and Bones

RICHMOND, Mo. (UP) — The results of the recent summer floods of the Missouri basin weren't all bad.
 The waters washed a hole approximately 75 feet deep and an acre in extent three miles south-east of Hardin along the Crooked River.
 When the waters receded, observers found a vein of coal approximately 12 inches thick and a cache of bones, believed to be from prehistoric animals. The latter were sent to the University of Missouri for study.

(1) Private lease agreements between plant owners and present operators of papers.
 (2) Fifteen-year leases; this term is being pushed by military government and present publishers as necessary to protect the "new" press.
 (3) Five-year leases, if owners refuse to sign 15-year documents.
 (4) If all the above fail, military government's property control branch steps in and decrees a five-year lease. Under such agreements, the owners would receive a just rental, as determined by three unbiased appraisers even though they refused to sign any lease.

The villain of the piece, so far as military government is concerned, is Dr. Martin Loeffler, an attorney who served the defense in the Nuernberg trials.
 Loeffler has rounded up a group of ex-Nazi plant owners and spearheaded a campaign against long-term leases. Because his clients have now been politically cleared, he is in a strong position to demand the return of their presses and plants.

Information control officials were quick to point out the clearance from a denazification court is far from enough to establish the owner as a suitable man to control a unit of the press in the American zone.

A complicating factor in the whole situation is the shortage of printing equipment in Germany. Hopes that present licensees can start out for themselves if the old owners get their plants back are dimmed by the fact that only two firms in the American zone manufacture rotary presses and there is a waiting period of from two to eight years between orders and deliveries.

It all adds to the feeling of insecurity of the present publishers and strengthens the position of the Nazis who, in the words of one American official, "don't like the press we're building and are just waiting for us to get out."

LIGHT THE WAY TO Better Grades

The headline above tells quite a story. In fact, it tells two stories, for it can be read two ways.
 Read it one way and it says, in effect, "Light IS the Way to Better Grades." Read it the other way and it means "YOU CAN Light the Way to Better Grades for Your Children."
 Either way you read it, it means a lot. Actually, it all adds up to Better Light Plus Better Sight Equals Better Grades.

Although most United States farmers now pump water into their stock tanks, at least two out of three in even the richest farm states do not have it running in the house.

The Art Of Finding Oil

DAN KRALIS
Lone Star Gas Company

(One of a series.)
The first wells were drilled for water and not oil. Before the year 1812, oil penetrated in shallow operations was considered waste material and often meant abandoning location and drilling elsewhere for salt water. Today salt water has the position of one hundred fifty years ago. The Chinese were the first to develop the art of drilling. Before the year 1650 they had drilled twelve hundred feet to two thousand feet deep for salt water. They invented the cable tool method of drilling. The drilling tools were tied to rope attached to end of a spring pole. Men pumped up and down on a lever attached to the pole raised the cable and churning method used to drill the hole.

The Chinese use this same method today in China where salt is evaporated from the water from oil wells. This spring pole method modified by modern machinery and steam, gas, and electric power is the cable tool drilling method of today.

Most of the producing wells in the United States have been drilled by cable tool until recently. Today the rotary system of drilling, the crew driver method, is in predominant use. The rotary system has certain advantages. It is more rapid and can drill deeper. A recent well in Oklahoma was drilled by rotary method to over three miles deep. Tomorrow—Oil in Eastland area.

Heartcase

Don't Matter What They Say

It is really hard on you but yourself.

What they say cannot touch you unless you let it.

To think one's self no true, and you'll be alright.

It is true that some people, in jealousy, in meanness, try to hurt those who are superior in decency, goodness, unselfishness. Those people will try to hurt you to satisfy a depraved urge to hurt within themselves.

Some of your so-called "best friends" may try to talk about you, for some reason. They may make fun of you.

All because you have sense enough, heart enough, self respect enough, to keep your head high above the throng.

Keep it high. Don't lower it an inch.

Pick out your own path in this life and walk it.

You have every right to follow your own, particular star.

When the slurs, the disappointments, the biting tongues are heard, it does not matter what they say if you have been true to yourself.

True to your own standards of rightness.

True to your own definition of a lady.

True to your own definition of a gentleman.

True to your own definition of a decent person.

Ignore it.

No one can hurt you but yourself.

Keep your head high.

You have every right to follow your own, particular star.

Follow its gleam, as you see it. "To think one's self no true," and you'll be alright.

Maine is almost as large as all the other five New England states combined. It has 33,215 square miles, while the total for New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut is 33,893 square miles.
