Truman Wins First Round In Price Fight

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

My, My, what a fine rain! And even the terrific lightning and roaring thunder sounded good. The entire populace stood at windows or on sidewalks watching the spectacle of rain which had become an almost unknown factor.

Farmers, ranchers and business people generally were cheered by the heavy rains which broke a drought that had become serious. People were honestly excited about it and general comment this morning was to the effect that the rains would be of inestimable value to farmers and ranchers.

Water supplies had dwindled to the lowest ebb in some cases and in other cases livestock watering places were completely dried up. Grass was burned to a crisp and was flattened out on the ground.

F. Donley, sheep and goat raiser, stated Saturday morning that his water supplies had been increased materially and the rains will restore his grass.

After a constant effort Saturday morning to contact other farmers and ranchers, we finally came to the conclusion that they were out looking over the situation on their property. One rancher told us Friday night that if the rains continued through the night that great benefit to grass and water supplies would result.

A Ranger woman told us Saturday morning that she was sure that the rains came as a result of her prayers and that if the rest of us had joined her she wouldn't have had to pray so hard. Expect what if the truth were known, many a prayer has crossed the lips of worried farmers and ranchers.

W. F. Crenger of the Commercial-State Bank said this morning that if the rains were pretty general that business conditions generally will be benefited by the rains.

Locally, he felt that we will have at least 30 more days of growing weather and that this will benefit the ranges. He further stated that the rain will probably aid in stimulating and holding up cattle prices.

Jack Moudy of Montgomery Ward and Company stated that they expect noticeable pick-up in soft goods lines. He said that the weather has been so warm and unreasonable that they have suffered. "Talking with farmers coming in Saturday morning," Mr. Moudy said, "it was easy to see that they feel much better than for the past weeks."

Hank Sherman celebrated his 84th birthday Saturday and enjoyed it a lot more because of the rains.

Hank was raking in the birthday presents at such a rate that you might get the idea that it was Christmas time. His friend L. E. Gray gave him the works at his barber shop as a birthday present and Friday night Hank was all shaved and shined for the birthday celebration.

At the Monday night meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees each agreed to take a section of the livestock barn roof frame to paint and have put a five dollar deposit to have it done if they can't do it themselves.

Price, Crawley, Jim Morris and Joe Nuesse have been working at it but find the going a little slow. After six hours of hard work their sections aren't done.

The expect to have a factory representative here the first week in November to supervise the boys in putting on the new aluminum roof.

J. Craver of the J. C. Craver Electric Company says that he hears a lot about people being civic minded and not being, so just to prove that he is, he's giving the materials and labor for lighting the parking lot at the First Baptist Church.

The lot was recently acquired

NEW FIRES IN NEW ENGLAND

BULLDOGS PUT UP GOOD FIGHT TO HOLD BUCKS

A scrappy Ranger Bulldog team won honor in the eyes of the fans Friday night when they held the mighty Breckenridge Buckaroos to a 13 to 0 score at a game played in Breckenridge.

Slated to take a much greater defeat, from a team that's up on top in the district, the Bulldogs were praised by fans for being able to keep the Breckenridge eleven to two touchdowns. Playing on a rain soaked, muddy field, both teams had difficulty holding onto the ball.

On the opening kick with Ranger receiving, Gray took the ball, handed it off to Williams who picked up good blocking. It appeared for a moment that he was loose for a touchdown but Dean came from behind and caught him on the 30 yard line just as Williams cut back to the middle of the field.

Spencer, the Buck kicker, was the only thing that saved the Buckaroos in the first half. The Bulldogs kept Breckenridge deep in their own territory but good punts by Spencer moved them out of danger. Williams would then punt for Ranger and back down to the danger zone for the Buckaroos.

Both teams fumbled several times and the first half ended 0 to 0. Breckenridge scored only one first down in the first half.

Ranger kicked to Breckenridge at start of the second half. After a series of punts the Bucks got a break and went on down the field to score. From the 39 yard line the Bulldogs were running the old Statue of Liberty play. As Williams took the ball from Wright, he was hit hard, fumbled and Breckenridge recovered. From this point Newberry carried the ball, each time picking up yardage until he went over left tackle for the first score. The kick was good for the extra point and the score was 7 to 0.

About three minutes later, Ranger had the ball on the 12 yard line but again they fumbled and Breckenridge recovered. Newberry scored around left end but they failed to convert the extra point, making the score 13 to 0.

It appeared that these two breaks defeated the Bulldogs who were in there fighting and held the Bucks the rest of the game. Imholz stood out on tackles and recovering fumbles and Balch, Langley, Munnerlyn, Bush and Heinlein, showed up on defense, playing one of the best defensive games seen this year.

Townzen and Williams bucked the line with Gray, Lanier and Wright playing the other defensive slots. Ranger fans were pleased with the game and felt that without the breaks for Breckenridge, the Bulldogs would have come home victorious. The Bulldogs used only two substitutes, Imholz for Deaton and Williams for Langley. Deaton and Williams for Langley, Langley was hurt but returned to the game later.

First Of War Dead To Arrive In Near Future

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Norwood have received word from the War Department that the remains of their son, Afc. Wayland E. Norwood, will arrive in the near future.

The body will be sent to Clyde for burial, that being the former home of the Norwoods and the town from which the son went into service.

Pfc. Norwood was killed in action in Europe on December 12, 1944 and was buried in Belgium.

3.78 INCHES RAINFALL BREAKS SEVERE DROUGHT

Cheerful rains which began to fall in Ranger about 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon broke one of the most severe droughts in Ranger's history and as clouds began to clear during the middle of Saturday morning, a total of 3.78 inches of rain had fallen. The heavy downpour had been preceded by a light shower earlier in the afternoon.

At 8 o'clock this morning over five feet of water had been added to Lake Hagaman and the lake was still rising. Slow showers which came between the heavier rains will give moisture to a parched earth. As near as could be determined the rains were general over this section.

An electrical storm which came with the first rainfall, continued intermittently all through the night and the Texas Electric Company reported Saturday morning that they had suffered considerable damage and a cubic A. N. Larson, manager of the Ranger branch of the company, stated that more trouble was experienced than usual because of the recurrence of the electrical storms.

Employees of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company stated Saturday morning that 150 telephones in Ranger were out of order due to cable trouble. It had not been determined whether this resulted from the electrical storm but the cable was wet causing the phones to go out.

Distillers Shut Down Plants At Midnite Sat.

WASHINGTON—The President's food committee said today that more than 95 per cent of the nation's distilling capacity definitely will shut down at midnight to save grain "for the hungry people" of Europe.

The 60-day whiskey-making "holiday" was not expected to have any material effect either on retail liquor supplies or prices. Industry sources said distillers would have ample reserves to carry them through the shutdown.

Charles Luckman, chairman of the committee, said the whiskey shutdown was a "major contribution" to the task of providing an additional 100,000,000 bushels of grain for hungry Europe this winter.

Former Resident Killed In Ada, Oklahoma Crash

Dave Vermillion of Olden Saturday received word of the death of Kerbie Crosbie at Ada, Oklahoma. Mr. Crosbie who was a former Ranger resident was killed in a car accident.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Ada.

During his residence here, the deceased was associated with the Sunny Jim Oil Company which was headed by his uncle J. E. Crosbie.

Word of his death came in a telegram from his son, Kerbie Crosbie, Jr.

Congressmen Invited To Big Flying Boat Test

LOS ANGELES—Howard Hughes today invited a congressional committee investigating his airplane contracts to attend launching and taxi tests for his $18,000,000 plywood flying boat between Nov. 5 and 10.

The eight-engined monster, designed as an army cargo and transport plane, was one of the principal targets of an investigation opened by the Senate investigating committee last summer and scheduled to resume Nov. 17.

The huge plane, built to carry 750 fully equipped infantrymen, has been a source of controversy since Hughes started to construct it in 1942.

For the 12 months ended in July, 1947, there were 33,700 traffic fatalities, the National Safety Council said.

FRESH FLAMES ROAR THROUGH NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON—Fanned by a south-east wind, fresh flames roared through Maine today, threatening a convent and college, and there appeared scant hope in New England for relief from fires that have taken 20 lives and caused perhaps $40,000,000 damage.

Wrapping their robes about their waists, 10 Franciscan priests and students at the Franciscan College they direct at Biddeford, Me., joined firefighters in battling a blaze that already had forced the evacuation of 110 students from the Stella, Maria Convent.

Flames were within a quarter-mile of the buildings and there were unconfirmed reports that several hundred persons were being driven toward the sea at Biddeford pool by the insatiable flames.

Meanwhile, at Falmouth, Mass. on Cape Cod, a three-day old fire got out of control and swept down on the town on a four-mile path.

Mountain Is Born
TOKYO (U)—Japanese scientists will leave for Hokkaido in November to investigate the growth of a mountain that rose to the height of 1,200 feet in two years. The mountain appeared in a region which saw as many as 100 earthquakes a day from 1943. Flat land rose from three to six feet a day.

GARY COOPER TESTIFIES

As the House Un-American Activities committee resumed its probe into Hollywood Communism, actor Gary Cooper took the stand in Washington. Cooper told the committee that he had been forced to turn down "some scripts" in Hollywood because they were loaded with Communistic views. He told of how he rejected one movie role because it was about an "Army whose members would not fight." (NEA Telephoto).

CZECHS ASK GLOBAL MORAL DISARMAMENT

LAKE SUCCESS—Czechoslovakia, calling for global "moral disarmament," warned the United Nations today that war propaganda had blossomed into "war hysteria" in some parts of the world.

Czech Foreign Minister J. A. Masaryk said "journalistic bravado" and "incendiary headlines" had helped whip up dangerous war talk and that it was up to the UN General Assembly to check such a trend.

Masaryk, appealing for approval of the Soviet resolution against "warmongers" in the United States, Greece, Turkey and other places, said the Russian proposal was not aimed at interfering with any nation's freedom of the press.

"It is aimed at flagrant abuses of this freedom," the Czech argued. "Moral and material disarmament," he concluded, "should go hand in hand."

South Africa's Harry G. Lawrence said his country would welcome being associated with the United States, Greece and Turkey "whose record in the sphere of international cooperation needs no defense."

To complaints by the western powers of recent Soviet press and radio attacks on the United States and others, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky replied that there will be more and sharper attacks as long as the western countries attack the Soviet Union.

Congressman To Speak At Rotary Club Wednesday

It was announced today that Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson, representative of the 17th Congressional District, will speak at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Wednesday at noon in the Blue Room of the Gholson Hotel.

Officials of the club stated that an invitation has been extended to the Ranger Lions Club to attend the meeting and invitations to a number of others and out-of-town guests.

Congressman Burleson will discuss legislation of the recent session of Congress and will likely discuss the issues that will come before the special session coming up November 17.

Names Omitted From Honor Roll

Through error two names were omitted from the Hodges Oak Park school honor roll published in the Friday edition of the Times.

They were Dan Mitchell on highest honor list and Don James on high honor list. Both are in 6-A grade.

In 1469 the English tenant farmer was first protected from having his property seized for the landlord's debts, beyond the amount of rent due.

Investigators At Scene Of Plane Wreck

BRYCE CANYON, Utah—Scores of investigators picked over chunks of aluminum, charred baggage and mangled bodies today hunting the cause of a fire that forced a United Air Lines DC-6 transport to crash and carry 52 persons to flaming deaths.

Air lines officials praised the pilot, Capt. E. L. McMillen of Balboa Beach, Cal., for his vain fight to keep the plane in the air just a half minute longer when he might have been able to land on the Bryce Canyon emergency air strip.

Only one other disaster in the history of American aviation exceeded it for the number of lives lost. That was the crash of an airliner near Port Deposit, Md., on May 30 this year when 53 persons were killed.

The story of McMillen's fight to keep the plane flying as flames ate into the tail section from the baggage compartment fire was told most dramatically in three messages he sent within six minutes.

"We have baggage fire aboard," he said at 12:21 P. M. PST. "We are coming into Bryce Canyon. We have smoke filled plane. Unable to put out fire as yet. Also do not know if fire is out."

The crew—and perhaps some of the passengers—apparently fought the flames for five minutes while McMillen struggled to maintain control of the plane. At 12:26 he reported—

"Tail is going out. We may get down and may not. Best place we can." The fight went on for another minute. Then at 12:27—

"May make it. Think we have a chance now. Approaching strip." That was all. The plane crashed some time within the next five minutes, probably as McMillen was preparing to drop his landing gear to set down on the strip.

Mother Of Olden Woman Better

Word has been received from Mrs. Dave Vermillion of Olden who was called to Harrison by the illness of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Monk, that the mother is improving.

Mrs. Monk suffered a stroke but is said to be rallying from it. She will be brought to the Vermillion home early this week.

Restrictions On Water Use Lifted

A. L. Stiles, water commissioner of the city of Ranger, announced today that due to the heavy rains of Friday and Saturday morning the restrictions on the use of city water will be lifted.

At 8 o'clock this morning Lake Hagaman had risen over five feet and was still rising. This, Stiles explained, would be enough to justify the lifting of the restrictions.

Earlier the city had ordered all irrigation and car washing to be stopped until relief had come.

Letters From Readers

Editor's Note: Mrs. Ethel Brooks Gilmore has submitted the following article backing up her contention that a drought feared in the discovery of oil near Ranger in 1917.

By Ethel Brooks Gilmore
I like Mrs. Ducker's Well, I Dunno, but I've been writing historical articles for a long time. The first thing we are taught is to have the line of truth or as near as possible.

An article written by Mrs. M. H. Hagaman in 1924 tells of that two year drought at the time of oil discovery here.

Boyce House mentions it in 1937. Ed. T. Cox Sr., of Eastland recalled it. J. H. Wheat, a pioneer, told me that the "windows of heaven opened up to end the terrible drought." Those who knew him, knew how deeply religious he was.

My husband, Ben F. Gilmore was Fort Worth rate clerk for the Texas and Pacific railway through 1918 and 1919, so was familiar with conditions. He came to Ranger in the early fall of 1920, back in the dear old days when we rode the horse drawn mud-sled to cross Main street.

I have a very old picture of a wagon train of people passing through Carbon headed east from Eastland county.

As near as I can tell from the records, the drought started in 1916 and lasted through the spring and summer of 1918.

MARKETS DROP AS PRESIDENT ASKS ACTION OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON—Administration supporters claimed round one of the high price battle today as commodity markets sagged under President Truman's demand that Congress combat inflation and the high cost of living. He plans to bring prices into line with the people's incomes.

The president told a radio audience last night he would propose to the special Congress session convening here Nov. 17 a program for dealing with living costs inflation and high prices. He said comprehensive legislation is necessary.

Mr. Truman also revealed stop-gap foreign and occupation-area spending plans which may hike the special session emergency aid bill to nearly $1,000,000,000—preliminary to Marshall plan expenditures thereafter.

Immediate Republican reaction to the President's 17-minute speech was chill but cautious. Some Republicans objected that Mr. Truman made no specific recommendations for dealing with the critical domestic situation. Sen. Ralph E. Flanders, R., Vt., suggested that the GOP leadership work out its own legislative program "so that we can be off and running when Congress convenes."

One Killed 20 To 25 Injured In T&P Train Wreck

JEFFERSON, Tex.—The fireman of a westbound Texas and Pacific passenger train was killed and an estimated 20-25 persons were injured, none of them believed critically, today when the engine and four cars of the train derailed a half mile east of the Jefferson station.

The fireman was identified as W. W. Darr of Fort Worth.

Night Agent J. F. Cornelius said the accident occurred at 3:50 A. M. as the St. Louis-to-Fort Worth train slowed down as it neared the station for its regularly-scheduled stop. The scene of the derailment was on a slight embankment, but all of the cars did not overturn down the embankment, he said.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—With policing of the Balkans and the rightness of the Truman doctrine of aid to Greece and Turkey still two of the most controversial issues before the United Nations General Assembly in New York, it might be fruitful to force into the open the terms of two treaties between Soviet Russia and Yugoslavia.

American officials admit they don't know too much about what's in these documents. The first was concluded in Moscow in April, 1945. Bear in mind that this was before V-E Day. Yet Marshal Tito, alias Josip Broz, Russian-trained Communist, went to Moscow as head of the army in Yugoslavia and there signed a 20-year treaty of friendship between the two countries.

The official government of Yugoslavia, at that time, was the monarchy under the regency of young King Peter II. The election which ousted the king and set Tito up in power as premier, minister of defense, head of the army and virtual dictator, was not held until November, 1945.

Six months later, Tito returned to Moscow to get his second treaty. Only news about it was some ballyhoo in the Moscow press of June 11, 1946, hailing the signing of the pact three days before. According to the Moscow papers, this second treaty provided that Soviet Russia would rebuild Yugoslavia's war industries and equip its armies.

If these are the terms of the second treaty and if they are being carried out, American officials see in them a precedent for exactly what is being done under the Truman plan to aid Greece and Turkey. In that case, Soviet Russia does not have a leg to stand on in her opposition to the Truman plan.

Only difference between the two agreements is that the Truman plan is all out in the open—$100 million for military aid to Turkey, $150 million for Greece. How much Soviet Russia is pouring into Yugoslavia is kept secret in a covenant not openly arrived at. It is this backing by the might of Soviet Russia, however, which makes Tito the bad man of the Balkans.

There is no denying that Yugoslavia was ripe for a revolution when the war was over. Its government under the regency was probably as bad as they come. And the dominant, land-holding clergy, as in all backward countries, was no model of social uplift. Tito was just the boy to clean out this mess, but he went to extremes.

In his relations with the United States, Tito has first blown hot, then cold. At times he has said he wanted friendship and cooperation. That was when he wanted a loan or more relief for his starving people. Yet, when this was denied on the ground that he sent 30,000 tons of wheat to Albania last year, he retaliated by making trouble all over the Balkans.

All the while these extremely annoying incidents have been taking place, an effort has been made to work out a settlement of U. S.-Yugoslav fiscal affairs.

The U. S. government now holds in New York some $47 million in gold belonging to the old royal Yugoslav government. This, and $39 million more in private funds of Yugoslav nationals, were blocked at the beginning of the war. Tito naturally wants to get his hands in his money.

When Tito's government took over, it nationalized all major industries. Among American properties seized were Standard Oil facilities, the American-Yugoslav Electric Company, Corn Products Refining properties, and so on. Remuneration for this must be worked out.

Also, the U. S. furnished Yugoslavia with $32 million lend-lease aid, certain "Plan A" relief, given by the Army before UNRRA. No recompense is asked for the $288 million U. S. aid furnished through UNRRA, but negotiation of other claims has been dragging on since last May, with no settlement in sight.

Wood From Amazon Found Fine For Violin Bows

By H. E. Minard
United Press Staff Correspondent
BELLEVUE, Wash. (UP)—
Pernambuco, a mysterious South American wood, awaits a master craftsman's tools here.
One of the first shipments to this country since before the war, five tons of the rough, vari-colored, grainless logs are being sawed, ripped and delicately carved by 73-year-old Eugene M. Sherman, violin maker.
Pernambuco grows along the tributaries of the Amazon. Not much is known about it, but it is believed that ages ago its resilient limbs made fine bows. The bows were the kind that twang a deadly arrow into a human target.
Today, gentle, gray-haired Sherman is making bows, too. Only his bows, he hopes, will make the sweetest music ever heard.
Long ago in the 13th century the Frenchman Francis Tourte made a violin bow. It was an accident how he stumbled on Pernambuco. But nevertheless a Tourte bow never has been equalled.
"It's a mystery and a challenge," Sherman said. "Why does a Stradivarius violin improve when stroked with a Tourte bow?" Tourte discovered Pernambuco long after Stradivarius died, he said.
Sherman believes this country has sufficient talent to steal post-war European output. He said he hoped the Department of Commerce would find a way to increase his import of Pernambuco.
"How is it that an artist like Heifetz can tell a Tourte bow with his eyes closed?" he asked.
"Maybe it's seasoning—or maybe it's cambre."
All Sherman is sure of is that it produces fine music.

Henry VIII Might Roll In Grave About Elizabeth's Wedding Plans

By Robert Musel
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—In the state apartments of the dusty red brick palace Henry VIII built as a London residence four centuries ago, officials of the royal household are busy cataloguing.

They are displaying hundreds of presents sent to the wedding Nov. 20 of Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the throne, and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten. It will not be the sort of wedding flamboyant Henry VIII would have approved. For in the simplicity and dedication to auterity, the marriage of the 21-year-old royal princess and her handsome former prince of Greece is unprecedented. It perhaps will be one of the plainest weddings of any heir to a throne in modern times. King George himself, anxious that the royal family share all of his people's hardships, has rejected any effort to make the marriage a great state occasion. It would seem as incredible in the fairy tales as it does in real life that a princess of the House of Windsor would have to worry about a wedding trousseau, that she would have to appeal to the Board of Trade for additional clothing coupons, that—and this is no secret—part of her honeymoon costume would consist of her mother's worn clothes adapted to fit her own figure. The wedding breakfast—always a grand affair in the past—will be noteworthy only for the toast to the bride and bridegroom offered by the King. The Ministry of Food has not been asked for additional rations. Thus the plain menu will include a fish dish, toast, sandwiches and liquors. Henry VIII, whose gargantuan appetite happily coincided with an ear of a dozen meat courses per meal, would hardly bother to peck at the severely simple offering.

Nor will Elizabeth and her consort sail grandly away in a battleship on a honeymoon to distant places. King George's subjects are in the main confined to their little island by the new exchange restrictions and he has suggested a honeymoon within the homeland. They probably will stay at the castles or homes of friends or relatives—possibly fabled Glamis Castle in Scotland, scene of Shakespeare's "Macbeth," where Elizabeth's mother was born.

For the wedding itself some of the lesser state coaches will be used in the brief drive from Buckingham Palace along the Mall, Whitehall and to the Abbey. The route will be lined with soldiers of regiments in which Elizabeth holds honorary rank and some naval detachments because of Philip's active service in the navy.

There will be no grandstands in the streets—the Ministry of Supply curtly announced that it could not spare the manpower from the national effort. There will be no fireworks display, nor will there be dancing in the parks except as it originates spontaneously with the populace. There will, of course, be crowds in front of Buckingham Palace demanding that the couple appear on the balcony, but that is a normal procedure.

Perry's 1812 Flagship Finds New Friends

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Adm. Oliver H. Perry's flagship, the Niagara, has her champions. A dozen old salts along the Atlantic seaboard offered to do the job after word got around that the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission lacked bidders for a contract to rig the ancient warship that made naval history in the Battle of Lake Erie, War of 1812.

The ship, being restored at Erie, Pa., is awaiting finishing touches to its superstructure.

The commission said that when the state first asked for bids there was no response. After that was publicized, offers came right and left.

If You'd Like To Kiss A Cobra, Jungle Man Says It's A Cinch

By Jean Fogg
 United Press Staff Correspondent
LOMBAY (UP)—Do you want to kiss a cobra?

Just look up John A. Royola, former associate of Frank "Bring 'em Back Alive" Buck, and now custodian of a deck full of animals and snakes which the American ship Flying Enterprise is carrying to New York.

Royola has caught more than 500 cobras bare-handed and has kissed at least one. He likes cobras.

"I feel sort of like an uncle to them," he said.

A Hawaiian-born Filipino and closely resembling Sabu the movie actor, he substituted for the star during the filming of Kipling's "Jungle Stories."

"My part was to give the cobra a realistic kiss," Royola grinned. "Easiest money I ever earned."

During the war he caught cobras for the army in the Philippines. When snake-bite serum was scarce he cauterized a bite by emptying gunpowder into the wound and lighting it with a match. He said it was a sure cure for any venom "if it is done pronto."

It was in Koh Sichang, 50 miles from Bangkok, that Capt. Kai de Vermont, master of the "Flying Enterprise," turned over the forward deck of his ship to Royola's "zoo," which he caught near the Ciam-Burman border.

Five baby elephants with one inch of tuck for each of their five years of age were chained on the deck. In between its use for the seamen, the 550 pound "babies" kept cool by spraying themselves from a drum full of water.

One hundred and fifty monkeys shrieked and chattered in cages across the deck from the 30 cobras, five pythons and a "red band" snake, a small reptile which Royola says is the deadliest snake in the world.

Braille Magazine Now Available To Ranger Blind

Through the efforts of the First Baptist Church, a religious monthly magazine in Braille, The Braille Evangel, has been made available to the blind people of Ranger.

In October, 1946, The Braille Evangel made its opening appearance under the auspices of the The Braille Evangel Commission which consists of a group of Baptist leaders of Texas. In its first months of publication, the magazine has reached 1200 Braille readers throughout the United States and 16 foreign countries. Each issue of the magazine contains about 20 articles in the form of sermons, devotional readings, church music, religious poetry, and articles of doctrinal and inspirational nature. This material is selected from the magazines and papers and general publications of the Southern Baptist.

Funds for subscriptions for blind people of Ranger will be furnished by the Ranger church. Rev. D. C. Ham, pastor of the church, stated that the church would need the assistance of anyone knowing some blind person in helping the church contact them. He also stated that if any blind person who can read Braille can be contacted that perhaps a school of instruction can be had for those who cannot.

It was announced Saturday that through the efforts of Mrs. J. A. Bates, assistant superintendent of the First Methodist Church Sunday school, that a nursery has been equipped and will be staffed for all Sunday services.

Mothers with babies too young to take to services and who may stay away from services because of this, will now be able to attend all services with the assurance that their children will be well cared for.

Mrs. Bates has secured mattresses and beds and other equipment and will be assisted in taking care of the babies by Mrs. E. F. Mills, and Mrs. Guest for the Sunday school and morning service and Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Duncan Holmes will be on duty during the evening service.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead" (1 Peter 1:3.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The sinless joy—the perfect harmony and immortality of Life, possessing unlimited divine beauty and goodness without a single bodily pleasure or pain,—constitutes the only veritable, indestructible man, whose being is spiritual" (page 76.)

10,000TH RADIOACTIVITY OIL WELL LOG COMPLETED

Magnolia Petroleum Company, A-246 Well in Jackson County, Texas was the location of the 10,000th Radioactivity Well Log run by Lane-Wells Company. Officials of both Magnolia Petroleum Company and Lane-Wells Company gathered at the well, Friday, October 24th, to celebrate the occasion as a milestone in the progress of technical oil field services.

Originally developed by Well Surveys, Incorporated and operated by Lane-Wells Company under exclusive license, the radioactivity survey utilizes a natural phenomenon of gamma radiation of the various ediments to provide the oil operator with a continuous graphic curve which, upon interpretation, reveals the stratigraphy of the sub-surface in either open or cased holes. Having been operated by Lane-Wells Company for the past seven years it has become extremely useful in this vast industry of production and development to find sandstones and limestones that a re potential oil reservoirs, and which can be perforated and tested for commercial production to the world at large.

Measuring minute quantities of current, the cased hole survey records these currents with two instruments. The gamma ray instrument is a sub-surface oil tool measuring gamma rays to define the various formations from bottom of the hole to the surface level. Complementing this curve, the neutron instrument bombards the formations and measures the reaction upon the various layers. Together, these two curves present the only available cased hole log that is useful to the oil and gas industry in correcting, confirming or finding formations favorable to the accumulation of commercial quantities of oil and gas.

Wells have been surveyed throughout all oil areas in the United States and provide the industry with a library of knowledge which would be unavailable without this equipment.

Hardy Peach Sought By Russian Craft

DURHAM, N. H. (UP) — A Russian peach crossed with other varieties may produce a hardy fruit that will grow in temperatures as low as 20 degrees below zero.

That's the hope of Dr. A. F. Yeager of the University of New Hampshire, who already has bred a white peach from a hardy Russian strain.

Dr. Yeager says the Russian variety, which was planted in 1945, has grown eight feet tall and has borne as much as a bushel of peaches per tree.

INDIA'S AIR LINERS SET SAFETY MARK

NEW DELHI, India (UP) — Indian air lines have established a new world safety record, according to statistics of the civil aviation department of the Indian Government.

Only two passenger fatalities occurred in nearly 5,000,000 miles of air travel.

The report showed an increase of 80 per cent in passenger traffic, with 121,960 passengers carried during the first half of this year. During the past six months, nearly twice as much air freight was handled by India's air lines as was carried during the whole of 1946.

The majority of the commercial airplanes in use are twin-engine Douglas DC-3's plus a few British Vikings.

All larger cities of India are linked with a network of air lines surveyed and supervised by the civil aviation department.

India's air lines played an important part in evacuating the refugees from the riot-stricken areas. Schedules were tripled and quadrupled in many instances to insure the heavy increase in passengers, most of whom had never been inside an airplane.
