The Empty Table - An Ominous Sign

"Table 23—reserved for Senator Olin D. Johnston, Democrat of South Carolina, and party," served as a silent reminder of the southern threat at the Jefferson-Jackson Day celebration in Washington. This was the sole empty table at the main dinner in Washington. Senator Alben Barkley, Democrat from Kentucky, is on the speakers rostrum. Senator Johnston and his wife snubbed the dinner and stayed at home. (NEA Photo.)

SOME COSTS DOWN; STEEL BOOST THREAT TO STABILITY

CHICAGO — Declining food prices pulled the cost of living down slightly today.

Food dealers reported that many housewives were holding out for further cuts, and a big New York chain announced a new list of price reductions to become effective Monday.

Some economists, however, spotted a possible inflationary development in prices.

At Washington, government economists said the new steel price boost will encourage inflation.

The steel price increase probably will add about $68,000,000 annually to the steel consumers costs.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's council of economic advisers, said the steel boost would make it difficult for others to hold the line on prices.

He said it also might lead to stronger demands for wage increases.

Joseph M. Dodge, president of the American Bankers Association, said the steel price development indicated that "the dangers of inflation are not over."

The best news for housewives turned up in the special labor department survey which showed that food prices declined 2 1/2 per cent in the last month.

Changes In Fight Of Disease To Be Announced

WASHINGTON — Some changes in "battle plans" in the fight to prevent spread of the dread foot and mouth disease in central Mexico will be announced today, agricultural officials said.

The changes are being worked out at a meeting of a joint U. S.-Mexican commission. A U. S. agriculture official said there would be no basic change in the policy of using "buffer zones, quarantine lines, vaccines and limited slaughter of diseased animals."

Congress Advised Of Aid To China

WASHINGTON — The State Department has advised Congress that new U. S. military aid is on its way to the anti-Communist forces in China, it was learned today.

The Department, in a memorandum to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, revealed that several contracts have been approved to sell Chiang Kai-Shek's government surplus U. S. war goods at sharply reduced prices. The goods include planes and ammunition.

Toss in Towel

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP) — U. S. Post Office employees literally tossed in the towel when higher-ups ordered them to economize. The first casualty of the new economy program was the 1,400 workers' towel service.

HEARING ON STEEL PRICES TO BE HELD

WASHINGTON — The joint Congressional committee on the economic recovery act unanimously today to summon "two or three" steel industry leaders to explain the increase in steel prices.

Chairman Robert A. Taft, R. O., said the men would be called to appear at an open hearing next Thursday. The committee will decide from their testimony whether to start a full dress investigation, he said.

At the same time, two Republican Senators—Joseph A. Ball, Minn., and Arthur V. Watkins, Utah—called for a justice department investigation of the steel price increases.

Taft said he had not decided who would be called but the witnesses probably would be one representative of United States Steel, one from so-called "Little Steel," and one independent or contractor.

The committee also voted to set up two subcommittees to study other phases of the economic situation. One will study the effect of European Recovery Program on the national economy and the other taxes and proposed inflation controls.

His Honor's Move AUBURN, Ind. (UP) — Mayor Hal Hoham is looking for another house. He lives on a job in a highway. Within two months a car crashed into his porch and a truck rammed into the house.

DEMND ACTION FROM PARTY HIGH COMMAND

WASHINGTON — Insurgents southern Democrats put a chip on their shoulder today and all but dared the Democratic high command to knock it off.

"We aren't out to make a trade," insisted Rep. William M. Colmer, D., Miss.

The southern congressman he said, will demand "satisfaction" from Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath on their stand that President Truman should withdraw his civil rights program. That satisfaction, Colmer added, will be the price of southern support for Mr. Truman in the 1948 presidential race.

Colmer is chairman of a group of about 75 house Democrats opposed to the President's civil rights proposals. He planned to appoint a committee today to join a delegation of southern Governors who will confer with McGrath and other party leaders Monday.

About 50 of the southern congressmen from 11 states adopted a resolution yesterday warning the administration that it is jeopardizing Democratic party unity by sponsoring anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and anti-discrimination legislation.

The southerners said they are ready to fight all such measures to the last ditch. Republicans, meantime, were doing their bit to keep the warring Democratic factions at each others throats.

Association Memberships On Sale Wednesday

Mrs. David D. Pickrell, Ranger chairman of the membership drive for the Eastland County Community Center Association, stated today that a Ranger representative will be at a table in the lobby of the Eastland High School Wednesday night to renew memberships for those who wish them.

Mrs. Pickrell stated that if members will attend to the matter at that time, it will relieve the committee a great deal when the actual drives opens.

The occasion Wednesday night is the presentation of Abbey Simons in a piano concert and this will be the fourth and last of the association's concerts this season.

Yazoo River To Reach Crest Near Greenwood, Miss.

The rampant Yazoo river, six of whose tributaries have surged over 400,000 acres of rich northern Mississippi cotton land, was expected to reach a crest today near the virtually isolated city of Greenwood.

Greenwood residents went about their business calmly today, but kept careful watch over the wall of sandbags that was their only protection against the river which rose past the 40-foot mark during the night.

Weather forecasters, meanwhile, told Texans that cloudy skies and occasional rain was in store for the week-end with slightly warmer temperatures. They warned, however, that another cold wave was on its way down from Canada, but might not reach Texas.

Says West Spies Interfering In Czech Business

PRAGUE — Communist Premier Klement Gottwald charged today that spies from the west were undermining the Czechoslovakian Government and supporting anti-Communist ministers whose resignations caused a cabinet crisis.

Gottwald made his accusation in support of Communist demands that they be given full control of the government and be permitted to create an iron curtain police state to prosecute "foreign spies and saboteurs."

Garden Lore

By Ethel Brookes Gilmore

Finland's poet, Jouni Aho, has honored the Juniper tree. He calls the Finns, "My Juniper People" a Juniper bends before a storm, but does not break. This aptly describes what the Finns have been through during, and after the war.

Job spoke of the people who derided him, as having been so poor once, that they cut up malwos by the bushes and chopped up Juniper roots to use in place of meat.

When Elijah was threatened by Jezebel, he fled to Beersheba, and thence to the wilderness. There he laid down to rest under a Juniper tree, and being very tired and discouraged prayed, "O Lord take away my life; for I am not better than my fathers. And as he lay, and slept under a Juniper tree, behold, then an angel touched him, and said arise and eat. And he looked, and behold, there was a cake baked on the coals, and a cruse of water at his head. And he did eat and drink, and laid him down again. In this manner, the Juniper was honored by a miracle.

Junipers grow in the saggy regions of Arabia and North Africa, and are very abundant in the desert of Sinai.

There are about 25 species of Juniper, including the evergreen bushy shrub and low columnar trees all having a slightly aromatic odor. Some types are natives of North America and Europe. The Juniper bermudiana of Bermuda grows to a height of 40 to 50 feet. Its fragrant red wood is used in the making of "cedar pencils, but since the supply is

With a Home Inside." Featured on the February 22 program, will be the sixth favorite hymn, determined by a poll among interested listeners, including six and a half million Southern Baptists.

HAGAN'S HARDY ROSES

For West Texas Gardens

West Texas who have planted roses grown in a section subject to long, wet periods know how un satisfactory these plants are for long, dry West Texas seasons. They have gone and matured too rapidly—stems are soft and they just don't have the wood. Our Hagan's Hardy Roses are sturdy, 2-year-old bushes; hardy, with never been faded, either by Nature or officially—they are sturdy, hardy plants with long wood, making for vigorous growth and prolific blooms, large in size, rich in color and lasting in quality.

The problem of growing roses in wet climates that will do well in more arid regions has baffled the most astute scientists. Only plants developed under the climatic conditions of West Texas will do well in West Texas. One planting will substantiate our claim to unquestioned superiority for Hagan's Hardy Roses and you will agree they are the best at any price. Twelve years of scientific research have produced these hardy West Texas strains of which we show forty beautiful varieties. You are cordially invited to visit our nurseries at Mineral Wells, Texas, or write for our beautiful full-color literature on Hagan's Hardy Roses.

Commodity Prices May Be Governed By Foreign Aid

By Thomas E. Doohan
United Press-Commodity Writer
NEW YORK (UP) — Congressional debate on the twin problems of foreign aid and anti-inflation legislation is expected to play a major part in shaping 1948 commodity prices, informed trade quaters believe.

Moreover, commodity men anticipate redoubled Administration efforts in the new year to obtain legislation re-imposing price controls.

With the close of 1947 four members of the Cabinet, in a new price and wage control bill, sought immediate imposition of ceilings on wholesale prices of meat, butter, eggs, grains, farm machinery and lumber.

Looking ahead to the new year traders speculated whether controls, if any, would be voluntary or compulsory. The political complexion of Congress left the outcome very much in doubt. And while Congress wrangles, traders looked for sensitive markets.

Despite Washington uncertainties, prices pushed ahead in the Commodity Exchange Administration, reported that a post-war boom in speculative activity caused the nation's futures markets to do a $33,546,000,000 business in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1947, a volume nearly double the total reported in the preceding fiscal year.

The bureau of labor statistics wholesale commodity price at the year-end was crowding close to the all-time 1920 peak of 167.0 per cent.

The Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., weekly index of 31 wholesale food commodities reached an all-time high of $7.17 in the closing days of 1947. The figure compared with an all-time low of $1.49 attained on Jan. 31, 1933.

Some commodity groups already have gone beyond the 1920 peak. Farm products, for instance have risen about 13 per cent above the former limit.

Wheat futures, stellar performer of the year, rose to $3.201-4 a bushel, the highest price since 1817 when the May position hit at 63.211-2, compared with the all-time high of $3.50 set in 1919.

Reflecting increased shipments to meet the foreign food crisis and prospects for a smaller corn crop next year, corn futures and cash corn also made wide gains in the second full year after World War II. Corn futures boomed at $2.53-4 a bushel, an all-time high, and in the cash market the No. 2 yellow sold at $2.703-4 a bushel on Dec. 10.

Cotton futures prices barely missed the 263-4 cents a pound level as prices gained steadily in company with the greater domestic demand for cotton textiles and record inquiries from foreign countries.

Steers topped at $39 a hundredweight at Chicago and hog prices zoomed to $30.50 a hundredweight Hog prices at Sioux City topped at $31.50 and at Omaha were $32, all representing new peaks.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange, top grade wholesale butter sold above 62 cents a pound, also a new record high price.

Chicago's Underground Comes Under Fire

CHICAGO (UP) — Charges that the city has lost thousands of dollars focused attention here on $1 miles of freight tunnels underground in the heart of the city.

I. L. Wise, consulting engineer for the Loop Co-operative Association, alleges that the company was granted a franchise to operate the system in 1932 but that it even may have abandoned some of the deeply buried tubes.

Much heavy freight and most of the stocks for the biggest Loop stores reach their destinations through the system most Chicagoans have never seen.

Sunny Side of Street Called Dangerous

MILTON, Mass. (UP) — The sunny side of the street is no place for pedestrians in February's sunshine, a Harvard professor of meteorology contends.

Industries Set Peacetime Records And Some See Advances Next Year

By T. W. Keinlen
United Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Almost every industry set peacetime production records in 1947 but opinion on the 1948 outlook was spotty.

Proponents of prosperity in the New Year based their arguments on the probability of passage of the Marshall plan for European aid, hope of at least some kind of tax reduction, and the fact that such things as homes and automobiles is still far from filled.

The Marshall plan, it was argued, would give war-shattered European countries the ability to enter the U. S. market to the benefit of American manufacturers, while any kind of tax cut would give industry more money to spend on modernization and improvement of property.

In the midst of unequalled prosperity, however, there were many in 1947 who warned of impending danger of a recession or serious depression. Such quarters warned

Hitlerism Survives Says Psychiatrist

BOSTON (UP)—Americans must beware of persons who suffer from the neurotic impulses of Hitlerism, a leading psychiatrist contends.

Clifton T. Perkins, state mental health commissioner, warned that some persons in the United States "are not immune to the neurotic needs to which Hitler's program of domination, aggression, projection, sadism and homicide offered an answer."

Those needs can be answered only if man seeks an understanding of himself, the doctor wrote in an article to be published in a medical journal, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Production of automobile tires exceeded 100,000,000, a record high, and the industry's sales of all products reached $2,700,000,000, also an all-time high.

Traffic Penalties Soar
CHICAGO (UP)—Inflation has hit municipal traffic court fines. Drivers now pay $2 to $10 for a parking ticket which used to cost $1. Speeding offenders pay 75¢ to $1.00 for a ticket which used to cost 50¢. They used to pay $3.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson - Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 22.

The Golden Text is: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him?" (1 Corinthians 2:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson - Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!" (Romans 11:33).

The Lesson - Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Allness is the measure of the infinite, and nothing less can express God" (page 386).

SHANGHAI, THE INCREDIBLE CITY, FASCINATES WRITER

SHANGHAI DC 24
By A. M. GOUL
Uniter Press Staff Correspondent
SHANGHAI (UP)—I scarcely can believe it, but I like it.
That was my impression of Shanghai after my first five days of open-minded study of the most incredible city in the world.
Five days in Shanghai doesn't qualify any one to "learn all about it," and my bet is five years would not provide a full story of this place. But in five days I saw things I have never seen before and do not expect to see in any other place in the world.

The things I have heard, seen and smelled!
The vast mixture of races and peoples, natives and foreigners who are really qualified to speak about Shanghai, no longer to see anything unusual about it. To them it's routine.

But to a freshman, green from the United States, Shanghai is something beyond description. There's nothing freakish about Shanghai to Shanghaiers, but do be it's world of carnival and circus sideshow talent.

There's the man with his bamboo pole across his shoulder, with a couple of hundred dead rats hanging by their tails. He is surrounded at his sidewalk stand by eager natives bidding for the plumpest, lushest rats of the lot. For the skins and fur, that is not the meat. They use them for glove-making.

There's the man, a hunter one supposes, who squats on the walk way across Garden Bridge, with a row of mallard ducks spread out before him.

There's the traveling butcher shop, the man with two baskets of raw meat and his sidewalk customers picking them over for the choice cuts. At his side is the boy with the small iron stove slung from his shoulder pole, with a little fire going. He will reach into his basket slung from the other end of the pole, bring forth a bit of meat, cook it and hand you a hot sandwich—if you want it. I didn't.

Then there is the unbelievable, crowded traffic of the streets, with thousands on thousands of rickshaw boys trotting along with their fares, or more thousands of pedicabs—rickshaw boys who have advanced in the world to where they have bicycle-powered jobs. They jam the streets from curb to curb, prodded along by the chirring, honking, clanking autos, taxicabs, buses, trucks and trams. The whole is welded into a slow-moving mass of legs and wheels.

Sidewalk hawkers add to the traffic jam. Their sing-song cries of the supreme character of their wares add to the economy of the streets.

But the thing most likely to cause a newcomer to indulge in hair-tearing is Chinese money and attempts to keep up with the vagaries of its value with respect to the U. S. dollar.

At the moment of writing, one U. S. dollar is worth about $153,000 Chinese, in ordinary transactions. Officially, the rate of exchange is $12,000 Chinese to one U. S. dollar. The official rate long ago became lost in the wake of wage indexes for white-collar employees and laborers, in the open-market rate used by banks, and in the actual hand-to-hand rate paid in about all other transactions, including the black market.

Any attempt to explain inflation in terms of relationship of Chinese currency to the U. S. dollar would be futile. The best brains in the economic world have not been able to do it in years.

A few samples might help, though. A cup of coffee costs $14,000 Chinese, about 11 cents in U. S. Money. A hair cut comes cheap, $35,000 Chinese or about 24 cents U. S.

A plain steak lunch costs $44,000—about 30 cents U. S. A package of American cigarettes costs from $18,000 to $27,000, depending on the brand.

A taxi ride of about 10 blocks costs $100,000, or about 70 cents U. S.

But Shanghai has its excellent stores, hotels and restaurants. Shanghai is quite a place.

He Likes Home Cooking

Among the many southern Democrats to snub the famous $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Dinner in Washington, was Senator Olin D. Johnston, who is getting his dinner served at home by Mrs. Johnston, vice-chairman of Washington Dinner Committee who sold many tickets to the affair. The Senator's table at the main dinner was notably empty as a silent reminder of the southern threat. (NEA Telephoto).

Sunday Courts Held Illegal

CHICAGO (UP)—An ecclesiastical canon law of 517 A. D., an English court ruling in 1595 and the court decision on a Chicago murder case a century ago indicate Sunday courts here would be illegal.

Municipal Judge Joseph H. McGarry reported to Chief Justice Edward S. Sheffer of the municipal court that in an 1846 Chicago case the state supreme court held a judge would be guilty of murder if he sentenced a man to death on Sunday.

The decision was based on the English court ruling in the 16th century which cited the canon law.

From the decision, Judge McGarry concluded that clerks and bailiffs would be justified in refusing to serve on Sundays, since they would make themselves liable to suits for false imprisonment.

He said the municipal court act would have to be amended by popular referendum to make Sunday courts possible. They have been urged as ways to relieve week-end crowding in the city's lockups.

Homely Philosophy Still Popular

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Small town daily and weekly newspapers still are concerned with everyday happenings even if it is the atomic age.
A glance through almost any small town daily or weekly is sure to turn up some sage advice or bit of philosophy.
Elmer Myers, for instance, wrote recently in the Marion (Wis.) Advertiser "some brides with well-to-do papas can't seem to get through their noddies that they married for worse."
Fashions come in for considerable comment. The Burlington (Wis.) Standard Democrat noted "now that it isn't hard to buy nylon stockings the current style makes it harder to see them."
The Platterville (Wis.) Journal reported "every so often women's fashions give us a jolt, but a man's clothes go on from year to year with little change. The change in men's trousers is exceptionally small this year."
The De Pere (Wis.) Journal-Democrat observed "a man's confidence is more easily put to sleep than his child."
Proof that women have a sense of humor was offered by the Loyal (Wis.) Tribune.
