Marshall Opposes Repeal Of UN Veto

CONVENTION HARMONIOUS THROUGHOUT

The Eastland County Democratic convention meeting in Eastland Tuesday afternoon was a very harmonious affair—not one dissenting voice was heard to anything that was said or done—Each and every motion and resolution was passed unanimously.

The nearest thing to an objection was when Ed T. Cox of Eastland, listed as a delegate to the convention from Eastland Precinct No. 1, started to object to the seating of delegates from that convention on the ground that no convention was held. Fred Brown, also a delegate from Precinct No. 1, put him right by explaining that the convention was called to order, did its work and adjourned evidently before Mr. Cox arrived at the City Hall where the convention was held.

County Chairman O. E. (Oscar) Lyerla called the convention together. Between 75 and 100 delegates and visitors were present. The convention elected Mrs. Don Parker, secretary, who with Lyerla, composed the temporary officers of the convention. Later they were made permanent by a vote of the convention.

Rep. L. R. Pearson of Ranger, Rep. T. M. Collie of Eastland, Judge Cyrus B. Frost of Eastland and Joe Nussle of Ranger at invitations from Chairman Lyerla addressed the convention. These talks were similar in that each speaker deplored what they termed encroachment of the Federal government upon state rights.

A resolutions committee composed of Jack Frost, Eastland; Will Tyler, Rising Star; F. S. Perryman, Gorman; J. J. Kelley, Ranger; Mrs. L. H. McCrea, Cisco, was named.

A committee on delegates was composed of J. C. Allison, W. B. Pickens, Eastland; W. J. Herrington, Rising Star; C. B. Pruett, Ranger; L. E. Clark, Desdemona; and Mrs. Chas. Jones, Cisco.

The committee on delegates submitted a list of delegates, (the list was read by W. B. Pickens), that included any member of the convention who desired to attend the district convention to be held in Brownwood on May 24, or whose name was suggested by other members of the convention.

The resolution committee offered three resolutions, which were read by Jack Frost. The first of these instructed delegates to the district convention to vote as a unit, the second asked the assistance of congress in maintaining the rights and titles of titlelands within the states as against the federal government, and the third asked that functions of government belong to the several states, but allegedly heretofore appropriated by the federal government, be returned to the states.

On motion made by Earl Conner, Sr., and seconded by Will J. Carter, the convention voted to adjourn.

Man Held On Bad Check Charges

Chief W. G. Pounds stated today that a man who recently came to Ranger to enter business is being held in the city jail and will be turned over to Arlington, Texas officers who reported that he is wanted there on bad check charges.

First indication that the man was guilty of such came through the Retail Merchants Association and when this organization was notified of the same, a thorough check was made by Mrs. M. A. Oylor, secretary of the association. When it was found that the charges were true she warned local business people in time to protect them.

It was reported this morning that he had cashed only one check in Ranger and it was not known whether or not the check was good.

Chief Pounds made the arrest of the man after he was notified by Arlington officers that a warrant had been sworn out against him.

Arab-Jewish Truce For Holy City Brighten

JERUSALEM, May 5 (UP)—The "indications look good" for a firm Arab-Jewish truce for Jerusalem, a government spokesman said today. He added that a statement from a truce conference going on at Jericho was expected later.

The spokesman, Richard Stubbs, said at a press conference that the truce conference in Jericho, 15 miles from Jerusalem, reportedly was making considerable progress.

Salvation Army Workers Here To Organize Drive

Walter J. Hayt, field representative of the Salvation Army, is in Ranger to organize the service committee and to open the drive for funds. The campaign will run through May 12.

He announced today that a collection for the drive will be taken at the Ranger Livestock Commission Company's sale Thursday through the courtesy of George Campbell. It was also stated that there is a possibility that a goat will be auctioned for the benefit of the fund.

Hayt stressed the fact that money raised in Ranger will only partially be turned into the national fund and that a per cent of it will be left in Ranger to be disbursed by the service committee of which George Murphy is chairman.

In speaking of the nature of the work done by the Salvation Army, Hayt pointed to the fact that workers were dispatched to McKinney immediately after headquarters learned of the tornado at that place.

He stated that the Salvation Army is the life line for all people in trouble and their assistance is given in every disaster, tragedy, or any other form of human suffering. It is done in a Christian spirit, he said, and has touched the lives of millions of people.

Soap Company Lowers Prices

CINCINNATI, May 5 (UP)—Procter & Gamble Co. today announced a reduction of approximately six per cent in the price of its soap.

The reduction, which affects principal household cake and flake soap products, reflects the price decline in the cost of fat used in soap manufacture, P & G officials said.

Asks Mayor Be Appointed For Holy City Rule

LAKE SUCCESS, May 5 (UP)—The United Nations trusteeship council recommended today the immediate appointment of an "emergency mayor" to assume authority in Jerusalem when Great Britain ends the Palestine mandate May 15.

The recommendation, made to the UN General Assembly, appeared to be the first step toward establishment of a shadow government for Palestine in a frantic effort by the UN to fill vacuum threatened in the Holy Land by the departure of British forces.

Work on the second major section of the plan for a shadow government, which will have no enforcement powers but only the legal blessings of the United Nations, was slated to begin this morning about 11 A. M. in a closed meeting of a special subcommittee of the UN General Assembly.

After tragedy in Peter's life brings out his lack of purpose and lack of inner strength, a visit to Bob's mission in China helps him to find his life anew.

TAFT LEADS STASSEN IN OHIO PRIMARY

By United Press, May 5 (UP)—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft led Harold E. Stassen 14 to 9 in the fight for 23 of Ohio's Republican convention delegates with nearly two-thirds of the precinct reported in the state's primary.

Since 30 of the state's 53 delegates were uncontested, Ohio's favorite son held a majority of 44 delegates in the statewide race, one of the four state primaries held yesterday.

With 4,847 of 5,446 precincts reported in the 11 contested congressional districts in Ohio, this is the way the candidates stood—Stassen led the race for two delegates in the 3rd, 9th, 14th, and 19th districts and for one in the 20th district. Taft had two delegates in the 6th, 7th, 16th, 18th, 21st districts and one in the 20th district.

Taft held a commanding lead in the race for delegates-at-large as Stassen's lone runner fell far behind delegates pledged to support the Ohioan.

A full slate of 56 Democratic delegates was elected without opposition. The delegates are pledged indirectly to support President Truman.

The President received a setback in the Alabama primary where voters supported the southern revolt.

Truman Gives Appraisal Of ERP Program

WASHINGTON, May 5 (UP)—President Truman declared today that the $522,000,000 stop-gap foreign aid program made it possible for the European Recovery program to get off on a sound start.

He made the appraisal in his first report to Congress on the program for which Congress was called back last fall in special session. Mr. Truman said that without this interim measure, the prospects of ERP would have been "irreparably jeopardized."

Rehearsals For Senior Play Now Underway

Members of the senior class of Ranger High School are now at work on the senior play which will be presented Friday evening, May 14 at the Recreation Building.

The following is a description of the play. The play is to be presented is "The Campbells Are Coming" by Jay Tobias. It is a farce. The story concerns a well-to-do family who live in the Ozarks. The eldest daughter has been attending school in the east where she has fallen in love with a snob, Kingston Campbell. The daughter returns to her home and informs her family that the "Campbells Are Coming" and they must put on the airs to impress her fiancé and his society mother. The family does impress the Campbells by turning hillbilly in order to break up the romance. All sorts of scenes are carried out to scare the Campbells away.

The cast includes Glenna Weaver, the grandmother, Ma Brannigan; Betty Brannigan, Ma's younger granddaughter, Patsy Wallace; Dick Brannigan, Ma's grandson who plays the part of the hillbilly idiot, O. G. Lanier; Catalpa Tapp, the hillbilly servant, Joyce Cole; Biddad Tapp, Catalpa's father, Dickie Everitt; Cyrus Scudder, who wants to marry Ma, Ralph Gay; Jeffrey Scudder, his nephew, Robert Imholz; Kaye Brannigan, Ma's eldest granddaughter, Anita Faye Gryder; Kingston Campbell, Kaye's fiancé from the east, Jimmy Heinen; and Mrs. Augusta Campbell, his aristocratic mother, Georganna Rogers.

"You'll hold your sides when Dick pretends to be an idiot. Ma mistakes the Campbells for 'gold-blamed revenuers', and Jeff starts a feud with Kingston," says the director.

The admission will be 25c for students and 50c for adults. The proceeds of the play will go to purchasing a new cyclorama and defraying expenses for the Senior trip.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Here's What Ohio Primary Means to Stassen and Taft

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—When election returns start rolling in after the Ohio primary on May 4, they will show that Sen. Robert A. Taft got at least 30 of the state's 53 delegates while ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota got only 23 at most.

The casual newspaper reader or radio listener may take this to mean that Stassen took a pasting from Ohio's favorite-son candidate of 1948. But that won't be quite right.

The catch in the Ohio situation is that Stassen has GOP convention delegates running in only 11 of the state's 22 congressional districts. And Stassen has only one candidate for delegate-at-large, out of a total of nine to be elected.

There are two delegates to be elected from each of the 22 congressional districts. That makes 44 delegates to be chosen, plus nine delegates-at-large, for a state total of 53.

The most Stassen can possibly win is therefore 23. Taft is a cinch to get 30 delegates, carrying 11 districts for 22 delegates and getting eight of the nine delegates-at-large because these Taft candidates are unopposed for election by Stassen men.

SEVERAL reasons are given by Stassen headquarters as to why the Minnesotan did not enter candidates in all 22 districts and for all nine delegates-at-large.

In the first place, Ohio is Taft's home state. Stassen says he didn't want to split the state party machine wide open by a knockdown fight. Stassen did feel, however, that Ohio voters had a right to express themselves on the choice of candidate.

A better reason, politically, is that Stassen had no chance to carry the normally conservative Republican rural districts of Ohio. He therefore exercised good generalship by staying out of the race in districts where he didn't have a chance.

When Stassen announced he would enter the Ohio primary, Taft forces were at first sore, then inclined to scoff. Rep. Clarence Brown of Blanchester, O., Taft's campaign manager, made a statement that Stassen couldn't win a delegate. At the recent newspaper editors' meeting in Washington, however, Brown admitted that Stassen might get half a dozen delegates in Ohio.

SOME political wisecracks are now predicting Stassen may get as many as a dozen. It is conceded that if Stassen gets six of Ohio's 53 delegates, it's a remarkable showing. If he gets a dozen it's positively sensational. And if he gets more than that, it will be a major Taft setback even though the Ohioan does get a majority of the delegates, which he can't fail to do.

From the standpoint of practical politics, one of the factors that may hold down Stassen's Ohio winnings is that his candidates in some districts are not GOP machine men, well known to the party as successful candidates with real vote-getting ability of their own. Stassen is the issue, however, not his delegates.

Stassen's four-day flying tour through Ohio, April 21-24, hit most of the big cities in which his delegates are running. Exposing the voters to the Stassen personal campaign technique is expected to do for him what it did in Wisconsin and Nebraska.

After Ohio, the only state primaries left are West Virginia, May 11; Oregon, May 21; and California and South Dakota, June 1. Fifteen other states choose delegates in convention during May and June. The total to be chosen in these two months is 435.

Stassen is claiming he will have 300 delegates when the GOP convention opens in Philadelphia June 21-25 in the mid-west, 50 each in east, south and west.

But the biggest block of delegates will be "unpledged." They will be state delegations free to switch their votes from first-ballot favorite sons. They'll hold the real balance of power at Philadelphia.

THE SCOREBOARD

Citation, Eddie Arcaro Up, Has Shot at Derby Records

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

LOUISVILLE—(NEA)—Eddie Arcaro would have had his fourth Kentucky Derby a year ago had he slacked to Preakness one jump sooner. The long-striding son of Preakness was getting to Jet Pilot at the end, where he was beaten by a head.

It would be ironical if Citation were beaten this trip by his stablemate, Coaltown. Arcaro had his pick of the Calumet stock, and Coaltown had not proved himself so convincingly in the Blue Grass Stakes when Ben Jones suggested Citation.

It was in 1942 that Arcaro had his choice of Greentree's Devil Diver and Shut Out, chose the former before he injured a hoof and missed a badly needed race and works. Shut Out took it all with Wayne Wright aboard. Devil Diver was a dismal sixth.

With all of Coaltown's blazing speed, it is suspected that Citation has more bottom than his half brother which beat a deep-seated abcess in his throat to make clockers throw their watches away.

Citation and Arcaro are largely responsible for the entry being the shortest-priced favorite in the long history of the big heat at Churchill Downs, and no one will be surprised if the Calumet pair runs one-two.

CITATION and Arcaro are expected to break two Derby records and equal another.

By popping down in front, Arcaro would eclipse the mark he now shares with the immortal Earl Sande and the great Negro rider, Isaac Murphy, each of whom rode three winners.

Citation would be the first winner of The Futurity to bag the Derby, although this jinx is something of a fallacy because only 10 winners of the Belmont Park juvenile feature have gone to the Downs since it was first run in 1886.

A victory for either Citation or Coaltown would equal for Plain Ben Jones the record the late Derby Dick Thompson holds as the result of saddling four winners for Col. Edward Riley Bradley. Jimmy Jones is listed as the Calumet trainer, but everybody knows papa knows best.

Isaac Murphy came down in front with Buchanan in 1884, Riley in '90 and Kingman in '91.

The stylish Sande scored with hooded Zev in '23, Flying Ebony, a 50 and Jones in '25 and Gallant Fox in '30.

Arcaro won the Derby with Lawrin in '38, Whiraway in '41 and Hoop Jr. in '45.

So you see there are a number of reasons why Citation will get the ride of his young life on Derby Day, and not the least of these is that Eddie Arcaro is riding this one for Al Snider, who was blown away in the Florida storm.

Taft Claims Ohio Victory

WASHINGTON, May 5 (UP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., today interpreted the result of the Ohio presidential primary as a defeat for Harold E. Stassen. He said he now had more first ballot convention delegates than any other candidate.

Taft issued a statement giving his analysis of the Ohio vote and expressing gratitude for the support he received.

He was particularly jubilant over the fact that Carrington T. Marshall, only Stassen candidate for delegate at large, was trailing the nine Taft candidates.

Texas Democrats Show Opposition To Pres. Truman

By United Press, May 5 (UP)—Texas Democrats virtually declared all-out war on President Truman and his "anti-south" policies today as reports from county conventions showed a defeat for those who had favored sending to the national convention a delegation pledged to back Mr. Truman.

A majority of the conventions approved Gov. Beauford H. Jester's recommendation to send an unstructured delegation to the national convention in Philadelphia.

Thus it appeared that Governor Jester, and the Democratic state executive committee which agrees with his recommendation, would control the state convention in Brownwood May 23.

The Innocent Impostor

By Renee Shann
COPYRIGHT BY RENE SHANN; DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Patience Monday brought up by two maiden aunts, is in love with Paul Taylor, whom her aunts have forbidden her to see because they have never been properly introduced. Charlotte, Patience's twin sister whom she has not seen since childhood, is a stage star rehearsing a show in London. She invites Patience to spend a day with her, dress her smartly from her own wardrobe. Patience meets Roger Dickson, popular actor and Charlotte's boyfriend. She sees Paul again. Roger calls for Patience at the dressing school she attends in London but she avoids him. Charlotte invites her to the opening of her new show and to stay overnight with her.

XVII
PATIENCE counted the days. And wished they wouldn't drag by so slowly. She thought they'd never pass. And then at last it was Thursday, THE DAY.

She caught the afternoon train up to London, splurged on a taxi to Charlotte's flat.

The maid opened the door to her.

"Good afternoon, Miss. Miss Charlotte told me to expect you. I'm Elizabeth."

She showed Patience around. Told her to let her know if there was anything she wanted.

In Charlotte's bedroom what looked like an exquisite bit of fluff lay draped over the foot of the bed.

"Miss Charlotte said she thought you'd like this dress. Miss. It's very like one she's wearing herself."

It was long and trailing and billowing. It was of the softest, palest mauve chiffon. It had little cape sleeves and the bodice sparkled here and there with diamonds. With it were shoes to match.

Patience rested, bathed and took her time about dressing. Elizabeth brought her a nourishing tea-lunch. She had never felt so luxurious in her life.

The dress transformed her completely. Looking at herself in the long mirrors in Charlotte's bedroom some little while later Patience wondered if she could be dreaming. Was she really as pretty as this? Why, she looked completely different! Different even from that day she'd worn Charlotte's gray dress to go out to lunch with Roger Dickson. Elizabeth, coming into the room again to see how she was getting on, gazed at her in admiration.

"Am I all right, Elizabeth?"

"You look wonderful, Miss. And ever so much like her when you arrived, but in that dress—Ah, there's the bell. That'll be Mr. Dickson."

ELIZABETH showed Roger into the drawing room. Patience leaned forward before the mirror and hastily put the finishing touches to her make-up.

Satisfied at last, she picked up the long velvet evening wrap that Charlotte had also left out for her and went to join him.

"Hello," she said.

"Hello! I say you look wonderful!" He came to her and stood there before her, his eyes traveling over her from head to foot and then coming up to meet hers again. "Once more it is and it isn't."

"You mean I'm like Charlotte?"

"Incredibly so this evening. And yet there's still that same subtle difference." He took her hands.

"Well? Why didn't you lunch with me last Monday?"

Patience drew her hands away. She said she didn't know. And then that she didn't really think she'd very much wanted to.

"That's honest, anyway. I hope you don't mind coming to the theater with me this evening!"

"Of course not. I'm delighted to."

There was a car waiting to take them. They sped through the London streets. Patience, sitting back in her corner, felt her excitement growing. It was more than ever like a fairy tale. A lovely dress and all the accessories that went with it. A handsome and famous man in white tie and tails at her side. A crowd of people watching for their arrival.

THEY were in a box on the right of the stage one tier up. Patience, who'd only twice before been to a theater and then in the upper circle, looked at the provided house with eyes that danced with excitement. Oh, but this was wonderful! The animated scene thrilled her. The beautiful dresses and jewels. The air of expectancy.

Roger glanced at his watch.

"The curtain will be going up in a moment," he said, drawing his chair a little nearer to hers.

Patience leaned forward, her eyes scanning the row upon row of people below her. And suddenly her heart seemed to stop beating. A head lifted. There, looking up at her, was Paul. He stared at her, an expression of angry credulity on his face.

"Seen someone you know?" asked Roger.

Patience didn't answer. And now the lights were beginning gradually to dim in the theater. The orchestra struck up for the waltz of the overture. Paul's hard bitter face became a blur until at last she could see it no longer.

She forced herself to focus all her attention on the curtains that were now slowly drawing aside. She wouldn't look down into the stalls again, though in the brilliant lights from the illuminated stage the people in the first few rows were easily discernible. She didn't want to be made aware that Paul was here sitting such a short distance from her.

Only she couldn't keep her eyes away from him. She found them wandering again and again from the stage to the center of the third row where he was sitting.

What was the matter with her, anyway? Hadn't she for weeks past now been assuring herself that he no longer meant anything to her?

Movies Put Finger On Tippy Drivers

POMONA, Cal. (UP)—Authorities here are boasting a new technique of wiring drunken drivers for sound, and capturing their inebriated characteristics with a motion picture camera.

Here's how it works:
An officer picks up an errand driver who maintains that he has had only one beer. They go to the station where the driver is given a sobriety examination which includes the "line-walking test" the "pass-pointing" test and the revolving Romberg test which measures reflex action.

A doctor is present to check his eyes, speech, balance, gait, breath and general behavior. But that's not all—the driver's every word is recorded on a wire recorder, and every action observed by a 16 mm. camera. He is then booked, if pronounced drunk.

Pomona police say the effects of the movies and sound recordings work wonders in court if the driver claims he wasn't drunk.
A "noise ray" from a supersonic apparatus is being used by Sydney, Australia, to keep birds away from open reservoirs which supply the city.

Father-Son Plan Keeps Papa Dry In Rain

Curious, she found that father and son had a working arrangement that nets the boy 30 cents weekly.

The father pedals the bike to the bus stop; the boy returns it home.

Uranium Brings Old Ghost Town To Life Again

WASHINGTON (UP)—The ghost towns of Colorado's San Juan mountain country are about to come back to life.

Horseshoe Trail, Wilhorse and Sixshooter Peak may yet become as famous as Deadwood, Silver City and Leadwood once were.

The magic expected to infuse new life into the wild plateau region of Montrose and San Miguel Counties is atomic energy.

Uranium, the raw material of atomic energy, is known to exist in the 40-square mile area which touches the southeast borders of Utah, but is cut off from the rest of Colorado by a high mountain rampart.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced that public lands in Montrose and San Miguel Counties have been reserved for uranium exploration, which will start soon.

Several tons of uranium-bearing ore were shipped from Naturita to Paris in 1898. Madame Curie extracted radium from it. Later, however, the uranium workings were abandoned as uneconomical, the society said.

"Long before uranium became significant," the society continued, "minerals were making history in the San Juan mountains. Silver and gold were lures that helped found many settlements of the area in the roaring '70s and '80s."

"One section of road through the mountains is known as the Million Dollar Highway because it was surfaced with gold-bearing gravel before the rocks' value was known."

"Amid ghost towns of the earlier times, modern mining is still
