Well... I Dunno, But...

The advertising staff would have you know that the editorial department is not the only one that gets compliments. In the mail this morning Joe had a card from A. W. Warford who's in Phoenix, Arizona, telling him how much he liked his ad in the recent college edition of the paper.

A card this morning from Mrs. Fred Wilson who went to Houston recently with the prospect of having to undergo surgery, says that she will be home Tuesday and that her condition is not so bad as was thought.

No matter how successful a person may become, if he can't take it and remember the days "when" there're bound to be stumbling blocks ahead. People don't resent a man's success but they do resent any inflation of the ego that sometimes goes with it.

A good many people are beginning to believe that Russia is really ready to talk turkey and call off the cold war.

And some contend that it's because the Marshall plan is in action, and Russia begins to see the handwriting and may even want to get in on the reconstruction plan.

We don't know, but this is one time that we won't believe it until we actually see it happening. But we'll admit, Russia will have to go one way or the other and another coup in some other country might not work so well in the face of the United States' current defense program.

Came across this the other day: LaGuardia airport only has high tides to worry about; Gander, ice; and London, fog, but in South India and East Africa, the airport problem is elephants. Mysore State numbers among its minor riches large herds of wild elephants tamed to do forest work. One night not long ago, a herd of 25 came waltzing through the airport fence at Mysore City, trampled turf, ripped up trees and shrubs and playfully bowled over several power-line poles. Fortunately, all planes on the field were out of their way.

GREEKS SEEK SOLUTION OF POLK CASE

ATHENS, May 17 (UP)—Premier Themistocles Soufilis today ordered the "entire police of Greece" to "uncover details" in the mysterious death of George Polk, 34-year-old Columbia Broad casting system correspondent.

Soufilis announced he had ordered minister of public order, Costas Rentis, and police in Athens and Salonika to "expand every possible human endeavor to throw light on this mystery."

Rentis left Athens for Salonika by plane today to press the official investigation.

Polk, American war hero and veteran correspondent, disappeared after leaving the Astoria Hotel in Salonika last Sunday for a reported rendezvous with agents of guerrilla chief, Gen. Markos Vafides, whom he intended to interview in mountainous northern Greece, where government troops now are attacking the guerrillas.

Salonika police announced yesterday that his body had been washed up from Salonika bay. A bullet had been fired into the back of his head at close range. His hands and feet were bound with rope.

Before discovery of Polk's body CBS in New York reported an unidentified child handed his identity card to police at Salonika. Police, it was said, permitted the child to leave without questioning.

JEWIS LAUNCH ATTACK TO REOPEN HIWAY

TEL AVIV May 17 (UP)—Jewish forces launched a fierce attack today on an Arab town of 20,000 only nine miles from Tel Aviv in a drive to reopen the vital highway to Jerusalem.

The attack on Ramleh township, which dominates the vital supply line to the 100,000 Jews in the Holy City, was begun as Egyptian fighter bombers made three more raids on Tel Aviv, capital of the three-day old Jewish state of Israel.

It was made by Irgun Zvai Leumi extremist units who only recently have been incorporated into the Jewish army. It coincided with a report by a Cairo newspaper that Jews had surrendered the old walled city of Jerusalem to the Arabs.

The Jewish army communique which told of the attack on Ramleh also claimed Jewish capture of the town of Nabi Yusha, on the Lebanon border about seven miles north of Safad, and said that three Syrian armored cars were captured when an attack by Syrian regulars on the town of Zemah, south of Tiberias on the sea of Galilee, was repulsed. The Syrians were said to have suffered heavy losses.

The communique reported three hit-run raids by Egyptian spitfires in the Tel Aviv area before noon today. There were four raids yesterday. The communique did not confirm a report that one Egyptian plane was shot down in today's second raid.

Radio reports from the Jordan Valley said the Arab Legion of King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan was shelling the town of Gesher, south of the Sea of Galilee.

Missing Dallas Woman Is Found In West Texas

Deputy Sheriff "Cotton" Graham of Eastland stated late Saturday that Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Simpson, 24 year old wife of Pvt. Price C. Simpson of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, who had been missing from her Dallas home since April 26 when she left to visit a cousin in Wink and for whom Dallas and West Texas officers, including those at Wink had been searching since Saturday a week ago when clothing belonging to her was found in a vacant ranch house seven miles east of Gorman, had been located in Wink where she was working in a cafe.

The sheriff's office at Eastland called on the newspapers for assistance in locating the missing woman after her mother in Dallas had identified the clothing, which the Eastland county sheriff had in his possession, as belonging to her daughter and no clues as to the missing woman's whereabouts had been uncovered.

A few hours after Dallas, Fort Worth and Abilene newspapers and the Associated Press had been furnished information concerning the woman and a description of her, a telephone message from Wink informed Sheriff J. B. Williams that the missing woman was in Wink.

Mrs. Simpson told the Eastland county sheriff over longdistance telephone that the clothing found in the Eastland county ranch house was stolen from her at Big Spring.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

U. S. Steel's Price Cut Good, But People Can't Eat Steel

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Big U. S. Steel Corporation is having public relations trouble again. This time it's over the announcement it will cut prices by $25,000,000 a year.

Last February, the corporation was in trouble because it raised prices by $28,000,000 a year. President Truman, his Council of Economic Advisors, the Departments of Justice and Commerce all jumped on that. The steel industry as a whole was told that raising prices was bound to lead to new wage demands which, if granted, would lead to another round on the inflationary spiral.

So the steel masters went home to lick their burns. And now, two months later, when they are right in the middle of negotiating demands from the CIO Steelworkers' Union, they say they'll cut prices, but they won't raise wages.

The consuming public is caught right in the middle between rival claims and statements of steel makers and steel workers. In such circumstances, one way out is to turn to supposedly neutral sources such as Bureau of Labor Statistics and Department of Commerce surveys.

Strange as it may seem, BLS figures indicate the steel industry may have a case. But, through either poor public relations or poorer public understanding, this story has not been put over.

STEEL prices cover many things, from semi-finished slabs and billets to tinplate. A fair gauge is the composite finished steel price. Since August, 1939—start of the preparedness drive—this composite finished steel price has gone up in three or four principal raises by $18.57 a ton. This raised the price from an average of $48.22 a ton in 1939 to $66.79, or 40 per cent.

In this same period, the wholesale cost of food has gone up 145 per cent, of farm products 180 per cent, and of all products in the BLS wholesale price index .310 per cent. Steel, with a 40 per cent rise, has had less increase than other products.

In this same period, scrap for steel making has gone up from $16 a ton to $40, or 150 per cent. Coking coal has gone up from $2.62 to $6.17 a ton, or 135 per cent. Labor has gone up from 85 cents an hour to $1.52, or 80 per cent. The entire cost of living has gone up 79 per cent in the same period.

There is another angle to this thing, too. One reason steel prices haven't gone down is the steel shortage. The principal reason steel capacity has not been increased is that investors are reluctant to put their money into great expansion.

THE real difficulty in trying to understand this steel wage-price issue, however, is that it gets all mixed up with psychological factors. Steel is considered the number one barometer of industry. If it has a pattern of price reductions that other industries follow, that's all to the good. But what's needed may be not so much a cut in steel prices as in clothing, furniture and, above all, food.

Timing psychology also enters the picture. General Electric, having cut prices twice, is in a good bargaining position to resist demands for wage increases.

U. S. Steel and the rest of the industry that follows its leadership are in a bad position. They raised prices when there was a demand for cuts. When they cut, the reduction was $3,000,000 less than the previous raise.

Furthermore, the steel industry cut when it was right in the middle of negotiating demands for "substantial wage increases." The steel industry as a whole can argue its head off that the time has come to stop rising costs—meaning wages. It can claim—as has been claimed for U. S. Steel Corporation—that its present price cuts are equivalent to five cents an hour for all of its employees. The trouble with that argument is that people don't eat steel.

THE SCOREBOARD

Neun Says Difference Is Nil In Major League Baseball

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—For years it was said that the type of play in the American and National Leagues was considerably different. Largely because of the Yankees, the junior circuit was tabbed a power league, where the clubs shot for big innings.

The National was pictured as a wheel in which managers were content to settle for one run at a time.

The thing works just the other way around now, in the case of the Giants and their 221 Home Run Club, at least.

"Such talk was nonsense all the time, anyway," says John Henry Neun, a reformed sports writer in position to know. Johnny Neun played four years in the American League, two in the National, managed Yankee farms for nine, coached the Bombers for three campaigns and wound up piloting them, and now is in his second season as commander of the Reds.

"Sure, the Yankees blasted away," asserts old first baseman Neun. "Why shouldn't they? The clubs were power laden. Certainly, Bill Terry and Bill McKechnie when they managed pennant-winning Giants and Reds pulled in the infield early to cut off runs at the plate. They sacrificed early, too, wanted that one run at all times."

"BUT, like the better football coaches, Terry, McKechnie, Joe McCarthy, Billy Southworth and all other superior managers fit the material to the game. A manager is foolish to attempt to do something out of the ordinary with players incapable of carrying it out."

Billy Herman, totally inexperienced as a manager, found that out with the Pirates last season, trying the squeeze and whatnot with hired hands unaccomplished in the various specialties.

"When a good manager has a running team he runs with it," stresses Neun. "When he has a clever hit-and-run man, he gives the sign for it. That's only common sense."

The National League gained the reputation of being a curve-ball circuit during the years that John McGraw and the Polo Grounders had pitchers who could break hooks like spheres rolling off the end of a table. The Little Napoleon was partial to the curve, and during his heyday kept himself well supplied with gents who could crack the ball.

Players who switched from one league to the other this spring still insist American Leaguers see more fast balls. They contend National Leaguers see more breaking stuff and change ups.

But toss out all the poppy-cock about the different styles of play in the two major leagues. The managers are only trying to get the most out of the material at hand.

Civil War Negro Dies At Age Of 112

CHICAGO (UP)—Robert (Uncle Bob) Wilson, 112-year old Negro who used to shine boots for a Confederate officer in the Civil War, has celebrated his last birthday.

The aged Negro died at the Elgin State Hospital. Hospital records showed that Uncle Bob was born Jan. 13, 1836, in Richmond, Va. He was a Baptist evangelist in the South after the Civil War and later moved to Chicago.

Hospital personnel had honored him with a birthday party each year, but the last was the brightest spot for Uncle Bob. Gov. Dwight H. Green paid him a personal visit and gave him a 50-cent piece.

Attendants say Uncle Bob credited his long life to the fact that "I never drank, chewed, or stayed out late until I was 11 years old."

ATLANTIC MEDITERRANEAN CANAL IDEA RESURRECTED

By SIGMUND MATHIESEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
OSLO (UP)—A remarkable thinning out of the polar ice cap in the Antarctic is reported by a Norwegian expedition which found bare stretches of earth on an island thickly covered with ice only 20 years ago.

The news was brought back to Norway by an expedition which came into the news some months ago when its research vessel, the Bratagge, was intercepted by Argentine authorities near Deception Island. The ship was refused permission to operate in what were declared to be Argentine waters.

Capt. Nils Larsen of the Bratagge said on the return of his ship to the important whaling town of Sandefjord, at the outlet of the Oslo fjord, that the Deception Island incident had been exaggerated. He said his contacts with the Argentines had been on the friendliest footing.

Severe fations, including the United States and Great Britain, are interested in the area, which is believed to contain valuable mineral resources, possibly including uranium.

The scientific head of the expedition, Holger Holgersen, said the Bratagge had evidence of climatic changes in the South Pole region similar to those reported from Arctic waters. The evidence was gathered in extensive surveys of the Bellinghusen Sea, the Amundsen Sea and on Peter I Island, over which Norway has claimed sovereignty since Capt. Larsen first landed there in 1929.

Holgersen said observations on Peter I Island showed that many glaciers had been considerably reduced since 1929. Many places which were covered with snow and ice at that time are now bare. He added that the evidence of a softening in the polar climate was confirmed by a southward movement in the border between the tropic and the polar water.

The expedition, he said, took thousands of observations at oceanographic stations a mile and brought back thousands of samples of water, plankton (minute marine life) and polar fish for study by Norwegian experts.

T&P Beyond Half Way Mark In New Equipment

DALLAS, May 16—Having put into service more new passenger equipment in the past two-and-one-half months than any other Southwestern railroad, Texas & Pacific Railway added up deliveries Saturday and announced that the half-way mark has been passed on the $5,800,000 order for 48 cars. President W. G. Vollmer said that 27 new cars are now in use, 15 coaches, 12 sleepers.

This placing of cars in service as fast as they arrive from the manufacturers follows the policy announced by Vollmer at the end of February when the first unit, the sleeper Eagle Island, came off the production line. He said at that time that the T&P was putting the new equipment into use immediately because of the public's desire for it and because of the large investment in it from the railroad's standpoint. (Cost of the new cars has doubled since it originally was ordered just three years ago.)

T&P Passenger Traffic Manager, W. W. Fair, explained that the 27 cars are in service on three trains, "The Sunshine Special," "The Texan," and "The Louisiana Limited."

The "Sunshine" runs between El Paso and New York City, "The

Looses A Quarter, Finds Cache Of Moonshine

Pat New climbs from the basement of the Atlanta, Ga., service station with the last of several onion sacks full of hi-test moonshine whisky. Pat found 70 gallons of the stuff hidden in cans in the sacks when he went down to look for a quarter that dropped through a crack in the floor. Valued at $850, the illegal moonshine had probably been dumped by a fleeing bootlegger. It was confiscated by city detectives. (NEA Telephoto)

Texas" Ft. Worth-St. Louis, "The Louisiana Limited," Ft. Worth-New Orleans. All three trains serve Ft. Worth, Dallas, Marshall and intermediary stations. When the entire 48-car complement has been delivered, the trains using the new equipment will be christened "The Eagles," serving all T&P mainline cities in Texas and Louisiana. This means five complete trains in all, three between El Paso and St. Louis and two between Fort Worth and New Orleans. July 1 now is the date expected for the first of the five trains to have its complete new consist.

Since "Eagle" sleepers are the all-room type with roomette, bedroom and drawing accommodations, Fair said "delivery of our new equipment at this rapid pace means that we are fast satisfying the persistent public demand for additional private-room space."

If the present pace of deliveries is maintained, T&P officials said their entire new car order would be received by August.

Whatever It Is China Most Likely Had It First Except Atomic Bomb

By Robert A. Burton
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHENG TU. (UP)—The Chinese are fond of telling you that they did it or had it first, and they are usually right.

The list of "China firsts" is an impressive one but new things pop up on it all the time. One important China first that isn't published much is the sidewalk cafe generally associated with Paris. There are hundreds of them in Chengtu, Szechwan Province's capital.

Centuries before Parisians found it pleasant to sip an aperitif at a sidewalk table, the people in Chengtu know all about it, except that they drank tea instead of Dubonnet. Same idea, though. In either Paris or Chengtu you drop into your favorite sidewalk cafe to be witty among friends or enemies, to pick up the latest gossip, to callapse for a while from the day's work or, even, just to get something to drink. The point is, however, that Chengtu had it first.

All the standard reference books explain that China had such things as gunpowder and printing first but they don't usually mention the Sunkist orange. It is supposed to have come originally from Chungking, also in rich, fertile Szechwan Province in China's west.

Of course, the Americans exerted their famed ingenuity by developing a seedless variety of the Sunkist. But they didn't improve the flavor any. Chungking oranges will still stand up against oranges produced anywhere.

Then too there is Italian ravioli. It isn't really Italian, your Chinese friends will tell you. Marco Polo picked up the idea during his stay in North China and took it back to Italy along with that particularly famous Italian dish spaghetti. Spaghetti, it seems, come from the staple North China noodle.

Ravioli was developed from the Chinese "jaodz" but today they are both so much a part of their respective countries, and at the same time so much alike, that you are never sure of whether to think of them as Chinese ravioli or Italian jaodz. Chinese ravioli probably would be quite acceptable because no matter what the Italians call it, China had it first.

The students of English literature who fancied the mead-drinking pre-Anglo Saxons can still get delicious mead around Kunming. Perhaps the early Brits didn't copy their fermented honey brew from the Chinese, but the Chinese were drinking it long before Beowulf's clansmen served it at feasts.

Wife Wants Chinchilla So He Raises Some

TEMPLE CITY, Cal. (U.P.)—When his wife remarked in 1946 that she'd like a chinchilla coat, John Zook decided to raise his own.

It takes 24 of the little fellows to get enough pelts for a coat, retailing anywhere from $47,000 to $70,000, so Zook bought a pair at $800 and bided his time.

Today he's got his 24 chinchillas and more on the way. Zook, employed by a Los Angeles rubber company, estimated that his flock is now worth more than $15,000.

Backache, Leg Pains May Be Danger Sign Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nerve pain is warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 quarts a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start aching backaches, rheumatic joints, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 80 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

She's A Tall Texan But Can Show Easterners How To Play A Piano

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Lorene McClintock, who is tall and Texan held up the thumb and forefinger that helped her conquer New York.

"That's what I showed my publisher," she drawled, "I said anyone who could learn to hold his fingers this far apart 'About two inches' could learn to play the piano."

The publisher was skeptical. He said gently that dozens of people think they have new ways of learning to play the piano but it was a sad and historical truth that it took a lot of study and a lot of practice.

"That's when I got mad," said Lorene, a sturdy, competent looking brunette. "I told him about the boys in my U.S.O. club in Slaton, Texas, during the war, I told him about the wounded veterans and about the kids I was teaching. I told him to give my interval method' to anybody he wanted to and try it out."

And did he?
"Sure," said Lorene, making it sound like she, "I was bigger than him anyway and I think he figured I really had something or I would not be so confident."

Well, he sent out about 50 copies of "Teach Yourself to Play the Piano, and pretty soon there he was panting at my door, with a contract. It's supposed to be the fastest selling book of its type ever."

Miss McClintock is a Southern Methodist University product who started as an artist, had a profitable exhibit of her work here some years ago and now is testing her voice to see if it has operatic possibilities. She drew the 1,250 illustrations for her piano book.

"Apparently," she said, "I thought of something no one else ever did. You've looked at notes on a sheet of music, haven't you? Well, I worked out the intervals between notes and made little paper models of piano keys so that players can gauge the distances between notes with their eyes and link them with the spread of the fingers."

"Like the thumb and forefinger. Once a pupil gets the space on the music linked with the space he's used on the key models, he can play by sight. It's easy and I've taught it to dozens of veterans in hospitals up here in less than three weeks."

Miss McClintock made a gesture which seemed to dismiss the 47
