Mrs. Hagaman stated that three people present at the dinner attended school during the time that Mr. Hagaman served as superintendent. Those three were Mrs. George Davenport of Eastland, Mrs. O. F. Chastain, and Mrs. Hagaman.

Chandler and his older brother were born in Chickasaw County. Another brother was born after the county boundary was shifted. In 1874, Chandler's sister was born in the same room after citizens changed the county's name to Clay.

We Will Publish Annual Rodeo Edition

It has come to the attention of the Times that the rumor is being circulated that this paper will not put out the usual rodeo edition of the paper just prior to the Jaycee rodeo this summer.

This rumor is not only without foundation, no such idea ever having occurred to the management, but is manufactured by someone apparently having no connection with the paper.

The Times WILL definitely publish the regular rodeo edition and plans are underway to make it even bigger and better than ever before.

DR. W. P. WEBB SPEAKS TO RJC GRADUATES

Dr. Walter P. Webb, professor of history at the University of Texas, and a former student at Ranger High School, delivered the commencement address for Ranger Junior College graduates Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Recreation building.

Dr. Webb through a comparison of the educational systems of his early days an those of today, pointed out to the graduates the educational advantages that they enjoy today. In a review of the past he pointed out the fact that Texas' true culture comes from the people.

The speaker was introduced by J.E.T. Peters of Dallas who was principal of Ranger High School at the time Dr. Webb was a student. He told briefly of the hardships that had to be overcome to gain an education in those days, and how he started Dr. Webb on his educational pursuits that culminated in his professorship at the University of Texas. Mr. Peters came to Ranger as a school teacher in 1895, fifty years ago this year.

Diplomas were awarded the class by Dr. G. C. Boswell, president of the college, after the class had been presented by G. D. Rush, dean. The invocation was offered by Rev. Jasper C. Masegree and the benediction was given by Rev. August J. Merkel. Processional and recessional music was furnished by Miss Lilla Jean Brown and Miss Jennie Ruth Hooper led the audience in singing the National Anthem.

Honor graduates in the order of their scholastic achievement were George Gilbert McLee, James Leland Howard, James M. Maxwell, Billie Mack Meroney, and Doris Mae Elrod.

Members of the graduating class were: Jack C. Boney, Wilbur Lewis Boone, Buford Elias Bush, Donald Rex Elrod, Doris Mae Elrod, Mary Simpson Fulfer, Clarence R. V.F.W. Grateful For Support Of Poppy Sale Sat.

Don Butler Commander of Ralph McKinley Post No. 5873, V.F.W., and R. L. Landtroop Buddy Poppy Chairman, today expressed appreciation to the citizens of Ranger for their generous response in the recent sale of V.F.W. Buddy Poppies.

Speaking for the Post, the Buddy Poppy Committee, and the Ladies Auxiliary, Commander Butler stated that "this year 1800 Buddy Poppies were sold in Ranger, and a total of $228.00 was donated to this worthy cause.

Nearly 70 per cent of this sum will be retained in Ranger for welfare work among our local veterans. The remainder will be used to aid our disabled veterans, to bring relief to those in need, and to help obtain action on valid claims for government benefits. In addition, one cent from each poppy sold will aid the maintenance of the V.F.W. National Home for war orphans and widows at Eaton Rapids, Michigan."

According to Commander Butler, the following message has been received from Ray H. Brannama of Denver, Colo., Commander-in-chief of the V. F. W.: "Please convey for me, and for our entire national organization, our sincere thanks to the citizens of Ranger for their splendid response in the 1948 V.F.W. Buddy Poppy drive. Our disabled and needy veterans, and the dependent orphans and widows of those who made the supreme sacrifice will again be reassured that the sacrifices they were called upon to make have not been in vain—that they have not been forgotten."

Says Israel Has Accepted UN Truce Plan

LAKE SUCCESS, June 1, (UP)—An official spokesman disclosed today that Israel has accepted the United Nations plan for a four-week truce in Palestine and simultaneous arms embargo in the Middle East.

The official said Israel's note of acceptance, while it would not contain any "conditions," would be accompanied by an "interpretation" of the cease-fire plan voted last Saturday night by the UN Security Council.

The UN still awaited the first official word from the Arab states.

If accepted by the Arabs, the cease-fire plan presumably would go into effect soon, bringing at least four weeks of peace to Palestine during which a universal arms embargo would be clamped on the Middle East and the UN would try to negotiate a more permanent settlement between Jews and Arabs.

Jewish Air Force Bomb Arab Capital

TEL AVIV, June 1, (UP)—Israel struck the first blow of the war at any Arab capital today, bombing Amman as Arabic leaders and mediators gathered there to weigh United Nations appeal for a months truce in Palestine.

A Jewish bomber wheeled over the Trans-Jordan capital for 18 minutes dropping explosives and incendiaries. Six to 12 persons were reported killed, 30 wounded, and considerable damage done in the downtown area.

The tiny Israeli air force landed its first punch at the seat of the Arab high command a few hours before the leaders directing the war against the Jews took up their answer to the UN request for peace.

Counte Folke Bernadotte, the UN mediator, and his staff of 18 flew from Haifa to King Abdullah's capital.

Australians drank an average of 15.9 gallons of beer each last year. It was only 11.4 gallons in 1939.

Well... I Dunno, But...

Another former Ranger student has scored a hit. Jennings Thompson who is receiving his degree in mechanical engineering at Texas A & M College this spring, is one of the 25 per cent of the class in the highest scholastic bracket. Jennings has been a student senator for the past two years.

The Little Round Man was tipping off the press in a big way this morning but unfortunately the tips had to do with unprintable items. But there's no denying his nose for news and when he picks up a scent he leaves no stone unturned until he trees the story. Having been in the newspaper business once himself, he feels privileged to prod the press.

We could have practically made a fortune this morning if we had taken up offered bets. An early morning tip led us to the suspicion that our society editor had jumped the broomstick. We expressed the suspicion to Joe and George who immediately offered us all kinds of bets that she hadn't. But she had, and has gone happily on her way after which she will make her home in Eastland.

But our loss is Charles' gain. Talk of old times was flying thick and fast last night when there was a gathering of Ranger High School students of long ago, along with the first superintendent, M. H. Hagaman, and one of the early day principals, J. E. T. Peters now of Dallas. The occasion was to honor Dr. Walter P. Webb of the University of Texas, a former student of Ranger High school who was here to deliver the commencement address for Ranger Junior College.

There were three women at the gathering that had gone to school to Mr. Hagaman and one of them is now his wife, Emma Whittington Hagaman. The other two were Mrs. George Davenport of Eastland, in school days, Martha Rawls of Ranger, and Mrs. Oscar Chastain, formerly Bertie Whittington of Ranger.

Mrs. Pearl Long contributed interest to the occasion by coming up with a picture of those in the eighth, ninth and tenth grades of Ranger high school in 1907 and 1908.

Mr. Peters was the principal and among the students still around in these parts were Leslie Hagaman, Susie Bobo, (Mrs. Susan Hunt), Leola Myers, (Mrs. Leola Martin), Victoria Harrison (Mrs. C. E. May), Lil Bobo, Dr. Sanford Terrell now of Fort Worth, Boyd Davenport now of San Antonio, Oddie Cooper now of Tyler, and Fred Parrish of Ranger and dozens of others.

Then Dr. Webb reminds us this morning that he was a former suitor of our oldest sister.

Goodness, me, how time do fly, and ain't it a small world after all.

After all of that weather flurry yesterday we managed to get only .02 of an inch of rain.

Rangers Defeat Lone Star By 10 To 0 Score

The Rangers added another rung to their ladder of victories Monday night, when they defeated the Lone Star team of Ranger, by a score of 10 to 0.

Earnest Arterburn of Albuquerque, N. M. here for a visit, joined his four brothers on the team and pitched the game Monday night. He only allowed two hits for the Lone Star team.

The Rangers and the Ranger Transfer team will play the Ranger football League opener here tonight and Thursday night the Lone Star team and Premier will play a league game. All games start at 8:15 o'clock.

Two Departments Appropriations Are Slashed

WASHINGTON, June 1, (UP)—The House appropriations committee today slashed by 25 percent the treasury and post office departments requests for extra funds for the fiscal year starting July 1.

It voted to allow the two agencies a total of $432,953,010, a reduction of $112,771,640 below the departments budget estimates.

The total is over and above the $290,453,100 voted by the House earlier this year for the treasury and the $1,089,269,250 for the post office department for fiscal 1949.

At the same time, it decided to quit trying to outguess the internal revenue bureau on how much money was required to pay refunds to taxpayers. The committee agreed to authorize the treasury's tax bureau to pay whatever refunds it finds necessary during the coming fiscal year. Heretofore Congress has appropriated specific amounts for that purpose.

Food Expert Says 88 Cents A Day Can Provide 3 Nourishing Meals

DAVIS, Cal. (UP)—A housewife with a caloric-conscious eye and a firm grip on her pocketbook can produce three nutritious meals a day for 88 cents.

Miss Laura Morse, home economics instructor of the University of California College of Agriculture, says it's so, despite soaring prices.

But, if the housewife thinks only of the pennies saved and ignores the nutrients lost, her 88 cents will provide a diet far short of a person's food needs, Miss Morse maintains.

The girls in her home economics class prepared two sets of meals, each costing 88 cents in all for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

They don't claim the following meals to be delicious, but they insist they're nutritious.

Breakfast would include a soft-boiled egg, two slices of whole wheat toast, butter and grapefruit juice.

One lettuce and cheese sandwich, whole wheat bread, pea soup, lettuce salad with mayonnaise, prune whip and milk would be the entertainment lunch.

Finally, the model meal for dinner would be fried liver, one baked potato, sliced raw carrots, cabbage salad and mayonnaise dressing, applesauce and milk.

Miss Morse lists the likes of potato salad, cupcakes, baked beans, avocado salad and apple pie as tasty—maybe—but low in food value.

She has helped prepare a chart—H.D. 460—"Checking Food Values in the Daily Diet." Thus, with one eye on the grocery store specials and the other on the chart, the housewife can plan her meals to get the most food value for her money, Miss Morse says.

The Innocent Impostor

XXXI
PATIENCE finally heard a train rumbling down the tunnel.

"Oh, Roger, I thought one was never coming."

Roger said he too had been beginning to get anxious.

"You think we'll catch the 'plane now?'"

He glanced at his watch, a frown wrinkling his brows.

"I hope so."

It was nearly 2:45 by the time they reached the hotel. In a moment they were in and out again with their cases and flinging them into a taxi.

Charlotte and Dwight Breeden had, of course, gone on. The man at the reception desk had told them that as they'd dashed past him.

"Thank heaven, I paid my bill and packed this morning," said Roger. "I wonder if I dare tell this taxman to drive any faster!"

Patience gave a little shudder. Her nerves, she was finding, weren't quite what they had been since that lorry had come out of that side road so disastrously!

In fact she was quite frankly terrified. As it was he seemed to be taking them along at a half-raising speed.

"I think he's going as fast as he can," she said. And then suddenly something struck her. Something that she hadn't noticed before.

"Roger, what's happening to the weather?'"

"It's not looking too good, is it?'" Dark clouds lay low in the sky. A gusty wind seemed to be rising.

"Flying won't be too pleasant, will it?'" Patience said timorously.

"They won't take off if it's too bad."

She wondered which would be the lesser of two evils. And decided that if they could still catch the 'plane she'd rather risk the journey. The thought of not being there at the barrier to meet her aunts was even more frightening.

"What's the time, Roger?'"

Roger's hand covered hers. "Darling, you keep asking me that! It won't stand still, I'm afraid."

"I'm sorry. I just can't help it. Roger, supposing we do miss the 'plane?'"

"Even if that happens the world wouldn't come to an end."

HOW could he be expected to understand how terribly important it was she should get there? It wouldn't matter to him, of course. He'd not got an Aunt Helen and an Aunt Alice waiting to meet him at the barrier in time to catch the 6:30.

But already above them a plane was circling in the sky. They could hear the roar of its engines. Patience leaned out of the window watching it, her heart full of misgiving.

The driver swung in through the wide gates. He brought his car to a standstill. They dashed out and raced towards the tarmac. But there were only two 'planes there, and it was clear that neither was about to set out on a journey.

Roger looked around and found an official. He made swift inquiries. The 3 o'clock 'plane to London?

"It's just taken off, Monsieur."

"Oh, Roger, Roger, what shall I do?'" gasped Patience.

"Is there another one?'" asked Roger. "It's most important this young lady and I should get back. We had reservations on the 3 o'clock."

The man shook his head. "I'm very sorry, Monsieur. That will, I'm afraid, be the last 'plane away today."

He looked at the sky dolefully, and back again at Roger and gestured with his hands. "The weather. Our reports are not good. It may change, of course, but I do not think it is very like!..."

Patience's heart shook.
"Roger, we must get back," she said desperately.
Roger looked at the official.
"Is there any chance of hiring a private 'plane?'"
Again the man shook his head. He was indeed very sorry. It was most unfortunate that they had not been there just a few minutes sooner.

ROGER put a hand on Patience's arm. "We'll have to go some other way, darling. Train and boat, I'm afraid, are our only hope."

"But it'll take so long..."
Their taxi driver, they found, had been waiting to see what had happened.

"Take us to Cook's," said Roger. "We'll go straight to them and see which is the quickest route to take."

Patience sat back again in her corner. Her hands clenched and unclenched in her lap. She wished—oh, how much she wished it!—that she'd never agreed to come to Paris.

"Roger, what can we do?'"
"Well, first we'll see just how soon we can get there."

"How soon do you think it'll be?'"

"I'm afraid I'll mean traveling by night. Probably Le Havre to Southampton or the Newhaven-Dieppe route."

"And they take a long while..."
"Quite a time."

"Oh, Roger!..."
Roger drew her hand through his arm. "Darling, don't worry too terribly. We'll get out of this all right. We'll wire Charlotte to the flat—she said she was going there before she went to the theater—and tell her to hold the fort as tactfully as possible if your aunts contact her. And once we're back—I know, I'll see them with you, and help you to explain what happened. I'll take all the blame."

He smiled down at her reassuringly. "Darling, don't look so tragic. You wait till I tackle Aunt Helen and Aunt Alice—believe it or not I've got quite a way even with quite middle-aged women."

Utah Trials May Show If Underground Factories Can Withstand It
 By MURRAY M. MOLER
 United Press Staff Correspondent
DUGWAY PROVING GROUNDS Utah (UP)—Clouds of dust will rise over the Western Utah desert shortly as a token of things to come.

The presage larger clouds of dust that will shoot into the sky as the Army tries to see how much powder—or atomic bombings—it takes to destroy an underground factory.

The Army's corps of engineers and civilian contractors are the men now on "operation underground." Later this summer and fall, explosives and demolition experts will take over with varying charges of TNT ranging up to 320,000 pounds.

The idea of the operation, which has a high rating on the nation's defense parade, "is to build simulated factories, foundations and other structures well underground, then try to blow them up.

ARMY TESTING DEFENSES AGAINST ATOM BOMBING

small charges of TNT, will begin soon after June 1. The charges will become increasingly stronger against new targets until at least three, perhaps five, "full-scale" loads of 100 tons of TNT in the form of mines is placed deep in the special holes near the targets. The first of the "big boys" will go off about Sept. 1; the last about the time snow flies over the western slope of the Rocky Mountains.

When all the shooting is done, a corps of experts—military and civilian—will look over the data and issue secret instructions to heavily reinforced concrete with walls of differing thickness—are being put in place on the salt flats, deserts, and limestone cliffs around this remote proving ground 85 miles southwest of Salt Lake City.

Others are being built in sandstone bluffs near Castle Dale in central Utah and in the Granite Mountains south of Grand Junction, Colo.

Those at the "dry clay" site south of Dugway are nearing completion. The clay is so dry that it billows 50 feet in the air as construction equipment bites into it. Workers and observers must, or should, wear safety glasses and respirators.

the home that is wired for Full Use of Summer-Comfort Appliances

• There's a lot of thinking and planning being done now which will result in the building of many new homes and much remodeling and modernizing of existing homes during the coming summer.

Right now, while all this thinking and planning is going on, is the time to make sure that the house you build, or the one you remodel, will be wired to provide for FULL USE of your summer-comfort appliances.

Without adequate wiring—enough circuits to provide plenty of outlets and switches for your summer-comfort appliances without overloading and electric wires large enough to carry the increased load—your whole plan may be upset. Summer-comfort appliances can efficiently do their job of keeping you cool and comfortable only when they have an adequate wiring system from which to operate.

• When you plan to add attic fans, room coolers or other summer-comfort appliances, consult your electrical contractor-dealer, architect or builder about adequate wiring.
