G. B. Rush Speaks To Rotary Club

G. B. Rush was in charge of the program at the Rotary Club luncheon Wednesday at noon at the Ghoslon Hotel and spoke on petroleum.

In pointing to the depletion of the petroleum resources of the United States, as well as foreign countries, he predicted that products extracted from coal will ultimately serve in the place of petroleum. He pointed out that coal oil, later known as kerosene, an extract from coal was the first such fuel and due to the vastness of the coal reserves, he feels that it again will be the source of fuel as well as many other products.

H. C. Henderson, president, presided at the meeting and announced that there will be a joint meeting next Wednesday of the Lions and Rotarians at which time distinguished persons here for the dedication of Ranger Junior College.

Raymond Landroop, Boy Scout committeeman for the club, explained that plans are going ahead for work in this field. The scout committee is planning to meet with interested boys next week.

Program leaders for the next four meetings were announced by F. P. Brasher, Sr., program chairman, and are as follows: August 11, Dr. G. C. Boswell; August 18, Archie Robinson; August 25, B. A. Tunnell and September 1, Willard Swamy.

The Rev. Earl Bissex, pastor of the First Christian Church, stated today that the revival which opened at the church last night got off to a fine start in the air-conditioned church.

"With an almost full house and a twenty minute sing-song led by Ray Bristol, ministerial student at T. C. U., the meeting began in a great spirit of enthusiasm," the pastor stated.

An inspirational and challenging message was delivered by Rev. Bissex.

The message tonight will be on the subject "When Is A Man Lost?" and the public is invited to attend the service.

Radio Set Plays A Mother To Pheasant Chicks

ABERDEEN, S. D. (UP)—No one at the municipal airport was surprised when two pheasant chicks popped out of a radio cabinet.

Fourteen days before, a pheasant's nest had been destroyed by a mower and the hen pheasant killed.

The two remaining eggs were placed in the radio. The warmth of the tubes was enough to hatch the eggs.

Death Rate Down

NEW YORK (UP)—The Institute of Life Insurance says the death rate among insurance policy holders may hit a new low this year. In the first six months of 1948 the number of deaths from accidents, tuberculosis, influenza, pneumonia and children's diseases was lower and in some cases lower than ever before the institute said.

THINKS CONGRESS IS AVOIDING THE ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (UP)—President Truman today categorically denied a Soviet-inspired report that Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military commander in Germany, would be relieved of his post.

But Mr. Truman did not disclose at a news conference any details of the Moscow conference on the Berlin crisis.

The President said, however, he was always hopeful for peace.

In response to repeated questions, he said there are no details and no comment on the Kremlin meeting with Stalin.

Mr. Truman confers at 12:30 p. m. today with Secretary of State George C. Marshall at which time the Berlin situation will be reviewed.

The President reaffirmed his order to department heads to withhold loyalty information on government workers from Congressional committees.

Clay Not To Be Relieved- Truman

ATOMIC SHIPMENTS MADE TO RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (UP)—The chairman of a House Un-American activities subcommittee said today that atomic bomb materials were shipped to Russia in 1945 after "Russian agents" had put tremendous pressure "on the government."

The statement was made during an open committee session by Rep. John McDowell, R., Pa. He said the shipments included heavy water and two lots of Uranium compound—one of 300 pounds and one of 1,000 pounds.

He said they were shipped from a "small, obscure airfield in the United States."

"The shipments were made to Russia after tremendous pressure on all phases of the American government by Russian agents some known and acknowledged and others who established themselves by surreptitious methods," he said.

McDowell explained that he gleaned these facts in secret hearings in recent months. He said the facts came from "some of the most responsible citizens" of the United States.

The shipments, he added, were made "at the very height of atomic research in 1945."

McDowell said his subcommittee had learned that Communist infiltration was "deep in the State Department, deep in the treasury, deep in the War Production Board and even in the OSS."

As the House committee began its spy hearing today, Rep. John D. Rankin, D., Miss., urged members to subpoena Henry A. Wallace for questioning.

Rankin made the suggestion as the committee began questioning Alger Hiss, former high state department official, on charges that he was a member of a pre-war Communist underground group in the capital.

Currency Crisis May Be Settled

BERLIN, Aug. 5 (UP)—The Russian government was reported reliably to have agreed today to the free circulation of its currency throughout Berlin in a compromise with the city council which promised to resolve a financial crisis here.

Informed sources said the Soviets agreed to lift their order freezing all Soviet currency funds of the city administration and all businesses in the Western sectors.

Western authorities had interpreted the complicated Russian financial maneuvers as a scheme to take over complete economic control of the city.

The freeze was ordered when the city council rejected demands that it declare the Soviet Deutschmark the only valid currency in the city.

The reported agreement was reached at a meeting this afternoon of officials of the city council and the Soviet-sponsored economic commission and Note Bank.

French Plane Is Reported Found With All Alive

PARIS, Aug. 5 (UP)—The French press agency said today that Air France had received a dispatch saying the Latecoere 631 flying boat missing in the South Atlantic since Sunday had been found with all 32 aboard alive.

After its dispatch reporting the discovery of the plane, the news agency circulated another from Dakar saying the search had been futile. The possibility was seen, but not confirmed, that it was delayed and had been superseded by the discovery report.

Air France headquarters in Paris said it had no information tending to confirm the Marseille dispatch and the press agency itself cautioned that the report should be "treated with reserve."

According to the unofficial report, the craft was found 120 miles south of the point from which it last reported all well about midnight Sunday.

Incidentally, while speaking of the clubhouse there's news from the library up there.

Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin, librarian, tells us that interest is keen among book lovers and one of the most consistent readers is Madeline Hinkley.

A membership drive is in progress conducted by the library committee for elementary school children. Madeline who is a student at St. Rita's Catholic School, has started through the complete works of Dickens. Of course, the Dickens is interspersed with other books.

P. S. The Dickens volumes are one we loaned the library after we couldn't get our own daughter interested.

Gifts to the library are still flowing in, too. One of the latest contributors is Mrs. Bud Fuller. Mrs. Fuller whose husband recently bought the H. R. Hicks Motor Company, had been here only four days when in she walked to the library with a gift of books.

Gifts have also recently been received from Mrs. Lillian Strain, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Chastain of Ranger and San Antonio, Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, Mrs. Morris Newman and more books from the Auxiliary of the Ralph McKinley Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Well, what you think! Every time we start talking about the weather, just as sure as shootin', it up and does something special and this time it was a breath of fall that flew in yesterday and had the populace hunting for the covers last night.

The low temperature during the night was 63 degrees which is pretty low for this time of year and the lowest we've had in quite a spell.

Starting out to work earlier than usual this morning, we reached for a light coat but when the family laughed at us, we shyly discarded it in favor of goose bumps. And don't think we didn't get 'em, either.

C. E. May Jr. At Regional Jaycee Meet In Waco

He was guest of honor at a luncheon at the Roosevelt Hotel at noon.

From Waco he will go to Mexico to attend a joint meeting of Regions 11 and 12. It is also expected that a delegation of Jaycees from Ranger will attend the meeting in Mexico.

Mineral Wells Couple Found Shot To Death

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. Aug. 5. T. Sgt. Joseph C. Washman, 25, and his wife were found shot to death in their home here early today, and a coroner verdict said it was murder and suicide.

Washman, stationed at Fort Worth's Carwell Air Force Base, said in a note which Mineral Wells police released in part that "the good book says 'until death do us part,' and this is it..."

The note added, police said, that he could not stand to leave his children in the hands of someone who might not take care of them.

The Washmans had two boys, 2 and three years old, who were visiting a sister of Mrs. Washman's in Fort Worth at the time. Mrs. Washman had filed a suit for divorce yesterday.

The town, in the southeastern part of Eastland County, had a population estimated at 16,000 during the oil rush.

The new paving is part of a farm-to-market road which has been completed from Desdemona to Lingville, a distance of 11 miles. The work was done by the Brazos Valley Construction Company of Fort Worth, of which C. H. Henning of Abilene is manager. Henning formerly lived in Eastland and was active in Desdemona during the oil rush.

Man Makes Record As Fly Catcher

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Next to fly paper, Edward N. Anketell, 74, probably is the champion fly catcher of the world. In the past 15 years, he estimates he has snared more than 2,000,000 of the pests as specimens for junior scientists peering through microscope sets produced by the A. C. Gilbert Co., educational toy manufacturers.

To capture choice specimens en masse, Anketell contrived a special fly trap. The flies are killed with carbon tetrochloride and preserved in alcohol.

Snakebite Proves To Be Merely Piece Of Glass

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—When Roy Brown, 10, slipped into a creek, he found a gash on his leg as he picked himself up. Nearby lay a snake.

Roy received emergency treatment for snakebit but police doubted that a snake could have inflicted such a deep wound.

The officers returned to the creek and found a piece of glass on the bank where Roy had slid.

No. 1 Bessie Shaw Being Acidized

The Crawley & Crawford No. 1 Bessie Shaw near Carbon was being watched with much interest today as acidizing of the Marble Falls limestone got underway.

An excellent show of oil was found in the limestone between 2960 and 3007 feet. Operations had been shut down while casing was run.

This is a wildcat test located 330 feet from the north and west lines of a 105 acre tract out of the southwest corner of the Erath County School Lands survey. It is about four miles southwest of Carbon in Eastland County.

A number of Ranger people are interested in the well.

Preceding the open house the distinguished visitors will be guests at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions clubs at the Ghoslon Hotel at noon.

This is the first time in nearly a quarter of a century's existence that the college has been housed on a separate campus from the high school.

The new campus of the college is located in the southeast part of Ranger and consists of a three-story brick administration building, classroom and shop building, science building, cafeteria, and boys' dormitory and athletic building. In addition, new residences and apartments have been completed that will house forty veterans' families, Dr. G. C. Boswell, announced.

Married Hired Men Want Their Own Farms

AMES, Ia. (UP)—Most married hired men would like to be farming for themselves, an Iowa State College survey shows.

The survey was taken by Robert Rohrer, rural sociologist at Iowa State. He said that in 1940, more than half of the 20,000 hired farm hands in Iowa were married and that the number has increased since then.

Hired men feel that even in these days of high wages they cannot save enough to make an unassisted start in farming on their own, Rohrer said.

 ... most abstractors were wondering where the next order would come from. Then came the gradual rise in the price of petroleum products, release of more building materials, and increased inflation which swelled the price of lands out of all reason. These factors and others contributed greatly to the demand for title work. But thru good times and bad—for more than 35 years—we have never thought it wise to sacrifice quality for quantity. Recent increase in railroad rates was bad news for Frank Roycroft, right, of Chicago. He has to buy rail, Pullman and steamship tickets for most of his 13 children. With Mrs. Roycroft, left, he's shown about to embark for New York on the first leg of a vacation trip to County Cook, Ill. Children's ages range from five months to 21 years.

Little Punch Holes Help To Guard Sewer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—The little round rings of heavy paper left over where holes are punched in ledger sheets generally are considered useless. But not by Champaign sewer investigators. They use them to check whether plumbing is legally connected to the sanitary sewer, or illegally connected to the storm sewers. City Commissioner John O. Rising reports they are "working swell." All that is necessary, Rising said, is to throw a handful of the paper in a toilet, flush, and wait to see whether the rings come through. The paper "scoots right through," Rising said.

Filipino Guerrillas Get Vet Benefits

MANILA (UP)—The U. S. Army has recognized 260,715 Filipinos as war-time guerrillas, entitling them to American veterans' benefits. The men and women were sifted from more than 1,200,000 claimants. Army field investigators covered the entire Philippine archipelago before the claims were decided. Tons of personal documents and official records were checked. Hundreds of thousands of persons were interviewed. Veterans' benefits will be paid to the guerrillas on the basis of the number of months or years they took part in active operations against Japanese occupation troops.

U. S. Loses Heavily On War-Time Land

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—The federal government has sloughed off more war-time possessions. This time it's 250,000 acres of farm land. The War Assets Administration says more than half of the 444,981 acres bought by the government during World War II have been re-sold as surplus to the former owners. The government paid $15,861,721 for the land. Former owners bought it back for $10,035,359. Other buyers include veterans who paid $1,697,851 for 41,719 acres. That land cost the government $2,794,067, WAA officials said. State and local governments took 53,126 acres, bought by the national government for $5,516,001, at a cost of $926,902. Overall recovery figures show that the federal government collected about 52 per cent of its original purchase price from the land sales, WAA officials added. That represents $34 per acre. Tool developments include an electric one that removes even heat-resisting paint from wood or metal surfaces.

Railroad History Of U. S. Recalled At Chicago Fair

By HENRY D. RENNWALD United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, July, 20 (UP)—The Chicago railroad fair, commemorating 100 years of railroad progress in the United States, was opened to the public today.

It is the largest exhibition of its kind ever presented. Officials of the fair, headed by Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, president, predicted 2,000,000 persons will attend the exhibition before it closes in mid-September.

The fair covers approximately 50 acres of ground along the lake front of Lake Michigan. Working by plans drawn up last January, fair officials have transformed the appearance of the area.

A complete Indian village now appears and along the lake front where no native redmen have lived for more than 100 years. The Indian village is sponsored by the Santa Fe Railway, and has a population of 150 Navajo, Hopi, Apache and other tribes living in the southwest. The Indians will live on the fair grounds, in the kind of homes they inhabit in Arizona and New Mexico.

As part of the exhibit sponsored by the Illinois Central, a street scene of the French Quarter of New Orleans has been recreated. Visitors desiring to have lunch or dinner in a modern dining car may do so in "La Fiesta," a rock colorful car operated by the Rock Island lines. It will be parked at the fair for the duration, and open at meal times, serving typical train meals. Three roads serving the west and northwest—the Burlington, Northern Pacific and Great Northern—have a joint exhibit. One attraction offered by the group will be a rodeo featuring western riding and roping champions. There also will be a functioning replica of Old Faithful geyser, famed the world over for its clock-like regularity in erupting hourly in Yellowstone Park. The Chicago & Eastern Illinois

Running the full length of the grounds, a narrow-gauge railroad is in daily operation. It is a perfect layout of old-time stations, signal equipment, sidetracks, such as were in operation in Colorado many years ago. The feature attraction, however, is the huge pageant, "Wheels a-Rolling." It is a giant transportation show on a 450-foot stage over which are laid three standard gauge railroad tracks. The pageant will include 220 professional performers, 800 period costumes, and hundreds of antiques tracing the history of transportation in this country from the late 17th century to the present date. Included in the presentation will be 19 famous old-time locomotives and trains dating as far back as 1829.

Greater Boston Marathon Trio May Give U. S. an Overdue Win

BY JIM O'LEARY
NEA Staff Correspondent

(Pinch-hitting for NEA Sports Editor Harry Grayson, who is en route to London to report the Olympic Games.)

NEW YORK—(NEA)—America's well-rounded Olympic marathon team is a greater Boston exclusive consisting of Watertown's Ted Vogel, West Acton's veteran Johnny Kelley and Ollie Manninen of Gardner.

This trio may give the United States its best representation in this traditionally number one Olympic event since Johnny Hayes booted himself home way back in 1908 in the famous Dorando squabble, and over practically the same London course.

Since that time, no American has finished better than third. One G. Strobino (USA), did it in Stockholm in 1912.

In Paris in 1924 another third was credited to Mr. Marathon himself, Clarence DeMar, seven times winner of the Boston A.A. marathon in the 1911-1930 period. He is still a sentimental competitor in this annual grind.

The relatively flat terrain of suburban London should be ideally suited for 23-year-old Vogel who's only vice is licorice candy which he feels aids his conditioning.

The plucky little Kelley who packs 130 pounds into a five-five frame as contrast with Vogel's 125 pounds on a five-foot, 10-inch structure, can, given a rain or windswept day, prove dangerous in a race of necessarily slow time.

Ollie Manninen, mediocre in comparison, may even surprise his more celebrated teammates.

Kelley and Vogel both hold decisions over Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, one of the best on the North American continent.

But the cigar-smoking, cocky little Monsieur Gerard says, "The Americans won't have a chance. It is very dusty over there. I ran the course while in the Canadian Army. Besides, I beat them all!" At least the race will be interesting. It always is.

Refugee Flow Of East Swamps Lower Saxony

HANNOVER, Germany (UP)—Housing and refugee officials in the state of Lower Saxony have issued a plea to less-crowded states to give asylum to the thousands of refugees who are pouring in from the east.

Officials state that 44 per cent of the population in that state have arrived recently from the Soviet zone.

The situation there is described as "desperate" and the state provincial government has asked assistance barracks and blocks of apartments which are still requisitioned by the Army.

Compulsory Drill Stirs Minnesota Campus Revolt

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—An old battle cry is being re-echoed by the University of Minnesota student newspaper, the Minnesota Daily.

"Down with compulsory drill!" The Daily led an anti-ROTC fight during the pacifist movement of the 1930's and issued a triumphant "extra" edition on graduation day, 1934, when the board of regents abolished compulsory military training.

Since that time the university has had a reserve officers training unit, but participation in any part of the four-year course is elective.

But a recent suggestion by the university president, Dr. J. L. Merrill, that compulsory training be renewed has brought rumblings of the old battles.

Merrill told the regents he believed lack of a program denied students the right to obtain commissions and failed to permit the school to do its duty to the country in case of war.

The student leaders of the anti-drill fight in 1934 are gone from the campus now, of course, but the new editors were quick to take up the old standard.

The arguments "don't stand up too well," the Daily said. "There is a voluntary program for anyone eligible to get into it. No one is being denied anything on that score."

The Daily added that official Army reports showed that the three-month officer candidate school produced officers "far superior" to those of college and university ROTC programs.

The 1934 decision to abolish the compulsory program was a big victory for the newspaper. Earlier, when feeling ran high on the campus, it had been forbidden to say anything about drill sessions.

One of the students, now a Minneapolis attorney, had close to a straight "A" average in studies, but balked at attending drill. A military tribunal suspended him for failure to attend, but the student, years later a voluntary enlistee in the Army Air Force and now a reserve captain, was reinstated by President Lotus D. Coffman.

The Daily fought President Coffman in 1934 as it is opposing Merrill now. One peace demonstration was held on the auditorium steps after Coffman denied the use of the auditorium to the demonstrators. Nearly 4,000 students cheered as Gov. Floyd R. Olson denounced compulsory drill.

The present dispute has not reached serious stages, but the Daily has said that any further steps toward reinstating drill may bring a new eruption of the bitter fight.

Crippled Vets Too Speedy

FLAME-DOG DEVICE QUELLS GRASS FIRE

SEATTLE (UP)—Prairie fire, the scourge of the grass-belt farming areas around the world, may be licked eventually.

An apparatus has been devised that produces a searing blast of flame and a cloud of fire-quenching fog side by side to do the trick.

The machine, perfected by a veteran Seattle fire fighter, uses the old principle of fighting fire with fire. The fog adds a new wrinkle.

A powerful jet of burning oil and propane gas is shot towards the advancing prairie fire from the back of a truck to lay a fire break at speeds up to 15 miles per hour. The artificially burned-off strip is bounded on the downward side by wet grass "fire-proofed" by streams of fine spray.

The rig has stopped grass fires on the benches of western Washington in winds as high as 35 miles per hour. Attached to a four-by-four tank truck, the 200-pound burner and drenching unit can be driven over the roughest prairie at close to eight miles per hour.

Ambrose B. Everts, who has spent the last 25 years fighting fire with the U. S. Forest Service, built the first pilot model of the "firefog unit" three years ago at a cost of $30.

The 45-year-old inventor has applied to the government for permission to patent his latest model, which succeeds three experimental machines.

The flame from the three burners of the new model is hot enough to scorch a 15-foot path through the thickest grass. Backing up this "quick burn" are eight fog nozzles which dampen an area up to 10 feet in width.

Ranchers who watched test of the model in Western Washington this year said that with improvements they could use the rig to handle sagebrush fires, too.

In western Washington, prairie fires have been known to sweep 20,000 acres in a single afternoon.

"We've been trying to fight prairie fire with wet sacks and plowed lines to long," Everts said.

Love's Language Laughs At Barrier

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—The language of love was sufficient for Kenneth Shotwell, 33, of Fremont, Neb., and Fraulein Lisette Hosse, 23, Magdenburg, Germany.

They kissed warmly but said nothing as Miss Hosse stepped from a plane at the Omaha municipal airport. Shotwell, a former infantry private, had paid her transportation by plane from the Russian zone. They hadn't seen each other in three years.

Miss Hosse speaks no English. Shotwell speaks little German. "We'll learn to talk together," Shotwell said. "We're getting married soon."

Shun "What D'ya Want?" Teacher Tells Waitresses

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—About the first thing a waitress should learn is not to say "what d'ya want?"

She also should not sit on tables or sling bar cloths over her shoulders. She should watch her language and try not to frown.

Those suggestions were handed down by John B. O'Meara, 51, as he opened a school for waiting for prospective waitresses.

People always are searching for peace of mind, O'Meara said, and sometimes they don't find it in restaurants, especially where a waitress says "what d'ya want?" spills coffee in the saucer and scowls. It's a good way not to get a tip, and is no way to sell food, he said.

Saves Business—By Close Shave

When one of Haifa's barbers went off to join the Israeli army, it looked as if the shop would have to close up. But his wife refused to throw in the towel. Instead, she learned to daub lather, scrape whiskers and cut hair and, as seen here, saved the family business.

tioned summer modes were "indecent". The police stirred it up by enforcing the law. The public took it up from there.

The question of public decency has always been a serious one in Rome. It is a traditional church rule that women may not enter a church without covering their heads, wearing stockings and haying long sleeves.

But Romans, accustomed to frying six days a week in the capital's oven-like summer heat, have long been among the first to get down to the bare essentials on the beaches. Bare shoulder frocks have been adopted for the same reason.

When the government's quiet "morality" campaign began, there was no public notice. But the fact couldn't be hidden for long. The arrest of scantily-clad damsels on the Ostia and Frigene beaches near Rome, and the fining of a dancer in Naples for walking down the street in a sun suit, aroused the champions of summer styles.

The ministry of interior got most of the blame. Newsweek found that an order to all police had reminded them of existing laws prohibiting the wearing of "indecent" costumes in public places.

The order this year carried two riders, however. One outlawed the "slip" or "triangle" bathing suit fashion, made popular by the French. Another said that police should also prevent the wearing of any costume which "may be considered scanty." That's where the two-piece bathing suit and the bare-shoulder dress dispute came up.

The government has defended itself by stating that no morality campaign was involved. It said normal regulations on public dress were just being recalled to the police Communist newspapers reported "this is what you voters get for electing a clerical government."

Finally, Rightists and Liberals were in on the argument—and the government was on the receiving end in every case.

EFFORT TO CENSOR BEACH SUITS STIRS ITALIANS TO REBEL

By Norman Montpellier
United Press Staff Correspondent
ROME (UP)—What's wrong with a two-piece bathing suit on a shapely girl? The Italian public wants to know. And why is a strapless, bare-shoulder summer dress a thing to scorn? they also ask.

About 95 per cent of Italy's newspapers and most of the nation's beachgoers are aroused over the matter. It is the hottest political potato the government has caught since last April's election defeat of the Communists.

The government started it by passing the word that the men-

Soviet Railroads Prove Bottleneck In 5-Year Plan

By Walter Kolars
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Drastic measures taken by the Soviet prosecutor general testify to the shortage of Russian rolling stock and to the difficulties of the Soviet railways in general.

The official Soviet Tass Agency quoted an order issued by the prosecutor general, G. N. Satenov, instructing all branches of his office "to step up their struggle against the unproductive waste of rolling stock."

Satenov further ordered them to investigate urgently all cases "when trucks due to be loaded or unloaded were detained in excess of time schedule and to start criminal proceedings against the culprits."

Tass quoted four cases during the past few days in which the "culprits" guilty of delaying the unloading of railway trucks were sentenced to "one year corrective labor custody" or "two years of deprivation of freedom." The sentences were passed by special railway tribunals attached to the principal Russian railway lines. Most of the defendants were heads of truck depots.

The new measures taken by the prosecutor general confirm the impression of experts on Russian economics that the state of Soviet railways constitutes one of the main bottlenecks for the successful implementation of the "five year plan in four years" policy.

The leading Soviet newspapers repeatedly have warned in recent months that the efforts made by Soviet coal miners, oil workers and metal workers to speed up production might turn out to be in vain if the Soviet railways failed to keep pace with the general trend and were unable to carry more oil, coal, metal, etc.

During the current year the Russian railways are supposed to handle 14 per cent more freight than last year. Out of the total increase roughly half is to be achieved by the personnel of the railway system of the southwest and the east (Ural-Siberia), who pledged themselves to fulfill the freight increase plan one year in advance of schedule.

Some Comic Strips Held Of Low-Level Appeal

ST. PAUL (UP)—Sociologists at Macalester College say that if your child reads Walt Disney comics, he may have a higher I.Q. than the child who reads Superman and Batman comics.

Forty sociology students under Prof. Harold Eastman are studying high school children to learn how their behavior is affected by comics.

Children in the average I.Q. level—about 100—prefer Superman, Captain Marvel and the Batman type. Above-average children like the Walt Disney variety, the tests showed.

Eastman said the study indicates that racial prejudice, contempt for law and order and fascist ideas grow from reading some comic books.

Walkie-Talkie White Rats Aid Science

LOS ANGELES (UP)—White rats carrying tiny built-in "walkie-talkies" are aiding scientific research at the University of California.

World War II radar technique is used to "broadcast" ultra-short-wave electrical impulses to the rodents with miniature crystal rectifiers developed by the armed forces, according to Dr. Joseph A. Gengerem, associate professor of psychology.

The rats scamper about the coffee-shaped metal pen across which radar signals play. As they try to solve a maze-running problem or a fine-tune-food test, they are directed by electrical impulses which flash warning when they take a wrong turn.

Meanwhile other rats carry on unaided by radio. Investigators will not what difference, if any, occurs in their behavior.

Experiments with various intensities and locations of the shocks will give clues to learning speed, memory, irritability and other traits. Eventually this knowledge may lead to better understanding of human behavior, Gengerem said.

Experiments have indicated that the rats suffer no ill effects from the radios, which they wear only during "working hours." The equipment less than an inch long to convert alternating into direct current, a silver wire electrode, a silver foil and a tiny "pole" antenna.

Farmers Sell New Peanuts At Support Price

Early harvested peanuts sold mainly at support prices during the past week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reports.

Farmers who dug and picked their early plantings in South Texas reported light yields and low grade. Some growers received $15 to $20 a ton above support levels because of overgrading.

Support price of $215 a ton for base grade Spanish peanuts grown west of the Mississippi River was announced by the Department of Agriculture on July 30. Base grade includes farmers' stock peanuts containing less than two per cent damage and less than four per cent foreign material. The support schedule provides premiums and discounts similar to those in effect last year.

North Texas peanuts and late plantings in South Texas need rain. Steady rains fell in the southeastern states, where growing peanuts are in good condition.

Shelled peanut markets weakened in the southeast. Shelled No. 1 Spanish from the new crop brought 18 cents a pound in the southeast.

Peanut oil markets held about steady, but peanut meal sold slightly lower.
