Three Powers Confer With Molotov

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

We'll have to take back what we said about the nice summer weather we've had. Boy, what it lacked in June and July is being made up with good measure in August.

The thermometer has been crowding the 100 mark for five days now, and the sixth one, today, promises to do the same. Highest registered yet is 104 which it was yesterday.

This is the kind of weather that would justify the expression, "melting and running down in your boots."

Petty dry, too. Guess we'll have to start to work on that.

Another nice contribution has been made to the public library. Mildred Hill gave 10 books through the VFW Auxiliary in memory of George McCleskey.

Personally, we'd say the inspection day at Ranger Junior College was a huge success and if you think Ranger hasn't got something at that new college campus, you're mistaken.

It is one of the nicest little setups we've ever seen and the program for the college opening Wednesday was entertaining and well executed.

Boswell told us today that arrangements of flowers were sent to the college for the event by friends of the college.

"Metro" the hound dog that has taken up with the Little Round Man is catching on fast. His association with his adopted master is showing up in his bark. He's got a terrific bark that sounds bad but we don't think he'd bite.

Chasing cars is his past time and we understand that the master is investigating insurance for the dog. Can you beat it! If there's any way in the world to corner the Yankee dollar, that guy'll think of it.

Well the epithets are flying thick and fast up in Washington. The spy hunters have labeled one of the witnesses a liar.

Now he may be, we don't know but we still say that the committee don't question could very well go home and let the FBI get the job done.

It looks to us like that's the FBI's job and we happen to know they're pretty good questioners themselves. Any way, they sure can find out a lot of things.

George Beighley in West Virginia for a visit with his family, stopped long enough enroute to send back a post card depicting an Ozark mountain shotgun wedding.

George gives Chief Murphy a lot of trouble with his cash register at the Paramount Coffee Shop, and Chief tells us that he hasn't been out of balance since George left.

Funeral Sunday For Brother Of Ranger Women

Mrs. Bonnie McCleskey and Mrs. Oleta Hale have received word that the remains of their brother, D. L. Dunaway who was killed in action at Anzio, will arrive in Cisco Friday.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The deceased who was a member of the 36th Division was killed on March 1, 1944.

Absentee Voting To Begin Soon

Virgil Love, county clerk, stated today that absentee voting in the second primary August 28 will get under way just as soon as the ballots are completed.

All absentee voting must be done before August 24 and ballots will be in the hands of the clerk late Friday.

A Happy Reunion

The child was found unharmed in a muddy ditch 80 miles from New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Holmes, parents of the little girl, believe the child was kidnapped and then abandoned. — (NEA Telephoto).

SPY HUNTERS ACCUSE WITNESS OF LYING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UP)—House spy hunters today accused an angry, red-haired former New Deal economist of lying under oath and said he would be held in court.

The accusation was hurled as the House Un-American activities committee quizzed Charles Kramer on charges that he aided Russia as an alleged leader in a Communist underground made up of government employees here. Kramer, for a while poker-faced, refused to answer questions as to whether he was a Communist or a spy on constitutional grounds that his answers might incriminate him.

Under committee questioning, which included a charge that he sold this country "down the river," he lost his temper and shouted—"you're not trying to find the facts. You're making a circus to hide what Congress has failed to do."

Meanwhile, there were other fast-breaking developments in the House espionage inquiry, including—

1. The justice department before today's session started, launched an investigation to determine what previous witnesses have lied to the committee under oath.

2. The committee announced that it will question a Soviet school master from New York, and his wife, in a secret hearing later today.

M. Silverman, of New York, former civilian economic adviser to the Army Air Force Chief of Staff told the committee he is "innocent" of any charges of espionage or other criminal conduct. Like Kramer, however, Silverman refused

4-H Club Boys Go On Tour Friday To See "Sears Foundation" Pigs

A tour to see the registered Duroc Jersey pigs given to nine Eastland County 4-H Club boys by the Sears Foundation last Spring is planned for Friday, Aug. 13 according to J. M. Cooper, County Agricultural Agent.

The group, consisting of the boys, their fathers and brothers, will assemble at 9:00 o'clock Friday morning at the Pumpkin Center filling station on the Carbon-Eastland Highway to start the day's tour which will take them practically all over the county.

Eight of the pigs are girls. The girls as well as the boy pig will enter competition at the district pig show to be held in connection with the West Texas Fair at Abilene on Oct. 2 for prizes in the forms of materials to further their pig projects.

Materials secured in the past for the most part have been wire, past, cement and staples as well as lumber.

The group will take a picnic lunch and eat somewhere along the route. Each boy visited will tell what he is feeding and how he is managing his pig.

The girls will be bred in November and the boys will give the best gilt out of the first litter next Spring to the County Agent in order to perpetuate the project. The stock of Duroc Jerseys were secured from club boys in Stephens County.

Boys with pigs to be visited include: Gerald Williamson, Morton Valley; Fred Rogers, Alameda; Joe Ed Reynolds, Carbon; Danny Danielson, Kokomo; Clyde Douglas Herring, Flatwood; James Butler, Gorman; Bobby Freeman, Pioneer; James Riggs, Desdemona; Donald Lee Joiner of Gorman.

Pigs are a popular project among Eastland County club boys.

to say whether he is a Communist. He, too, had been accused of delivering wartime secrets to Russia.

Kramer formerly worked for a number of government agencies and for a Senate subcommittee. He is now a Progressive Party research specialist.

The perjury accusation was hurled at him by Rep. Richard M. Nixon, R. Cal., and Rep. John McDowell, R. Pa., made Kramer a "promise" that he would be brought into court. Rep. Edward Hebert, D. La., shouted, "you know you sold your country down the river."

Babe Ruth Shows Slight Gain

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (UP)—Babe Ruth rallied today, but an announcement from Memorial Hospital for cancer and allied diseases said his condition still was critical.

A mid-morning hospital bulletin on the condition of the 54-year-old former home-run king said—"Babe Ruth rallied this morning. His pulse is stronger. Condition improved although still critical."

Model Plane Sets Record FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—A Purdue University student, Charles Springer, broke an old national speed record with his miniature gas-model airplane. He sent the class D model plane through the air at a speed of 133.28 miles per hour to set a new class mark. The old record was 132.48.

Dr. G. C. Boswell who introduced the guests, thanked the club members for their cooperation on inspection day and for their support of the college. He stated that he was deeply grateful for it all.

H. C. Henderson, president of the Rotary Club, presided at the joint meeting at which music was furnished by the Texas and Pacific Railway's Streamliners, a trio composed of Doris Gibbs, Mary Henderson and Martha Blanchard, and accompanied at the piano by G. R. Novotny.

Bob Scott of Fort Worth and Farnest Hittson of Cisco were visiting Rotarians at the meeting.

Speaker Praises Junior College

Dr. C. C. Colvert, junior college consultant at the University of Texas, here Wednesday for inspection day at Ranger Junior College, praised the college and the junior college movement in Texas, in a speech before a joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions Clubs at noon at the Gholson Hotel.

Dr. Colvert said that he could see four main values in junior colleges, the pre-professional courses that it gives, the terminal courses for persons without high school diplomas and courses for adults.

Other guests here for the college event and who spoke at the meeting were W. T. Walton, dean of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, and a former president of Ranger Junior College, L. W. Hartsfield of Houston, executive secretary of junior colleges in Texas, T. M. Trimble, state department of education assistant, E. M. Cain, chief of the Veterans Administration at Love Field, Dallas, and Rep. Turner Collie of Eastland.

People Asked To Curtail Use Of Water

A. L. Stiles, Water Commissioner for the City of Ranger today announced that he was forced to ask the citizenship of Ranger to discontinue the use of water for non-essential purposes, such as car washing, irrigation and ect.

This has become necessary due to the increased water use in Ranger, although there is plenty of water in the lake, the pipe line from the lake to the city will not carry enough water to supply the need and at the same time accumulate a reserve in the water tower for emergencies such as a large fire would occasion.

Mr. Stiles stated that the City had purchased, and has had on hand for several months a booster pump to be installed on the main line, which will remedy the situation, but due to the delay in pipe fittings it has not been possible to make the installation until now. However, this installation should be completed within the next five to six days, after which, water engineers have assured City officials, we will be able to keep sufficient water in the tower to allow unrestricted use at all times.

City officials expressed regret over the circumstances that make the above action imperative, and want to assure the citizenship that the restriction will be lifted at the earliest possible moment, pending which everyone's co-operation is respectfully requested.

Angry German Mob Overturns U. S. Army Jeep

FRANFURT Aug. 12 (UP)—German trade unionists demonstrating 10,000 strong in a Frankfurt square today turned over a U. S. Army jeep, stoned German police trying to break up a riot, and threw their strength a round generally.

Despite a drenching rain the trade unionists jammed the medieval Roemerberg square to hear their leaders demand lower prices and higher wages. They were in a ugly mood.

A group reported unofficially to have been led by Communist agitators attacked the Army jeep. A U. S. soldier and his driver were forced out of it, its glass smashed, and it was tipped over.

The soldier, who refused to give his name, said he would report to his commanding officer. The driver suffered a blackened eye. They left in the jeep after it was righted.

Social Security Benefits Listed

Thirteen is indeed a lucky number for over six million Americans who are receiving cash payments under the several provisions of the Social Security Act. For it was just 13 years ago, on August 10, 1935, that the Social Security Act became law.

This law, which was designed to provide a measure of financial security to the people of the nation, was considered by President Roosevelt as one of the outstanding achievements of his administration. Improvements and extensions were made by amendments in 1939 and again in 1946. Further improvements have been considered by each succeeding session of Congress.

This law consists of four main parts:

1. A Federal system of retirement and survivors insurance for workers and their families—based on employer-employee contributions.

2. A Federal-State plan for payments to the needy aged, needy blind, and dependent children.

3. A Federal-State plan providing for the payment of unemployment benefits to unemployed workers who lose their jobs through no fault of their own.

4. Federal aid to the States for maternal child health, public health, and vocational rehabilitation.

JAPANESE SLEUTHS OH SO GLAD NOW AS TIMES CHANGE

By Rutherford Poats
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO (UP)—The occupation has done some strange things to Japan. Take the detective business for example.

Thanks to western influence, Japan's largest detective agency for the first time in its history is specializing in sleuthing for criminals and lost property instead of snooping into the backgrounds of prospective brides and grooms. Now it has started advertising in English. The results are interesting.

Yesterday, a furtive little Japanese stuck a handbill into this correspondent's hand and hurried down the Ginza, where he repeated the scene with another American. Featuring a picture of a rudo-woman, in Japan's best conception of western style "come-on" advertising, the handbill asked in bold letters: "Whose do you search for?"

Before the reader could puzzle that one out, it followed with: "Please come on! Without waver. Surely and speedily find out. A man who is searched for lost property, etc. It is pride in 30 years history and credence.—Teikoku Private Detective Agency."

An attached map guided me to the agency's location, up seven flights of stairs (the elevator quits at 3 p. m.) to the office of Hiroshi Hirose, boss of the agency's sinu army of 3,000 detectives, stationed all over Japan.

Hirose proudly noted that his English advertising is done by "a man who says he is a former English school teacher in a girl's middle school." "Is this not very high class advertisement?" he asked.

Before the occupation, Hirose said, his big business was in checking the family background, industry and character of prospective brides and grooms for the traditional middleman-arranged marriages. Now that business is gone, on the rocks, he fears, because the new democracy is giving modern young Japanese the right to decide whom they'll marry.

But democratic reforms have their silver lining for detectives, even, Hirose admits. Thefts and other crimes have increased during the hard times since surrender, and the reorganized Japanese police forces aren't matching the pre-occupation police in cracking down on lawlessness, Hirose claims.

He spoke nostalgically of the old days, when there were no rules against beating information out of suspects and probing into every detail of the Japanese citizens' private lives. The new, reformed police, he insists, can't solve a lot of cases.

For the first time in his agency's 30-year history, Hirose says, people including allied residents, are turning more and more to private detectives to solve thefts, locate missing persons and solve other cases that the police formerly handled almost entirely.

Picnickers Advised To Ice Their Food

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Picnickers are warned to be careful.

The chances are according to University of Nebraska bacteriologists, they may suffer some sort of food poisoning from a dish that has been stored in a cooler.

Food will keep for several hours in a warm place has been responsible for many an upset stomach, the bacteriologists said.

Cream-filled pastries and pork products such as mild-cured ham cause the largest number of food poisoning cases. Other offenders include custards, cooked salad dressings, gelatin mixtures, stuffed eggs or egg salads, and cooked meat, poultry and fish.

College Sheep Produces 18 Pounds Of Wool

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The University of California at Davis would be ready to go into the clothing business if all its sheep were like the pure bred New Zealand merino ewe, in the university flock, which produced 18 4-10 pounds of wool.

With shrinkage taken into consideration, it amounts to enough to make three complete three-piece suits for the average sized man.

Deer, Cow Upset Town's Tranquility

BRADFORD, N. H. (UP)—Deer are proving much too friendly and cows too wild on Bradford's Main Street.

The state fish and game department had to help residents protect their garages from deer which particularly liked cabbage.

Several men had to leave their hayting to corner a cow which jumped the pasture fence of Lester F. Hall.

aspect of the foot, the staff at the university is now attempting to cross the remiron sheep with the French rambouillet which is superior in body, in an effort to achieve the best of both breeds.

Cigar Band Collector Has 50,000 Specimens

CHICAGO (UP)—Gilbert Budlow, a 33-year-old non-smoker from West Allis, Wis., probably is the cigar band king of the country.

He has a collection of 50,000 specimens and is president of the International Cigar Band Society.

Budlow said he started his collection from a group of bands his mother had left over from a turn-of-the-century fad—pasting them on glass ash trays, mirrors and vases. Present day collectors scorn such practices and keep their collection in neat loose leaf notebooks.

The collection was built up through trades, contacts with cigar makers and plain butt snipping. "I've found some of my rarest bands on curb stones and golf courses," Budlow confided.

Modern Orators Made, Not Born, He Says

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Spellbinders of other presidential years may have been born complete with leather lungs and silver tongues.

Now, according to Dr. Leroy T. Laese, speech pathologist at the University of Nebraska, they are developed. The development, he says, may well start with their parents.

"If you want your Willie to be an effective speaker when he grows up, make your own speech a model worth copying," Laese suggests.

He lists baby talk to helpless youngsters as an important cause of faulty speech. Stuttering, he says, sometimes can be traced to parents who shout at their offspring, "Stop mumbling!"

McAlester, Okla., was started as a tent store at the crossroads of two well-traveled Indian territory roads, the California trail and the Texas road.

Embezzlers Just Human, Report Says

CHICAGO (UP)—Embezzlers are just ordinary people. A study of 1,001 embezzling cases shows that the persons who take funds from their employers are no different from several million other Americans.

The statistics, gathered by the United States Guaranty Co., paint the following picture of the average embezzler:

He's 36 years old, married, and has two children. He has a good upbringing, a high school education and is a good mixer.

He's earning $175 a month in a position of trust he has held for 5 1/2 years. His employer regards him favorably. In short, the report says, he is a regular fellow with a better-than-average business future.

Then why does he embezzle? Gambling, drinking, women, accumulation of debts and bad business management are the main reasons. In some of the cases studied, employees took money "save for a rainy day," for revenge, or to get capital to open their own businesses.

"If any one thing applies to the greatest number of these people," the report says "it is that in some manner or other they lived beyond their means, and had they been more careful in this respect, they would scarcely have become embezzlers."

Little more than two per cent of the embezzlers whose cases were studied absconded with the funds. In 99 cases out of 100, the study says, the employe who dips into the till is "temporarily borrowing" and would indignantly deny that he is a thief.

In nearly 90 per cent of the cases, the thief worked alone. The percentage of women who had partners, however, was nearly double that of men.

Even though employers lose $200,000,000 each year through employe dishonesty, says the study, "by choice and by inclination the majority of employes are honest."

The study makes no attempt to tell employes how to pick out those employes who will turn dishonest. "It is impossible to predict the future actions of any man," the report said.

Horseshoe That Failed

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—The horseshoe on the wallet of J. D. Jackson wasn't as lucky as it might have been. A thief took the wallet, $25 in it and a $115 watch from Jackson.

Golfs With Broken Leg

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—A broken right leg didn't stop T. J. Sims from making the golf rounds. He toured the course in a little red wagon, pulled by the caddy.

SHE looked up and caught Doris' glance fastened upon her face. "That's my ring," Jessica said in a low, troubled voice. "You guessed?"
"I never saw the ring."
"Then why did you think—?"
"I didn't think about the ring. I read the story and thought—"
Their glances locked. Jessica felt the blood drain from her face. A cold chill touched her spine.
"What did you think?"
"I remembered that you thought Hugh Linton wanted the ring. There were men at that hotel last night who rushed and left the girls they took there. I wondered—"
She broke off and her glance shifted away from Jessica's shocked face.
Jessica said hotly, "Not Lucy! You couldn't believe—"
"She was crazy about him," said Doris stubbornly.
"How dare you insinuate that this little tramp—"
"This isn't a tramp, necessarily," said Doris bluntly. "She might be any girl who lost her head over a man and let him persuade her to do something contrary to her principles."
"But Lucy—"
"Everyone at the plant knew," Doris went on. "But no one will say one word because no one will risk what might follow—loss of job, the accusation of libel. You don't stick your neck out tarnishing a reputation like Hugh Linton's. He doesn't deny that he was present at that fire. Bill told me he saw him. Bill used to work in the same plant when Linton was foreman. He's risen too fast. It went to his head. He took on all the angles—drink and women—they were all a part of the life he led after he came into a big salary. He's smart, invaluable to his firm, and they'll protect him. Now he's a hero. Jackass Shortage Means No Mules Senators Hear

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP)—The mule, long an essential part of American farm life, may be headed for extinction unless steps to preserve it are taken immediately.

Ira Drymon, president of the Horse and Mule Association of America, said the trouble goes back to the jackass, father of the mule. There simply are not enough jackasses.

Two United States senators were here recently to talk the situation over with Drymon, Thomas L. Adams and Henry Grady, directors of the Jack and Jennet Registry. The senators were Wayne Morse, R. Ore., and John Sherman Cooper, R. Ore., and John Shersen. Morse, chairman of the Senate committee on U. S. re-mount stations, said he would attempt to get aid from the re-mount service.

Coin Decides Primary Date PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—To decide the dates for Rhode Island's primaries, the Republican and Democratic state chairmen flipped a coin. The Democrats won the toss and chose Sept. 29, with the GOP taking Sept. 20.

Scientists To Dig Up Mohawk Indian Castle

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP)—A group of archeologists in this area is going "castle" hunting. They plan the first thorough scientific excavation of a Mohawk Indian "castle." Although many Mohawk sites are known in the nearby region between Fort Hunter and St. Johnsville, none which can be identified as one of the historic Mohawk castles has ever been systematically excavated.

The Rev. Thomas Grassmann of Tekakwitha Friary, Fonda, will head the exploration work. It is hoped to find enough remains of the stockade Indian town of Caughnawaga to make a copy for the friary museum. The so-called "lower castle" of the Mohawks was occupied from about 1607 to 1693, when it was destroyed in a French raid.

The University of Vermont is the oldest college west of the Alleghenies.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Flathead Indians of Montana are doing their best to save the "scalp" of Reclamation Commissioner Michael S. Straus.

Straus is due to lose his job next January because of an interior appropriations bill "rider" requiring the commissioner to be a qualified engineer with five years' experience. Straus is not an engineer.

Area OIL News

EASTLAND COUNTY—EASTLAND

Morris Cannan, San Antonio geologist, was in Eastland first of the week, viewing the improvements in progress in the Petroleum Building, which he and C. P. Porter recently bought. He left Eastland in a private plane for Wyoming.

You'd think that an ex-Texas Ranger at meal time would carve his way through a steak half the size of a cow, but every time this observer has seen Homer Glover in the Connelley Hotel Coffee Shop the husky former Ranger was eating a fruit plate.

Incidentally Glover, who is drilling on the Kurklin west of Eastland recently bought a big automobile and he humorously remarked, "I've not only got to get an oil well, but a refinery, too."

And the area in which Glover is drilling already has been named—even before the well comes in. Oil men and landowners agree that it should be called the Glover Pool. The well looks good in both the Lake and the Marble Falls and both pays are to be tested.

EASTLAND COUNTY—GORMAN

The following report on the Gorman Field is for August 11: Coast Oil No. 2 Della Graham has had some trouble with a split pipe; Tuesday afternoon late they were drilling the cement out after having corrected the trouble. C. P. Porter was through town today and gave us this item concerning his company's well. Boyce House was with him and of course, dropped some 'long tall tales along the way.

Hunter and Mellard No. 1 George Blackwell is drilling at 2450.

Price Crawley and Nicol Crawford No. 1 Bessie L. Shaw drilling at 3084 after having set 7 inch casing at 3014. They topped the Marble Falls at 2960 and at the 3084 depth were still in the Marble Falls.

C. C. Mitchell of Breckenridge with T. P. Coal and Oil Co., and W. N. Robinson of Wichita Falls were in the area on Tuesday afternoon scouting for the Gulf people. This reporter has occasion at least once each week to entertain—with such information as to conditions as she is familiar with—some one of the scouts for such outfits as Magnolia and Gulf and Southwest Natural Gas Co., out of Shreveport, (D. H. Floyd their Engineer was in the area on Monday.) Some fine day we may wake up to find that we have such things as gas plants and distillate plants right here in our own little back yard. We try to encourage them all we can, and still not mislay the facts.

Henshaw Brothers No. 1 T. W.

A far cry from the traditional Indian blanket is this model the Whitecloud brothers from Jamez, N. M., are examining. Draped around the pretty shoulders of Gloria Hunter, the electric blanket is being inspected critically by, left to right, Lawrence, Val and Sam Whitecloud at Chicago's Merchandise Mart.

Pittman drilling at 2740 feet.
W. B. Johnson Drilling Co., No. 1, Bob Koonce drilling at 2320 feet.
Coast Oil No. 1 George Bell drilling at 1800 feet.

An electrical manufacturer reports that synthetic insulating materials now under development by chemists promise more efficient use of electric power at lower cost.

Many old-time oilmen will remember this scene—the main street of Desdemona (Hogtown) in 1912. Gone now are muddy streets and crowded sidewalks, but they will be recalled Saturday when the thirtieth anniversary of the Duke discovery is marked. —Courtsey Dallas Morning News).

Texas Helps Rebuild Bomed London Church

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Prayers of the Rev. P. B. Clayton of the All Hallows Church in London's East End were answered by Fort Worth friends.

The steel was needed to rebuild the bombed-out church, where more than 1,000 German bombs dropped during World War II. Clayton came to America and found some steel but not enough.

He recalled two friends here, Joseph R. Pelich, an architect, and George Haggis, a realtor. They helped him find the needed amount.

Reports Bible Popular Among Japanese

CHICAGO (UP)—Protestant Christianity has a "most welcome" place among Japan's 78,000,000 people according to Soicho Kato, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Japan.

In an interview here Kato said there is a tremendous Bible reading movement in Japan. "The Japanese people consider the teachings of the Bible one of the principal reasons for the greatness and progress of the American people," he added.

Soicho is visiting American Y.M.C.A.s.

REMEMBER HOG CREEK? ONCE FAMED BOOM TOWN TO CELEBRATE

(From The Dallas News) DESDEMONA, Aug. 7—The welcome flag is hoisting high for all former residents of Desdemona—sometimes known as Hog Town—scene of one of the greatest oil rushes in history.

They will be welcomed home on Saturday, Aug. 14, in a celebration marking the thirtieth anniversary of the discovery of oil there on the banks of Sleepy Hog Creek.

The great boom was set off on Sept. 2, 1918, when the now-famous Duke well blew in, caught fire almost immediately and green-lighted the stampede toward wealth and excitement. Near the corners of Erath, Comanche and Eastland Counties, Desdemona grew almost overnight from a hamlet of fifty persons to a teeming city of 14,000. Oil sold for $3 a barrel and gushers were commonplace.

J. R. Palmer, now a resident of nearby Stephenville, was one of the twenty-eight farmers responsible for the Duke discovery.

He recalls that first talk of drilling for oil at Desdemona followed the find of shallow production near Strawn in the northeast corner of Eastland County. At that time Palmer was a teacher at Hog Creek School, now known as Jake Hamon School, three miles south of Desdemona. That school was named for the creek along the banks of which numerous hogs found the grazing good.

Palmer says first step in promoting a well in the area was formation of Hog Creek Oil Company. He was secretary of the company. A rig was purchased and a hole was drilled to 1,000 ft. in 1914, where money ran out with no pay dirt hit.

The McCleskey discovery at Ranger in 1917 revived interest. Several Hog Creek residents visited oilmen on a drilling proposition. They were told to get a lease block together. In the next few months 4,300 acres were assembled, and the acreage was turned over to R. O. Harvey Wichita Falls.

Drilling began in the spring of 1918, oil was found in the fall and with the termination of World War I the great boom was on.

NEWS FROM Desdemona

Palmer says there are three stories. One that the name was for an Indian maiden of a nearby tribe who befriended the early settlers. Another is that the first child born there, Desdemona Smith, who was named for the Indian maiden, gave her name to the community.

The third story, Palmer says, is that the town was named for Desdemona Winn, daughter of the justice of peace, who lived there when the town was founded by William and Ben Funderburg in 1870. The justice was familiar with Shakespeare.

However, the town was named, it will go down in old history.

Hog Town, with its mile-long street of mud, shotgun houses, turmoil and excitement, is no more as such. Today it has settled back to a small village on the banks of Hog Creek. There is still some oil and recent drilling in the area has stimulated activity, but the boom of the early 1920's is forever dead except in the memory of those who roamed the banks of Hog Creek.

Miss Seymour Becomes Bride Of Mr. Morrow On August 7 At Kingsville

Miss Patsy Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Seymour of Kingsville and formerly of Ranger, became the bride of Thomas Jefferson Morrow of Cuero, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Morrow also of Cuero, in a ceremony performed Saturday evening, August 7, at 8 o'clock in the Retana Park Baptist Church in Kingsville.

The candlelight ceremony was performed before an altar banked with fern and floor baskets containing white marconi daisies and white gladioluses, and seven-branch candelabra containing white candles were placed on either side of the altar. The Rev. Charles Henry of Corpus Christi officiated at the ceremony.

Betty Dawson, soloist of Kingsville, sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because." She was accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Robertson of Kingsville at the piano.

Mrs. A. D. Kirchoff of Corpus Christi, who lighted the candles, Pansy Seymour, maid of honor and sister of the bride, wore a pink butcher linen street-length dress with white accessories and a corsage of blue tinted carnations.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white, two-piece, butcher linen, street length dress. Her accessories were also white, and her flowers were a corsage of red sweet-heart rosebuds. She carried a satin-bound white Bible and a white handkerchief.

The bride's mother wore a light blue gaberdine dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a light blue crepe dress with black accessories and the corsage of pink carnations.

L. C. Booth of Kingsville attended the groom as best man. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Earl Blackwell, Jr., of Ranger and sister of the bride, and Frances Morrow of Cuero, sister of the groom presided at the bride's table.

The table was laid with a hand-crocheted ecru cloth and was centered with an arrangement of white astors and lacy fern flanked by white candles in crystal candleholders. Other appointments were of crystal and silver.

Charlene Stevens of Kingsville wore a white butcher linen street-length dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of rainbow colored baby mums.

presided at the bride's book, and other members of the house party at the reception were Mrs. J. J. Hoehne, Joe Beth Hoehne, and Patsy Ann Dittfurth all of Ruddy.

The bride is a graduate of Ranger High School and was employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The groom is a graduate of Yoakum High School and served two and one half years with the U. S. Army in Europe.

Following the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Oklahoma City, Okla., and the bride chose a powder blue two-piece gaberdine dress and white accessories as her travelling costume. They will make their home in Cuero.

The members of the Ranger Rebekah Lodge No. 244 met in the I.O.O.F. hall Tuesday evening with Mary Bell Thompson, noble grand, presiding.

Sadie Strong was appointed left supporter, to vice-grand, and Betty Sue Greenlee was appointed right supporter to vice-grand in order to fill vacancies in those offices.

The degree team practiced, and the penny prize which was furnished by Verdine Williams was won by Ruby Greer.

Seventeen members were present.

Children Given Course In Ice Cream Eating

FALLS CITY, Neb. (UP)—If there weren't limitations, Mrs. James Duncan probably would be swamped with applications for a class for children she has opened here.

It's a course in eating ice cream cones.

The classes are only for children with speech defects.

Mrs. Duncan said that when some handicapped children have learned to use their tongue to lick an ice cream cone, they have made a first, long stride toward speaking correctly.

New Mexico Politics Weighty Matter

TUCUMCARI, N. M. (UP)—Police Judge J. W. Parker, finding a little leisure after the rush of the primary election, climbed on the scales to see how much weight he had lost.

He was startled to see that he weighed nine pounds more.

But his peace of mind was restored when he pulled bulky bunches of campaign literature out of his pockets and found they weighed nine pounds.

Jean Lafitte Gold Still Has Lure For Hunters

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UP)—After 120 years residents of the Gulf Coast area still are trying to ferret out the truth in the mysterious and romantic career of Jean Lafitte.

Tales of buried treasure left behind by the notorious pirate who preyed on shipping in the Gulf of Mexico in the early part of the last century still are current along the Texas coast.

But there is little evidence that such treasure exists. It is known only that a tremendous amount of loot taken in Lafitte's plunder and that none of it ever has been found.

The pirate's favorite retreat is said to have been Lake Sabine. When ships of the United States Navy were hot on his trail, he fled into the lake and soon lost his pursuers.

Born in France, the buccaneer came to New Orleans and learned the blacksmith's trade. But he soon became bored with the working-man's life, and he and his brother Pierre organized extensive smuggling operations along the Louisiana coast.

They soon developed into a thorn in the flesh of British and American authorities.

During the war of 1812, the British offered Lafitte a pardon if he would join forces with them against the United States—and annihilation if he didn't.

So indignant was Lafitte that he, with some difficulty, went in to the fight on the side of the Americans. History credits him and his crew of pirates with having been helpful in the American cause.

After the war, the colorful buccaneer resumed his career of piracy, with headquarters on Galveston Island.

Indications are that he preyed indiscriminately on gulf shipping, eyeing the loot of a ship contained rather than the flag she flew.

Spurred to action by the pirate chieftain's depredations, United States battleships stormed his stronghold in 1820. He and his men sought refuge in Yucatan, where he died six years later.

But somewhere, along his trail of romance and adventure, he must have left tremendous wealth—in Galveston Bay, around Lake Sabine or along the Louisiana coast.

Perhaps some day it will be found.

Reporter Gets Chance As Merton Of The Movies

ADA, Okla. (UP)—A 19-year-old reporter for the Ada Evening News is headed for a possible movie career because his editor sent him out for a story on filming of the picture "Tulsa."

John Clayton got himself a job as an extra in the picture, being filmed in part at Gov. Roy J. Turner's ranch.

Director Stuart Heisler spotted him in his role as oil field roustabout and offered him a screen test at Eagle-Lion studios.

He will go to Hollywood for the test.

University Of Illinois Enlarges Air Training Course

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (UP)—The University of Illinois has become more air-minded.

Two new courses have been added to the six flight courses offered by the university's institute of aeronautics. One of the two-year courses will train professional pilots. The other is for aircraft maintenance engineers.

Dr. L. A. Bryan heads the institute, which enters its third year this fall. He believes the program to be "a unique educational contribution in a field that is crying for leadership."

Last year 97 per cent of the 448 students who completed the university's flight training courses were awarded pilot certificates and ratings by the Civil Aeronautics Authority. Private pilot, commercial pilot, flight instructor and instrument licenses were issued.

STUNT PILOT AFTER AIR RACE RECORD

CLEVELAND (UP)—A soft-spoken movie stunt pilot will attempt on Sept. 4 to do what no flier ever has done, which is to win the Bendix transcontinental high speed air race for the third time in a row.

He is Paul Mantz of Burbank, Calif., and the plane he hopes to do it with is the same P-51 Mustang in which he rang up a spectacular time of 160 miles an hour in capturing the $10,000 top money last year.

The 2,050-mile free-for-all classic, from Los Angeles to Cleveland, is the annual curtain raiser of the National Air Races.

As a movie stunt flier, Mantz is famous for doing the impossible but he will have tough competition in this year's race.

With the event open for the first time to foreign aircraft and pilots, approximately 20 of the speediest pilots in the business are expected to make a bid for the trophy and total prize money of $25,000.

Two of Mantz' strongest competitors will be the same two men who finished second and third behind him last year. They are Joe Deltona, who will fly a P-51 entered by the movie star Jimmy Stewart and Edmund P. Lunken of Cincinnati, who will fly a P-51 Mustang. Last year Deltona came in one minute and 18 seconds behind Mantz.

Only one other man, Frank W. Fuller, Jr., ever has equaled Mantz' record of being a two-winner in the Bendix race, and even Fuller didn't win in consecutive years. He was first in 1937 and again in 1939.

Jimmy Doolittle won the first race in 1931 and among other winners have been Doug Davis, Roscoe Turner, Ben Howard, Louise Thaden and Jacqueline Cochran.

HONESTY UNREWARDED

NEW YORK (UP)—The Franklin Society, a savings institution, received a postal order for $50 and a letter from a man who said he had been given $50 too much when he withdrew his account in 1938. He offered to return it then, he said, but the teller refused to give him a $5 reward. His letter said he still thinks the teller was wrong; he should have had that reward.

INFLATION IN JAPAN EASING, OBSERVERS NOTES IN TOKYO

By Ernest Hobericht
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO (UP)—Inflation in Japan is beginning to ease. Some people think the upward trend may end shortly.

Of course, inflation has never been as bad here as in China, but it has been bad enough. Prices have risen at least 100 times their pre-war level. The official price of the yen is now 270 to one

United States dollar, compared with 4.25 yen to the dollar before the war.

Allied officials have been doing their best to hold the line. They do it by keeping close check on the Japanese government, which has a tendency to solve all its financial ills just by printing more paper money.

For a long time, business was good. Supply failed to meet the demand and anybody with a store and some stock could increase his capital fairly rapidly.

Today the situation is changing. It is too early to say it is a trend. But the fact remains that black market stalls and small department stores are now suffering a steadily increasing depression.

Money is getting tighter. Loan sharks are getting 10 per cent interest on 10 day loans. That is the standard rate. There have been cases when as high as 50 per cent per month has been paid.

Bankruptcy cases have increased. During the war there were 17. Already this year there have been 14.

Many stores selling luxury items are closing their doors.

The general index of stock quotations is down 7.4 per cent for the past month.

The government and private employers are showing more resistance to the wage increase demands of their workers.

It is generally agreed here that one of the big factors in the Japanese will not reach the point where they will sit back and wait for the United States to hand them all they need on a silver platter.

A horticulturist at the University of Massachusetts says flowers for bouquets should be cut with a razor.
