Russia Turns Suicide Blame On America

Dell...
Dunno,
But...

Riding a donkey that looked like a live version of a slow motion picture, Beverly Dudley led the one and only point in donkey ball game Monday night to make the Ralph McKinley Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars victors over the Jaycees team.

The donkeys controlled the game from the start to finish, usually going in the wrong direction if they budged at all. Some players had difficulty in getting the animals and most when they did get on, they fell off again right quick.

One that got us was the one that would take a player up to home plate and then in the opposite direction. Of course there was the little that just wouldn't let anyone hit, though several made efforts toward that end.

All of the donkey riders this evening were denying any ill will from the donkey ball game Monday night, but you can't tell if they can sit comfortably in the treatment those donkeys give them.

It was a lot of fun for spectators, anyway. We understand that the basket of flowers which the Chamber of Commerce presented to the Texas Pacific Railway officials Sunday was making the rounds.

It is still reverberations of the Jaycees' rodeo. Yesterday a copy of the "Bi-Weekly News" a publication that has been the only rodeo paper in the world. And there right in the middle of the stories about all of the famous rodeos, was one about the final results of the Ranger Rodeo along with a picture of Elsie Hummel, Billye Jones, Crawley and Mary Guss in their rodeo togs, sitting on top of a chute gate.

This one was handed to us Monday.

A Chicago house telegraphed to its salesman in El Paso to go to Texarkana on a business deal. The salesman in El Paso wired back, "Send someone from Chicago to Texarkana. It is rarer." And sure enough it is. It's a lot farther from El Paso to Texarkana than it is from El Paso to Denver or Texarkana to Denver a lot more places just like that.

Yep, Texas is a whale of a state. Those Russians are at it again. And they'll do it every time. Let 'em run out their neck and sure enough they try to blame somebody else for it.

Now then, they are claiming that Mrs. Kosenkina attempted to commit suicide because she was afraid of being held in this country. Now can you beat it? When the woman was held she was afraid to return home.

Like we've said before, every time they find a way to take the pressure off of putting it on the other side.

Ever heard of "guided" in the "Cock" cows weak dy. Merium $ year. Good beef. 5-22. Stock.

An explosion which followed a fire in Reno, Nevada, killed at least five persons and injured at least 180 others. Thirty two were seriously injured by flying glass and debris. Hotel Business Off, Survey Shows With Smaller Places Hardest Hit

CHICAGO (UP)—Hotel business in the United States has dropped perceptibly during the past year, according to a United Press survey.

Hotel managers in the nation's tourist centers reported the largest decline in business, with occupancy falling off as much as 15 per cent in California and more than six per cent in New York City.

Business is slower than it was in 1947 in the Pacific northwest, but hotel managers said much of the drop was due to the disastrous floods in June. Hotels in Texas said that business was slower there because of unusually hot weather.

Philadelphia hotel managers, buoyed by three national political conventions and other national conventions, reported that occupancy was much higher than last year. Wisconsin, which is holding its centennial celebration, has had nearly 100 per cent occupancy in many hotels.

Nearly all managers reported that week end trade had fallen off from the high rate established during and immediately after the war, but that the decrease had been expected.

Commercial travelers form the backbone of the hotel trade and nearly all hotels in the 35 cities surveyed reported that during the early part of the week, when traveling men do most of their business, occupancy is almost as high as it ever was.

The Chicago Hotel Association said 1946 was the peak year for hotel business in the nation. Last year was not so good as 1946 and except for a few scattered instances, 1948 is not expected to be as profitable as 1947, the association said.

Smaller hotels already are beginning to feel the pinch of the decreased trade, the survey revealed. The smaller hotels have in the past few years been getting customers turned down at the main hotels. But since the decline in business, that fell off.

None of the hotel managers surveyed said he expected to encounter serious financial difficulties, but many expressed concern over the turn of affairs. They said that the high cost of living had caused many persons to postpone promised vacations and had forced those who did take pleasure trips to conserve wherever possible.

At Salt Lake City, Utah, the leading hotels reported that their business had improved over last year, but operators of the smaller places expressed doubt.

"Last year we were getting a lot of overflow from the large hotels but this year we're not," one manager said. "Our business has fallen off about 15 per cent during the past month and I would imagine the larger hotels have noticed a decrease, no matter what they say. I don't know what we are going to do if business doesn't improve and improve fast."

Violation Of Truce May Bring Full Scale War
JERUSALEM, Aug. 17 (UP)—Reports of scattered incidents involving mortar, cannon and automatic weapons indicated today that full-scale warfare may shatter the tottering truce in Palestine.

An Israeli government spokesman said "there virtually was no truce in Jerusalem" and other observers remarked the next four days would either make or break the truce.

He and Mrs. Scott lived near Monahans and in New Mexico for about four years with their oldest son. He died at his home at 414 East Handian Street Thursday, August 12, at 3:15 p. m.

Mr. Scott joined the Baptist church and was a licensed minister from 1922.

He is survived by his wife and seven children, one son, Melvin died in 1905. There are also 13 grandchildren and three-great-grandchildren. The sons are Roy and Sterling of Eunice, N. M.; Homer of Stamford; daughters are Mrs. Earl Shelton of Eunice, N. M.; Mrs. Dwight L. Moody of Munday, Mrs. E. A. Williams and Mrs. Charles Beck of Anson. Donkey Ball Game Nets VFW Total Of $131.98

Officials of the Ralph McKinley Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars reported this morning that a total of $131.98 was taken in at the donkey ball game Monday night.

The money will be used for the work of the organization. Officials today expressed their appreciation to the people of Ranger for the fine support they gave the game.

The VFW came out with the victory, with a score of 1 to 0. The point was scored by Beverly Dudley, who finally coaxed his stubborn donkey over home plate. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce composed the losing team.

International Harvester Plant Workers Strike

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (UP)—The CIO United Auto Workers today called its 24,000 members in seven International Harvester plants out on strike after agreeing for a short time this morning to postpone the walkout indefinitely.

The union claimed that the company had refused to negotiate further on a new contract. Richard T. Gosser, UAW vice-president said company officials told him they intended to "close the plants."

A company spokesman denied the union statement, however, as "ridiculous. He said the firm was willing to negotiate and intended "to keep its plants operating whether the union strikes or not."

Baseball King's Death Comes Quietly In Sleep

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP)—Babe Ruth, baseball idol of a generation, died last night of cancer of the throat, a disease he never knew he had.

The 53-year-old home run king, who became Mr. Baseball in the 1920s when every crack of his mighty bat brought cheering fans to their feet, died quietly in his sleep at 8:01 P. M.

The body will lie in state at Yankee Stadium this afternoon, and will be buried Thursday at Gate of Heaven cemetery in New York's Westchester county.

A special mass will be said for Ruth at St. Patrick's cathedral at 11 A. M. Thursday.

The end came for Ruth while a crowd of several hundred youngsters waited outside the hospital. They came when the hospital announced that the man who held the record of 60 homers in a single season was "sinking rapidly."

A priest went outside and told them the Babe was dead. One 12-year-old blond boy, John Kriban, sat down on the hospital steps and cried.

"I had hoped all the time he'd get better," he said. "I prayed for him right along."

The big guy, who had an unbeaten record of 714 home runs in 22 years with the major leagues had been ill for two years. He entered Memorial Hospital June 24 just 11 days after he made his last appearance at Yankee stadium where 62,000 fans celebrated "Babe Ruth day."

Consul Claims Teacher Afraid Of Being Held In This Country

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP)—The Russian consul general charged today that Mrs. Okana Kosenkina leaped from the third story of the Soviet consulate last Thursday in an effort to kill herself to escape American persecution.

The consul general, Jacob Lomakin, said the 52-year-old Russian teacher attempted suicide because she was afraid she might be forced to stay in this country.

Mrs. Kosenkina herself has said that she leaped because she was afraid to return to her homeland. Authorities at Roosevelt Hospital where she is still in critical condition from her injuries said she has not yet been informed of the new Soviet statement on her leap for freedom.

The official Russian statement, issued last night at the consulate, attempted to throw discredit on her sanity, first by saying Mrs. Kosenkina had been treated with drugs to weaken her will by "White guard kidnapers" and second that U. S. persecution brought about a nervous breakdown.

Lomakin's statement contradicted the version published in the official Soviet newspaper pravda which said Mrs. Kosenkina fell out the window by accident.

Harry D. White, Prominent Spy Suspect Dies

BOSTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Harry Dexter White, 56, assistant secretary of the treasury from 1945 to 1946 and one of the key figures in the current spy hearings in Washington, died at his summer home in Fitzwilliam, N. H., yesterday, his family disclosed today.

White, who had been in government service since 1934, died of a heart seizure, relatives said. White was the highest ranking former government official accused before the House Un-American Activities Committee in its Soviet spy hearings.

In denying the charges against him last Friday, at a committee hearing in Washington, he said he was recovering from a heart attack and asked for a 10-minute recess after each hour of testimony.

White, the committee on Aug. 15 all the accusations against him. They were "unqualifiedly false," he said.

"The principles by which I live make it impossible for me to do a disloyal act to the United States," he said.

House Neglects Education Bill, Root of Civil Rights Problem

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Filibustering Dixiecrat senators win their battle to sidetrack the anti-poll tax and other civil rights bills, while the real legislation to correct what's wrong goes completely neglected. This is the Federal Aid to Education bill. It has been passed by the Senate. But it now lies dead and buried in the House Committee on Education and Labor.

If ever anything is going to be done to improve the race relations situation in the United States, it must come through more education. The principal argument of the Dixiecrats against granting full ballot privileges and other civil rights to the Negroes is that they are not educated enough to use intelligently those guarantees of freedom and equality guaranteed them by the Constitution.

If you accept that argument, you must also accept the fact that the school systems are at fault.

Simple figures show what's wrong. In eight southern states at the bottom of the list, the average annual expenditure per classroom is less than $1000. The national average is $1600.

MOST southern states admit frankly that they can't afford to spend more. They can't collect enough taxes from their relatively poorer populations to give the Negroes better education and so fit them for responsible citizenship.

In this situation, the only remedy is through Federal aid to education legislation, which would give minimum grants to all states, but relatively larger grants per pupil to the poorer states.

Ohio Sen. Frank La Follette's bill, which passed the Senate last April, would provide for a minimum expenditure of $50 per pupil per year. That would be roughly $1500 to $2500 per classroom. The total cost would be $300,000,000 a year.

A companion bill has been approved by a House subcommittee on education under Rep. Edward O. McCowen, Ohio Republican. The National Education Association, which has lobbied for this bill for many years, believes it would pass the full House Committee on Education and Labor if brought to a vote.

But Rep. Fred A. Hartley Jr., of New Jersey, chairman of this full committee, has refused to bring the measure up. Instead, he has taken up the committee's time at this special session with an investigation of Communist infiltration in New York department store labor unions.

If this committee is really concerned about communism, one of the first places to begin to fight it is in the public schools. The prominent part which Negroes played in Henry Wallace's third party convention, the prominent part which Negroes play in the Communist Party itself, should be ample warning to legislators.

If they don't do something soon to improve conditions, they may wake up some morning to find the whole colored population gone Communist out of sheer desperation with the two older parties, which have for so many years given lip service to civil rights, without ever having done anything constructive about them.

The southern attitude is, "You Yankees don't understand this problem. You have got to give us time and let us work this out in our own way. Furthermore, the problem must be worked out on a states' rights basis, because conditions vary from state to state. Mississippi can't handle it the way North Carolina or the industrialized areas around Birmingham or Mobile or Atlanta would handle it."

The country has been waiting for over 80 years for the South "to work this thing out in its own way." There has obviously been some progress. There could, of course, be more. If, however, it is still too soon to expect any broad action, such as outlined in the President's civil rights program, then certainly it is not too much to expect that there should be more acceptance and wider support for the Federal Aid to Education bill.

THE SCOREBOARD

Many U. S. Olympians Sent To London by Contributions

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

LONDON—(NEA)—As Barney Ewell points out, there's no professional future in track and field. Ewell, a 30-year-old Negro corerunner in a Lancaster, Pa., boiler works, was able to compete in the Olympic Game sprints only because the Pennsylvania Dutch raised a fund to look after his wife and small child while he was away.

Several members of the American team were similarly assisted. San Jose State's Bob Likens was in the merchant marine during the war. He has thrown the javelin more than 225 feet, but decided to quit track and field last May because he has a wife and two children to support.

"You can't support a family throwing a spear," he reasoned. "Maybe that would have been all right 100 years ago in the middle of Africa, but not now."

Likens' father-in-law wouldn't let him retire at such an early stage and after such a flying start. He promised to raise money to send Likens to the National AAU Championships in Milwaukee and the Olympic Trials in Evanston. The San Jose Boosters also lent a hand.

The six-foot, two-inch, 200-pound blond was the first man to win a medal on the Americas, the Olympic boat. The javelin was the first event on the Trials' program, and he was first on the mark. His first throw sailed more than 225 feet, assuring him of free transportation.

THE ARE, Calif., admiring raised $2500 to send 17-year-old Big Bob Mathias and an even larger youngster, Sim Iness, and their coaches to the Trials.

You know about the six-foot, one-and-a-half inch, 195-pound Mathias, who totaled 7224 points to upset New York's Moon Mondschel, the favorite, to acquire the national championship and become the popular choice in the Olympic decathlon. His 7224 in rain that made conditions very poor in the New Jersey finals, is the highest total completed since Glenn Morris' 7900 in the Berlin Olympics of 1936.

Bob Wonder of the University of Texas, as head coach Dean Cromwell calls him, plays football and basketball superlatively, too, and just wait until he grows up.

Marilyn "Sugar" Sahner, formerly of the Women's Swimming Club of New York, now representing the Crystal Plunge of San Francisco, failed to make the team in the 400 meters.

In San Francisco, however, fans who were as disappointed as the young lady, decided she should go to Empire Pool, anyway. So they raised the money, and the very pretty girl became a member of a team organized by long-time Stanford track coach Dink Templeton.

Not the least reason why the United States is so great is its community spirit.

The 22-year-old blonde said she was traveling from her home in New York to Los Angeles because she wants to see the country and the Hollywood stars.

"Besides," she said as she sailed down U.S. Highway 96, "I just like to ride bicycles."

U. S. Helping Brazil To Capitalize On Full Advantage Of Air Age

By Charles Corddry
United Press Aviation Writer
WASHINGTON (UP)—Brazil, a vast country in which aviation holds peculiar advantages over ground transportation, is building a multi-million dollar air age education center.
The government believes the center will be unique among nations.
Situating about 40 miles from the modern and wealthy city of Sao Paulo in an eight-square-mile area, the aeronautical technical center will be staffed with outstanding United States Aviation figures from the fields of education, industry and government.
The plan, as outlined in a United Press interview by Dr. Arthur Amorim, representing the center here, is to have four institutes which will educate promising students from Brazil and throughout the Americas. They will be taught all phases of aviation: research and development, aircraft design, aircraft engines, manufacturing, air transportation, airport engineering and administration, navigation and landing aids, military aeronautics, etc.
In no other place is there an institution like this one being developed with the aid of a corps of United States experts enlisted by the Brazilian air ministry.
The first institute, that for aeronautical technology, already is functioning in a small way. It is headed by Richard Smith, a former professor of aerodynamics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His aeronautical engineering school has been opened, under Dr. Theodore Theodoresen, formerly a noted scientist of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.
A second school, for airways engineering, which will give instruction in airport construction, landing aids and airways operation and economics, will open soon under Charles I. Stanton, formerly deputy civil aeronautics administrator. By 1950, electronics and meteorology schools will open.
Another development may be the designing and building of cargo planes especially adapted to transportation of freight in and out of Brazil's presently almost inaccessible jungle regions. Amorim said it may be found that such items as gasoline, food and medical supplies can be carried to some parts of Brazil more cheaply by air.

The centers will turn out a trained body of engineers and administrators. Amorim said they will help Brazil to capitalize on its rich but largely undeveloped natural resources and to tie the country together with a transport and communications system which its geographical situation prevents attaining with ground means.

Russia To Dominate Czech Trade Fair

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UP)— Fourteen countries will have official exhibits at the autumn sample fair here Sept. 12-19, with the Soviet Union occupying the biggest space.
The U.S.S.R. took first place in both imports and exports in Czechoslovakia's foreign trade during the first six months of this year.
Other eastern bloc displays will be by Poland, Yugoslav Bulgaria,

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. Williams

Pupils Move Classroom To Chartered Planes

POMONA, Cal. (UP)—Seventh graders at Emerson Junior High School got some extra schooling in an airplane.
Mrs. Arline Steiner's 50-pupil geography class chartered two commercial planes for a round-trip flight to San Diego to see "what Southern California really looks like."

The youngsters washed dishes, mowed lawns, sat babies and held a rummage sale to finance the trip. They will use the information they learned on the flight in classroom work.

Devotion Made Easy
ROCKFORD, Mich. (UP)— Leisurely vacationists can get their religion the easy way here. The Rev. Carl Wier of the First Baptist Church conducts sermons by a public address system at the fair grounds for the summer months and gets a drive-in congregation.
The services are complete, even to having ushers pass collection plates among the cars.

Chicago Coal-Processing System May Solve French Fuel Problem

CHICAGO (UP)—For the first time, a "scientific" experiment is being conducted to determine the effects of lake bathing.

More than 2,000 Chicago families are co-operating with health authorities by recording on elaborate charts any ailments experienced during the summer. By measuring the differences in the reports made by bathers and nonbathers, the doctors hope to accurately check the effects of the lake water on average citizens.

Among the ills to be reported on the charts are eye inflammation, ear infections, nose or head colds, and skin infections. Meanwhile the authorities are making tests of Lake Michigan from Milwaukee to Gary, Ind., to determine if pollution increases in summer.

Cyclist Runs Down Auto

Editor-Father Follows In Son's Footsteps

DADEVILLE, Ala. (UP)—In this case, the father followed in the son's footsteps.

When Ralph Bugg resigned as editor and general manager of the Dadeville Weekly Record to re-enter college, the publisher, J. C. Henderson, sought a new man for the job. The one he selected was Thomas S. Bugg, father of the departing editor.

No stranger to the job, the senior Bugg had owned and edited the Record for 20 years before selling it to Henderson early this year.

Prodigal Son Wins Success Before Returning Home

CHICAGO (UP)—Tony ran away from home when he was 16, then like a Horatio Alger story hero, came back after he had made good.

Thirteen years ago, Anthony Verdone wasn't doing very well in school.

"Then I flunked geometry, and I guess that settled my future for me," he said.

"Looking back, it seems like a kid trick, running away like that," he went on. "But I wanted to make good, so I could come back home and tell Mom and Dad, 'I'm a success now.'"

Gives Up Hops
His parents, Charles and Anna Verdone, Italian immigrants who scarcely spoke English, told the police their son had disappeared. As the years after 1932 went on, they gave up hope that he still was alive.

Decides to Return
Tony was married and the father of a son. He decided it was time to go back home. In all of the years he had been away, he had never communicated with his parents.

He couldn't stay long, he told his beaming parents, "because I've got to attend to business."

But before he boarded a plane for St. Louis again, he promised to be back with his wife and Tony, Jr. "If you think the celebration is big then, just wait till we came to visit you Christmas," he said.

This little fellow may be enjoying the protection of a telephone because you are sharing telephone service with his family or some other family on a party line.

Were it not for party lines, thousands of people—now being served—would still be waiting for telephones despite all the effort we've been able to put into the manufacture and installation of new telephone equipment.

If you are on a party line, you'll find courtesy and neighborly co-operation pay big dividends in better service. A party-liner who is thoughtful of the other fellow may well find that the other fellow will be thoughtful of him.
