Russians Again Raid U. S. Berlin Sector

Well...
I Dunno,
But ...

If you don't live on a ranch, don't have any prospects of getting one and still want to know about ranching, sheep and goats, horses, cows, steers and bulls, just go to work on a small town newspaper.

When we get through working on a newspaper we're gonna know enough to go into the business, even if we never do. We honestly surprise us with the way ranching terms are beginning to roll off our tongue.

The business has a lingo all its own, just like a newspaper or any other business and if you don't speak that language you're just out of luck as far as knowing what they mean goes.

Well, those sheep herding dogs get the cake. They are the smartest things we've ever seen, including a lot of humans. The exhibition at the rodeo arena Friday night was one of the most breath taking shows we've ever seen.

Come to think of it, they might be good teachers for the politicians. At least the dogs know how to handle the herd.

Mitch was the one that got our eye. Just a pup, according to those that know, the little dog really handled 'em. Maybe a little too eager, the pup still got the herder in the pen with one quick jump, without a single sheep getting a chance to make a break.

Yep, that show was worth seeing.

We're always bragging on the Ranger Jaycees and they deserve it for doing a swell job for our town. But the bragging is catching on elsewhere and yesterday a man from a neighboring town joined the horn blowing. He let it be known that the Ranger Club is being taken as something of a model by his club and had a lot of nice things to say about C. E. May, Jr., vice-president of Region 12 of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce and Price Crawley, past vice-president of the region. The two Ranger men had lent a hand recently in reorganization of the other club.

We had a gift Saturday morning that was new to us. Guess you'd call it honey in the raw. Bob Hansford brought us a little wooden square in the middle of which the bees had deposited their honey. Bob says he had to pluck the honey early to keep the bees from eating it up. He has the bee hives in his own back yard.

You know something, it's funny about people. Most often the thing that they want to do most, is the very thing that they know least about and can do least about, but they will keep on sticking their necks out trying.

Yes, sir, it takes a wise man to know his limitations.

Most folks thought Friday was the hottest day we've had so far. But the weather bureau at the Times office showed that it lacked one degree of hitting the season high of 106.

It got up to 105 but we'll have to admit we were one of those that thought it was the hottest day of the year.

Two men exhibiting at the sheep and goat show and sale in Ranger this week end, practically put on a show of their own. They were W. H. Haley of Ranger who exhibited a number of Suffolk sheep and T. R. Hinton of Keller who exhibited Hampshire sheep.

Neither had any competition in their fields and both walked off with seven firsts.

This is the first time that we've ever had a close-up of either breed and they certainly are different to say the least. A distinguishing feature is their black heads and feet against the background of cream colored wool.

Russian officers meet U. S. Officers, at left, and a liaison officer, center and back to camera, in Potsdamer Platz, Berlin, where Russian, British and U.S. Sectors come together. The unscheduled meeting was made after Soviet zone police killed four Germans and wounded about 10 others in a gun battle with alleged black marketeers. Russian troops were rushed to the scene where they were met by U.S. Military Police on the border line. Both sides withdrew after a conference. — (NEA Radio-Teletype photo, exclusive by staff correspondent Al Cocking.)

SALE ENDS SHEEP, GOAT SHOW; WINNERS LISTED

The West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers Association went into the final stages of the sheep and goat show in Ranger Saturday afternoon when most of the sheep and goats at the show were put up for sale. The show is being hailed as one of the most successful held by the association in its five years of existence.

The sale started at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Pete Guley of Uvalde as auctioneer.

The sale followed a busy morning when the association held a business meeting and elected officers and attended to other matters of business. At 12 o'clock Murray Cox gave his farm program over station WFAA from the show grounds and following the broadcast a barbecue was served to exhibitors, show visitors and Ranger business people.

Judging of the sheep and goats was completed Friday and results announced Saturday.

Winners in the various classes of goats were: B type aged billys, first place, H. C. Wilkinson of Ranger; second, third and fourth, W. L. Davis of Sonora; and fifth J. L. Guley of Uvalde.

B type yearling billys; first Bob Kirby of Goldthwaite; second J. L. Guley; third, W. S. Orr, of Sonora and fourth and fifth, LeRoy Nicols of Lakely. B type buck kid, LeRoy Nicols.

Champions in B type billys, Wilkinson and reserve champion, Kirby.

Aged B type does; W. S. Orr and W. L. Davis. Yearling B does; Guley, W. S. Orr, second and third.

Champion Delaine rams, Bragg, both Champion and reserve champion.

Aged Delaine ewes; Choate, Bragg and Sappington. Yearling Delaine ewes, Sappington and Choate. Delaine ewe lambs, Sappington first and second and Bragg, Champion ewe, Choate and reserve, Sappington.

There are 105 weekly newspapers in West Virginia — one for every 20,000 persons.

When these goals are attended the association will be able to make known all over the United States the advantages of traveling over U.S. 80 and the many attractions of a scenic and historical nature to be found along the route.

Piano and voice students of Robert Clinton will be featured on the Ranger Junior College hour next Wednesday at one-thirty. This program is broadcast over the Breckenridge Radio Station. Students participating in the program are Betty Harkrider, Nancy Harkrider, Mary Catherine Hoffman, Betty Ferguson, Patsy Young, Gay Poe, and Billy Hunt.

Mr. Clinton will be teaching piano and voice in Ranger Junior College and Eastland High School this next year.

OFFICERS OF SHEEP-GOAT ASS'N NAMED

J. F. Donley was re-elected president of the West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers Association at the annual business meeting held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the show grounds.

W. H. Simmons of Brownwood was re-elected vice-president and H. C. Wilkinson of Ranger was re-elected secretary. R. B. Thomas, Jr., of Ranger was elected assistant to the secretary.

B. Beal Pumphrey, assistant to the president of the Union Stock Yards Company at San Antonio, was the principal speaker at the morning session, labeling the sheep and goat shows as the "show window" of the sheep and goat industries.

Pumphrey quoted facts to show the increase in sales in the industry. Using figures from his own company, which he stated is the only one of 65 major markets that the government requires a separate count on the sheep and goats, because of the large volume it handles, Pumphrey said that in the first seven and a half months of 1948 the company handled 224,847 head of goats as compared with 180,115 for the entire year of 1947.

The longest shipment made to the San Antonio company was of 1200 head of goats shipped from Kingman, Arizona, a distance of 1,306. Longest truck shipment was 658 miles from Seligman, Mo. Largest volume handled at the yards in a single day was 6,842 head.

Pumphrey also spoke on the uses to which goat meat is being put. The grown meat is used largely as meat in boneless and mixed formulas and the kids or cabritos are sold in full or half carcasses for use for baking and barbecue.

H. M. Phillips, editor of The Sheep and Goat Raiser, a magazine published at San Angelo, also spoke at the meeting and the work of the association and stressed the importance of sheep and goat shows.

Sheep Herding Dogs Fascinate Show Crowd

A fascinated crowd witnessed the Border Collie sheep dog exhibition Friday night at the rodeo arena when three ranchers here, for the sheep and goat show and sale, put the dogs through routines.

First to exhibit was Joe LeMay of Valera who put his dog through a routine showing how the ranchers actually use the dogs with herds on ranches. In a closing exhibition LeMay showed Mitch, a pup less than a year old, that gave a remarkable demonstration on sheep herding.

Otto Fischer of Junction showed Maggie and Roy, two dogs that kept the sheep in their places.

Louie Ragland of Junction showed Roy and Lassie, both dogs imported from Scotland. Roy is rated one of the best sheep dogs in America and both gave a fascinating exhibition of sheep herding.

Important VFW Meeting Monday

Don Butler, commander of the Ralph McKinley Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced today that important business is to come before the post at the regular meeting Monday night at 8 o'clock at headquarters.

He urged that all members make a special effort to attend.

U. S. EXPECTING BITTER PROTEST FROM RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (UP)—The state department braced itself today for a new diplomatic onslaught from Moscow.

Diplomats here anticipated swift and bitter reaction—and perhaps retaliation—to the unprecedented U. S. demand that Jacob M. Lomakin, the Soviet's consul general in New York and its highest ranking consular official in the United States, leave this country immediately.

The state department found Lomakin guilty of "highly improper" conduct in the bizarre case of the three Soviet school teachers who have renounced Russian Communism for the security and freedom of the United States.

In New York, officials of the Swedish-American steamship lines revealed that Lomakin has booked passage for himself and his family aboard the Swedish liner, Stockholm, which sails from New York for Europe a week from today.

State department officials said a new Soviet protest was almost certain to be the next development in one of the most bitter diplomatic disputes between Russia and the United States since the end of the war.

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (UP)—Russian military police kidnaped four more German policemen from the western sectors of Berlin today, and United States military authorities appeared to be preparing to resist any further Russian raids into the American sector.

Col. Frank Howley, U. S. commandant in Berlin, ordered three riot squads of American military policemen to duty tonight in the area border between the Russian and U. S. sectors, where the kidnappings have occurred.

The squads consist of about 25 men each, and all will be fully armed. Plans for entrenching the riot squads in the area, especially near the Potsdamer Platz, which is Berlin's Time Square, were drawn up at the scene by top military police authorities.

The plans were approved by Howley and by Ray Ashworth, American public safety chief. There appeared to be every reason to suppose that the U. S. military would violently resist any new Russian attempts to abduct German policemen or civilians from the American sector.

Communist leaders in Berlin called for workers to attack "Fascist gangs" on the western borders in street fights. The western German police chief said the Russians were seeking to create disorders as an excuse to march into the western sectors.

Radio Berlin officials later denied that it had reported the Moscow talks would be broken off. They said the only report carried by the radio was one from the Russian-sponsored German news agency ADN which said that a meeting yesterday between east and west representatives at Moscow failed to come off because "of a difference of opinion among the western powers."

Ranger's first run in the first inning was unearned. W. Arterburn reached first on the first baseman's miscue. He got to second and to third on passed balls, and scored on a wild pitch.

Breckenridge tied it up in the second as Lewis doubled, went to third on a ground-out, and scored on a passed ball. This was their last threat, however, as Ranger burst out for three runs on two hits and three walks in the third game.

Breckenridge managed a run in the sixth off two singles and a wild throw, bringing the score to 2-1. Ranger equalized this effort however, in the seventh, scratching on a base on balls, a solid hit, and another passed ball.

Hays struck out three straight men in Breckenridge's half of the seventh to end the game.

King Ford and Dessenauer play Saturday night in a second round game which promised plenty of excitement.

Of 25,000,000 electric motors produced last year, 4,000,000 went into washers, 3,400,000 into refrigerators and 1,500,000 into industrial plants.

After completing their study at Fort Bliss, the class members will continue study at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

The Ranger officer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Morris of Ranger, holds a bachelor of science degree from Texas A. & M. College.

He was commissioned as an officer in June 1941 and later spent 34 months in the Southwest Pacific Area.

Capt. Morris wears the Purple Heart, along with battle stars for East Indies, Papua, and New Guinea.

Effective use of fighter planes from ships dates back to 1912, when the catapult was introduced.

There was some speculation, too, that Russia might retaliate against U. S. consular officials in Moscow and Vladivostok. They said that the Soviet government would have to "trump up some weird charges against our officials—but they have done that in the past."

At any rate, they said, it was far too early to regard the dispute as "closed."

WASHINGTON COLUMN

There's More to Farm Story Than Shows in Bare Statistics

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy dashed into the Senate Banking and Currency Committee room while Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan was testifying on the anti-inflation program. Interrupting the proceedings because he said he had to hurry right out to whip up a housing bill, McCarthy asked several questions that he thought were pretty hot. Then he dashed right out again before Brannan could answer them.

One of McCarthy's questions was why the Department of Agriculture had set the 1948 goal for beef cattle below what the actual slaughter had been in 1947? Another question was why the department had set the 1948 spring pig goal at several million head less than for 1947? Another was why the department had recommended reducing acreage goals so that wheat production would be less in 1948 than in 1947?

AFTER the hot-shot junior senator from Wisconsin had breezed on to fix up all the nation's housing problems for it—poof! like that!—Secretary Brannan tried to explain a few facts of farm life to the remaining senators. They listened and most of them got the point.

Because of high prices offered for meat after price controls were removed in 1946, there was a sharp reduction in cattle on farms, Brannan explained. The price was so good that farmers even sold their dairy and breeding cows. To build up the breeding stock so they could produce enough calves to supply the demand for meat in later years, the Department of Agriculture thought it necessary to advise farmers to reduce the number of animals sent to market in 1948. If this had not been done, there was danger that the supply of meat for 1950 and later years would be even lower than for 1948.

The pig story presented an entirely different set of circumstances. Last year, there was a corn crop failure. That meant a shortage of feed for fattening hogs. That meant it would be foolish for farmers to raise more pigs than they could feed. So the farmers were advised to reduce the spring pig numbers from 53,000,000 to 50,000,000. As it turned out, they raised 51,000,000. This loss was more than made up, however, by advising farmers to fatten for a larger pig crop this fall—34,000,000 instead of the 30,000,000 in the fall of 1947. The number may not reach this figure, however, so for the entire year there may be a slight reduction from last year's total.

The prospect of a bumper corn crop this year, providing ample feed, may encourage farmers to raise a bigger crop next spring. But, even if they do, waste of this meat can reach the table for nearly a year.

THE wheat picture presented other complications. Wheat is a soil-depleting crop. During the war, wheat production was pushed to the limit. There was danger that much acreage might be over-worked and worn out. Recommendations were therefore made that some acreage be summer fallowed, so as to get greater production later. Also, it was felt that some land should be put back in grass in order to help increase the meat supply.

The total wheat acreage was kept high enough, however, to raise a crop of over a billion bushels—about the same as last year. This amount of wheat will more than meet all demands and it will be enough to start building up an adequate carryover reserve.

Brannan also emphasized that there is a point beyond which so much wheat might be raised that it would be a detriment to the American people. If too big a wheat crop is raised, it would mean that the government would have to buy up the surplus. At today's high support prices, that would only result in a big drain on the American taxpayer, just as in the potato program.

Actually, wheat prices today are so much lower than they were last fall—reflecting the effect of this year's anticipated bumper crops for all food and feed grains—that the real puzzle is why the price of bread has not come down.

THE SCOREBOARD

Dean Cromwell Had His Day When Mel Patton Won the 200

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

LONDON—(NEA)—Old Dean Bartlett Cromwell had his day at the Olympic Games when Mel Patton broke in front of Barney Ewell and stayed there to win the 200 meters.

There was criticism from the time it was evident that the 68-year-old Cromwell would be named as the United States' head coach. Opponents attempted to twist a remark he is alleged to have made at the Berlin Games in 1936 into a suggestion that he had racial prejudices.

Cromwell, Southern California coach for 48 years, didn't help the situation any when Ewell and Harrison Dillard beat Patton in the 100-meter trials in Evanston. Instead of giving both full credit for they were his boys now, Cromwell said his Trojan star ran like an old plough horse.

He went further, predicted that Patton would win both Olympic sprints. This put a terrific load on Patton's shoulders, spurred Bones Dillard and Ewell to loftier heights.

Had he not trimmed the 200, Patton would have been the bust of the Games and he topped the remarkable feat on a holding track in 21.1, with Ewell, Panama's Lloyd LaBeach, Jamaica's Herb McKenzie, the Los Angeles Athletic Club's Cliff Bourland and Jamaica's Laing behind him.

HAVING successfully completed his big chore, all Patton wanted was to go home to his wife and 22-month-old daughter. The six-foot, good-looking, dark-complexioned Patton with the closely cropped hair is extremely shy and awfully homesick, so much so that he declined to appear in some other meets on this side.

A Navy veteran and 23, much more will be heard from Patton, who will be a senior this fall at Southern California, where he is working his way through college.

America really showed its might in the shot put, running one-two-three, as expected, with Wilbur Thompson, Jim Delaney of Notre Dame and the Olympic Club of San Francisco and Yale's Jim Fuchs all lowering the old Olympic mark. Herman Woeilke of Germany established the old mark, 53 feet 1 1/2, in Berlin in 1936, which practically tickled Adolf Hitler to death.

Cromwell has now coached individual champions in every Olympic Games since 1912, when he sent the world-record-holding Fred Kelly to Stockholm to win the 110-meter hurdles. In Antwerp in 1920, Cromwell had Charley Paddock, the first of his World's Fastest Humans, in the 100-meter dash.

Bud Houser, who played considerable tackle in football, too, accounted for the shot and discus in Paris in '24, and the discus in Amsterdam four years later. In Los Angeles in '32 Duncan McNoughton bagged the high jump for Canada because he was born there. In Berlin in '36, Earle Meadows and Ken Carpenter, Cromwell's boys, looked after the pole vault and discus.

Dean B. Cromwell richly deserved to coach the American Olympic team, and it was great to see him have his day.

Strike Against Prices Going Into Third Week

By United Press
Housewives throughout the country vowed today to continue their organized price strikes into a third week to prevent the meat industry from passing new price boosts on to them.

Agriculture department officials said bumper grain crops eventually will tend to bring meat prices down. However, they said housewives probably will not benefit for about a year.

Hog prices climbed to all-time high levels at the major markets this week. A new local record high of $32 a hundred pounds was set at the Buffalo market today. Cattle prices remained near all-time highs.

In Washington, secretary of agriculture Charles F. Brannan said that meat prices may climb even higher in coming months. If so, he said, Republican congressional leaders will be to blame.

"It is my firm conviction," he said in a radio interview, "that Congress should have granted authority to stop the rise of meat prices and thus protect the country against the inflationary pressures that are fed by the meat shortage."

West Virginia's 97,600 farms have an average size of 89.6 acres.

Negotiations At Kremlin Hit Snag

MOSCOW, Aug. 21 (UP)—The Kremlin negotiations on Germany have struck a snag by the temporary inability of the three Western Powers to agree on a united front toward Russian demands, it was reported today.

Nothing was scheduled for today, and a meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov appeared doubtful, leading to belief that the western envoys have been forced to seek new instructions from their governments before asking for another Kremlin conference.

Russian-controlled radio Berlin said the negotiations on Germany were about to break up. The Soviet controlled ADN news agency said the Western Powers could not reach agreement on Soviet demands for a voice in the Ruhr.

There was nothing here to indicate what might be the stumbling block to agreement among the Western Powers, but it was believed that France might not be falling in line with the position taken by the United States and Britain.

Leap Indicates Guilt
RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—When police went to the home of Charles A. Miller, 18, to investigate a charge of reckless driving, the youth leaped from a second story window. Justice Harold Maurice said anyone that reckless must be guilty. He fined Miller $110 and revoked his driver's permit.

Week-End Due To Be Scorcher

By United Press
More of the same type of weather which sent the mercury to 114 degrees at Henrietta yesterday was in prospect for Texas for the week-end.

Some cooling thundershowers were forecast, but they were for the Panhandle and far West Texas. Nearly every section of the state had 100-degree plus readings yesterday.

No rain was reported anywhere in the state.

Wants to Think It Over
NEW YORK (UP)—William Ennis, 59, asked in magistrates' court how he pleased to a charge of turning in a false alarm, said he didn't know. "I'd like some time to decide. I've been thinking recently," he told the court. He was released on bail and the hearing adjourned.

Notice to Long Distance Telephone Users

Certain changes in charges and practices pertaining to long distance calls within the State of Texas will be made effective September 1.

Report Charges

Report charges, applied to person-to-person calls under certain conditions since 1919, will be discontinued beginning September 1.

Basic Station-to-Station Day Rates

In 74 of the 800 air line mileage distances, rates will be increased 5 cents. These involve about half of the distances up to 146 miles. Basic rates for longer distances are not affected.

Person-to-Person Day Rates

Person-to-person rates are based on the station-to-station rates. The differential between rates for station-to-station service and for person-to-person service has varied from a minimum of 10 cents per call under 31 miles to an average of over 43 per cent on calls between 31 miles and 150 miles and an average of 35 per cent on calls over 150 miles. The differential will be established with a minimum of 15 cents per call under 45 miles and a uniform differential of about 40 per cent on all other calls. Report charges will be discontinued.

Night and Sunday Rates

A discount of approximately 20 per cent from the station-to-station day rate will apply on all station-to-station calls costing over 40 cents completed during night hours and all day Sunday. The night and Sunday discount on person-to-person calls generally will equal in amount the discount on station-to-station calls between the same points.

The principal changes to be made are described above. More detailed information may be obtained at any company business office.

Method Of Toughening Aluminum Heralded As Salvation For Italy

By JOSEPH J. BAICICH
United Press Staff Correspondent
ROME (UP)—Major Gino Pellegri, an engineer, may be one of Italy's greatest men of war.

It stands itself to myriad uses in the mechanical and building industries. The alloy is made of steel threads and cast aluminum as the binding element. Both are produced cheaply.

Pellegri's discovery of reinforced aluminum already has been hailed by some Italians as the solution to the problem of Italy's poverty in raw materials, especially steel. The Italian state railways have approved the invention and are using it.

Pellegri used plain kitchen steel wool filaments to bolster aluminum and make it three times stronger than it is without the reinforcement. He developed his experiments on the mechanical principle that the "nail" resistance of the steel threads is three times that of cast steel.

The reinforced aluminum has the same resistance as steel and a specific weight between one-half and one-third as great. Its hardness is 50 per cent greater than steel. The new product is very malleable and can be worked easily into anything by machines. Hence

While large scale tests with reinforced aluminum have not yet been made, the Italian national research council has given its approval and the ministry of defense has granted its aid to Maj. Pellegri.

Industrial and scientific experts said that the new alloy could be substituted for all those metals which must combine strength and resistance with lightness. They do not exclude the possibility of eventually making armor plate, cannon and motors with it.

The experts point out that the new product could have a vast number of applications in Italy where aluminum is produced in abundance.

Any objects made of steel could be made with reinforced aluminum if the inventor's claims are substantiated. That includes girders in building construction and pipelines, plane and naval construction.

They're All Good Marines

Maj. Herbert H. Hawkins, of St. Albans, N. Y., properly returns the salute of Roger and Bobby Ehrler, of New York. The Ehrler twins, 6 years old, are the sons of a Marine killed on Iwo Jima. People Run Own Newspaper In "Atomic" City

By Fred J. Green
United Press Staff Correspondent
RICHLAND, Wash. (UP)—In this government-owned "atomic" city there is a newspaper as unusual as the community itself.

Engineers who have examined the new alloy have said that the discovery has opened new possibilities for other alloys being used to better advantages with steel, wool reinforcing. Experiments have proved that all metals or alloys join well with the steel wool filaments, especially bronze and brass.

Experts also said the whole field needs to be explored for the possibility that alloys made with finer steel wool may have particular thermic, electric and radio-magnetic properties which could be exploited. That characteristic would make them particularly useful in the lining of motors, in radiators, and in brakes.

In contrast with the situation in the United States, where a bitter war is waged between steel and aluminum to win markets, in Italy there is no possibility of choice; Italy has abundant bauxite mines but no iron ores.

If the new alloy lives up to its promise, ERP aid to Italy may turn largely to the fuller development of reinforced aluminum and contribute to relieving unemployment in an entirely unexpected way.

The newspaper is owned and operated by a corporation composed of all the people of the city, and citywide elections are held to choose members of the board of directors who make policies and direct the business of the paper. The name of the corporation is

"Villagers, Inc." and the newspaper is the Richland Villager.

Before the war, Richland was a tiny farming community on the Columbia River with a population of 300. Then came the "Manhattan" project and the United States government in 1943 bought the land where Richland stood and much more, too.

Atomic plants arose on the vast sagebrush lands around Hanford to the north and Richland became the living center for thousands employed on the project. Richland is still expanding and its 1949 population is expected to reach 26,000.

Newspapers spring up just as naturally in an American community as blue grass does in Kentucky and quickly the weekly Richland Villager came into existence as a spontaneous creation of the entire community.

Now, like its community, it is growing and plans to go into daily publication are taking shape. The elected board of 15 directors of Villagers, Inc., is composed of men who came from all parts of the country and represent many professions, such as engineers, chemists, accountants, architects, business men.

All money received by the Villager from advertising and job printing above the cost of operation are set aside in a fund for community enterprises. A town library has been established and donations are made to youth activities, city Christmas decorations a swimming pool, band concerts, a community sports scoreboard and many others.

The board gives the editor of the Villager wide autonomy and they selected after careful deliberation Ted Best, a native of the state of Washington, formerly editor of the West Seattle Herald and of the Kent, Wash. News-Journal. The original editor who served for the first three years was N. Paul Nissen.

The Villager concentrates on local news and is filled with the names and activities of the city. It's a newsy city bustling growing and with many prominent visitors and many community problems. When the Villager becomes a daily

Perfume Alone Can't Trap Unwary Male, Expert Who Knows Admits

By Michael O'Neill, Jr.
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, (UP)—There's nothing to worry about, men. Perfume can't trap a man against his will. Maurice Talmadge, who has been concocting devastating whiffs for 25 years, made the admission.
"We've been trying for years and years to develop a perfume that will make men fall in love at first sniff," he said, "but all our best efforts have been in vain."
Talmadge suggested delicately that one of the major stumbling blocks has been the fact that modern males just don't have a good sense of smell.
Even the most tantalizing aroma is powerless, he said, unless a man is more than casually interested in a girl, in the first place. At best perfumes just rate an assist in romance, he said.
Women have been dabbing them selves with perfume ever since Cleopatra wore 16 scented oils in her hair. They spend millions for perfumes in the United States every year, Talmadge said.
"Women buy perfumes to make themselves attractive to men," Talmadge said. But the funny thing is they're so interested in pretty bottles and exotic names they're rarely aware of how attractive or unattractive a perfume actually may be.
Putting it bluntly, Talmadge declared women knew little about

Easy-Going Culture Of Mexico Praised

MANHATTEN, Kan. (UP)—A cultural agent for the Mexican government does not agree with U. S. "mosies and artists" who persist in casting his countrymen as villains or fellows who lie in the shade with a jug of liquor nearby.
Robert de la Rosa, in a commencement address at Kansas State College, admitted Mexicans do not always go at "breakneck speed," but he pointed out that they also do not have clefts, high blood pressure or cerebral hemorrhage.
"Mexicans, too are industrious," he said, "but they also take some time to enjoy life."
He said Mexican life is home-centered, with no divorce and no juvenile delinquency problem. But north of the Rio Grande, in the U. S., "most of you are born in a city hospital, married in a church and die violently in a traffic accident."

Most Mexicans, he added, die quietly at home in bed.
The speaker suggested that each culture had something to contribute to the other.

Mothers Take Action
NEW YORK (UP)— Fifty Bronx mothers and their children barricaded a busy intersection near Yankee Stadium for 45 minutes in protest against the lack of a traffic light. The women said the corner averaged five accidents a week.

Comic Books Deplored By Juvenile Experts

BOULDER, Col. (UP)—One of America's leading writers for young people thinks the effect of comic books on young minds is "deplorable."

Mrs. Florence Crannell Means of Boulder said comic books give youngsters too glamorized a picture of the adult world. Problems, she contended, are solved too easily in comic fiction.

Mrs. Means conducted a workshop in juvenile literature at the University of Colorado's writers' conference. In 1945 she received the award of the Child Study Association of America.

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 22.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord giveth wisdom; out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding" (Proverbs 2:6.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ" (1 Corinthians 2:16.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Infinite Mind is the creator, and creation is the infinite image or idea emanating from this Mind" (page 256.)

Make these 4 comparisons before you buy any car

COMPARE THE VALUE

Yes, compare the features—compare the prices—compare what you get for what you pay—and you, too, will come to the conclusion that Chevrolet continues to be first in value, just as it continues to be first in Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost, and just as it continues first in demand, year after year.

COMPARE THE POPULARITY

You can identify the biggest value in any list of products by picking out the one product which enjoys greatest popularity, year after year; and, of course, in the field of motor cars, that one product is Chevrolet—outstanding leader in popularity for the total 17-year period, 1931 to date!

COMPARE THE FEATURES

Only Chevrolet combines the Unifized Knee-Action Ride for gliding smoothness; the world's champion Valve-in-Head engine for performance and economy; Body by Fisher for tasteful beauty; and Fisher Unisteel Construction plus Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes for all-round safety protection!

COMPARE THE PRICES

You'll agree with millions of other car buyers that prices—like quality—are a major consideration in these times; and just as Chevrolet's Big-Car quality is unique in its price range, so Chevrolet prices are the lowest in its field. Chevrolet costs less to buy, to run and to maintain!

Only Chevrolet gives BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST PRICES... that's why

CHEVROLET - and Only CHEVROLET - IS FIRST!

California Urged To Save Two Thirds Wood Waste

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Commercial uses are being sought for the wasted two-thirds of California's present lumber crop. Myron E. Krueger, professor of forestry at the University of California, is leading the campaign.

such as oak could be used for veneering instead of firewood, Krueger said. Other woods may be usable for pulp, woodflour, insulating or fruit-packing material. New facilities for research, including a new forestry building, will be available at the university soon.

Red Combing Of U. S. Indications Are Growing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (UP)—Reports from all over the country today underscored Army warnings that Russian intelligence agents are combing the United States for data essential to strategic military planning. A United Press survey of chambers of commerce and business men disclosed that suspect inquiries have been pouring in from overseas to industrial centers which would be prime targets in event of war. Many of the communications were "suspicious" enough to warrant turning them over to the FBI or military intelligence.

Hold Your Seats, Folks! Summer Brings Carnival Enjoyment Again

By John Rosenberg
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The voice of the Barker is heard in the land. Roll the drums professor! Louder!
Now, soft, sultry music for the bee-utiful dancing girls while the folks hear about the freaks and all the wonders —
Jo-Jo, the dog-faced boy; Tina, with hair so fair and eyes so soft — but with the skin of an elephant; Shrakey, the talking seal; Skeets Hubbard, the man with the iron eyelids!
It's all coming your way. No matter where you live — from Main to Florida, New York to the Gold Coast — you'll get a chance at the super-lupert thrill of a lifetime.
Or so promises diminutive, energetic George Hamid, who every year is responsible for the entertainment of millions of Americans and Canadians at carnivals and county and state fairs.

Sees Big Year

Hamid, high in his office at Radio City, has the wheels of his big organization in motion to bring "Broadway to the farm" during the dog days and simmering nights of mid-summer.

"It's going to be the biggest year for fairs we've ever known," Hamid said. "Performers from abroad are arriving over every ship. It's the first time we've had an importation of entertainers since 1941."

He explained that the thrill-seekers changed their tastes from year to year. "It goes in cycles," he said. "A man being shot from a cannon was one of the first and most popular of the novelty acts. Then came the airplane act and the diving horse. And not long ago Lucky Teter and his driving daredevils was what the folks wanted to see."

Act Comes Back

Now, he said the common act is back in high favor. "Only this time," he explained, "it's a double shot. A man and a woman."

Hamid, the operator of Atlantic City's Steel Pier and Million Dollar Per, claims he owns more freaks and novelty acts than any other man in the world. "Anything that's unusual or crazy I buy," he explained. "I own Flicka, Smoky and Thunderhead, the famous movie horses. I bought them because I'm sure people will pay to see them in the flesh."

Hamid said that among his new acts will be the Six Eduardos of Denmark, who perform on the high trampoline; Linon of France, "a tragedian of mirth," who cavorts on a high wire; "Rosin and Williams, the juggling jewels," and A. Robbins, "the original banana man. The funniest conjurer in all the world."

All for the folks in the country," he said. "Wait till they see it."

Indian Lore Seekers Invade Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UP)—Albuquerque which has long been a tourist center, is making a bid for a different type of visitor the pick-and-shovel anthropologist.

The city lies in the center of a 100-mile area known to hold more than 1,000 ruins of ancient Indian villages. Excavations are being made more and more each year by students of prehistoric times.

Five well-known ruins lie within the city limits of Albuquerque. They were turned up by men digging irrigation ditches. Another was discovered when workmen were digging up soil to make adobe bricks.

In Tijeras Canyon, west of Albuquerque, 40 separate ruins can be seen from one spot. One of the ruins is a 90-room mud pueblo.

N. Y. Police Poor Shots Critical Judge Says

NEW YORK (UP)—Special Sessions Justice Frank Oliver says city policemen can't shoot. Lecturing to defendants on the dangers of target practice within the city limits unless they were expert shots, the judge remarked by way of example that 10 per cent of New York city policemen "can't hit a door 200 yards away on the level."

The judge said it was because the officers can't afford to buy their own ammunition for practice. The police department should buy it for them, he said.

Brown hay is the result of excessive heating when the hay is stored with a high moisture content.

Boiler Factory Almost Yields To Street Car

CHICAGO (UP)—A street car and a boiler factory are close rivals in noise making honors, an acoustics expert has discovered. Dr. Howard C. Hardy is making a 12-months study of Chicago's Loop noises. He and an assistant parked their mobile laboratory at a busy downtown intersection. A sound level meter registered 100 decibels as an old-style street car clanged a round the corner. Boiler factories tests have shown, usually score 110. Chicago's city council will use Hardy's findings in drafting new noise abatement laws.
