Immediately the student felt the body for broken bones. As she was about to administer artificial respiration the man looked "I don't know what you are trying to do, but I'm trying to get my child's baseball out of this culvert."

Black Gold on a Rampage in Canadian Field

Flooding 10 acres of wheat fields in the province of Alberta, Canada, this oil well has been out of control for five months. Daily, 14,000 barrels of precious "black gold" pour from the well and seep through the countryside. It is one of the wells in the new Leduc oil field near Edmonton.

He Prefers Western Marks

This Berlin news vendor moved his stand out of a good location in a railway station in the Soviet sector of Berlin, when the Russians told him he could only accept Eastern marks. Now established on a street in the American sector, he collects preferred Western marks. The East-West currency squabble increases the tension in Berlin. most important Catholic lay events of the year.

Catholics were urged to "recognize fully the profound political and social changes which have been verified by the radical changes of the psychological situation and practices relative to the sector of morality."

Education and efforts to fight immorality, the congress said, "must be prevailing preventive, adequate to the psychological conditions and social order, conditions which in great part we can not change."

A program outline blamed spreading immorality on:

1. The psychic and social conditions of the state of war—"moral and physical depression, misery, military occupation, etc."
2. The "failure to observe all or almost all of the legislative provisions which regulate morals."
3. "The inevitable repercussions of anti-religious and irreligious propaganda on intimate habits."
4. The new forms of feminine participation in social and public life which can alter the relations between the sexes."
5. "The contacts, today close and permanent, with habits and customs of other peoples and other civilizations."

The Catholic Action resolution cited positive and negative action that can be carried out by all Catholics to combat immorality.

"On the plane of positive action," it said, "it is necessary to promote and participate in all forms of action that are of use, either directly or indirectly, to combat bad habits." Recommended activities were "good reading and honest entertainment, sport and recreation, soldiers clubs, etc."

"In the field of negative action" the Catholics were told, "exercise control of private work—schools, libraries, associations and clubs—with the view of eliminating in these all infiltrations of immorality. Make contact with all local authorities to the end of forcing application of repressive laws against pornography and immorality, laws which in this moment are not applied to the maximum."

Catholic Action Sends Out Alarm For Welfare Against Immorality

By NORMAN J. MONTELLIER, United Press Staff Correspondent
ASSISI, Italy (UP)— Italian Catholic Action, the church's powerful lay army, dedicated itself to an all-out campaign against spreading immorality at a three-day congress at this birthplace of St. Francis.

The program adopted by the congress pledged Italian Catholics to recognition of the dangers created by post-war changes in moral standards. It ordered united effort to preserve morality by combating prostitution, pornography, juvenile delinquency, variety shows, immoral press, improper clothes and styles and dancing.

The Catholic Action organization said the father must assume the duty of instructing his children in proper observance of moral standards and urged that the Biblical commandments on the subject be impressed on youth from all viewpoints—religious, hygienic and social.

The meeting at Assisi was reviewed by the Vatican newspaper, Osevatore Romano, as one of the

"Airsafari" Offers African Hunting

CINCINNATI, O. (UP)—Many a man has dreamed about hunting big game in Africa but never figured he had the time or money for such a trip.

"Airsafari," a concern formed by a group of Cincinnati sportsmen to change things. Backers of the enterprise, which includes several veterans who served in Africa during the war, believe they have solved both the time and money problems for a big game hunt.

Herbert Lockwood, director of Airsafari, said regular flights to Kenya Colony, Africa, will begin this month. The trip to Nairobi takes 38 hours and leaves 26 days for hunting in the Kilimanjaro Negeronero area. Or if you just want to see you can spend the same cost visiting the Congo or the savannas of the Moon.

usually took a month by ordinary means of travel to get there. Many business men get only a month or less for a vacation.

The cost will vary according to that type of safaris each tourist takes, but Lockwood said it will be "out of the millionaire class and down to the level of most business executives."

Navy Belatedly Finds That It's Shy One House

CHICAGO (UP)—A $10,000 house was stolen from the Navy in 1945 and the theft wasn't discovered until 1948.

The Navy reported it did not discover the theft immediately because the eight-room house wasn't in one piece when it was taken. Arthur A. Hlavin of Lake Villa, Ill., pleaded guilty to taking the materials with which his house was built while he was custodian of the Navy's reclamation yard at Great Lakes.

Oregon Going All Out On Reforestation

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—The Oregon forestry department and private timber companies have joined forces in a vast reforestation experiment.

The program includes many projects. One is the planting of 40,000 two-year-old Ponderosa pine seedlings in eastern Oregon to see if they will survive. Another is the seeding of 1,500 acres include spot seeding and seed broadcasting by hand.

Most of the experiments are taking place on land burned over by forest fire. Such lands are used to test survival possibilities. If the reforestation projects work, other burned-over land will be reseeded.
