Soviet Switches Policy On Atomic Control

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

The New England States are going to hear about Ranger and Texas via the radio.

The reason for that is Mrs. Charlotte B. Carter of Bangor, Maine, who is the guest of Mrs. P. J. O'Donnell.

Mrs. Carter is a radio personality conducting the daily program, "This Day" over WAZI in Bangor. While in Texas this winter she will make recordings about Texas and send them to the station. In fact, some have already been sent and more will be made of this section later on.

With Mrs. Carter are her son, Sheldon Carter of Lubbock and her mother, Mrs. Charles Bugbee of Bangor. Mrs. Carter has been in radio work for more than 20 years.

Her program is a Columbia Broadcasting Company program.

Well, this is one of those days when there aren't enough minutes before the deadline. And we will not be responsible if we get the right thing in the wrong place.

Yes sir, that Bulldog team really put on the works Friday night. But they tell us that the game with Cisco next week is to be a tough one.

In fact, we have two games with Cisco this week. One with the junior college at Cisco and the high school game with Cisco in Ranger.

The Community Clubhouse has been all prettied up for the big open house that the Civic League is having Tuesday night. Under the supervision of Mrs. J. J. Kelly, president, the interior of the building has been scrubbed and scrubbed and Mrs. H. C. Henderson has been doing the pitch outside with the help of a couple of strong armed men.

Officers of the league stressed the fact today that the open house is for everybody in Ranger and no special invitations are needed. In fact this is your invitation to attend. The women want you to see that club house.

Recently, we wrote something in this column about the Civic League sponsoring a money raising deal through subscriptions to Howland's Magazine. Mrs. Frona Ames is taking the subscriptions and is doing all right.

This week she got a subscription from a woman in Amarillo. Mrs. Harry Wincendon of that city, formerly of Ranger, saw the item in this column and wrote to Mrs. Kelly to inquire about two subscriptions, one for herself and one for her mother, Mrs. R. A. Jones of Ranger. She was referred to Mrs. Ames and right back came the money for the subscription. Incidentally, Mrs. W. Lora to her friends, is having the time of her life fixing up a swanky new home that she and Mr. W. have bought in Amarillo. We went out to see it when in Amarillo this summer and it's a beauty.

Evidently, Coke doesn't intend to take it sitting down. He's going another move in his legal angle over the election of the U. S. senator from Texas and has taken the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Those that know say that this won't keep Johnson's name off the November ballot. The name had to go on Saturday.

The Russians have pulled another trick out of the hat and reversed their atomic control policy. Sure didn't take long to change their minds. Maybe, Vishinsky got told that Russia wasn't as ready with the atomic bomb as he would have the world think.

EIGHT SCHOOL CHILDREN INJURED BY GUNMAN

DAYTON, O., Oct. 2 (UP)—Eight Middleton, O. school children on a hayride were wounded when fired upon by a mysterious gunman near Farmersville, 12 miles west of here, last night. None was seriously injured. They were treated at a Middleton Hospital and released. Ten other children and the chaperone were uninjured.

The children were in the vicinity of a farm known as "The Bottle Farm" when the unknown assailant opened fire with a shotgun.

Marilyn Witherspoon, 12, who was shot in the face and legs said a group of the children got off a truck to "explode around."

"We went into an old, empty house," she said. "We heard a shot but just thought that one of the boys had shot off a firecracker. Then we heard another shot. It hit a couple of us."

"Some of the children were in the hay and some were outside. We started screaming and hollering. We started out and a third shot hit six other children. We were hit all over, in our faces, legs, chests—all over."

Stork Out Does Nervous Father

FORT WORTH, Tex. Oct. 2 (UP)—A Carwell Air Force base sergeant knows now that the stork means business when it radios for landing instructions.

Mrs. A. J. Sandoval awakened her husband early yesterday and told him it was time that she get to a hospital. A hurried telephone call was made to the attending doctor who told Sgt. Sandoval to rush his wife to All-Saints Hospital.

The nervous sergeant bundled up his wife and rushed off—but remembered enroute that he didn't know where the hospital was.

However, he found a hospital, and left his wife in the auto while he hurried in to inquire whether it was All-Saints. But it was St. Josephs.

Bus Driver Slugs Angered Motorist

DALLAS, Tex. Oct. 2 (UP)—A 37-year-old Dallas man was in Parkland Hospital today with a possible skull fracture after a fight with a bus driver.

Police said that the man tried to stop a bus near the outskirts of the city. The bus driver failed to stop, and the man pulled his car in front of the bus. The bus driver then drove around the man's car.

The would-be stopper, police reported, chased the bus to the interurban bus station on Commerce street, where an argument was started.

The bus driver broke it up by hitting the man over the head with a hammer and the victim ran several blocks before he collapsed.

Nearly 100 passengers at the station saw the fight.

Newsboys Honor Gen. Eisenhower

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has received many citations in his 37 years in the army, today took home a new one—from the newspaper boys' thrift club.

The former chief of staff, now president of Columbia University, was honored by some 4,000 newsboys at a rally here last night.

On behalf of the newsboys of America, the club presented the general with a paperweight made from nickel used in minting five-cent pieces and a citation honoring "one formerly of their own ranks" for "unselfish devotion to the service of his country and his fellow men."

Stevenson Takes Case To U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (UP)—Former Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas today petitioned the U. S. Supreme court to set aside Justice Hugo Black's action in the Texas senatorial race.

Black set aside a lower court order which would have barred Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson from the Texas ballot as democratic candidate for U. S. senator.

Johnson defeated Stevenson by less than 100 votes in the Texas primary, which is tantamount to election. But Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson issued an order directing that Johnson's name be left off the ballot pending an investigation of charges by Stevenson of irregularities in the primary.

Black set aside the lower court order on Wednesday on appeal of Johnson's attorneys.

"It would be a drastic break with the past, which I can't believe Congress ever intended to permit, for federal courts to go into the business of conducting what is to every intent and purpose and supervision over an election contest," Black said in his ruling.

Black granted his stay of the lower court order until the full Supreme Court can act on the matter.

Stevenson's petition today was directed to the full court. The court meets for its fall term Monday. Under Texas law, the name of the democratic candidate must be certified today if he is to get on the ballot.

Thus apparently Johnson's name will go on the ballot.

Plans Being Completed For Singers Meeting

Plans are just about completed for the meeting of the Eastland County Singing Association to be held in the Ranger High School auditorium Saturday night, Oct. 3, and Sunday, Oct. 10.

A committee is now working out the details of the arrangements. Committees from the Ranger Chamber of Commerce are assisting E. P. Robinson, past president of the Association, who is taking the lead in arrangements.

Quarters from all over Texas have been invited to participate and many have already stated that they would be here and take part, and indications are that a real musical treat is in store for the lovers of song.

Government To Subsidize Cold Rubber Output

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (UP)—The government stepped in with cold cash today to help produce more "cold rubber" that may increase automobile tire mileage as much as 20 per cent.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in announcing a $1,500,000 (M) program to equip government-owned synthetic rubber plants for the new process, said the so-called "cold rubber" may revolutionize the industry.

The new synthetic product is much like the present kind except that it is produced at near-freezing temperatures instead of at 125 degree heat. Tests indicate it wears substantially longer than the old type "hot" rubber and greatly increases tire mileage.

Four plants already are turning out about 21,000 tons a year, the RFC said. The new program will increase the total to 183,000 tons.

The program will affect several government-owned synthetic rubber plants which are operated by private companies. They include plants at Baton Rouge, La.; Norger, Tex.; Los Angeles; Houston, Tex.; Baytown, Tex.; Lake Charles, La.; and Port Neches, Tex.

Directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce will meet at the manager's office Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

PROPOSE TWO PART RESOLUTION TO CREATE CONTROL AGENCY

BY R. H. SHACKFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 2 (UP)—Russia, in a major change of her atomic energy policy, offered today to abandon her previous demand that all atomic weapons be scrapped and prohibited before international control machinery can be established.

The offer was voiced by Soviet Chief Delegate Andrei Vishinsky, who called for a "simultaneous" prohibition of atomic weapons and creation of an international atomic energy control organization.

Vishinsky introduced a two-part resolution before the political committee of the United Nations General Assembly which would:

1. Order the Security Council and Atomic Commission to continue negotiations on atomic energy, and
2. Prepare two draft conventions on banning atomic weapons and creating an international control agency. Both treaties would be "signed and put into force simultaneously."

REDS STAGE AIR DRILLS

BERLIN, Oct. 2 (UP)—Russia announced today that Soviet warplanes will engage in aerial combat firing practicing during the day near the western air corridors to Berlin.

The aerial maneuvers will be held west of Berlin, over the Soviet zone crossed by airlift planes on their run to the German capital, the Russians informed the four-power air safety center.

The Soviet announcement said the firing exercises would continue throughout the day, ending at 6 p.m. It did not specifically state that the Soviet planes would be using live ammunition, but it was clearly implied that bullets would be flying in the air corridors.

C. C. Directors To Meet Tuesday

Joe N. Graham, president, stated today that the meeting is a very important one and urges that all directors be present.

Watch for 'Social' Upheaval If GOP Takes Over Capital

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

(Peter Edison is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A really significant straw-in-the-wind has just been revealed. It has discouraged the Democrats about as much as anything that has happened since Mrs. Perle Meata became known as "Two-Party Perle" by starting to entertain the Republicans. The special board in charge of the publication, "The Social List of Washington," is preparing to put out a supplement in November, after the election. The significance of this is obvious. It means that the brainy members of this board believe that the Republicans stand a pretty good chance of winning. Their record on predictions is pretty good. Two years ago they made plans for a supplement, anticipating the Republican landslide in Congress.

When there's a political upheaval in the country the sensitive tenor of Washington social life is immediately affected. Women who may have been social lions yesterday suddenly become cocktail party cast-offs when the ungrateful voters fail to re-elect their husbands.

AFTER the GOP captured Congress two years ago the supplement to "The Social List of Washington," called the Green Book, included about 500 deletions and additions.

Miss Carolyn Hagner Shaw, the woman who supervises the printing of the Green Book, with the advice and consent of the board, estimates that if the Republicans do win, the supplement will have to carry close to 3,000 changes. There are about 5,000 names in it all. Miss Shaw is already pretty distressed about the number of changes which have to be made in the regular issue about to come off the press. She says:

"It's just dreadful what death and divorces have done to Washington social life. And the way the unfortunate military people have been transferred out of town is shocking. Nobody'll know anybody else at parties this fall, I'm sure."

In New York and other large cities, it's usually family background which determines a place in the social register. In Washington, according to Miss Shaw, that's important, too, but she admits frankly that official rank is the deciding factor. A change in administration therefore would remove approximately 2,000 persons automatically from the Green Book. The other 1,000 likely to be affected are the relatives of the officials who would lose their standing.

SHREWD political observers are going to watch carefully the entertaining which Mrs. Perle Meata does during the fall season. She's the town's top hostess. Mrs. Meata has always shown an uncanny ability to honor persons whose political prominence is on the upgrade. Soon after Harry Truman was elected vice president she began tossing elaborate affairs for him and his family. Later that gave her a key to the White House front door.

She got the title of Two-Party Perle when she suddenly switched her inexhaustible party budget last year in behalf of certain prominent Republicans. An elaborate whing-ding for Speaker Joe Martin was the first. If she starts to give the cold shoulder to the Democrats this fall, they might as well throw in the towel, the experts believe.

If Mrs. Meata's shift in political affection, however, doesn't find her at the top of the social heap, there is interesting speculation on who might take her crown. Again, if the Republicans win, it's possible that Alice Roosevelt Longworth might once more become queen of the city. She crawled into an exclusive social clique when her cousin Franklin Roosevelt first took permanent residence in the White House. Another candidate is Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, widow of a socialite congressman from Long Island.

Whatever happens the experts predict that the season will produce its usual quota of good clean fun.

"Not So Fast, Young Lady!"

"The Walls Of Jericho" Powerful Story Of Emotion

"The Walls of Jericho," which stars Cornel Wilde, Linda Darnell, Anne Baxter and Kirk Douglas, and which opens Sunday at the Arcadia Theatre, is screen drama at its best.

Readers of Paul Wellman's fine best-seller will be more than pleased with Director John Stahl and Producer Lamar Trotti's film adaptation of the novel. But whether or not you've read the book, this Twentieth Century-Fox picture is bound to hold you enthralled from beginning to end with its truly unusual romance, turbulent drama and splendid performances.

"The Walls of Jericho" is a many-faceted story of intense emotional conflict set against the colorful background of a mid-west town and the violence and excitement of its fast growing pace just after the turn of the century. It is the drama of three women and their influence on the lives of two men who find themselves turned into bitter enemies by cross-currents of intrigue, suspicion and hate. It is the story of a beautiful but coldly scheming and ambitious woman who, in the name of love, almost wrecks the lives of those who stand in her way. And it tells, too, of the romance of a man and a woman who dare to brave a scandal in a town that can't hold their love.

As the young County Attorney Dave Connors who, married to a woman he doesn't love, finds himself involved in a scandal that almost wrecks his career and future happiness, Cornel Wilde turns in his best performance to date. Linda Darnell makes a superb Algeria Wedge, who uses Dave's neurotic wife and a wretched scandal as her weapons to achieve revenge and realize her frustrated ambitions. Anne Baxter is excellent as Julia, who pits her love for Dave against the town's backstreet gossip and so is Kirk Douglas in the part of the young publisher who becomes Algeria's innocent foil. Ann Dvorak as Dave's dissipated wife, and Marjorie Rambeau, Henry Hull and Colleen Townsend in other important roles, provide exceptional effective portrayals.

For absorbing entertainment with a strong romantic appeal, "The Walls of Jericho" is a "must" on everyone's list.

MARK ANTHONY

Heading the funsters with the Clyde Beatty Railroad Circus some to Cisco Thursday, Oct. 7, afternoon and evening at the Junior College Ground on the Moran Highway is Mark Anthony whose unique characterization of a tramp, tattered and wisful, highlights the comic output of the two hour spectacle.

According to Mark, there are few relationships so mutually beneficial as that between the circus clown and the circus crowd.

"The clown gives the crowd laughs, and the crowd in turn, unwittingly gives the clown new laughs for future crowds," he explains.

The clowns study the audience closely. They notice when any unintentional bit of by-play brings a laugh, and that bit is immediately incorporated into their routine.

Mimicry, of course, is the essential part of the clowning art. Things having to do with women's fashions often bring to the minds of the laugh producers ideas for skits or walk-around costumes.

The comical interludes produced this year give balance to the circus performance and relieve the tension of the startling and thrilling trained wild animal exhibition of Clyde Beatty.

Two performances are given daily at 2:30 and 8 p.m. with doors to the enlarged mammoth and horse fair opening at 1:30 and 7 o'clock.

TRUST

By Elswyth Thane

THE STORY: A mysterious locked room on the top floor of Nana Farthing's rented country house, associates dream 17-year-old Sabrina. Father and Aunt Ella tell her the room belongs to one of the owner's sons and they are not to have the use of it. One rainy day Sabrina, overcome by curiosity, picks the lock. She finds a comfortably furnished man's room, filled with books. The place enchants her. Mrs. Pitton, the housekeeper, surprisingly offers to leave the door unlocked hereafter. Sabrina gets to know the room so well it is almost as though she knew its owner.

Meanwhile, half-way across the world Hilary Shenstone lies wounded in the desert beside a washed plane. He thinks of home and feels a desperate need to get back there.

A PUFF of hot desert air lifted the Tattler cutting and tumbled it away along the ground and into the furrow beside the half-buried engine.

Gravely the pilot retrieved the bit of paper from the ground and carried it towards its owner.

"The Honorable Alice is a long way from home," he remarked casually, replacing her beside the letters on the coast.

With fingers that were no longer steady, Hilary gathered up his keys and the penciled pages he had signed.

"You take charge of these," he said. "Pearson wants them badly at Peshawar."

"Then he'd better come and get them," said the pilot cheerfully. "We're staying here, my lad."

"You too?" "Me too," he nodded, looking up at the crippled machine. "If Pearson sends after us they'll sight the plane. And I think he'll send after us." He sat down beside the parachute bundle, in the shade of the mighty wing. "We're very valuable people," he added, and grinned.

"One of us is damaged," remarked Hilary, with a glance at his wound. "You'll have to write my family, Bill." "How do you know I'll have to?" objected the other man, and his eyes went up to the empty, brass sky. "The postal service round here is none too good just now."

THEY sat for a long minute in silence, so that the rustle of dry tufts of grass in the hot wind was audible.

"Homesick, are you," said Wing-Commander Dalton at last. "And what part of England belongs to you?"

"Well, there's that bit there," Hilary handed him the picture of the gray house with the hills beyond. "In the Mendips."

"Mendips, eh," said Dalton. "That's a weird piece of country." "Yes, the Mendips are weird," agreed Hilary. "And the house itself is a bit grim. I liked it when I was a kid, though. It will never be mine, of course. I'm the younger son." He said it simply, without bitterness, and shifted painfully against his lumpy pillow. "This was to be my last job for a while. I was going home the end of this month."

Dalton moved nearer to him and showed the bundle aside so that Hilary was supported more comfortably against his shoulder. "We'll get you home, old boy," he said gently.

"It's a queer sort of place, you know, with a queer name," said Hilary. "It's called Nana Farthing. Mother won't live in it since my father died, and George—that's my brother—George says it gives him the pip. They always threaten to let it, but nobody wants a place like that any more. There's a housekeeper, Mrs. Pitton. She keeps it going when the family's away. There's something I've got to do there—my old room is on the top floor—I left things strewn about, rather—I thought I was going back—it's two years this month—I meant to go home—just lastly it's got terribly important to me to get back—"

"Of course you'll go back, old boy! You leave it to us—little old R.A.F. We'll get you back!" Dalton drew his numbing arms tighter round the spent body they supported.

HE was never one to ask questions, but he found himself wondering now about the man who was fast slipping into unconsciousness in his hold; this young, level-eyed unobtrusive man with the very quiet voice—not much past 30—who was understood to have brought off some of the most ticklish jobs in the United Kingdom—well, yes, a secret agent if you put it that way—very highly thought of at the Home Office. Pearson was crazy, letting him start out alone this time.

Well, Pearson had found that out, a bit late, and sent after him—sent one fairly good wing-commander in a small pursuit plane, instead of an army transport with a few good fellows carrying rifles.

Less conspicuous, said Pearson. Quite so. But of course there was shooting and this irreplaceable man was hit. And then there was a spot of crawling among the rocks after dark to get back to the plane. And then the plane had been tampered with. Well, it must have been, there was no one to guard it while he went into the village and the engine came over all queer after an hour's flying. Anyway it had got them out of the neighborhood, they weren't being shot at any more—not yet, that is. Younger son, was he—and George sat soft at home and inherited. Well, that was the way it went. About the Honorable Alice, now—where did she come in. . . .

"Bill, am I out of my head?" "No, of course not. No more than I am."

"The date, Bill—I've lost track of things—it is the fifth of June, 1938," old boy.

"1938," repeated Hilary. "Certainly. For a minute I wasn't quite sure—it was a nasty feeling, suddenly not to be sure of the date—as if I was floating in time—things have begun to slip, Bill—"

BULLDOGS BEAT GORMAN WITH SCORE FLURRY, 51-0

BY MARVIN GROSS

For five minutes they had a football game out at Bulldog Stadium Friday night but thereafter it smacked of the Olympic games as the Bulldogs scurried back and forth over the little white lines to pound out a 51-0 victory over a weak Gorman Panther team.

When the Panthers unexpectedly halted the first Bulldog thrust from the 18 it shaped up as a give or take struggle. But on their next opportunity the Bulldogs didn't miss and they scored bulls-eyes throughout the rest of the game.

Chief surprise of the lack-lustre night was the strength flashed by Coach Wardens reserves. With the first-stringers relegated to part time duty the reserves, led by Buddy Hamrick, added fuel to the scoring parade and marched at will.

The Bulldogs spaced their scoring evenly tallying two touchdowns in each period. And the hapless Panthers were held without a first down in the game, winding up with minus 28 yards rushing.

A hint of impending doom was forecast for the Panthers when halfback Carl Dean Stacy fumbled the opening kick-off and S. P. Robinson pounced on the ball at the 18. But the Gorman line hit hard and the Bulldogs were tackled back.

Then Stacy got off a poor quick kick and the Ranger boys had possession again on the 34.

A couple of penalties snarled the touchdown effort but R. C. Smith and Kenneth Williams plunged the ball to the 15. An their favorite play to Williams the Bulldogs scored as Kenneth raced left end for 15 yards behind a key block by Frog Langley. Jimmy Comacho added his fourth straight conversion of the year and the Bulldogs led 7-0.

Continually being thrown for huge losses by the superb Ranger line the Panthers kicked out again on their 33. Little Comanche and Smith set up another score for Williams, advancing to the 6. Williams on the same end sweep darted over again, aided by Raymond Comanche and Frog Langley blocks. But little Jimmy had his try blocked for his first failure, leaving the Bulldogs 13 points to the good.

Early in the second quarter the touchdown-happy Bulldogs moved 39 yards in three plays for another score. From the 39 Williams skirted end for 16 yards. After a penalty cost five yards, Smith faded and tossed to Keith Munnerlyn who put on a juggling act for a few minutes then cradled the ball and was hit by George Samuels on the three. Jimmy Comacho snaked over on the first try, added the extra point raising the count to 20-0.

A recovered fumble on the Panther 30 gave the locals another opportunity and on the first down Jimmy (crazy legs) Comanche hit tight guard, wriggled through two secondary defenders and went all the way.

That ended action for the varsity and the peppery little Bulldogs came in the hall game and were knocking again when the half ended.

From the second half kick-off the Bulldogs raced 60 yards on the ground for the fifth score. With Smith forsaking his pitching role the Bulldogs zoomed to the five where R. C. chanted signals for the bootleg play and he swam over. Jimmy missed and the score was 33-0.

It was good-bye to the starting line-up and hello to the reserves. H. V. Davenport fell on a Panther fumble on the 27 and with Billy Simpson, Charley Williams and Buddy Hamrick doing the juggling the home rooting section cheered another touchdown. Hamrick on a sneak went over from the two.

Billy Wayne McKinney took over heavy duties and the Bulldogs drove 55 yards for their seventh scoring sortie with Billy hitting center from the one for the td. A little leg weary but still game, the Bulldogs ended the marathon after Alton Stiles plucked off a Panther heave on the Gorman 41. Charley Williams aided by Jimmy Comanche and Buddy Hamrick hit through tackle from the three and the slaughter was written off. Comanche missed the conversion leaving the final score—Bulldogs 51—Gorman 0.

Bowling Briefs

A men's bowling league was formed Thursday night in a meeting presided over by J. D. Johnson and attended by the captains of the six competing teams. Also on were Ted Babain, manager of the Ranger Bowl and Fred Bonner, acting secretary. The league will be composed of six teams of five men each and will last for a 25 week period with the exception of a short lay-off before and after the Christmas holidays. The board of directors have approved a 75 per cent handicap and ABC rules will be closely followed.

Vacancies still remain on the teams and anyone interested in signing up with the league is urged

Record Slugger

Bob Crues of Amarillo Gold Sox in Class C West Texas-New Mexico League tied the organized baseball record of 49 home runs in the season just ended. The 29-year-old outfielder equaled the round-trip mark established in 1933 by Joe Hauser with Minneapolis of the American Association.

Clothes Make the Man--Mad

Assen Peikov, noted sculptor in Rome, Italy, was assigned to make a statue for use in an Italian movie, using the figure of American actress Lorraine Miller for the body, topped by the sculptured head of Swedish film actress Elaine Albin. Lorraine showed up in this bathing suit, Assen hit the ceiling. "Unartistic," he screamed. He wanted her to doff the bathing suit. But Lorraine stood firm. "I'm very American," she said. "We don't pose in less than bathing suits." She won.

Gambling Charge Hurlled At Dean

ST. LOUIS, Oct. (UP)—Dizzy Dean, sports broadcaster and former St. Louis Cardinal pitching star, admitted today that he had an interview with baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler to discuss reports that he had gambled on baseball games.

But Dean denied that he had ever wagered on the outcome of a game. He said he sometimes told "millionaire oil friends down in Texas" which team he "liked" to win certain games, and that they may have made bets.

"But I never placed a bet on any game myself," he said, "and that's flat."

Dean said he did not know who wrote the letter to Chandler which led to the interview.

"The commissioner wouldn't tell me who it was," he said, "he just read it to me."

However, a copyrighted article in the Star-Times said that the report to Chandler had been made by Richard C. Muckerman, owner of the St. Louis Browns. The Browns, and a St. Louis brewery are co-sponsors of Dean's baseball broadcasts.

According to the article, Muckerman reported to Chandler that Dean had been accidentally overheard on the Brown's switchboard placing a bet with a bookmaker from the pressbox at Sportsman's Park.

ed to contact Mr. Johnson or Mr. Babain before Tuesday evening at 8 P. M. when the first league matches take place.

Still leading the derby for the women's high score of the week is Betty Sue Ames with a mark of 175. Red Townzen rolled a 224 in the men's division game to take the lead away from Bailey Woods who had been leading with a high game of 223.

Indians Tighten In Stretch Drive

With a chance to make a practical certainty out of the American League flag the Cleveland Indians blew a two run lead Friday as the Detroit Tigers revelled in their spoiler role tallied three times in the ninth for a 5-3 victory.

With the Yanks and Red Sox idle the Indians saw their lead cut to one game. Each of the top three clubs has two games remaining but the Indians are still in the most advantageous spot as the Yanks and Red Sox battle each other.

It was Bob Lemon who blew up in the ninth after leading 3-2 through most of the game. Russ Christopher came in but yielded a two run single to Jimmy Outlaw for the clinching wallop.

Gene Bearden, was on the hill yesterday facing rookie Lou Kretlow as the Indians will have to postpone the clinching of the pennant until the final day of the season.

In other action in the big leagues, the Browns split a twin bill with the White Sox, winning, 2-4-0 opener and dropping the finale 4-2. The Braves topped the Dodgers, 3-1 while Pittsburgh nipped Cincinnati 2-1 and the Cubs blanked St. Louis, 4-0.

Oklahoma City Beats Hardin Col. With Early Surge

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. Oct. 2. (UP)—Oklahoma City University ran up a three touchdown lead here last night and then held the pace to defeat resurgent Hardin College of Wichita Falls, Tex. 21-13.

Oklahoma City first scored in the initial period when Quarterback, Gus Langrell intercepted a shaky pass by Hardin's Keith Bobo and sprinted 20 yards to pay dirt. Frank Bruno converted and the halftime score was 7-0.

The third period saw Oklahoma

City roll in earnest as tailback Jim Wade unreeled a 63-yard pay-off ramble. Wade, a speedster, rounded end for 16 yards later in the period to count for the third time. Bruno added the extra point after both second-half touchdowns.

Hardin fired back in the late stages of the penultimate period as fullback Jimmy Williams scored from his own 45. The conversion attempt was blocked.

In the final canto, Hardin opened up an aerial attack from speed formation. Two passes netted 60 yards and then Williams drove off tackle from the five to score. Bobby Rogers converted.

The yell leaders are Georgeanne Rogers, Joyce Cole, Mary Helen Kirkpatrick Sara Frances Whatley, and Robert Williams. The Rangers will have an open date this week, but will play Cisco Junior College on October 7.

Classes in Ranger Junior College are filled to overflowing, and on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday of each week part of the regular classes have to meet from 6 to 10 o'clock in the evening. Over 100 classes are typing, accounting, business law, and mechanical drawing.

The Student Council general officers have been elected by the student body. They are Calvin King, president, Billie Joe Gray, vice-president, Loreta Culpepper, secretary-treasurer. Representatives to the student council will be elected from the classes and clubs as they organize for the year. The purpose of the student council is to govern themselves and work for the improvement and development of our college.

The students and faculty of Ranger Junior College wish to express appreciation to the First Baptist church of Ranger and the First Methodist Church of Ranger for the open house they gave in our honor during the past week. We of the student body and faculty of Ranger Junior College recognize the importance of religion in our lives and pledge ourselves to activity in the churches of our choice.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

The State Constitution provides that, every 10 years, the state shall be re-districted, in accordance with the new census. But Texas has not been re-districted since 1921. There have, of course, been many changes in population in 27 long years. The result is a situation of gross inequality. There are some House Representatives districts with five and six times as many people as some other districts. Nor is this unfair condition confined to a single part of the State. It has been said that South and West Texas are being discriminated against by the failure of the legislature to do its duty. And this is true. But consider that there is one East Texas district with 109,000 and there are lots of districts over the state with less than 25,000 citizens and one with only 19,000. Contrast this one with a second district in East Texas with 127,000 inhabitants.

Yet the district with only 19,000 people has the same power in making laws as the district with 127,000—six times more people, and, presumably, paying six times as much taxes.

The same condition prevails with regard to the State Senate. One district has 110,000 people and another has 463,000, which is the 1940 census, and the latest estimate is that the district has grown to 754,000. It is the Lower Rio Grande Valley district.

Repeatedly, the legislature has failed to do its duty. Now the people have a chance to take action. In the November 2 general election, Constitutional Amendment 2 will be voted on. This provides that a commission shall have power to re-district if the legislature refuses. The commission will consist of the lieutenant governor, speaker of the House, attorney general, state comptroller and land commissioner.

Special Baptist Program Wed.

Many of the Baptist churches of Cleco Association will join with more than one thousand Texas churches in honoring a statewide Baptist radio broadcast Wednesday, Oct. 6. On an all-day program originating in Dallas over station KRLD-FM, Dr. J. Howard Williams, state executive secretary, will present the enlarged project for Texas Baptists for the coming year.

This is to be the first time in the history of the organization that the Baptist General Convention of Texas has used the means of radio to speak to over 100 congregations at once.

Between frequency modulation radio stations located in every section of Texas will carry the 45-minute program, which is to be the first ever broadcast over an entire network of WF stations in the state. This will also be the first time any FM stations in Texas have attempted to pick-up and rebroadcast programs from other FM stations.

Besides Dr. Williams' message, the program is to include music by the choir and the All-Girl Chorus of the First Baptist Church, Dallas, under the direction of W. H. Souther. Dr. R. Alton Reed, director of the radio department of the Baptist Convention, will announce the broadcast.

The second Baptist Church in Ranger will be prepared to present this special broadcast to all who attend the service Wednesday night, Oct. 6, at 8:15.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Matthews are spending the week-end in Dallas to attend the S. M. U. Tech game and to visit their daughter, Arne Matthews, who is a student at S. M. U.

She stated that the members of the church wished to thank the public for the cooperation and aid in their efforts to raise the money.

Mrs. Julia McCleskey and Mrs. Earl Reeves who are in charge of gathering Christmas gifts for veterans hospitals, will appreciate any assistance which the public may care to give them.

READ THE BIBLE

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 3.

The Golden Text is: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness and let us put on the armour of light" (Romans 13:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The way of the wicked is as darkness; they know not at what they stumble" (Proverbs 4:19).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We are sometimes led to believe that darkness is as real as light; but Science affirms darkness to be only a mortal sense of the absence of light, at the coming of which darkness loses the appearance of reality" (page 215).

Words are incapable of expressing the deep appreciation which we feel for the many thoughtful and kind deeds in our behalf during our recent sorrow. Each with a great comfort to us and will remain with us as treasured memories.

Thrilling Elephant Ballet Featured With Circus

An luring queen of the white tops poses with Old Sid, matriarch of the Clyde Beatty elephant herd coming to this locality soon.

A spectacular and thrilling elephant ballet, "Jumbos on Parade," in which a heavy, lithe, lovely, and talented girl presents three rings of ponderous pachyderms in new and surprising mass military formations is among the new trained animal features of the Clyde Beatty Trained Wild Animal Circus coming to Cisco, Thursday, Oct. 7, afternoon and evening at the Junior College Ground on Moran Highway.

Presenting a sharp contrast to the rugged bulk of the performing beasts, the dainty feminine stars exemplify agility and precision as the elephants step with apparent clumsy daintiness and awkward grace to the blare of the circus band.

Symbolizing the circus more than any other animal, the elephant is indispensable in more than one way. They not only entertain with their ever appealing "troubled of tricks," but earn their daily wages of hay and peanuts in helping raise the big top, spot the heavy baggage wagons, and dismantle and load the tented city following the final night performance.

Appearing with some of circusdom's most celebrated features including Clyde Beatty, world's greatest wild animal trainer, the elephants will be seen twice daily at 2:30 and 8 p. m. Doors to the circus menagerie and horse fair open at 1:30 and 7 o'clock.

This three-story girls' dormitory at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Texas, will be presented to the school by the American petroleum industry in a ceremony Oct. 13, on the University campus in honor of the late Judge J. C. Hunter, Abilene civic and church leader and former president of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association. The dormitory will be named Hunter, Abilene civic and church leader and former president of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.
