Living Costs Rise Despite Economic Drop

WASHINGTON, May 30 (UP)—The nation today was confronted with an economic paradox—rising living costs in the face of a five-month economic downturn.

While the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the cost of living index rose for the second consecutive month, government and industry reported that:

1. Industrial production and department store sales are going down.

2. Railroad carloadings are 8.7 per cent below those of last year.
3. Industrial employment is 400,000 lower than last year.
4. One major steel producer cut operations six per cent because of a lack of orders.

Business and industrial loans have dropped continuously for 18 weeks. To the average industrial worker who has kept his job, the paradox has had little effect, however. This is because his weekly earnings, now 83 cents more than a year ago, have about kept pace with the cost of living boost.

The most pessimistic economic development of the week was in industrial production. The Federal Reserve Board's index, which rose to 195 per cent of the 1935-39 average last October and November, slumped 10 points in the last two months.

The Rev. Jasper C. Masseege, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, delivered the commencement address using as his theme "The Basis of Abundant Living." Reverend Masseege read selected passages from Proverbs and discussed the importance of seeking divine wisdom and guidance.

The obtaining of wisdom depends upon the surrender of life to God," the speaker said and stated that good character is the result of God's Spirit dwelling in man. "Such a life will be one of inner strength able to meet every test and storm of life," he added.

The message was concluded with an appeal to sacrificial service as the highest goal of worthy living. "True greatness is found in service," Reverend Masseege said and added that "The Christ with scars of battle calls us to such service."

The Rev. David C. Ham offered the invocation and the benediction was said by Floyd J. Spivy. Lilla Jean Brown played the processional and recessional marches and accompanied at the piano as the audience sang "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "The Ranger Song."

Sunday Hottest Day Of Year

That heat Sunday wasn't imagination. It was a fact. The mercury hit the highest mark of the season when it registered 92 degrees. Closest maximum temperature to that this season was 90 degrees registered in April.

The 92 degrees Sunday is also the highest temperature registered on May 29 in the last four years. Other figures are 1946, 86 degrees; 1947, 76 degrees and 1948, 82 degrees. All figures are the maximum temperatures for these years.

Sunday also marked the opening of that long summer period when people look longingly and hopefully at puffy clouds that come and go without any precipitation to relieve the heat.

Ford Employees Back To Work

DETROIT, May 30 (UP)—The Ford Motor Company began recalling its 106,000 employees back to work today following settlement of the 25-day-old walk-out that had idled its 33 manufacturing and assembly plants.

The strike over an alleged speeding of assembly lines was settled yesterday but Ford spokesmen estimates it would take a week to get the Big River Rouge Plant back to peak production. Another week will be required to get the flow of parts to auxiliary plants back to normal.

Some 1,200 of the 3,200 idle at the Lincoln and Mercury plants were ordered to return for the shift today. Another 16,000 workers at the Rouge Plant were ordered to report tomorrow.

Only a handful of Local 600 of the CIO United Workers opposed the settlement which sent the speedup issue to arbitration. The official vote was 2,423 to 377. Many of the huge Local didn't bother to vote because they were so certain the agreement would be approved.

Reproductions Of Famous Papers On Display Here

Through the courtesy of the Community Public Service Company, enlarged reproductions of 26 documents displayed on the Freedom Train are now on display in itanger and the public is invited to view the collection.

The display is at the Community Public Service Company's office on Main street.

When the Freedom Train toured this country last year, bearing the original documents which have played a vital part in the history of our nation, men, women and children stood in line for hours in many of the great cities of our country, waiting their turn to view these "Treasured Documents of our American Heritage." So great were the crowds that many had to be turned away after long waiting.

The 26 enlarged reproductions in the Community Public Service display include such documents as Thomas Jefferson's "rough draft" of the Declaration of Independence, the act of Continental Congress in increasing the powers of General George Washington in 1776, and the Emancipation Proclamation signed by President Lincoln in 1863. The enlargements were made by a photographic method best adapted for maintaining the integrity and character of these documents in their reproduction. Accompanying each document is an interesting and authoritative historical background.

NATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO ITS HONORED WAR DEAD

WASHINGTON, May 30 (UP)—The nation today paid tribute to its honored war dead with a prayer that the call to arms never again will be sounded in these United States.

At the request of President Truman, top U. S. military leaders reminded the American people that it could keep faith with its fallen heroes only by working and striving for a lasting peace.

They told the nation it could best avoid another disastrous war by making the United States so strong militarily that no potential aggressor would dare attack this country or any of its Democratic allies.

Defense Secretary Louis Johnson, sounding the keynote of this Memorial Day tribute, recalled that America and its youth prang to defense of Democracy in 1917, only to see its hopes of eternal peace blasted by the armies of Hitler.

"This time we must make sure," he said. "It must never happen again. On this Memorial Day let us pledge ourselves to the un-

PREFER TO MAINTAIN TWO STATES

By R. H. SHACKFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, May 30 (UP)—The three Western Powers have secret hopes that Russia will reject their proposal for a united Germany when the Council of Foreign Ministers reconvenes this afternoon.

The plan calls upon the Soviets to let their zone of Germany join the Western German state. It also demands that the Russian establish basic freedoms in eastern Germany, abolish secret police, give up confiscated industrial plants, stop taking reparations from current production and abandon the veto in Germany.

It is an open secret that the Western Powers prefer to continue with two Germanys—the Western Zone Federal State already created and the Eastern Zone occupied by Russia—for the time being.

Although the Western Powers made an offer for uniting the two halves last Saturday, they attached enough conditions to make it almost certain that the Russians will reject it.

Western delegates said today that the key to this meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference will be how the Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky makes the expected negative reply.

If he does it politely, as he has conducted himself thus far during the council meeting, it may mean he still has a surprise up his sleeve.

If he rejects the proposal without qualification and resumes the usual Russian tirade against the west, this conference will be over.

Western delegates have not attempted to hide their feeling that the best solution of the German problem for the moment is for the east and west to continue their separate ways, with possibly an agreement on Berlin and on trade between eastern and western Germany.

They are not at all interested in complicating the political and economic rehabilitation of Western Germany by letting Russia have a voice in its progress.

Saucy Straws in the Sun

Bahamian Fibers Weave High Style Summer Hats

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Fashion takes over Anglo-U.S. relations by making matches between hats of Bahamian straw and wardrobes of American cotton.

To find unusual textures and colors of natural straw, hat-designer Mary E. Goodfellow went to the Bahamas for "silver top" palmetto and brown cocconut. The results are a new "M.E.G." collection of gay color-spiced rollers, sombreros, cloches and sailors in neutral shades of straw which can go anywhere this summer that a cotton dress or a cotton suit can go.

—EPIE KINARD, NEA Fashion Editor.

Military stars in the collection of Bahamian straws styled for wear with American summer cottons are the hats pictured. Neutral-toned "silver top" palmetto straw makes the rippled cloche which the painter wears (above). The brown and white dotted band encircling the crown drapes easily over the brim. The golfer's sunshade (top right) of pale beige cocconut straw is brightened by a boldly striped tie silk band. Western-styled sombrero (center right) of palmetto straw ties under the chin with a red cord which also rings the crown. Interwoven light and dark cocconut straw forms interesting pattern for roller (bottom right) which has striped cotton band around crown.

Waltz into Darkness

Waltz into Darkness

BY WILLIAM IRISH

THE STORY: Durred discovers that Bunny has received a letter addressed to "Miss Wishes Brown." He decides to see her. He is certain she has a checkered edge bearing the signature, "Billy."

Nothing more, then, for five days. No more visits to the post office. No more letters sent, no more letters received. What-over had been said was said, and only the inside of a fireplace knew what that had been.

For five days after that she did not even go out, she took no more walks. She loitered about the rooms—noncommittal, self-assured. As if waiting for something. As if waiting for an appointed length of time to pass. Five days to pass.

Then on the fifth day, suddenly, without a word, the door of her room opened after long closure and he beheld her coming down the stairs arrayed for excursion. She was carefully dressed, far more carefully, far more exquisitely, than he had seen her for a long time past. She had taken a hot curling iron to her hair; ripples of artifice indented it. Her lips were frankly red, not merely rosy.

Her floral ensemble was strong to the point of boldness. She was going out. She made no plain, over and above his own powers of observation. As if she wanted no mistake about it, no hindrance. "I'm going out," she said. "I'll be back soon."

He did not ask her where. That was about three in the afternoon. At five she was not back yet. At six at seven.

It was dark, and he lit the lamps, and they burned their way toward eight. She wasn't back yet. On toward nine there was a sound at the door. Not so much an opening of it, as a fumbling

She took off her hat. Regarded it intently, and unfavorably. Then, unexpectedly, she cast it from her, so that it fell to the floor a considerable distance across the room from her.

He made no move to get it. It was her hat, after all. He merely looked after it, to where it had fallen. "I thought you liked it. I thought it was your fondest rag."

"Hock," she said with throaty disgust. "In New York they're wearing bigger ones this season. These little things are out."

Who told you that? he said to her in bitter silence. Who told you that you're wasting yourself, buried down here, away from the big towns you used to know? He could bear the very words, almost as though he had been there when they were spoken.

He could see the shabby, secretive hotel room, hidden away in one of the byways down around the railroad station; the shade drawn against discovery from the street; the clandestine rendezvous, unwittingly prolonged beyond the bounds of prudence in forgetfulness lent by liquor. She and the man, whoever he was—

The flame of an old love rekindled, with alcohol for fuel; the renewal of old ties, the whispers and the sniggered laughter, the reminiscences shared together—He could see it all, he was all but there, looking over their shoulders.

There must have been a letter North, and though he'd never seen it, he could guess what rancorous contents it contained: "Come get me; I can stand no more of this; take me out of it." And then, five days ago, the answer; the mysterious letter to "Mabel Greene."

She needs't go to the post office any more, stealthily to appropriate them. There would be no more sent. The sender was here with her now, right in the same town. Yes, he thought with saddened understanding, I too would travel from a distance of five days away to be with a woman like Bunny. What man wouldn't? If the new love cannot provide for her, she has but to call back the old.

The engine crew said the train was traveling between 55 and 60 miles an hour, and that they did not see the car until the impact. Witnesses, traveling behind Jones' car, said they saw the speeding train and wondered if Jones was trying to beat it to the crossing.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 30 (UP)—Two unidentified seamen were asphyxiated aboard a U. S. Navy tanker late Sunday night as they loaded high octane gasoline on the vessel.

A physician said crew members told him that the men were working below deck on the tanker Muir Woods when the ship's exhaust fans stopped. Both men were overcome by gasoline fumes and emergency crews failed to revive them by administering oxygen.

Navy officials said names of the victims would not be released pending notification of relatives.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 30 (UP)—Funeral services were to be held today for Robert Wynn Blanton, 22, who died yesterday in the treacherous undertow off Galveston's west beach.

He was the oldest son of W. N. Blanton, general manager and executive vice president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, and was a student at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Robert Wynn and a younger brother, Neal, 15, were both caught by the swift current as they waded in water only waist deep. Neal was rescued by two fishermen who answered the cries of Mr. and Mrs. Blanton, watching the tragedy from the shore.

Emergency crews said Robert Wynn died of asphyxiation due to over-exertion in the surf.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 30 (UP)—A 27-year-old man was stabbed to death early Sunday, and police charged a 28-year-old woman with the slaying.

Earl Gamble died five hours after he was stabbed in an argument with a woman on a quiet residential street. Marjorie Roberts was charged with murder before Justice Thomas I. Decker.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 30 (UP)—Joseph Ambrose today faced murder charges in the shooting of his 19-year-old stepson, who died Saturday night in a shooting row in the Ambrose home.

Ambrose was charged with murder before Justice Thomas I. Decker.

Two Held In Burglary Case

RUSK, May 30 (UP)—Cherokee County Sheriff Frank Brunt hoped today that questioning of two Dallas men in custody here might clear up numerous East Texas burglaries.

One man was taken into custody Saturday night at Sacul by a posse hastily organized after Cranford's Drug Store was burglarized in the Nacogdoches County town. He was shot in the leg, but not seriously wounded.

The other suspect was arrested last night after being discovered roosting in a tree near Sacul. Bloodhounds and officers from Cherokee, Panola, Smith, Angelina and Nacogdoches Counties worked together in the manhunt. Highways were blocked.

Brunt planned to file charges in connection with burglaries at Maydelle, Diabville and Sacul. He said federal charges may be filed in connection with the Diabville burglary since the post office was robbed in the small community.

Eisler Elected By Germans To People's Council

BERLIN, May 30 (UP)—The Communist front German People's Congress approved a Soviet style constitution for "all of Germany" today after electing Gerhart Eisler a member of the People's Council, the top German authority in the Soviet Zone.
 The constitution was approved by the Congress with a single dissenting vote. It was by a man who jumped to his feet and shouted, "I am a German pacifist."
 Eisler, wanted for passport fraud and contempt of Congress in the United States, received his nomination despite the fact he has not been in Germany in years.
 His name was among a list of 349 candidates for the council presented to the third People's Congress now meeting at the state opera house in the Soviet sector of Berlin. Nomination is tantamount to election.
 He was listed as "a resident of Leipzig and professor at the University."
 Eisler has a speaking engagement in London tomorrow night and plans to spend two more weeks in England before continuing on to Germany in his flight from the United States.
 He accepted a post as professor

Stranded Scouts Promised Rescue

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 30 (UP)—An unhurried rescue attempt was promised today for three 12 year old Boy Scouts and camping trip went into extra innings when they were trapped by high water.

The Scoutmaster Frank Rother, set out with John Robert Hester, Bob Moore and Dick Shirley Friday afternoon, on what they thought was a one night outing near Yukon, west of here. But the north Canadian River rose up over a bridge and cut off their return trip.

However, the parents of the boys weren't worried. Their combined feeling was, "they can take care of themselves."
 H. V. Hester, father of John Robert, said he talked with Rother yesterday and found the quartet was getting along all right.

Mrs. Rutledge Leaves Without Seeing Husband

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 30 (UP)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge's blonde wife, Sydney, today kept her promise never to visit him in jail.

Mrs. Rutledge, 23, left town without visiting the jail where the 29-year-old St. Louis baby doctor awaited sentencing for the murder of Byron Hattman, her alleged seducer.

The six-foot-tall beauty went with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Goodrich, to their home at Hannibal, Mo., yesterday after hearing her husband declared guilty of second degree murder Saturday.

Goodrich said his son-in-law had exacted a promise from Mrs. Rutledge to stay away from his jail cell.

"She was very anxious to see him," the girl's father said. "But she respects his judgment. She never has seen him in jail and for the present she will keep her promise."

Goodrich said Rutledge was "very non-committal" when he visited the handsome doctor yesterday. He said his daughter was "doing as well as can be expected."

Rutledge's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Rutledge of Houston, Tex., also were staying at the Goodrich home.

A district court jury of nine men and three women found Rutledge guilty Saturday night of stabbing Hattman to death in a hotel room here last Dec. 14.

The conviction carries a sentence of 10 years to life. But Judge J. E. Heiserman gave defense attorneys until July 1 to ask for a new trial. If no such motion is entered, he will pronounce sentence shortly after July 1.

Wheat Harvest Being Delayed Because of Rain

AMARILLO, May 30 (UP)—Wheat was ready to harvest in some 20 Texas counties today, with the weather seen as the only drawback.

Wayne C. Grant, wheat coordinator for Texas, said rain which would hold up harvesting operations had fallen in almost all the 20 counties. However, some of the fields were drying rapidly, and plenty of equipment was on hand, and in some places a surplus of labor existed.

Fields were reported drying rapidly in Coleman and Reynolds Counties, and the harvest was expected to begin today. Heavy rains in Wichita, Archer and Clay Counties Saturday were expected to hold up the harvest three to five days.

The harvest got off to a good start in Wilbarger and Foard Counties Saturday but was rained out Saturday evening. Adequate equipment and a surplus of labor was on hand.

Harvesting was halted by rains in Baylor and Young Counties. In Hardeman County, wheat was reported a little behind that of other areas and was not expected to be ready for cutting for a week or 10 days, regardless of weather conditions.

Urges United Front for U. S.

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 30—(UP)—America's safety lies in vigilance, preparedness, and a united front against aggressors, says Atomic Physicist Arthur H. Compton.

Speaking at commencement exercises of Texas Christian University last night, Compton said the nation never has faced more serious hazards.

Compton suggested a mutual defense alliance by the United States with nations whose political outlooks can be trusted. He said the alliance would "have strength sufficient to meet the challenge."

Cleburne Man To Ft. Worth C. of C.

FORT WORTH, May 30 (UP)—Jack D. Brown, Cleburne Chamber of Commerce manager, will become manager of the Fort Worth Chamber's membership department on June 13, it was announced here today.

He will succeed George T. Kessler, who resigned Wednesday to reenter private business.

Brown held the Fort Worth post for two years prior to leaving in resignation.

Both of the children were witnesses to the two-day orgy. They were taken to a county charity home for safe keeping.

The woman told officers that her husband began beating on her at 5 P. M. Saturday and intermittently until 1 A. M. today. The husband offered no resistance when officers arrived.

Record Wheat Crop In Texas

Harvesting of this year's bumper wheat crop in Texas was delayed by daily thunderstorms over the state's wheat belts. Here, on the farm of Les and W. W. Pennington at Guyer, Texas, two combines begin cutting the wheat yielding from 30 to 35 bushels an acre. (NEA Telephoto)

To Investigate Julian's Death

WASHINGTON, May 30 (UP)—Police in nearby Bethesda, Md., today investigated the circumstances surrounding the death of William A. Julian, publicity treasurer of the United States for the past 16 years.

Julian was killed instantly yesterday when his car collided head on with an auto driven by William Ellis, a 37-year-old negro. Ellis suffered severe lacerations. His associates said that Julian will probably be buried in Cincinnati, O., his "adopted" home town. He was born in Kentucky.

As treasurer of the United States, it was Julian's duty to supervise the income and expenditure of all federal moneys. His name has appeared on all U. S. dollar bills issued since he took office, and Treasury officials estimated that Julian's signature has been engraved on fully $89,000,000,000 (B) worth of U. S. currency since 1933.

He kept his age a closely-guarded secret, but associates said he must have been "at least" 85 years old.

The cost of operating farm machinery is more than one-third the expense of operating farms in Texas.

Charges To Be Filed Against Jealous Husband

DALLAS, May 30 (UP)—Dallas police today were preparing charges of assault to murder against a 32-year-old painter who held his wife prisoner in their apartment for two days and beat her with his fists and two hammers until she was unconscious. The 21-year-old wife, mother of two children, was expected to live, but hospital attendants said her condition was serious.

At 1 A. M. today, neighbors in the apartment house (3220 Meadow) called police and told of hearing screams in the apartment for two days.

Police investigating revealed that the woman had been beaten black and blue with the hammers and fists and had been slashed with a butcher knife. Officers said she was on her feet when they investigated, but that her scalp was torn loose and both eyes were closed from the beating.

At Parkland Hospital, she said her husband had accused her of having intimate relations with dozen of men and during the beating had forced her to list names on a bloody piece of wrapping paper. She denied the ac-

Surprise Witness

Mrs. Agnes Shambert, a St. Louis building employe, waits outside the Cedar Rapids, Ia., courtroom after appearing as a surprise witness for the defense in the murder trial of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge. Mrs. Shambert told of hearing Byron Hattman—the man Dr. Rutledge is accused of stabbing to death for his attentions to Mrs. Rutledge — make threats on the doctor's life. Attempting to refute her testimony, the prosecution turned up with a last-minute surprise witness of its own. (NEA Telephoto)
