March 23 Tentative Date For Second Water Meeting

FIVE TOWNS TO DISCUSS REACTION TO PROJECT REPORT HEARD TUESDAY

Thursday, March 23 has been set as a tentative date for a meeting of representatives from Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, Gorman and DeLeon to discuss the reactions of the five towns to a report heard Tuesday on the proposed water conservation program for Eastland County.

Mayor Price Crawley stated today that the place of the meeting would be announced later but that the date had been tentatively approved by all five towns and engineers from the Bureau of Reclamation at Austin. The decision to hold the meeting came after representatives of the towns had heard a report from the Bureau of Reclamation on the proposed building of a dam across the Leon river.

Data on the project was brought out at a meeting held at the Eastland County courthouse Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and which was called by the Eastland County Water Supply District at the request of Harry Burleigh of Austin, bureau engineer.

C. B. Pruet of Ranger presided at the meeting in the absence of the president of the water district directors, Dr. P. M. Kuykendall, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Burleigh explained facts compiled after a recent survey of a project to build a dam on the Leon River just above its confluence with Colony Creek. He stated that the dam would create a lake with 32,000 acre feet of water capacity and that it would be of sufficient quantity to meet the needs of the five towns involved.

FFA District To Have Banquet In Breckenridge

A group of Ranger FFA chapter members and their sweetheart, Ann Dorris and the sponsor, B. S. Dudley, Jr., will be in Breckenridge tonight to attend a district banquet at the YMCA.

The banquet will be held at 7:30 o'clock and Frank Robinson of Ranger, district president, will be master of ceremonies. E. R. Alexander, head of the agricultural education department of Texas A & M College at College Station will be the principal speaker. The state vice-president of FFA, Doyle Whitaker of Throckmorton, will also be a guest at the banquet.

On the business agenda will be the election of the district sweetheart and Miss Dorris as sweetheart of the Ranger chapter will be a candidate for the honor.

Others from Ranger who will attend the banquet will be Billy Ray Hollinger, Bill Patterson, Jim Patterson, Bob Crawford, Tim Woods, Weldon Cunningham, Jackie Poyner and Kenneth Williams.

Towns that will be represented at the meeting are Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Gorman, Carbon Rising Star, Breckenridge and Moran.

Bible Study Topic Announced

A Bible study series on the theme "Winning Men to Christ" will begin tonight at 7:00 p.m. at the second Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. Jasper C. Massege leading the study.

The theme will be followed each Wednesday night this month and until the revival meeting, which begins on April 9. The church plans to enter the simultaneous Crusade at that time in which more than eight thousand Southern Baptist Churches will be engaged in revival meetings. The Crusade this year will include churches west of the Mississippi River.

A similar Crusade is planned for more than twenty thousand Southern Baptist Churches East of the Mississippi to engage in Simultaneous revivals in the spring of 1951.

The Brotherhood of the church will conduct regular visitation each Tuesday night this month as part of the preparation for the soul-winning effort in April. All members of the church and other interested persons are invited to join in the visitation each Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m.

Estimates for water use in the future in all five of the towns was based on needs estimated from current industries and populations and on possible growth and expansion in the future.

"All results from the survey indicate that it is in every way feasible and worthy," Burleigh concluded, "and these towns

At the meeting with Burleigh other engineers from the bureau were Henry Seipt, Leland Weathers and William Koppelman. Various charts and maps compiled by the engineers were displayed to illustrate the points that Burleigh made in his report.

Burleigh explained that so far as they could determine that the dam on the Leon river was the most feasible project in the county. He said that a proposition put up to them by the city of Cisco for enlarging the Lake Cisco water shed would not provide ample water for all of the towns involved and that the once considered Mangum dam was "out of the question."

WINTER TAKES LATE SLAP AT MID-WEST STATES

CHICAGO, March 8 (UP)—The winter's worst storm flung mighty blizzards across the midwest today and raised the greatest dust storm since the 1930's.

From the Canadian border south almost to the Rio Grande, gusts up to 100 miles an hour lashed cities and farms.

The northern snowstorm hurled the Mississippi river and plunged eastward leaving the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota staggering under its sudden blow.

A U. S. weather forecaster at Chicago said the storm would diminish as it pushed toward the Atlantic seaboard.

A towering "duster" ranged eastward across Texas and Oklahoma. It fanned prairie fires and caused damage estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In the parched Texas Panhandle, a newspaper editor said "This might be the worst disaster ever to strike the Texas North Plains."

An earthquake added variety to the weather map. A sharp single shock rocked the San Francisco Bay area last night. Omaha residents flooded police and newspaper switchboards with calls, but there were no reports of damage.

At Minneapolis, a Northwest Airlines two-engine Martin 202 airliner, struck a flagpole in the blizzard and plowed into a house. Ten passengers and three crew members died in the crash. Two small children perished in the flaming wreckage of the home, and a man died of a heart attack.

At Huskerville, a suburb of Lincoln, Neb., the wind was so strong that firemen couldn't open the firehouse door. They answered an alarm in private cars and returned to find the garage wall caved in on the fire trucks.

In the Southern Plains, winds up to 50 miles an hour swept up dry powdery soil and sent it billowing in yellow clouds three miles into the sky. Visibility was cut to one half mile in some sections of Texas.

The Dallas weather bureau said the "duster" would sweep all the way to the Gulf of Mexico, and described it as the worst dust storm since "Dust Bowl" days.

The Panhandle wheat crop was in the balance. Elevator manager H. B. Hankins of Amarillo, Tex., said "We've got to have rain this month or there will be a lot of abandoned acreage."

Dr. Kuykendall expected home this afternoon. It was stated at the West Texas Hospital this morning that Dr. P. M. Kuykendall is expected home from Dallas this afternoon and will resume his practice immediately after he returns.

Dr. Kuykendall had been in a Dallas hospital for a check up after being confined to the West Texas Hospital here. It was stated that doctors in Dallas had pronounced Dr. Kuykendall in fit condition to resume his work.

as he rushed to the scene. The blizzard struck Iowa with such fury that even snowplows were taken off the highways.

Telephone line damage in Nebraska was greater than during the record blizzards of 1949, Northwestern Bell said.

The Dakotas were virtually isolated from the rest of the world. Sixty five students and 15 motorists, marooned in the storm, spent the night in the school gymnasium at Blencoe, Ia.

School bus driver Art Brown of Bronson, Ia., put in at the Woodbury County poor farm with his 25 passengers.

At Sioux City, Ia., an ice encrusted stray team of horses took shelter on J. W. Washburn's front porch. He tried to "shoo" them away but they refused to budge.

Gusts up to 75 miles an hour tore sections of roofs off the Creighton University Medical School and the Union Pacific Railroad building in Omaha, Neb.

Osteopath Exonerated By Jury

Dr. Lloyd Jackson, Madison, South Dakota, osteopath, leaves court with his wife after a jury had exonerated him of charges brought by Albert Koopman, of Ramona, S. D. The suit demanded $60,000 of the osteopath, charging he had seduced Mrs. Koopman as a "cure." (NEA Telephoto)

CONSTRUCTION ON NEW ORPHANAGE STARTS SOON

DALLAS, Tex., March 8 (UP)—Construction of a new $175,000 to $200,000 Baptist orphanage at Round Rock will begin immediately, with completion expected within seven months.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henna of Round Rock offered the money and a 11 acre plot. The executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas announced acceptance of the gift yesterday.

The board said the Hennas offered to erect buildings to care for at least 50 children. Voluntary contributions will be used to operate the new orphanage, as soon as it is completed.

The board also adopted a resolution setting a limit for indebtedness at 25 per cent of current assets for any of the nine Baptist colleges and hospitals in the state. The rule on indebtedness had no fixed limit formerly, but prohibited borrowing more than 10 per cent of the asset value without board approval.

Other actions included: Approval of request by Baptist Hospital in Dallas to increase indebtedness to $500,000 for completion of a campus building program.

Approval of a request by East Texas Baptist College at Marshall to increase indebtedness to $300,000 for completion of a campus building program.

Authorization of an advance of $49,000 to San Antonio Memorial hospital, rounding out its drive for $500,000 and enabling it to accept a $200,000 conditional grant from the Southern Baptist Convention. The $600,000 will finance an expansion program.

Agreement to help the Valley Medical Center at Harlingen reference its loan, stipulating that the yearly allocation to the center will be applied against the loan. It was also understood that A. D. Foreman, Sr., of Abilene, would go to the hospital with an auditor of his choice and that he (Foreman) would have complete authority in financial, administrative and other matters... until these aids have been settled satisfactorily.

Four new members were elected to the executive board. They were Fred Stump of Gainesville, who succeeds the Rev. Hollis E. Bradshaw, of Bowie, succeeding Lloyd Lester of Necona, resigned; Presley Hand of Houston, replacing the late Dr. T. C. Jester of Houston, and M. W. Wellborn of Gladewater, succeeding the late J. J. Crenshaw of Texarkana.

Questionable Tenderloins Seized, Frozen

DALLAS, Tex., March 8 (UP)—More than four tons of horsemeat shipped into three Texas cities as "Canadian beef tenderloins" went into a legal deep freeze today.

Federal authorities began an investigation when they learned that the Kansas City packing house which sold a Dallas broker some of the horsemeat was not under federal inspection. It is illegal to ship meat which has not received federal inspection into another state.

Texas State Health authorities joined the inquiry because the state legislature passed a law last year levying jail sentences and fines on persons selling horsemeat as beef for human consumption.

The Texas legislature passed the "anti-horsemeat" act after Houston children had been victimized in 1948 by unscrupulous wholesalers who peddled horsemeat to school cafeterias.

The horsemeat impounded yesterday was destined for counters in the more prosperous residential sections of Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston.

Invoices showed that the horsemeat, intended to be passed off as filet mignon at $1.25 to $1.50 per pound, wholesaled at 97 cents. Horsemeat, labeled as such, retails at only 15 cents per pound.

Dr. J. W. Bass, Dallas City Health officer, announced that 6,589 pounds of horsemeat had been confiscated at one wholesale house. He said the meat was seized after the wholesale house reported it suspected the meat came from dobbie instead of bossy.

Houston Attorney Will Sears said 1,911 pounds of "beef tenders" had been padlocked, and Dr. W. V. Bradshaw, Fort Worth's City Health Director, disclosed he had impounded more than 3,600 pounds of "suspicious meat."

Family To Join Killingsworth In Dallas Soon. Mrs. J. Floyd Killingsworth stated today that she and her daughter, Karen, expect to join Mr. Killingsworth in Dallas, just as soon as living quarters can be secured.

Mr. Killingsworth is in Dallas taking a course in mortuary science at the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science and expects to be in Dallas until November at which time he will complete the course.

On completion of the course the family will return to continue making their home here and Mr. Killingsworth will resume management of his business interests here.

Two Killed In Truck Accident. RUTTO, Tex., March 8 (UP)—Two youths were killed and a third critically injured last night when the pick up truck in which they were riding plunged 45 feet off a bluff into Brushy Creek one and a half miles south of here.

The dead were identified as Ben Kruger, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kruger, and Otto Schiller, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schiller.

Johnny Brinkmeyer, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brinkmeyer, was admitted to a Taylor hospital where he was under treatment for head and chest injuries. A hospital spokesman described his condition as "very critical."

Livestock Show Entries Coming In. B. S. Dudley Jr., who is general manager of the Jaycees Tri-County Livestock Show to be held in Ranger March 17 and 18, stated today a large number of entries have already been received for the show.

Stress is placed on entries from FFA and 4-H club boys, though adult entries are accepted but do not compete in the cash prize classes.

Dudley stated that competition is expected to be keen in all classes, particularly in the dairy cattle division. He said that about 20 entries have already been received in the dairy heifer class and large numbers of entries have already been filed for the beef cattle, swine and sheep divisions.

The show is held annually at the Jaycees Rodeo grounds with headquarters in the show barn especially constructed for the show. The object in the show has been to encourage FFA and 4-H club boys in their work with the view to improving livestock in the area.

Eastland, Stephens and Palo Pinto Counties participate in the show. Besides the above mentioned divisions, there will be exhibits in goats, Poultry and quarter horses and Palomino horses.

Superintendents for the various divisions are: beef cattle, Bob Galley; dairy cattle, Weldon Cunningham; Sheep and goats, Jack Poyner; poultry, Ted Bott; horses, James Ratliff and swine, Billy Harper.

Judges for the show will be, beef cattle, A. I. Edwards of Burkett; dairy cattle, Charles Bell of Brownwood; Sheep and goats, Grady Richardson of Talpa; poultry, Jim W. Wilkerson of Breckenridge and swine, Edwards.

The sifting committee is composed of R. E. Harrell, H. C. Wilkerson, and J. F. Donley, all of Ranger.

Well... I Dunno, But...

We got plenty of backtalk last night and today about bringin' on that dust storm. But you've got us all wrong. The thing that brought that comment on was the fact that we'd been gettin' stories over the wire all day, tellin' of its comin'. We just have to wish the weather man off on the readers. Every time there's a promise' forecast, he has to back up and say it isn't so, but let it be something like that storm late yesterday and the weather man is always right.

But regardless, we still say that dust storm wasn't as bad as many we've seen right here in Ranger. Still it was had enough to make us glad we hadn't taken down those curtains to be washed and to wonder how long it'll take to get out the sand.

We fail to see the logic of the government buyin' up farm products to boost prices and then givin' right around and givin' the huge stock piles of those products away.

We think we'll get in the dose line. We don't see any need of payin' those boosted prices when we can get it free from the government even if the taint of Socialism choked us.

The devastating fire that swept the Panhandle Tuesday took its first lick at the ranch of Dick Cook, nephew of Mrs. F. P. Brasher of Ranger. Thousands of acres of valuable grass were destroyed in the blaze before it was brought under control.

Our new publishers are certainly optimistic men. Right in the middle of the worst dust storm we've had in years, the railroad notifies us this morning that a new fishin' boat has arrived. When they asked us what to do with it, we suggested that it might be launched in the current high-wind-dust-storm.

Current indications are that there would be nothing else in which to launch that boat.

We had just finished the "Write-off" story for Mrs. Margaret Wilma Nash this morning and hung it on the hook when into our office came Chief Pounds and Bill Duncan. The chief handed us a letter addressed to "Policeman Jimmie Daniel, Mrs. Margaret Nash, Ranger, Texas". The policeman can't make heads nor tails of it, and neither can we. We apparently the writer, a woman, has something on her mind she wants to confess. We're gonna try readin' every other line or something like that and see if there's some hidden information in the nine page letter.

If we make anything of it, we'll let you know. Op, yes, the letter starts out with the query as to whether any reward was ever offered for the murderer of Policeman Jimmie Daniels.

SAYS NASH CASE CLOSED SO FAR AS COUNTY GOES

District Attorney Elso Been, stated today that so far as Eastland County is concerned, the case of Mrs. Margaret Wilma Nash, self-confessed murderer of Jimmie Daniels of Ranger, is closed.

Been stated that the grand jury did not take any action in the case and that he had wired the Chief of Police in Los Angeles, California to that effect. He said that he had received no further word from California authorities and the presumably the woman has been set free. She was being held in Los Angeles pending action of the grand jury.

The district attorney stated that the grand jury held that they could not secure a conviction of the woman on her own testimony alone and that since corroborating testimony was missing, they felt that they could take no action.

The case came to light on Feb. 12 when Mrs. Nash walked into a Los Angeles police station and stated that she wished to confess to the murder of Policeman Daniels in Ranger on February 8, 1925. Officers there heard her story and then contacted Chief W. G. Pounds in Ranger to learn if such an unsolved murder had taken place.

Through several days of questioning, Mrs. Nash stuck determinedly to her story and even repeated it to a brother of the slain man, Frank Daniels of California who said that the woman's story could "possibly" be true.

Chief W. G. Pounds stated that after conferring with the district attorney on the grand jury's action that he had left the matter of notifying the California authorities up to Been.

Spotters will feed their reports to seven "filter" stations, (four shown) these coordinate reports and pass them on to the Air Force. Key raid warning centers will be manned "24 hours a day, seven days a week indefinitely." After organization is completed, personnel trained and practice exercises held, the aircraft spotting system will go on "standby" basis. The systems will be adjunct of a radar warning network now partially developed.

FINGERPRINTS

Don't Lie

By Rupert Hughes
Copyright 1950 by Rupert Hughes
Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THIS STORY: Asalea Palmer's father, Wendell Palmer, has been found dead in his library, his skull battered by a desk telephone. Police arrest her niece, a young sculptor, Paul Moody, whose ownership of Asalea had been opposed by Palmer. Paul's fingerprints were found on the base of the phone used as a murder weapon. Asalea asks private detective Martin Queripel to clear Paul. Queripel, who doubts Paul's innocence from what he has read of the case, reluctantly agrees in the face of her beautiful niece, but tells her he will not protect Paul if the evidence proves him guilty. He asks Asalea to tell everything she knows about the case and Asalea has just told him how her father prevented Paul from getting an important art assignment that would have won fame for the young sculptor.

MARTIN QUERIPHEL spoke: "Don't you see, Miss Palmer, the fact that your father prevented Paul Moody from obtaining that commission gave the young fellow a motive?" Asalea Palmer shook her head. "My poor father wasn't himself," she said. "Something was worrying him, horribly. I never knew what it was, but I couldn't move him. I cried and cried, but he said: 'Moody won't get you and you'll get over it. Someday you'll thank me for this.'"

Her eyes went up till the fringes were hidden by the upper lids and she looked statue-bland in torment. She clenched her eyes in misery, then fastened them on Queripel, who was fast becoming her helpless slave. She spoke: "The committee awarded the commission to another man, and Paul's wonderful dream was damned to oblivion." Now Queripel thought he saw a light—the fierce white light that comes from the cold hard truth. He muttered bitterly: "Your father ought to have been—it's hardly strange that his money he didn't have and wasn't going to get, maybe for years. "Of course, I said I would be willing to live in hell with him. Can you imagine him going right from there and making our marriage and his future impossible by killing my father?" Queripel began to see a certain keen logic in her woman's way of judging facts. He began to weaken in his confidence even in fingerprints. He said: "We'll assume then that Paul didn't kill your father. But somebody did. Is there anybody else you suspect?"

Asalea won his profound and surprised reverence by saying: "Since I'm despising what the law calls evidence against Paul, it wouldn't be very nice of me to cast suspicions on anybody else, would it, without any evidence at all?" "My father had many enemies. He built his fortune by fighting and fighting hard. After my mother died, he grew more reckless still. But, of course, I knew very little of that."

QUERIPHEL brought the current back to the latest scene: "And it was at the tennis club pool that you saw Paul for the last time?" He was calling the man by his first name now, since he was so dear to this dear girl. She nodded: "Paul and I were the only ones at the pool. Everybody else was playing tennis or watching the games. Suddenly Paul left me sitting there. I waited for him. He came out in his street clothes, and knelt by me and told me that he was going to tell my father what he thought of him. He wouldn't let me go with him. But he said he'd marry me as soon as I was ready. We could drive up to Santa Barbara and get married that afternoon."

"I said that would be perfect. Then we heard the splash of a diver, and saw that we were not alone. It was only Nadine Fennell, but Paul kissed me and dashed away. And that was the last I ever saw of him—the last time but once that I have heard his voice." (To Be Continued)

"TWINKLE, TWINKLE, LITTLE STAR . . ."—Some folk thought it was a miracle when a star-shaped object hovered above the steeple of this new church in Memphis, Tenn., during opening services. But freckled, six-year-old Billy Strong (inset) had the explanation. He was flying his home-made kite near the church when a gust of wind broke the string and sailed it over the church where its lines were entangled in telephone wires.

UNDIES ARE OUTIES—Hollywood designer Doris Cagan is not convinced that bras, corsets, girdles and similar restraints must be worn as undergarments. Doris camouflages her undies to look like outer clothes, and one of the resulting "glamor-tops" she models above.

HOW THE NAVY'S "BREAKAWAY" COCKPIT WORKS—These sketches show the working of a new "breakaway" cockpit unit, designed by the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics to allow pilots of high-altitude super-sonic planes to escape in emergencies by means of a parachute-borne "pod." The pressurized pod (1) is ejected from the plane's main body; a small, "drogue" parachute is released (2), the drogue chute operates mechanism which releases the main chute (3), which then billows out (4) to drop the pod gently to earth or water (5). In water landing, the pilot releases his chute and drops a battery into water for stabilization.

the National Broadcasting Company, the American Broadcasting Company and Dumont Television Network, and also may add two more network programs later. The Morning News announced it had purchased KBTU last January after obtaining an option in December. GIVE-AWAY PROGRAM RUNNING INTO MILLIONS

By VINCENT J. BURKE

United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, March 8 (UP)—The government's expanding food give-away program has become a multi-million dollar operation.

The agriculture department said today that up to now it has arranged to give away for distribution to needy Americans in 47 states surplus foods which cost it more than $3,000,000 under price support programs.

The foods given away so far are:

- Dried eggs — 1,173,200 pounds (equivalent of 43,000,000 shell eggs) which cost the government about $1,600,000.
- Dried milk — 2,747,960 pounds equivalent of 11,000,000 quarts of skim milk, when reconstituted with water. This cost the government about $340,000.
- Potatoes — 34,894,650 pounds, which cost about $1,300,000.

The potato give-away can't be measured in dollars and cents, since the spuds might have been "dumped" if they weren't given away. Furthermore, the government wouldn't expect to get back

He said the call letters later would be changed to WFFA-TV. "We will be integrating the two operations, radio and television, and making permanent changes and improvements in the technical equipment and augmenting the present staff of KBTU with personnel from WFFA in the immediate future," Campbell announced. KBTU now operates with a radiated power of 27,100-watt video (picture) and 13,500-watt audio (sound). Publisher E. M. (Ted) Dealey said the Morning News was "in the field of mass communications and we've got to keep abreast of the times."

"We have a newspaper, radio FM and AM, and now television," Dealey said. "Television has a tremendous future. It's coming awfully fast."

It's Cold Outside
VICKSBURG, Mich. (UP)—A movement has been started by Vicksburg High School students to change the name of their basketball team from "Bulldogs" to "Polar Bears." Students say "Polar Bears" is more appropriate because the cagers have no gym and must practice outdoors on tennis courts.

Roquefort cheese has been manufactured in southeastern France for at least two centuries.

The food is free at storage points to public and private welfare agencies, including the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the national school lunch program. These agencies must pay transportation charges.

The states and their orders, which already have been delivered or will be shipped this week included:

- Arkansas — 22,400 pounds of eggs; 684,000 pounds of potatoes; 40,000 pounds of milk.
- Colorado — 866,400 pounds of potatoes.
- Iowa — 2,340 pounds of eggs; 809,300 pounds of potatoes; 3,150 pounds of milk.
- Kansas — 90,000 pounds of potatoes.
- Louisiana — 288,000 pounds of potatoes.
- Missouri — 35,000 pounds of eggs; 1,026,000 pounds of potatoes; 60,000 pounds of milk.
- New Mexico — 53,000 pounds of eggs; 324,000 pounds of potatoes; 78,750 pounds of milk.
- Texas — 13,384 pounds of eggs; 1,728,500 pounds of potatoes; 65,960 pounds of milk.
