81st YEAR

RANGER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1950

PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 254

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

A football fan from away back complained today that the name of Roy Wilson was omitted from the football story appearing in the Times Tuesday.

Seems this Wilson was also something of a star and served as captain of the team in 1925. He played end and files of the papers at that time gave him much credit. He played four years with the Bulldogs then known as the Ramblers.

Saturday marks the beginning of the 1950 United States census and the population might just as well get set to tell the "takers" their life's history. For when Uncle Sam counts noses he means business and the type of nose doesn't make any difference. Black or white, snubbed or crooked, it's all the same. The long link boy intends to find out how many people he's gotta feed for the next ten years.

Then after the census is completed, the statisticians will start to work and there'll be a flood of conclusions drawn from what the "takers" have found out. No sir, there just won't be nothin' left to tell after the census is over.

Girl Saves Four Children In Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 30 (UP)—A 13-year-old baby sitter saved her four young charges from fire last night but cried because she couldn't save their home.

Norma Lee Cook was sitting with the children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tate in their four-room frame home. As she read to Anna Paulette, 6, and Paul, Jr., 1, 3-year-old Loretta napped. Leland Ray, 4, was playing in a bedroom closet with matches.

"Suddenly he came running in and said the house was on fire," Norma Lee told police and firemen. "I didn't pay much attention. Then he grabbed me and said it again."

She tried to beat out the flames with a wet towel, then scooped up Loretta and Paul, Jr., and carried them from the house. She got Leland Ray and Anna Paulette out in a second trip. Meanwhile, neighbors who'd heard the girl's screams called firemen, but the house was enveloped when firemen arrived. Loss was estimated at $2,000.

Norma Lee wept, "I got them all out but they don't have any clothes or furniture left. I can't face their mother and father. I did all I could do."

The father indicated it was more than enough. "Of course we lost everything," he said, "but I'm thankful the children were all saved."

Rotarians Have Forum On FDIC

A forum on the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation was conducted Wednesday at the Rotary Club meeting with W. F. Creager presiding.

In response to questions from club members Creager explained the operations of the corporation and the protection it provides depositors in banks that subscribe to the plan. He pointed out that a bill is pending to increase from $5,000 to $10,000 the amount of a deposit covered under the insurance plan.

G. B. Rush presided at the meeting and introduced visiting Rotarians who were Bill Brown and Frank Sayer of Eastland and Dick Morehead of Michigan. Jack Williams of Ranger was the guest of J. D. Nichols at the luncheon which was held at noon at the Gholson Coffee Shop dining room.

Ranger Woman's Mother Dies

Homer Robinson left today for Carlsbad, New Mexico where he was called by the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Hellyer.

Mrs. Hellyer died in Carlsbad last night. Mrs. Robinson was with her at the time of her death.

Farmer's Future Brightens As Contributions Come In

LOCKHART, Tex., March 30 (UP)—The future brightened for an aged and illiterate farmer today as sympathetic Texans showed strong disapproval of a legal "pitfall" which deprived him of his life savings.

William Hagedorn was forced to give up his entire bank account of $2,632.20 to pay damages for a legal "pitfall" which deprived him of his life savings.

The Texas supreme court ruled that he had to pay the money to W. C. Alexander, 49-year-old Austin barber soap operator because he failed to appear in court to prove that he didn't own the mule.

Alexander, a world war II veteran, did not consider himself the villain of the piece. He said he would not return the money to Hagedorn, but would use it to make back payments on a house.

William Yelderman, Alexander's attorney, said the house payments lapsed following the accident when Alexander and his wife used their funds "for doctors and hospital expenses."

The Dallas Morning News last week assigned staff writer Allen Duckworth to write a series of dispatches on the Hagedorn case as a warning to the public of the pitfalls of the law.

Duckworth's six articles showed that Hagedorn originally appeared in court, but the hearing was postponed. The farmer asked a court clerk to inform him when to return, but he was never advised.

District Judge J. R. Fuchs awarded the default judgment to the Alexanders when Hagedorn failed to appear. Later he set it aside on sworn testimony of other that the mule did not belong to Hagedorn, but to his son. The state supreme court upheld Fuchs' original ruling on the technicality that Hagedorn admitted ownership by not denying it in court.

Duckworth's articles did not ask for money, because his newspaper has never favored such enterprises. However, for the past three days, small contributions to the Hagedorns have been mailed.

Borger To Hire Juvenile Officer

BORGER, Tex., March 30 (UP)—Borger parents, moved by reports that a "teen-agers club" engaged in sex orgies, held a mass meeting last night and voted to support the hiring of a county juvenile officer.

No direct reference was made to a "non-virgin club," members of which reportedly were required to engage in sexual intercourse at least once a week.

However, a committee of parents was named to take the lead in arranging for employ of a juvenile officer. The committee was expected to appear before the Hutchinson County Commissioner's Court.

The county grand jury was reported weighing reports that at least two dozen "teen-agers" belonged to the non-virgin club. District attorney Robert Galloway declined to discuss the grand jury's work.

The original makers of the Mason-Dixon line were of oolite limestone, made in England.

Houston Selected Home Office Of Insurance Co.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 30 (UP)—Houston has been selected as the Southwestern home office of the Prudential Insurance Company of America and a 13 or 14-story, $6,000,000 building will be constructed to serve a seven-state area, it was announced today.

The announcement was made at a news conference by Prudential President Carroll M. Shanks.

He said a modern, 13 or 14-story building will be built on a site purchased in the medical center-Shamrock Hotel area, and construction work is scheduled to begin next fall.

The Southwestern home office here, Shanks said, will conduct Prudential operations in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Kansas and Missouri. Shanks said the his company, the second largest insurance firm in the Nation, has some 1,350,000 policy holders in the seven-state area.

Tentative construction plans, he said, call for full occupancy of the building by Oct. 1, 1951.

The Prudential president announced that Charles Fleetwood, now Prudential vice-president in charge of mortgage loans at the company's Newark, N. J. headquarters, will head the Houston office.

Shanks said that the Houston office will employ 1,000 persons. The Houston Prudential building will be located, Shanks reported, on a site purchased from J. F. Grant, Houston lumberman.

The Prudential president said that his company's assets at the close of 1949 totaled $8,325,000,000 (B) an increase of 479,000,000 (M) during the year.

Offers Property As Bond For Dr. Rutledge

SIoux CITY, Ia., March 30 (UP)—A wealthy widow offered her property as bond for Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, 28, of St. Louis, but there was no confirmation by the physician's attorney whether the $40,000 bond actually will be posted.

District clerk ruled yesterday that the property of Mrs. Laura Rodgers, Sioux City, was sufficient to cover the appeal bond.

Rutledge, a pediatrician, was sentenced last May to 70 years in Iowa's Fort Madison prison on a second degree murder conviction in the knife-slaying of his wife's alleged seducer, Bryon C. Hattman.

He is entitled to freedom under $40,000 bond pending his appeal to the Iowa Supreme Court. Under Iowa law, if cash is not supplied property worth twice as much is acceptable for bond.

At Cedar Rapids, R. S. Milner Rutledge's chief attorney, refused to confirm whether or not arrangements were being made to post the bond.

The certification of Mrs. Rodgers' property will be forwarded to the Linn County District court at Cedar Rapids, scene of the Rutledge trial.

Warmer Weather Due Today

Fair and slightly warmer weather was in store for Texas today and tomorrow following a mild cold wave that dropped temperatures to the freezing point in several spots.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Dallas reported an overnight low temperature of 23 degrees at Dalhart with Amarillo, Sherman, and Clarendon all reporting freezing temperatures.

Tonight's lowest temperatures are expected to be near freezing in the Panhandle area, a few degrees warmer than those reported last night.

High clouds blanketed all of West Texas at mid-morning but the Weather Bureau said no rain was in sight, at least for the next 48 hours. South Texas was clear and elsewhere it was partly cloudy.

The highest temperature yesterday was 90 degrees reported at Presidio. Texarkana and Dalhart were the coolest spots with a high of 54 degrees. The overnight high was reported at Brownsville, 65 degrees.

Mid-morning temperatures included Beaumont 54, Houston 57, Galveston 61, Brownsville 72, Lufkin 51, Waco 50, Alice 64, El Paso 55, Salt Flat 47, Wink 55, Midland 49, Mineral Wells 50, Amarillo 41, and Lubbock 47.

Police Called To Order TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—Even the police can't park overtime here. Chief J. L. Eddings has ordered the tagging and usual $1 fine for policemen who don't practice what they preach. The chief's order followed complaints from merchants.

LEADERS PROPOSE BOOST IN DEFENSE SPENDING

Water Board Election To Be Held Tuesday

Members of the board of directors of the Eastland County Water Supply District have called an election for Tuesday to name three directors to the board.

The names of Dr. P. M. Kuykendall and C. B. Pruet have been put up for re-election and the name of Morris Newnam has been filed as a candidate.

Voters will be permitted to write names but any person named to the board must be a property owner within the city limits of Ranger and whose property has been rendered for taxation.

Those eligible to vote in the election are those residents within the city limits of Ranger who own property and have rendered that property for taxation. They must be qualified voters, either through possession of a poll tax receipt or through possession of an exemption on poll taxes.

Other members of the present board are F. P. Brasher, E. H. Mills, Dr. Bob Hodges, J. J. Kelly and L. R. Pearson. Pearson was named to the board to fill the vacancy created at the death of Edwin George.

Flying Saucers Take New Turn

AUSTIN, Tex., March 30 (UP)—Flying saucers took a new turn today when three witnesses described a "sky-bum" object that looked "like a silver pancake."

Three men reported sighting a "kind of flat silver object suspended in the air" late yesterday over the outlying section of 34th Street and Lamar.

They were Sam Roper, design engineer for the State Highway Department; Gene Ravel, president of the Austin Junior Chamber of Commerce, and John Marsh Ling, representative of a Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing concern.

All three were together in an automobile. Roper reported seeing the object first. Ling, who was driving, described the object as a "great big silver pancake, absolutely round."

The United States Weather Bureau station and authorities at Bergstrom Air Force Base said they had no explanation of the incident. Police said they had no other reports. The Air Force has repeatedly denied the existence of flying saucers.

V. F. W. To Meet Friday Night

It was announced today that free food and refreshments will be served at the meeting of the Ralph L. McKinley Post 5878, Friday night, March 31st, at 8 o'clock.

All members and overseas veterans are urged to attend.

A motor trip from Algiers to Cape Town would cover 9,000 miles.

Latin-American Held In Death Of Policeman

LAMESA, Tex., March 30 (UP)—A young Latin-American was guarded in Lubbock county jail today after he signed a statement admitting he bludgeoned to death a Lamesa policeman "without reason."

Victor F. (Jack) Rogers surrendered to police early Wednesday morning, two hours after the battered body of patrolman Claude W. Johnson was found sprawled in front of a department store on the Lamesa city square.

Rogers, in a signed statement, said he did not "know why I did it."

County attorney Vernon Adcock thought otherwise.

"I think Johnson surprised him trying to burglarize a store," Adcock said.

Dr. Hugh H. Zee, who examined Johnson's body at the Lamesa hospital, described the assault as "the most brutal beating I ever saw."

Johnson, 44, died of multiple skull fractures before he could be taken into surgery.

Rogers was jailed for safekeeping on a murder with malice charge. He was denied bond.

Rogers' signed statement said that he saw the patrolman and a stranger fighting in front of a specialty shop about 2:45 A. M. for an unknown reason, he said, he left his automobile, grabbed Johnson's gun and struck him repeatedly on the head.

Leonard Farmer, a baker who was preparing to go to work on the other side of the square, could see the men fighting in the dim light. He said policeman Bee Blackstock arrived just after a man slipped into the darkness.

Rogers was arrested at the home of his parents after officers found clothing taken in a burglary in his car.

The lock on the specialty store also had been jammed.

"I think that Johnson surprised him trying to pull another burglary," Adcock said.

Miracle Saves Truck Driver

BROWNWOOD, Tex., March 30 (UP)—"It was a miracle," truck driver B. M. Tension said today as he told friends how he absorbed a 12,500-volt shock without even being singed.

Tension, 23, was crushing rocks just outside Brownwood when mechanical failure caused the dragline he was operating to strike an overhead power line.

"Fire and sparks flew everywhere," Tension said. "I wasn't scared until later—after I got off. I guess I was pretty darned lucky, too."

Codd R. White, an official of the Texas Power & Light Co., was amazed, too.

"I don't know what saved him from electrocution if it wasn't a miracle," he said. "A miracle, and the fact that the accident kicked out a circuit breaker in the power plant."

Brownwood was blacked out for 15 minutes after the "miracle" happened.

Hunting accidents claimed the lives of 28 Oklahomans during 1949. There were 65 hunting accidents, with 22 caliber rifles most often responsible.

WRITER TAKES A LOOK AT OKLAHOMA DUST BOWL

(Editor's note: Deserts are on the march again in the southwest. In one county of Oklahoma 60,000 acres of once-productive farm land lie barren and forlorn at the mercy of the winds. The United Press sent Carter Bradley, manager of its Oklahoma City Bureau into the "potential dust bowl" for a closeup view. In talking with dozens of persons he learned why the dust is blowing and what can be done to stop it. He is writing three accounts from the scene. The first describing the extent of damage and attitudes of farmers in the area, follows.)

By CARTER BRADLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
ANADARKO, Okla., March 30 (UP)—An elderly farmer squinted grimly into a biting, blinding sandstorm which pushed dunes of fine, pink topsoil across his once-fertile farm.

Only a few hundred yards from Lane's devastated farm are growing crops, lush and green in amazing contrast.

That land has been handled by modern soil conservation methods different from practices of the 82-year-old Lane, who has worked the same land since 1907.

Lane knows that dry weather isn't the basic cause of his trouble. "I was just unlucky," he told me. "We didn't get anything planted as a cover crop before the last good rain. My land is naked. It doesn't have any protection from the wind."

Local dust storms rise over a 60,000 square mile area in Caddo county, Oklahoma, every day or so. The gritty clouds have spread across the entire southwest and midwest a few times but they form more frequently here.

The dunes of drifting topsoil encroach on Lane's farmyard, piling around his outbuildings like snowbanks. In some places the dunes are drifting from eroded land onto growing crops of adjoining farms.

Roads in the area choked with the powder-like soil. Many are impassable. School bus drivers go several miles out of their way to avoid dust-clogged roads. Mailmen also detour and casual tourists—like news reporters—get stuck in the Sahara-like landscape when they drive section lines without caution.

(At least my automobile was stuck and a friendly farmer with a tractor pulled it out.)

Farm women have despaired of growing their usual vegetables. Housework—if they want to keep the place clean—requires twice as much effort as usual. Hanging out a laundry is risky but the women hurriedly wash their clothes

Nash Appoints Ad Manager

DETROIT, March 29 — Appointment by Nash Motors of an advertising manager and sales promotion manager is announced by N. F. Lawler, director of advertising and sales promotion.

Paul Jackson, another oldtimer, who lives nearby, experienced years of poverty and crop failure in the 30's.

"We ate blackeyed peas and cornbread for years and I'm not forgetting it," said Jackson.

Jackson now tills 750 acres with an impressive assortment of modern equipment. He has 125 acres of wheat "off to a good start" despite green bugs which have damaged this crop on neighboring fields. He also has 800 acres of pasture for 122 head of livestock, 85 acres of oats and smaller truck garden projects.

Nine Mental Patients Die In Hospital Fire

PHILADELPHIA, March 30 (UP)—Nine men mental patients—five of them chained to concrete slabs — died in a fire early today in a private sanitarium.

Heroic attendants freed many violent mental patients, leading them to safety where they were tied up with blankets to prevent them from attacking firemen fighting the blaze.

All the dead suffocated. But firemen said the five violent patients who died chained in their cells had battered themselves against the concrete walls in terror until their bodies were cut and bruised.

About 30 other persons were overcome or made ill by smoke in the fire. Two of them, Willis Segaland George Gilchrist, were reported in critical condition at Montgomery hospital in Morristown, Pa.

The blaze was confined to the basement of an L-shaped annex of the Bella Vista Mental Sanitarium in the exclusive suburban Chestnut Hill residential section. However, the two upper floors of the annex in which 84 patients were housed were damaged by smoke and water.

The fire was discovered by a nurse shortly before 11 o'clock last night and was brought under

NEWS FROM Desdemona

DESDEMONA, March 30 (Spl.)—Farmers in this community are anxiously waiting for a rain. The high winds are rapidly drying out the ground and planting will be late if rain doesn't come soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Moore had as their guests last week end, both their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Irwin of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Branham of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hammond of Fort Worth visited over the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Read and Mr. and Mrs. L. Hammonds.

Mrs. R. H. Abel and Mrs. Katy May made a business trip to Abilene Friday.

Mrs. J. N. Abernathy and Mrs. Tony Ash visited their sister, Mrs. Alton Underwood and children of Chaney Sunday.

control by 12:30 A. M. Fire firemen to reach the scene had to cut through wire mesh barriers to get through windows to help attendants with the hysterical patients.

Most of those killed were in the barricaded men's violent ward on the first floor of the building.

The screaming patients fought with their rescuers, flailing their arms violently when released from restraining straps. "Some of them even tried to run toward the heart of the fire," an attendant said. "We had a terrible time with them."

Firemen brought women patients down ladders from the second floor. Many of them were in nightgowns, others were nude.

INITIATION into the Ku Klux Klan, complete with hooded, white-robed figures, fiery cross and American flag, makes this striking scene, taken near Atlanta in the early Twenties. The fearsome, night-riding Klan was born in the South following the Civil War, first as a social organization, then as a terroristic force devoted to "white supremacy." It was reborn in 1915 under a fiery cross on Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, as a body of "100 per cent Americans, white and Protestant, aimed at purifying the social and political life of this country." Nurtured on hate, the Klan grew to power in national politics, even elected governors. From a claimed membership of 9,000,000 members in 1925, it has alternately withered and bloomed, but never died.

FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie By Rupert Hughes

FROM one of the first floor windows, Martin Queripel looked out into the great gardens of the late Wendell Palmer. He stretched his neck and peered around. A long, high wall surrounded the acres of a small orchard of avocados, figs, almonds and flowering shrubs. "This place was made for burglary," he told Police Detective James Stivers. "With all these trees and shrubs crowding right up to the walls there's perfect concealment. It's not even sporting enough for a self-respecting second-story man to try."

They moved about cautiously. There was a table near the window and on its varnished surface their keen eyes found vague traces of touch. A little powder, a little brushwork, and there was the whole flat a big right hand, a perfect palmprint, the whole length of the fingers with the tips under light pressure. While Stivers was getting his camera ready to photograph it and his tapes ready for lifting and his labels for writing, Queripel drifted through the other room, the scene of the murder, hunting for what he might find. Queripel was not looking for anything in particular, but he needed something more than he had in order to prove his theory that Pete Kelso had murdered Wendell Palmer. And as usual, he found what he was looking for.

Baytown Plant Goes On Strike

BAYTOWN, Tex., March 30 (UP)—Employees at the Baytown Plant of the General Tire and Rubber Co. went on strike today and established picket lines at the plant's two entrances. The strike, affecting almost 500 employees, was called by the Tricities Trade and Labor Council, which holds bargaining power for the employees. The union, a spokesman said, seeks full advantages of a five-day week. Employees have been operating on a four-day week since March 14, when their contract expired. Employees were called off their jobs at 1:30 A. M. Some 10 pickets patrolled the plant's main entrance, and six pickets were established at a railroad entrance. Neither union or company officials would comment immediately.

Bethany was charged in Federal Court at Fort Worth with "raising Post Office Money Orders." FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie By Rupert Hughes

MARTIN QUERIPHEL saw the man who had entered the house stop short and turn as if called. But Detective Stivers was not calling to the fellow. Stivers was speaking to himself, thinking that Queripel was nearby and his cry was one of discovery. "Kelso, I've got you now!" he sang out again. Queripel did not move. He did not know Detective Pete Kelso by sight, and he wondered if this intruder might not be he. As Stivers spoke a second time, the fellow had whirled as if summoned by name, but now he stood puzzled and alarmed. Stivers' voice came again: "Steal my fingerprints, will you, Kelso? Well, just try it again!" Now Queripel was sure the visitor was Kelso himself, for the man advanced swiftly but silently to the doorway and peered intently at Stivers who was bent over his table examining the prints he had found. The intruder did not suspect the existence of Queripel, who could have reached out and touched him. But Martin Queripel preferred to watch from his concealment in the heavy folds of the portieres. For a moment, Kelso—if it were Kelso—plainly hesitated whether to retreat or to advance. Queripel could hear his heavy, hesitant breathing. Then as Stivers laughed again and gloated over his fingerprint specimens, Queripel saw the man reach slowly into his pocket, draw a revolver and level it at Stivers' back. Before Queripel could get out his own pistol, the man changed his mind, shifted his gun in his hand and grasped it by the barrel with the manifest intention of bashing in Stivers' skull. Queripel, much smaller and the situation might have stamped a quicker wit than his. He just lay still and took in what Queripel had to say.

"We have no warrant for your arrest, Kelso; but we're going to hold you here for trespassing until Stivers calls your brother police to take you home. Stivers, you'll have to call the station from the hall. I'll see that Kelso doesn't fight you for the phone and beat you to death with the base of it—as he did when he called on poor Wendell Palmer and the old man not only refused to be blackmailed by Kelso's woman and her keeper, but rashly reeled for the telephone to expose Kelso's threats."

Queripel had a purpose of his own in saying all this to Kelso. It was a sort of try-out of his theory on the one person living who would know how accurate was Queripel's reconstruction of the crime.

SO he dumped his whole story into Kelso's upturned face as with a shovel, and saw Kelso wince, clench his eyes, cover them with his forearms and writhe in agony like a scotched snake. It was as good as a written confession of guilt, with the added terror of wondering how Queripel could have learned the truth.

Next, Stivers leaned over him and told him just how and when he had stolen his own fingerprints and substituted Paul Moody's. He added:

"And a lot of good it did you! You ought to have known that the fingerprints on the telephone felt would not have been at all like the fingerprints on Paul Moody's staturary. Any fool could have seen that!"

In his excitement Stivers neglected to give Queripel credit for opening his own eyes to the difference. But Queripel was never one to fight for credit. He was feeling almost sorry for Kelso, who was unhappy for such a multitude of good reasons for being unhappy.

Even the deep velvety surface of the rug on which his body rested seemed as hard as a slab in the morgue, and as public. (To Be Continued)

SWINE, LONG SOURCE OF FOOD, PROVIDES MEDICINE

(Editor's Note: Following is the final dispatch of a series of four in which the latest research and clinical experiments with ACTH and Cortisone have been summarized.)

By Paul F. Ellis
Unit Press Science Editor
NEW YORK, March 30 (UP)—The swine has been a source of food for man through the centuries, and now that animal is supplying medicine.

The medicine, a hormone, known as ACTH, which medical scientists are finding equally as effective as another hormone, Cortisone, in treating some diseases heretofore classed as incurable. ACTH is produced from the pituitary gland of the swine, and like Cortisone it is precious and expensive. Current prices of ACTH are $200 a gram, or about $5,000 an ounce.

The hormone ACTH may be the world's most expensive and most valuable by-product. It has been produced by Armour & Co., from slaughtered hogs and because of the Armour research facilities other packing companies have been shipping their supply of pituitaries to Armour. Recently, Wilson & Co., another large packer announced it was in the business, too, of making ACTH.

The scientists working with ACTH are hopeful a synthetic material may eventually be made, but they are not as far on the road to total synthesis as those working with Cortisone. In the first place, ACTH has not been isolated in absolute pure form and the scientists are not sure of the characteristics of the ACTH molecule.

Preliminary studies with ACTH have shown that the hormone stimulates generally the adrenal glands into producing Cortisone and other hormones that are necessary for health in the human being. As in the case of Cortisone, the hormone causes some bad reactions in patients but the reactions disappear promptly when the injection of the substance is stopped. Many ACTH researchers are convinced that the undesirable reactions have been the result of overdosage. To put it in the words of John R. Mote, medical director of Armour's research: "It's a physiologic response to overdosage."

The scientists are not convinced that swine pituitaries are the only major source of the hormone. They are working with other animals and have found that sheep pituitaries also produce the hormone, but sheep are not as plentiful as swine.

REIGNING BAT BOY—Team mascot Queenie gets off to an early lead in Phoenix, Ariz., training camp of the Giants, assuming complete charge of bats, gloves and catching paraphernalia. The bat boy undoubtedly will be in control when the team hits the New York Fola Grounds, but over the protests of the checker spaniel.

As of now, the Armour Company has set up four grades of purity in the distribution of ACTH. The researchers trying for a synthetic ACTH get first call, and second is clinical research. The third priority goes to additional clinical research, and No. 4 is the general public. Only those in the first two categories are now receiving ACTH.

The scientists point out that both ACTH and Cortisone are still in the experimental stage and neither has been approved by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. Such a step would be necessary before any general distribution of either hormone is made.

Demands for ACTH equal those for Cortisone, and some scientists believe that there are advantages in the fact that the hormones are scarce. One, it permits the research scientists an opportunity to work with the substances purely on an experimental basis; and two, it will give scientists a chance to determine proper dosages and just what diseases the hormones will attack effectively.

The scientists are on the frontier of a new land. They want to proceed cautiously.

Production of broomcorn, which increased sharply in 1944 when metals for carpet sweepers and vacuum cleaners were scarce, has resumed its pre-war level. Oklahoma and Colorado are the principal broomcorn-growing states.

News From GORMAN

By Buena Van Winkle
GORMAN, March 30 (sp.)—Parker Brothers, et al, No. 1 Mrs. Pittman being drilled one and one-half miles south and west of Rucker had drilled 165 feet Tuesday morning and were setting surface pipe. Parker Brothers is composed of Alvin and Roy Parker.

Loell Boys Scout troop 38 will be hosts to the Camporal for the east District to be held at Memorial Park at Gorman Saturday and Sunday, April 1st and 2nd.

Gene Ellison and family visited the Jimmie Ellisons over the week end.

Edward Davis and family of San Antonio were week end visitors in the E. H. (Uncle Ed) Jones home.

L. A. Shugart and wife were in Turkey, Texas the first of this week visiting their baby son, Beebe who has one of the Shugart Studio units on tour in Turkey.

E. D. David has been confined to his bed with the flu but was able to be up as we got press.

R. B. Brummett and family had lunch Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Drago.

Friends of the B. B. Brummetts gave them a farewell party at the Methodist Annex Monday evening. The Brummetts are leaving for their new post as rural carrier out of Denton.

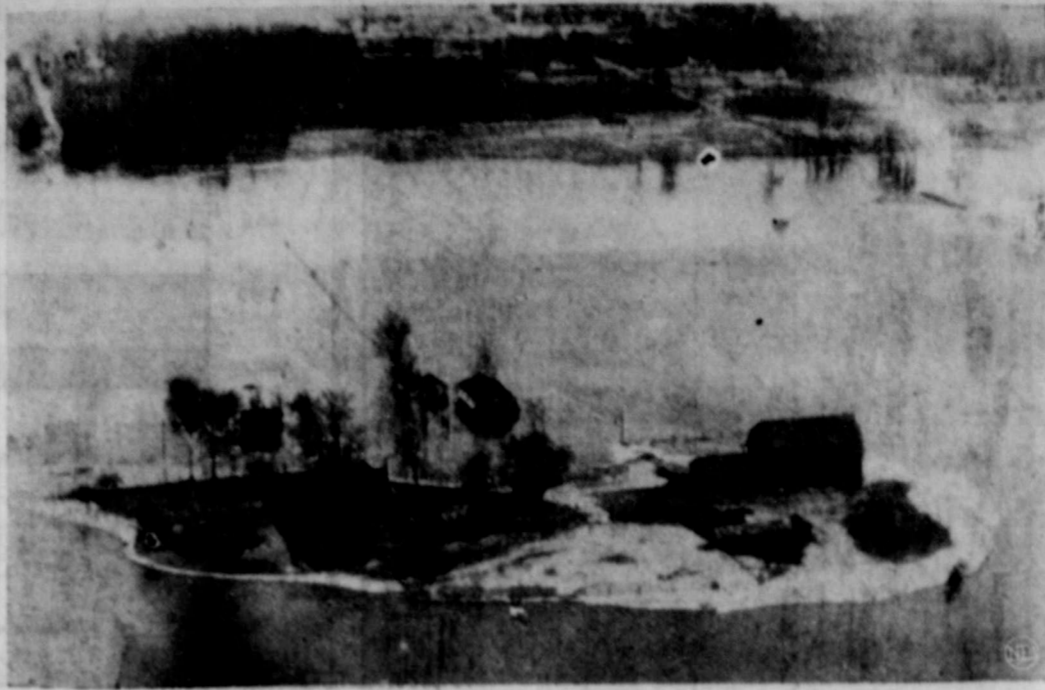

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Burdette have already come to Gorman and are established in Mrs. O. T. Shell's home. Mr. Burdette has exchanged places with Mrs. Brummett. Mr. Burdette will be carrier on Route 3 out of Gorman.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomason, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomason and daughter, Carol, all of Harlingen were here from Thursday until Saturday afternoon attending the bedside of their father, R. L. Thomason.

Jack Bennett, Billie C. Pittman, and G. E. Norris were in Fort Worth Monday attending the General Electric Appliance Show at Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium. Dealers for Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma attended non-immigrant visas. Later, however, Mexico began charging tourists $2.10 and assessing business enterprise $41. The U. S. followed by charging $2 per visa, but made no distinction between tourists and visitors on business.

Floods Plague Michigan

High and dry, but that's all this Midland County farmer, near Midland, Michigan, can claim as the rampaging Tittabawassee river has surrounded his home and farm buildings. The river reached a high of 21.6 feet and has started to fall. (NEA Telephoto).

the show—attendance was something over 2000. Prizes of such things as $500 ultra-modern refrigerators, etc., were given to dealers or their employees. All in all, the Gorman boys report a very enjoyable and profitable time.

Brother A. W. Franklin from Dublin preached the dedicatory sermon for the dedication of the pastor's study at the Methodist Church Sunday. The study, which was contributed almost entirely by the Kimble family, was dedicated as a memorial to the late Dr. E. W. Kimble, one of the earliest and possibly one of the most influential figures in pioneer times of the Old Jewel and Gorman Communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Curry of Abilene visited Sunday in the home of Mr. Curry's mother, Mrs. Belle Harrison.

Attorney-at-law Frank Sparks of Eastland attended the dedication services at the First Methodist Church Sunday. Mrs. McGlamery of Austin, daughter of Dr. Kimble, was up for the week end and attended the dedication, also.

Earl Murray, service man with Texas Electric Service Company of Gorman, and his two sons, Reece and Tommy, spent part of the week end on a fishing trip which all three enjoyed immensely from the report, even though this scribe could not get any tall fish yarns out of Earl when we interviewed him about the trip. Such an outing is essentially the finest thing for a father and son team we can think of.

Mrs. Peterson of Gustine is in Blackwell Sanitarium seriously ill. There are 12 children all living and all were present Tuesday morning except one daughter and she was due to arrive at about 4:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The whole group of children were having a family luncheon at the hotel coffee shop Tuesday, so that this reporter's curiosity got the better of her, and we interviewed Mrs. Lucille Hobbs, of Kansas City, Kansas, one of the daughters. Among the children who live at quite some distance are: Walter Peterson, Fort Wayne Ind.; Linn Anderson, Bethel, Kansas; and Mrs. Hobbs of Kansas City. Other three brothers are from Lubbock, and one sister lives in Ft. Stockton, and another in meridian. The rest of the family live in and around Gustine.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Barron and Mrs. A. A. Brown spent Tuesday afternoon visiting in Stephenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Garrett of Carbon are the proud parents of a baby boy born in Blackwell Sanitarium Monday night at 10:30. It's grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Eastland County in the census,

Guy of Austin was fairly bursting with pride over the new grandson when we contacted her Tuesday noon.

Mrs. J. E. Brandon and Mrs. Joe Holleman spent last Thursday afternoon shopping and visiting in De Leon. Mr. Holleman is a cousin of Mary Kimble, who has an establishment in De Leon, so Mrs. Brandon and Mrs. Holleman in all probability combined business with pleasure while visiting with Mary.

Leland (Bud) Greer was in Sweetwater Tuesday scouting the oil situation out there.

Frank Kirk went to Johnson County on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Sam Richey has been doing the daily grind on the Rural Census School of Instruction Monday and Tuesday, while Buena Van Winkle and Neil Sutton will start Wednesday morning undergoing the rigors of instruction in how to take the census in town.

George Bennett passed the examination, but came by the school of instruction Monday morning to report to Mr. Essen Fields, supervisor for the south end of

Fears Polio To Be Worse Than 1948 Scourge

EDINBURG, Tex., March 30 (UP) — Rio Grande Valley doctors today worried about the possibility of a polio epidemic greater than the 1948 scourge which struck down 293 persons.

"We've had an extremely mild winter, and our cases are coming two months earlier than in 1948," one doctor said. "That year they hit their peak in June. My personal thought is they will start tapering off in about four weeks and we won't have anything like 1948."

Another doctor was not so optimistic. "We can't help but be apprehensive a b o u t the next few months," he said.

Most of the 1950 polio patients in the valley are babies under two years old, he said. They were "not around for the epidemic of 1948."

"That might tend to bear out the theory of immunity being developed by living in an epidemic area," he said.

Health authorities referred to the incidence in Los Angeles County in California as an example of the hop-skip nature of polio epidemics.

In 1946, Los Angeles County suffered its worst epidemic with 1,315 cases, they said. Only 439 persons were stricken the following year, but in 1948 a new record of 3,135 cases was set. Last year 1,221 patients were treated.

The valley had 293 cases and 26 deaths in 1948, and only 82 cases and seven deaths in 1949. Fifty cases and 10 deaths already have been counted this year.

Only one new case has been reported in this area since Sunday. There are 17 national cemeteries in Virginia.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight"

Our ten o'clock curfew lasted for 50 years, but the town council voted it out. I dropped in at the meeting in Town Hall last week just in time to hear Smiley Roberts say:

"The curfew is old-fashioned," says Smiley. "We ought to be grown-up enough by now to behave like grownups. Seeing to it that our kids get to bed is the responsibility of each family." Then Judge Cunningham adds, "Most of us are in bed when the curfew horn blows anyway. It wakes me up just when I'm getting to sleep!"

What the Judge said was good for a laugh, but Smiley just about summed up how folks think in this town. We believe that the democratic tradition of "live and let live" is the only way to live.

From where I sit, it's not the American way to regulate your life by a horn—any more than it's right to criticize my caring for a temperate glass of beer: now and then. Think what you wish, say what you wish, but don't ask your neighbor to do exactly as you do!
