BELIEVE LOVE INSPIRED PLANE BOMB PLANTING

By Benson Srere
United Press Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, April 18 (UP)—Police worked today on the theory that love for a red-haired airlines stewardess drove aircraft engineer John H. Grant to try to kill his wife and two children by timebombing a plane carrying 16 persons.

Grant claimed he plotted the mass murders to collect $25,000 insurance he took out on his wife, Betty, 29, and their children, Robert, 5, and Mary Anne, 4, just before they boarded the United Airlines DC-3.

He said he needed the money to clear himself of back-breaking debts totaling about $8,000. Most of the debts were incurred, he said, when a New York woman won a suit naming him as the father of her child.

However, Betty Suomela of Hermosa Beach, Calif., told officers that she and Grant had carried on a love affair for the past three years.

Miss Suomela, assistant supervisor of stewardess for American Airlines, said the 31-year-old engineer was supposed to be in court arranging for a divorce at the very moment his plot to blow up the airliner was discovered.

Grant claimed it was a last minute change of heart that caused him to shout a warning to cargo loaders just as they placed a suitcase he had rigged with an incendiary bomb aboard the two-engine plane.

Police weren't so sure about that. They were checking the exact sequence of the dramatic events in the belief that Grant may not have had his "change of heart" until the bomb plot was already discovered when a baggage handler inadvertently dropped the bag and set off the infernal machine.

Had the bomb exploded as set, the plane would have been 31 minutes along its flight to San Diego. The bomb probably would have ignited the plane, causing it to crash and kill everyone aboard.

Miss Suomela said she met Grant shortly after she arrived in California 14 months ago.

Grant told her he was married but had no children, she said. Throughout their affair, he promised to get a divorce and marry her.

The first she knew of his two children, she said, was when she learned of the plot to blow up the plane.

In his confession, Grant made no mention of Miss Suomela.

He promised to answer as many questions as possible during the shirt-sleeved radio series, which are described as non-political by Shivers' office and carried free of charge over 17 Texas State Network stations.

Shivers said he wanted his listeners "to know exactly what the governor's office is doing, and to be informed about the other agencies of state government."

Phone Company Re-Organization Is Announced

ST. LOUIS, April 18 (UP)—Southwestern Bell Telephone Company today announced a re-organization of its administrative and operating set-up in Texas in the face of the great growth of that state during the past decade.

W. L. Pehn, general manager of the Texas area since 1926, will retain that title under the decentralization program, but will now be charged with the company's operating activities as well as its commercial duties. His office is in Dallas.

Heretofore, Pehn's office has had equal rank with those of area traffic and plant chiefs and all three have been responsible to the Southwestern Bell's home office in St. Louis.

Heading the three operating offices under the new organization, which is effective immediately, will be Ben Smith, former assistant general manager, now general commercial manager; Clarence Oliver, former traffic manager, now general traffic manager, and Sam P. Thomas B. Kelly, former general plant manager for the entire Southwestern Bell system in St. Louis, will become Pehn's assistant general manager. C. Walker Mier of Dallas will become chief engineer for Texas.

The company's announcement noted that Southwestern Bell more than doubled its plant investment since 1940 to $227,000,000, or 160 per cent; upped the number of its telephones in service two and one-half times to 1,400,000, and increased its number of employees from 14,500 to 23,700, or 59 per cent increase.

MINOR COLD FRONT MOVES IN AS TEXAS SKIES CLEAR

A minor cold front accompanied by 33-mile-an-hour winds, moved into the Texas Panhandle today as clearing skies brought an end to several days of valuable rainfall.

The rains, which ranged up to five inches over the five-day period, were extremely beneficial to crops and ranges in all but the Panhandle and South Plains. And even there, most areas got enough rainfall to help wheatlands at least temporarily.

It came too late to keep this year's wheat crop from suffering badly from drought, but it will help to some extent.

Except for fog in deep east Texas, from Texasiana to Bryan and Beaumont along the upper coast, and from Laredo to Brownsville in the Rio Grande Valley, skies were clear to partly cloudy in Texas this morning.

A bright sun was expected to burn out the fog during the morning.

Temperatures were fairly cool during the early morning hours, but were expected to warm up during the day. Most readings were around the 50-degree mark, but ranged from 45 at Dalhart to 56 at Brownsville.

The cold front, which was not accompanied by rain, was due to lower the mercury to freezing in the upper Panhandle tonight and Several witnesses were men who were questioned by police following the slaying of Binaggio and Gargotta. The Grand Jury indicated that week it was interested in the murders.

AMERICAN NOTE CLAIMS PLANE ATTACKED OVER OPEN BALTIC SEA

By Edward V. Roberts
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 18 (UP)—The United States today charged that Soviet fighter aircraft shot down an unarmed American Naval plane over the open waters of the Baltic Sea.
That statement was made by a State Department spokesman as he made public this government's reply to a Soviet protest that an American plane had flown over Latvia and exchanged gunfire with Soviet fighters.
The American note said an investigation showed that the only American plane in the air over the Baltic Sea on April 8—the date of the incident—alleged in the Soviet protest—was the missing Navy Privateer plane which disappeared on that date with 10 crewmen aboard.
"No trace of its crew has been found," the note said.

DALLAS, Tex., April 18 (UP)—President R. L. Thornton of the State Fair of Texas took care of the vice president situation today. He appointed 82 Texans, three Oklahomans and a former Texan now living in California.

The Oklahomans included the State's Gov. Roy J. Turner, Dr. George I. Cross, president of the University of Oklahoma, and O. U. football coach Bud Wilkinson. F. O. Burns of LaJolla, Cal., a former Fair Director, is the only other out-of-state honorary vice-president.

Texas Gov. Allan Shivers is first honorary vice president with a host of other state officials, and U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark and the State's two U. S. Senators, Tom Connally and Lyndon B. Johnson, among the "veeps."

Hospital Blast Damage $15,000

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex., April 18 (UP)—An estimated $15,000 damage was done to the nurses home of Raymondville Memorial Hospital yesterday when a hot water tank exploded.

Miss Emily Coleman, only nurse in the building at the time of the explosion, escaped serious injury. Other nurses were working at the hospital.

The force of the blast ripped a hole in a wall, sent bottles hurtling 60 feet into the air, and tossed a refrigerator on its side.

HEIRSS CHARGED WITH STEALING DRESS

Mrs. Mary Catherine Reardon-Gueshi, 18, St. Louis paint manufacturing heiress, has been charged by Los Angeles, Calif., police with theft of a dress. Mrs. Gueshi was acquitted in 1947 of murdering her father, J. Vincent Reardon, and will not inherit a trust fund left for her until she is 21. She and her husband, Gabriel Gueshi, have been almost penniless since her mother "threw us out" three weeks ago. (NEA Telegphoto).

CLEMENCY leaned back on the wooden seat of the waiting room of the Belgravia Employment agency and wondered why it was necessary for prospective employes to sit on anything quite so hard. The room was bare and austere; decorated, though that hardly seemed the word, by a large square mirror. It was probably put there on the wall as a hint to those being called upon to interview important clients of the firm to make sure that they presented a scrupulously neat appearance. Clemency looked at her reflection in it, and the reflection looked back at her without any of the satisfaction which an ornamental young woman of 22 has the right to feel, with the knowledge that she is rather charming to look at. Up to now, this particular young woman had found good looks rather more of a liability than an asset. Quite a number of women seemed to prefer their children's nursery governess to be elderly and not so good looking.

Clemency noted that Syrie Amberley had a distinct suggestion of bad temper about her lips.

She was conscious of mounting nervousness. If she didn't get a job soon she would have to go home, and that was the last thing she wanted to happen. The little flower-decked railway station at Belsham Lacy, the country town in the West Country of England where her father's legal practice was established, seemed like a prison gate. At that moment the door of the inner sanctuary opened and the tall, fair girl who had gone in last came out, shutting the door behind her. Clemency glanced at her, hoping to see the outcome of the interview to which the girl had been called 10 minutes ago. Their eyes met, as though in answer to her thought, the other paused beside her. "No luck. She wanted me to go abroad, but I don't intend to use myself up. When my father comes back from Germany we'll be getting married."

MRS. AMBERLEY lit a cigarette as she appraised Clemency. Then: "Are you sure you are willing to go to North Africa?" she asked. "Make up your mind definitely before we go any further. It would be too crasingly boring to find out all about you and then have you say, like that idiot who just left, that you don't want to travel."

"On the contrary," Clemency replied quietly, "there is nothing I'd like better than to travel."

"Good," Clemency's prospective employer's smile seemed spontaneous and brilliant, although it did not change her eyes. They were strange eyes, almond shaped with an uncommon shade of hazel-green, with a line of gold around the edge of the iris. She continued: "I've one little girl, nearly four years old. She's rather out of hand at present. I brought her back for a tonsil operation, and her governess with her. I thought the governess would go back with me—but she suddenly decided that she must stay here. A most abominably dirty trick—she knew we were due to leave next week, and she let me down at the last moment. I don't think any reference she gets from me will secure her another job."

Mrs. Amberley's mouth set, and Clemency noted that when she was not smiling there was a distinct suggestion of bad temper, almost of cruelty, about the line of those red lips. Realizing for the first time that her prospective employe was standing, Syrie said carelessly: "Do sit down. I hate looking up at people when I'm talking to them," and she was obeyed: "I suppose you've looked after children before?" "No, but I'm very fond of children and good with them. The matron of the school will give me a reference. And I looked after a friend's children for several weeks last summer."

Syrie's laugh was brittle. "What about your family? Frankly, relations are an absolute curse."

"My family would not interfere with me," said Clemency quietly. "My father is a solicitor in Devonshire where his father and grandfather practiced before him. He is married again and I prefer not to live at home."

Senators Show Interest In Church Expose

NEW YORK, April 18 (UP)— Several U. S. Senators have declared themselves "interested" in Presbyterian Church charges of religious persecution in Columbia, a church official said today.

The official, Daniel M. Pattison, treasurer-elect of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. said senators who had replied to his April 10 letter were "Generally interested" and that some said they had asked the State Department for background.

Pattison's letter cited 12 instances of religious persecution.
It was sent to senators and to several State Department officials.

Pattison recently returned from an inspection trip of church properties in South America. He said evangelical groups in Columbia had hesitated to protest publicly "for a number of reasons, one being the fear of reprisals."

"The situation instead of getting better is getting worse all the time and there seems no alternative but to bring these facts before the people of our country, so they will know the true situation in Columbia as it affects religious freedom," he said.

Pattison said that while he was in Columbia, a number of prominent persons there expressed the opinion that "publicizing the facts of persecution in Columbia is perhaps the only recourse against the present regime of persecution wherein protestants as such are feeling the wrath of Roman Catholicism at its worst because of the identification of the two faiths with liberalism and fascism respectively."

Cook Labeled
German's Public
Enemy No. 1

MUNICH, Germany, April 18
(UP)—A posse of several hundred heavily armed men guided by bloodhounds sped close on the trail today of Oklahoma badman Homer Cook, proclaimed Ger-man's "public enemy No. 1."

Police said traces of Cook's rail had been found in the wild Bavarian woods after the former GI, who returned to Germany illegally and twice broke jail, evaded two traps yesterday.

Cook, 27, of Muskogee, Okla., barefoot and coatless, knifed a German passerby last night in a fruitless effort to obtain money and shoes after his second jailbreak in five days.

Police said Cook was frightened off before he could strip his victim. But he escaped an encircling police trap by fleeing barefoot through miles of slimy underground passages of the Indiana Quartermaster depot, a former German army dump.

Police and American army agents said Cook's trail was found petitor, described as an Eddie Stanky with talent.

today in the Bavarian woods outside Munich. They said they were prepared to take him "toes up" if he resisted.

"We have picked up his trail from time to time," a policeman said. "I think we are close on his heels."

At the same time a strong American-German guard was thrown about Rosenheim the home of Ann Sporer, the beautiful German girl friend in whose home Cook was recaptured after his first jailbreak.

"Please capture him before he does something awful," Miss Sporer pleaded with police. "Life has been miserable since Homer came back. I cry all day and all night.
All the time my mother scolds me and the people in town ridicule me because of what has happened with this American I knew."

Police said they were protecting the girl for fear the Oklahoma badman might turn on her.

Pay Checks Deadly

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—
Oklahoma highway patrol officers say pay day is the most dangerous day of the month to drive a car in Oklahoma. Chief Ralph Thompson said more traffic deaths occur on the third day of the month, just after many employees are paid, than any other day.

Praises Junior College Place
In Education

DALLAS, Tex., April 18 (UP)—
The Junior College was cited today as the most dynamic unit in American education.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation Convention, Dr.
Homer P. Rainey predicted vast changes in the educational setup of this country in the next 25 years.

Dr. Rainey is president of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and a former president of the University of Texas and one-time gubernatorial candidate in Texas.

He said trends in American life are creating some critical problems for the nation's youth and for the schools and other agencies working for youth.

One of the major problems, he said, was finding a place for the youth who finishes high school at 17 and "who cannot be employed until he is 20 or 21."

Suggestions offered, said Dr.
Rainey, are keeping them in school; putting them into military service for two years, or reviving the Civilian Conservation camps.

"At the moment we are trying the solution of putting them in school," he said. "To do this means spending many more hundreds of millions of dollars for education than we are now spending."

"It means the necessity of a complete reorganization of our state systems of administration and of the curricula of the schools

BROWNWOOD FOX CALLER TO AID EAST TEXANS

Debs, Peregrinity Clubs Entertain

Members of the Debs Club and Peregrinity Club of Ranger Junior College entertained at the Recreation building Friday evening with the annual Spring formal dance.

Music was furnished by Leonard King's orchestra from Brownwood. Decorations were in the Spring motif with pastel colored streamers and balloons decorating the hall.

During the dance refreshments were served from a table laid with a lace cloth over pink. The centerpiece was a miniature maypole, made of pink satin ribbon and tulle on a base decorated with pink carnations and fern. Tall pink candles in crystal candelabra were used to light the table.

About 125 guests enjoyed the hospitality of the two clubs.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Gingham and dimity party frocks, pepped up with velvet ribbons and sequin spangles, rate a double-take in Emily Wilken's first collection in two years. The popular young designer bows back into the spotlight with fashions that keep young figures in mind—bodices hug the ribs, skirts are gracefully flared.

The dress (left) is a two-part harmony of dimity and organdy. First part is a strapless slip-dress of mauve dimity printed with green and purple flowers. Second part is the sheer, short mauve organdy over-dress with off-shoulder neckline and full, scalloped hem. Black velvet streamers dangle from the waistline bow.

Sequins twinkling on mauve and white checked gingham catch a second and then a third look for the short formal (right). The sparkle spatters the front of the fitted bodice and full gathered skirt. Around the waist is tied a black velvet sash adding the final formal touch.—KAY SHERWOOD, NEA Staff Writer.

simply going mad for lack of a fox caller like Lindsey, or something.

Lindsey got a call last week from Henderson County Judge James F. Spencer. Spencer asked the fox-taping Brownwood sewing machine agency manager to pocket some callers and come to Athens, Texas.

The plan, Lindsey said, is to get 50 armed men, divide them into 25 teams, and send them out into the woods of Henderson County under Lindsey's leadership to call up and kill the hydrophobia-maddened fox population of the area.

"If they will let me brief those men before they go out, explaining the best ways to use lights and a caller, I know we can get about 100 foxes in one night," Lindsey said.

Lindsey like nothing better than to call up foxes in his spare time. He will be accompanied to Athens by his understudy, Hank drawing Wayne O. Weems, a special agent for the Santa Fe Railroad. Weems, a former Brownwood constable, likes nothing better, too, than fox calling. He's an official of the Brown county rifle and pistol club.

To prove his fox-calling abilities, Lindsey went out in the woods last week with a newspaper reporter formerly from the deep East Texas, John Moran. After the demonstration, Moran came home wide-eyed.

"I called up my barking fox for Moran," Lindsey explained chuckling.

Judge Spencer heard about Lindsey's abilities through sportsmen of this area.

Like Barkis, Lindsey was willing.

He said the mass fox calling will take place either Friday night or Saturday night, depending on arrangements in Henderson county.

He's convinced that the county can be cleaned of rabid (and raticious, if any) foxes in a single night.

Lindsey's family say fox calling is a regular phobia with him, anyhow.

RELIABLE BLOOD TEST FOR CANCER REPORTED

By Paul F. Ellis
United Press Science Editor
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 18 (UP)—A West Coast scientist working in a basement laboratory of his home may have found the key to reliable blood test for cancer and even more, perhaps one of the causes of cancer.

This scientist is Dr. H. S. Penn, of the University of California, Los Angeles, who reported with three of his colleagues the development of a new test for cancer at the American Association for Cancer Research here.

The new test, based on a simple process, has been found to be 98.6 per cent accurate and is the result of 15 years research, including long, tedious nights in the Penn basement where he was experimenting with tissue of liver of cancerous patients, and isolating what may turn out to be a causative agent of cancer.

Penn and Drs. George C. Hall, A. H. Dowdy, and A. W. Bellamy told the association that more than 4,000 persons had been studied in connection with the test. And of that number 830 persons were patients definitely diagnosed as suffering with cancer. In their cases the test was 98.6 per cent accurate.

The most significant part of their report was the statement that those persons who underwent surgery for removal of a cancerous growth showed up negative in tests eight days after the operation. Thus, if the tests meet other clinical trials and are found to be without error, cancer doctors may be able to determine whether all of a cancer has been removed.

The new cancer technique is similar to that of the Kahn test for syphilis, it is done quickly in a test tube, and requires no microscopic examination.

In the first place, the doctors use the livers of persons who have died of cancer. The tissue is ground, and prepared in a purified form. During the early work, the scientists found that the livers of persons who have cancer and not particularly cancer of the liver contain a factor that appears to be a causative agent of cancer.

The medical men know that the human body creates antibodies, or chemical fighters, against disease but there has been no proof that cancer causes the body to create antibodies. The new test is based on the assumption that cancer does cause the body to create antibodies, such anti-bodies show up in the white part of the blood—the serum.

In making the test for cancer, the West Coast doctors took blood from persons in the study and mixed it with a saline solution containing the "cancer factor" of the liver of cancerous persons. In the case of persons who had cancer in their body, it was assumed the blood had created antibodies against the disease.

Result was that in those persons who definitely had cancer there was reaction in the test tube. That is, substances, apparently anti-bodies, were "attacking" the cancer agent and causing the solution to lose its cloudiness, such is a positive test.

Those persons, known to be in health and apparently free of cancer, had no such reaction. Their serums remained cloudy. There was no activity of a "cancer antibody" attacking the cancer agent.

OAKLEY NEWS

Mrs. Oliver Wesley spent four nights last week with her grandmother, Mrs. D. J. Stanford, who is in the Ranger General Hospital.

Tommy's String Band played at South Bend High School for a big square dance Friday night.

Friday night, the Oakley Community Club met. They were entertained with music and forty-two Refreshments were served. All attending enjoyed themselves.

Mrs. C. C. Jackson has been confined to the bed with a case of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Reatherford visited Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jackson Sunday night.

The doctors reported that "false positives" were reported in persons suffering some disease other than cancer, but that the number of "false positives" could be eliminated eventually by development of the cancer agent in a more pure form.

To further prove their studies, the scientists had two other laboratories make similar tests. The results were virtually the same.

"I want to say," says Mrs. A., "That I am never tiring The day when I agreed to try Your Mrs. Stewart's Bluing."

Driver Unhurt As Train Hits Bread Truck

DALLAS, Tex., April 18 (UP)—A bread truck driver escaped with only a cut on the arm when a Texas & Pacific freight train smashed his vehicle to pieces early today.

Clyde Ewalt of Mesquite, Tex., was thrown clear of the wreckage, but his truck rolled over four times after it was struck by the freight train two miles east of Dallas.

Ewalt telephoned the sheriff's office to report he couldn't find enough of his truck to move it. He was told it would be all right to go on to work.

An hour later, Ewalt was en route to Hillsboro with another truck laden with fresh bread.

portunity to learn Carpentry, automobile mechanics and shoe repair. The list of trades being taught now is small, but it is hoped that a vocational school can be built in the very near future where 12 or 14 trades can be taught.

With a properly-equipped vocational school, each of the more than 100 boys can learn a valuable trade he will be able to use when he leaves the ranch. This will give him the chance to step into a good job and make a real hand.

The boys also have their own grade and high school with seven teachers, a full sport program that includes football, softball, basketball and wrestling, and plenty of opportunity for other recreation such as fishing, swimming and riding.

But it's not all school and play. The boys raise much of their own vegetables, beef and pork, and have their own particular jobs such as milking, hoeing in the garden, and clean-up details.

Ochoa Retains Lawyer For Suits

LAREDO, Tex., April 18 (UP)—George Ochoa, fugitive Laredo broker charged with two murders, has designated attorney Gordon Gibson to represent him in civil lawsuits.

Gibson said he could tell police only that "communications between a lawyer and his client are privileged and I cannot divulge any information received from my client."

A search for Ochoa has been conducted in Texas and Mexico since last July 29 when the bodies of Henry Whittenburg, Jr., of McAllen, and Corp. James Lindsay of Huntsville, Tenn., were found on separate floors in a Laredo Hotel.

Ochoa disappeared on the same day and was reported seen later on a Mexican golf course. He returned on Christmas Day to demand money from an acquaintance but fled when the friend refused.

Lindsay's family sued for $55,000 damages and Ochoa's wife, ex-wife and grandfather recently filed money suits against him.

Police Chief D. O. Gallagher, accused Gibson last week with being in "contact" with Ochoa, but the lawyer denied yesterday that he had been questioned by police.

When he was asked when he received word from Ochoa, Gibson replied: "I received that authority since the Lindsay suit was filed."

An hour later, Ewalt was en route to Hillsboro with another truck laden with fresh bread.

portunity to learn Carpentry, automobile mechanics and shoe repair. The list of trades being taught now is small, but it is hoped that a vocational school can be built in the very near future where 12 or 14 trades can be taught.

With a properly-equipped vocational school, each of the more than 100 boys can learn a valuable trade he will be able to use when he leaves the ranch. This will give him the chance to step into a good job and make a real hand.

The boys also have their own grade and high school with seven teachers, a full sport program that includes football, softball, basketball and wrestling, and plenty of opportunity for other recreation such as fishing, swimming and riding.

But it's not all school and play. The boys raise much of their own vegetables, beef and pork, and have their own particular jobs such as milking, hoeing in the garden, and clean-up details.

Ochoa Retains Lawyer For Suits

LAREDO, Tex., April 18 (UP)—George Ochoa, fugitive Laredo broker charged with two murders, has designated attorney Gordon Gibson to represent him in civil lawsuits.

Gibson said he could tell police only that "communications between a lawyer and his client are privileged and I cannot divulge any information received from my client."

A search for Ochoa has been conducted in Texas and Mexico since last July 29 when the bodies of Henry Whittenburg, Jr., of McAllen, and Corp. James Lindsay of Huntsville, Tenn., were found on separate floors in a Laredo Hotel.

Ochoa disappeared on the same day and was reported seen later on a Mexican golf course. He returned on Christmas Day to demand money from an acquaintance but fled when the friend refused.

Lindsay's family sued for $55,000 damages and Ochoa's wife, ex-wife and grandfather recently filed money suits against him.

Police Chief D. O. Gallagher, accused Gibson last week with being in "contact" with Ochoa, but the lawyer denied yesterday that he had been questioned by police.

Outdoor recreation accidents in Minnesota in 1949 cost 183 lives. Gun accidents killed 30 individuals and 163 were drowned.
