Color Tricks with Dye

Transform glass curtains, draperies and faded apparel from drabness into colorful summer hues by tinting or dyeing them at home. Dyeing washable fabrics is simple and the results are rewarding, if an all-purpose dye is used and if the directions are followed with care. A porcelain enameled dishpan or kettle is recommended for the dyeing because its glossy finish is the easiest to clean.

FORMER ARMY CAPTAIN TELLS OF EXPERIENCES IN OCCUPIED COUNTRIES

"The biggest mistake the United States Government made at the close of the recent war was in withdrawing the seasoned troops out of the occupied countries and replacing them with raw recruits from the states," F. L. Burkhead told members of the Eastland Lions Club at their regular meeting Tuesday.

"The troops who had fought and won the war knew the people and their problems and were respected by the occupied countries while the replacements knew nothing and tried to learn nothing of the problems, mores, and history of the people," he added.

Burkhead's speech was interesting and informing to the point that most of the Lions stayed 30 minutes after the meeting was officially over to question him, concerning his opinions of pertinent world problems.

Burkhead has been in Europe, off and on, for the past 10 years, both as a combat and an occupation soldier. He came up through the ranks from private to Captain, the rank he held at his discharge in April, 1918, now, he's "just resting."

He has served in Germany, in France and more recently in Vienna. He returned from Vienna only last month.

BUSINESS DISCUSSED
Business included a resume of the Mineral Wells convention by Lion President, Wes Harris. Notice was given that Third Vice-President Edward Adelman had moved from the city and Bill Frost was elected to his place. Neal Day was elected Assistant Tail Twister. Guests included Dr. Lund, newcomer to Eastland. Wylie Mason was introduced as new member.

LIFE IN VIENNA
"Vienna is quite the place," Burkhead remarked. "It is divided into four zones—Russian, French, British and American. A Patrol, composed of a representative from each nation, (and using American gasoline, oil and vehicle) pulled reconnaissance of the whole area. A soldier caught in the Russian zone was interrogated and could be released only to his commanding officer. The C. O. had to make out a report including the soldier's business in the zone and the punishment he would get."

IF WAR COMES
Asked what the occupied countries would do in the event of a Russo-American war, Burkhead stated: "If they think they are fighting for their country, they will make a feeble effort. But as for fighting for democracy, they've had enough fighting. All they want is food, their homes, and to be left alone."

Nichols Talks Much About Hat

WASHINGTON, May 17 (UP)—This is one of those stories which could be gospel. Or, as Dizzy Dean used to say, "no doubtedly."

Anyhow, here it is as gathered over a jigger of tea at the National Press Club:

A group of five government employees had a car pool. One of the boys made the mistake of showing off a new green hat he had bought the other day. A Jimdandy Homburg which put him back $18.75, including tax and the initials in the sweat band.

After a few trips to and fro he began to bore his pals with reports of the fine qualities of a fine hat. They decided to gang up on him. They named a committee of one to run down to the nearest hat palace and buy a fedora just like it—only two sizes too big—also with initials.

That night when the hat man put on his bonnet it covered his ears. He looked inside and saw his own initials.

"Head must be shrinking," the man thought.
So he went down and bought a box of tissue and stuffed most of it under his hat band—so that the hat fit. He showed up for his pool ride as if nothing had happened.

His friends couldn't let a good thing die.

Next day, after our man parked his over-sized topper in the locker, one of the rascals substituted the original, smaller-sized one—with all of the tissue packed inside.

That night, when our man put his hat on, he looked like something out of a slapstick comedy. He felt like it, too. Was he going out of his head? Was his head puffing or shriveling?

The fellow was like a man possessed!

He didn't look right in the mirror—and he didn't feel right, either.

He got so he didn't sleep nights, because the car pool boys began to switch the hats day by day. One day the big one, with no tissue the next the little one—with the tissue.

For a whole week the man took part of his annual leave and didn't show up for his ride down town; even when it was time to take his own car.

His friends learned that he had been visiting a psychiatrist. The doctor, who had been tipped off by one of the carpoolers, caught on.

"Your head is the right size and it's your own. Why don't you do this: Go down and buy yourself a new hat and throw this jinx away? It'll make a new man out of you."

The poor guy bought a new hat—this time, one for $25. It's a brown one with no initials on the sweat band.

It fits fine.
That's the way I get the story. The fellow is doing a good job again, they say.

"A FRIEND INDEED"

From the basement of their Maplewood, Mo., home, Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Ross run a thriving chicken hatchery business. Says Mr. Ross: "Never realized how our business telephone helps us save and make money until we kept a five-day record of our telephone calls recently. It's a friend indeed! Here are just a few of the calls we made and received."

Sudden thunderstorm! Had to make quick call for emergency electric power! Ventilators go back on—200 baby chicks saved!

Customer calls for shipment of baby chicks. Because Mrs. Ross is hard of hearing, she uses a special amplifier. Hears easily.

Prospect calls about chick prices. Our ad in yellow pages of directory is sales builder!

Sister-in-law asks about son who works for us. To save time, Mrs. Ross takes call on basement extension.

Each year brings greater progress in your telephone service. New telephones added—greater improvements made! The result: quicker, more trouble-free service—a real budget value that grows in value every year. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Ted Williams Makes Dirty Gestures But Cronin Says 'Helluva A Nice Guy'

BOSTON, May 17 (UP)—For nearly 11 years Boston baseball fans have been trying to make temperamental Ted Williams their hero—but he wants no part of them.

Now a lot of fans want no part of him because of several obscene gestures he made last week after committing two errors in a double header his Red Sox team mates dropped to the visiting Detroit Tigers.

Today, Boston General Manager Joe Cronin, a former great who knows what it's like to be raked over the coals by the fans, came to the defense of the "splendid splinter."

"He's a helluva a nice guy who has done a lot of nice things," Cronin said. "Ted shuns publicity in the worst way as far as his private life is concerned," he said. "Because of that, hardly any fans know what he has done."

"On his own and without being forced, Ted has visited hundreds of sick kids in hospitals," Cronin said. "He went because he wanted to. That's the side of him few people know about."

Added to this is the story of a Boston sportswriter who asked Williams to visit a friend's son sick in a hospital. Williams agreed to do so, but said that if the sportswriter wrote anything about it he'd never get another story out of the ball player.

Fans don't know that side of Williams' character because he doesn't want them to. He figures he's got a job to do, at $100,000 a year, and he does the best he can. His best is often terrific. Despite his aloofness, and constant refusal to tip his hat in thanks, Williams gets more than a normal share of applause when he walks up to the batter's box or runs out to his left field position in Fenway Park here.

But mixed in with the cheers are always jeers and boos. Most every great ball player gets them at one time or another, but Williams can't seem to become accustomed to them.

Williams is a natural for a hero's role in everything but temperament. Tall, lithe, handsome, he's a picture of grace either swinging at a pitch or loping after a long fly. He gets unbelievable power into his swing and is one of baseball's reatest hitters.

The fans rode reticent slugger mercilessly after he committed the second error last week. One of the misplays cost the Red Sox the second game. Williams lost his temper and made the obscene gestures apparently because he was angry with the fans as he was with himself.

His apology for his actions, issued the following day by the Red Sox management, was brief. Many considered it inadequate. But it was typical of Williams. Whatever the fans and sportswriters think of him personally they still respect his ability as a ball player.

Your Health

One of the greatest advances in medicine is in the field of sterility and infertility. With an estimated one out of 19 marriages in this country childless, today 25 to 50 percent of those homes can rebound the pattern of little feet.

What causes sterility? New causes are discovered constantly adding to the list made 15 years ago which named 320 causes in women and 161 in men.

The fact that men may be responsible for the barren marriage is rather a new addition to the study of sterility. Actually, while fewer causes may be listed for the sterility of the man, there is as much likelihood that he is responsible as there is that it is the wife who cannot produce the child.

That is one of the newer conclusions of the study. Today the husband and wife must share equally in the medical investigation of a barren marriage. There is a 50 percent chance that each may be at fault. In many cases both husband and wife require treatment to produce a child.

Since young couples offer more probability of success in overcoming sterility, your doctor suggests that at your first suspicion you consult him. If the first year or so has failed to result in a desired pregnancy, it may be a simple thing to determine the cause. If it isn't, if you case is one of those requiring detailed medical investigation of both husband and wife, the chances of overcoming the difficulty are greater the earlier medical treatment is begun.

TEXAS NEWS BRIEFS

BROWNSVILLE, May 17 (UP)—A little worm was causing a lot of talk around the tip of Texas today.

The worm, discovered yesterday, was airmailed to Washington for identification. Cotton farmers thought it might be the first cotton leafworm of the season. Entomologists said it was too early to predict an infestation, even if the worm is identified as a leafworm.

AUSTIN, May 17 (UP)—At least one criminal will heed Gov. Allan Shivers' warning to stay out of Texas.

The governor received a letter yesterday from a life-terminer at Leavenworth, Kan., who said he would still owe Texas five months for parole violation when his Kansas term expires in 1962.

"You can rest assured, Governor Shivers," he wrote, "that if I am freed from the state of Texas I will never return."

AUSTIN, May 17 (UP)—Almost two hundred new lawyers had a warning today from the State Chief Justice J. E. Hickman to get into another field if they believe in the profession of law "only as a means of making money."

Hickman imparted his advice yesterday while swearing in the 175 persons who passed the state bar examination given in March.

HOUSTON, May 17 (UP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for Gene Cole, 25, who died suddenly Tuesday while installing lines for the Houston Lighting and Power Company.

The English thoroughbred Marconi is known as the "royal horse." In 1935 he won in the colors of King George V; in 1936 for Edward VIII and in 1937 for King George VI.

COLD ALONE IS NOT ENOUGH

Cold alone will keep most foods from spoiling—but cold alone won't preserve the vitamin content and garden-fresh crispness of the vitally important vegetables your family eats!

Modern Ice Refrigerators are beautifully and scientifically designed to get the greatest refrigeration value out of pure, crystal-clear, slow-melting manufactured ice. Only the Ice Refrigerator gives the three essentials of food refrigeration: constant cold—balanced humidity—elimination of odors and impurities.

100 YEARS OF PROGRESS

Behind the amazing development of Ice Appliances is 100 years of progress by the gigantic, vitally important ice manufacturing industry. This industry had its beginning at Apalachicola, Florida, in 1850 when Dr. John Gorrie invented America's first ice-making machine. The second machine was installed in New Orleans a few years later and then moved to Brownsville, Texas. And the third machine was built at old Jefferson, Texas, in the middle Seventies.

Dr. Gorrie made just enough ice for the treatment and comfort of his patients... today, some 7,000 ice manufacturing plants produce over 50,000,000 tons of ice each year. Virtually all industries use manufactured ice in one way or another—but the greatest users are those concerned with the shipping, storage and distribution of meats, poultry, seafoods and produce. In transportation of perishables alone, some 5,000 insulated trucks and freight cars, refrigerated with ice, shuttle back and forth across the nation daily, filling the shelves and ice refrigerators of America's 150,000,000 well-fed-people!

In TEXAS ALONE, 600 ICE MANUFACTURING PLANTS produce for Texas homes and industry five million tons of ice per year. This means the opening of distant markets for Texas fruit, vegetables, meats, and seafood—the preservation of foods for Texas families—the easing of Texas summers with cooling refreshments.

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING ICE DOES IS MELT!
Melting ice in your refrigerator carries away heat... carries away food odors... provides the combination of cold-plus-moisture that means perfect preservation of the foods your family will eat.

TRAINED ICE SERVICE MEN!
Ice service men today are trained thoroughly, as all good businessmen should be. They service your Refrigerator without making a mess... they make sure that parts or children don't slip out the door with them... they look and are neat and efficient and thoroughly familiar with their business.

PLENTY OF PURE CLEAR ICE ALL THE TIME!
Why fight a losing battle with home-made ice during the summer months? Real manufactured ice not only makes foods better for you—it provides a constant liberal source of sparkling ice for chilled drinks, table use, ice cream—and it costs so little!

GLAMOR-ICE YOUR MEALS!
Diamond-sparkling manufactured ice can give a party touch to the most commonplace chilled dish. Salads, cocktails, relishes, and desserts take on new zest... new appetizing appeal... new, fresh taste!
