Welfare Groups Vote To Push Ranger Chest

ONE BUSINESSMAN INDICATES FAVOR

Tentative plans to promote a community chest here were approved at a meeting of welfare groups, Monday.

Representatives from the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Child Welfare organizations voted to discuss the project with various civic clubs.

The Monday meeting marked the first attempt here in a long time to coordinate the activities of the various welfare organizations.

A spokesman for the club said that the civic clubs would be asked to appoint a man to the Community Chest board of directors.

The spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said the primary purpose of the Community Chest is to hold one effective fund drive instead of many drives.

He pointed out that at the present time, the same men who solicit do the contributing.

A Ranger businessman who indicated support of the Community Chest summed up his reasons by stating that local businessmen lose considerable time from their business in the various drives.

"I would rather give more at one time than have to lose the time that I am presently losing from my business because of the great number of drives," he said.

Eastland, Ranger AA Groups Attend Waco Convention

The Eastland-Ranger-Cisco group of Alcoholics Anonymous was represented at the 5th annual Texas A. A. Convention held in Waco June 2-4. Over 300 delegates were registered representing most of the 200 A. A. groups in Texas as well as several out of the state. It was also reported that approximately 150 members of Non-A. A. which is made up of wives and mothers of alcoholics, were also at the convention.

The feature of the convention was the open meeting held before a capacity crowd in Waco Hall at Baylor University Saturday evening. The principle speakers were Esther H. of Dallas, and Macon F. of Coleman. Esther F. has the honor of being the first member of A. A. in Texas and has been in the A. A. program for over seven years.

Before adjourning, the convention voted to accept the invitation of the Mineral Wells A. A. Group to hold the 1951 convention in Mineral Wells. The Baker Hotel was selected to be headquarters for this meeting.

Rev. Ellis Asks For More Dessert At Rotary Ladies Night, And Chef Serves Up Three With Some Digs

Morris Newham, who knows how to barbecue a good chicken, cut the dessert this night at Rotary club's ladies night.

And Rev. Cecil Ellis, who maintains a pretty good shape called Morris's hand.

So Morris dished him an extra three platters of icecream dessert. Banker W. L. Creager helped Rev. Ellis finish the extra helping.

That set the pace for a small but lively meeting of the Ranger Rotary club. G. B. Rush, outgoing presy of the club, attempted to help his fellow Rotarian Ellis out

Winner Of Four Year Fight For Education Plans Entry Into University Law School

HOUSTON, June 6 (UP)—Herman Marion Sweatt, winner of a four-year fight to attend the all white University of Texas Law School, returned to his mail route today in a good humor.

The U. S. supreme court ruled yesterday that Sweatt, 37, should be permitted to attend the University law school because facilities at Texas State University for Negroes do not offer equal opportunities.

Sweatt was delivering letters while the highest court in the land was judging his fate. His wife informed him of the court's findings when he returned home.

"I'm very pleased," Sweatt said.

Gen. MacArthur Boots 24 Top Jap Commies

Sources Say Move Precedes Outlawing Of Communist Party

TOKYO, June 6 (UP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur outlawed Japan 24 top Communists today. A few hours later Communist party headquarters began burning its secret documents.

MacArthur's directive permitted the communist party to continue functioning but outlawed the 24 members of its central committee from any further party propaganda or public activity.

The directive was invoked against the Communists under the occupation law barring a revival of Japanese militarism. Japanese officials said any other Communists who continued agitation also would be purged.

Both Japanese and American quarters said the move probably foreshadowed action to outlaw the entire Communist party in Japan. The Communists apparently felt the same way. They piled their secret papers in the compound behind party headquarters, saturated them with gasoline and set them afire only a few hours after MacArthur's action was announced.

Among those purged were seven members of the Japanese Diet (Parliament), including six in the house of representatives and one elected only Sunday to the House of Councillors.

MacArthur's order, contained in a letter to Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, does not outlaw the Communist party as such. The party can elect a central committee and carry on as a legal political group.

Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, one of MacArthur's chief aides, said the 24 purged Communists "could continue as a study group and could study anything they pleased so long as they don't study out loud."

Texas Group Approves RJC Music School

The Department of Fine Arts of Ranger Junior College has received official notification that its school of music has been accepted as an associated member of the Texas Association of Music Schools. This announcement was made today by Dr. Boswell, president of the College.

To be accepted as a member in full standing it was necessary for the college to satisfy requirements not only for course contents, but of qualified faculty members, and the equipment necessary to carry on the work of a music school.

This acceptance also signified that the committee from the state organization has examined and approved the syllabi which is being used.

During the next school year a committee from the Texas Association of Music Schools will visit the Ranger Junior College to personally examine the students, faculty, and equipment, as a formal procedure toward accepting the college into full standing in the association.

These steps are required prior to any school of music being able to present the freshmen and sophomore years of music, if their courses are to receive credit in the member schools.

By its acceptance into the Texas Association of Music Schools, Ranger Junior College is able to offer to its music students the absolute assurance that music credits studied here are transferable to any music school in the Texas Association of Music Schools.

The Texas Association of Music Schools is young, but its roster includes practically all of the schools in Texas which are now offering music courses. Students are accoutred, therefore, to be certain school which is fully accredited, thereby avoiding the loss of hours which is sometime suffered when transferring to a senior school.

64 Aboard Aircraft That Engine Trouble Forces Down Off Florida

MIAMI, Fla., June 6 (UP)—Thirty-seven men who survived a charter plane crash into the sea last night were rescued by a U. S. destroyer today and five of the 27 missing men were found floating dead near the rescue scene.

A Coast Guard PBM was refused permission to land because the Grace Liner Santa Paula was approaching to aid the destroyer-escort.

The life raft occupants had been on the water since before 10 p. m., where the twin-engine C-46, flying from Puerto Rico to the United States, developed engine trouble and "ditched" in the ocean.

Three American crew members and 61 Puerto Ricans were aboard. The large number of rafts spotted by aircraft indicated that Coast Guard planes had dropped a lot of rescue equipment. The downed plane carried only seven rafts.

Three planes in the vast air-sea search fleet said rafts were dotting the sea 270 miles off the Florida coast.

One of the men taken from life rafts by the destroyer-escort was the pilot of the crashed plane, Capt. Joe Halsey.

The Saultley advised the Coast Guard rescue control center here that it was continuing the search with the aid of planes.

As the twister cut its course through Austin and Washington counties, it blew telegraph poles across the main line of the Santa Fe Railway delaying the streamliner Texas Chief and two freights four hours.

Hail as large "as a man's fist" clattered upon the Muellerville and Salem communities, stripping the point of houses, destroying crops and punching holes in roofs and windows.

Fight Promised Against Supreme Court Decision Taking Tidelands

WASHINGTON, June 6 (UP)—A Supreme court set-back at rate claim to the nation's vast offshore areas today brought quick promise of a fight in congress to settle the issue.

Rep. Ed Grawitt, D. Tex., said an attempt will be made this session to deny a federal title to the submerged oil land if it fails he said, another effort will be made next year.

The campaign was up against:

1. A drive by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., to get out a bill putting into effect yesterday's court decision upholding federal authority to wells drilled in the ocean's bottom off the Louisiana and Texas coasts.

2. Strong indications that President Truman will veto any state bill as he did in 1946. The house approved that bill over the veto but opponents doubted if that would happen again.

In decisions yesterday involving perhaps 10,000,000,000 barrels of oil reserves under the gulf's waters, the court held that neither Texas nor Louisiana has a claim to a well sunk beyond low water mark.

The Texas case was decided 4 to 2, the Louisiana case 6 to 0. In 1947, the court ruled similarly in a California case.

"The marginal sea is a national not a state concern," Justice William O. Douglas held in the majority opinion. "The problems of

AL Auxiliary Will Present Amateur Show

Miss Marcelle Ebel has arrived to start work on "Uncle Esary's Hayloft Jamboree" which is being sponsored by the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion Auxiliary and will be staged on June 12 and 13 at the Ranger High School auditorium.

An amateur contest which will be run in connection with the big two hour home talent stage show is open to everyone in both town and the surrounding community. There is no age limit; those competing do not have to belong to the sponsoring organization and all types of entertainers are wanted for this big show.

If you are a singer, yodeler, tap, square or jig dancer, there is a place for you in the cast. If you play any musical instrument such as a fiddle, guitar, banjo, mandolin, accordion, harmonica, or if you do animal or bird imitations or if you know anyone who does these things or any other type of specialty act then have them attend tryouts on either Thursday or Friday nights at the Legion Hall at the corner of Pine and Austin Streets at 7:30 p. m.

While the show "Uncle Esary's Hayloft Jamboree" is not a search for talent with a promise of putting local people on the radio program still all of those who appear will be competing for ribbons and cash prizes. The audience attending the show will be asked to vote for their favorite.

A blue ribbon and ten dollars in cash will be given the first place winner. Second place winner will receive the red ribbon and seven dollars and a half in cash and to third place winner goes the white ribbon with a five dollar cash award.

Although there is the exciting element of competition among the contestants who take part, still "Uncle Esary's Hayloft Jamboree" is not just an amateur contest in the strict sense of the word, for there will be an impersonation of Joe Kelly, the master of ceremonies of the National Barn Dance show by Bruce Maddux, who will emcee the entire show.

Uncle Esary will be played by S. A. Hightower. Lulu Belle, the belle of the Barn Dance, will be impersonated by Lazelle Johnson. The comedy part of Hiram Hicks will be played by Morris George. The show is actually a big stage production with color, variety and comedy which promises to be the biggest thing of its kind ever staged here.

Certainly, it is an opportunity to compete for the title of the most popular entertainer of Ranger and at the same time win cash prizes. All persons who can do any type of specialty number is not only eligible but is urged to attend the tryouts on June 9 and 10 at 7:00 p. m. at the Legion Hall.

Opponents of the state claims were elated. O'Mahoney, chairman of the Senate interior committee, said he hopes to start work at once on a bill to legalize a system for handling the lands and the income from the oil.

"I feel a substantial portion of the royalties to be derived from mineral wealth produced in the submerged land should be dedicated to the reduction of the national debt," he said.

Gosssett said he will go before the house rules committee in about two weeks to ask that the state bill be sent to the floor for debate. The measure gives the lion's share of the submerged lands to the states with a split with the federal government beyond state limits running from three to 10 miles.

Texas Attorney General Price Daniel said he will demand a re-hearing of the case by the supreme court. Texas officials said the decision was a "terrible blow."

Art Colony Sets Lecture Tonight

T. E. Leverett brought in an old 1908 Montgomery Ward catalogue. In what might be called an editorial, the book pointed out that prosperity had increased prices.

Depending on whether you are cussing the government or not, selling or buying, you use one of two words—inflation or prosperity.

Montgomery Ward in this case was doing some selling so they called the inflationary prices prosperity. We'll get to those inflationary prices in a minute.

The 1908 "prosperity" brought pig iron up from $10.50 per ton in 1898 to $24.00 per ton in 1908.

Leather that was 24 cents a pound in 1897 was 39 cents in 1908, the catalogue says.

At that early date, the mail order house was having considerable trouble with some newspapers and local dealers who accused the house of being a fraud. Since that time, Montgomery Ward's public relations have improved considerably.

Wards in certain respects carried a much more varied list of merchandise in 1908 than they do now. They carried staple groceries—such as the best Eastern cane sugar at one dollar for 25 pounds; coffee in 10 pound lots at $1.85—which makes it about 18 cents for coffee per pound.

They even sold fish by mail. The catalogue advised that fish will keep a long time if covered in brine and away from the direct sun. "Should they become dry, rebrine them and you will have no trouble with rusty fish. Always keep fish out of the sun," the catalogue insisted. A 20 pound pail of Alaska Pink salmon sold for $1.82.

In those days instead of paying a dime for a cigar, you could buy via mail, 50 cigars at $1.97. The most you could spend on cigars was $3.68 which bought La Philadencia, Perfectos.

Good St. Cloud Haviland China sold for $55 for a large assortment. The china was a bit more garish than it is now.

Instead of paying a hundred plus for a washing machine, in 1908 you paid $4.95. Of course the hitch was that you had to turn a big wheel to beat the clothes.

For a buck, seventy-five you could buy a large barrel-stave trunk or if you had something fancy in mind, you could pay other governess. Does your engagement to me terminate from this moment, Clemency—I really can't call you Miss Norton any longer.

$5.50 and get a canvas covered iron bound trunk.

"No, of course not," replied Clemency quickly. "We can discuss that later."

"I am driving into Biskra, and I should like her to go with me."

"That's all right," Syrie glanced at Clemency again. "Perhaps you'll tell Loulie to come. I only came down to find some cigars. I've a splitting head, and I'm going back to my room."

But if the cigars had seemed important, she had forgotten that. She turned and went quickly upstairs again without appearing to even notice that her husband was present.

Jon was leaning against the bottom of the banisters and perhaps Clemency was the only person who remained aware of his presence.

Beside her, Piers said: "Let's go out into the garden for a few minutes."

And as she followed him she carried with her the strangely uncomfortable memory of Jon watching his wife, his face contorted with an almost frightening grin of sardonic amusement.

PIERS was determined that Clemency should dine downstairs that evening.

When they had returned from their drive she had insisted on going up to the nursery and carrying on exactly as usual until Baba was in bed.

Justine's delight at the "so good news" had been spontaneous and sincere. Obviously everyone in the house knew it now—there was an air of "fete" about the servants.

Abdul sent an outside basket of roses to the nursery where Clemency found it after her drive. Quite plainly the chef would spread himself at dinner, which would be a celebration.

Engagement Announced Dora Marie Leveille, Bill Watkins To Marry In St. Rita's, July 22

Mr. Morris Leveille announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Dora Marie, to Bill Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Watkins of Eastland.

The announcement was made at a small dinner party in the home of the bride's father Monday evening. Those assisting in the house party were Mrs. Art Campbell, aunt of the bride-elect, Mrs. W. N. Bourdeau, Mrs. Arthur Ernst, and Mrs. Lulu McLaughlin.

The dining table was centered by a three-tiered floraforn white wedding cake, topped by a bell outlined in orchid wiring, "July" was spelled out along the sides of the bell, and "22" suspended from the middle as a clapper. The couple will be married at a nuptial Mass at St. Rita's Church here at 9 a. m. Saturday, July 22.

Each layer of the cake represented a floor of the honeymoon cottage, the first tier being outfitted with miniature bedroom furniture, and the second floor containing tiny living room furniture. Orchid and lime green satin ruffling in the bride-elect's chosen colors set off each layer. Dainty Matching green maline was caught at the edge of each tier with lime green tinted feverfew. Feverfew and fern were entwined on the columns between the tiers. Green tinted majestic daisies, and tiny orchid tinted daisies, with fern, encircled the wedding cake.

The table was laid with a Madeira cutwork linen cloth, and held tall orchid tapers in silver candelabra. Silver appointments were used.

Four-course tables were also laid with Madeira cutwork linen cloths. The guests were served a dinner consisting of chicken patties, congealed lime green salad, English peas, hot rolls, stuffed celery. Lime sherbert was served in individual cakes shaped in the form of an engagement ring. The cakes laid in white contained a set of orchid flowers and green leaves.

The group was then invited into the living room for games of canasta. The piano held a vase of red roses, and the mantelpiece and library table was decorated with arrangements of spring flowers.

Mrs. A. C. Bart and Mrs. Bill Juneau, both of Breckenridge, won the prizes.

Out of town guests present for the dinner included Meses. Mae Whittington, Bill Juneau, A. C. Bart, and Misses Inez Hargell and Louise Weir, all of Breckenridge, Miss Anita Carlin of Cisco, and Miss Kathryn Ann Watkins, sister of the groom-elect of Breckenridge.

Other guests included Meses. Allen J. Full, George Fongler, Morris Campbell, W. N. Bourdeau, Arthur Campbell, Arthur Ernst, Lulu McLaughlin; Misses Mary Ann Wallace, Cecilia Mooney, Jeanette Kirkpatrick and the honoree, Miss Leveille.
