

President Truman Advises People To Expect More Spending

By Merriman Smith
COLUMBIA, Mo., June 9 (UP)—President Truman today advised the American people to expect continued heavy spending on foreign arms and economic aid as part of the "long and hard" battle for world peace.

He said these "temporary" costs are necessary to stop Russia in her "plain intent" to "overthrow the tradition of freedom—shared by our country and many others."

The President spoke on the economic aspects of American foreign policy before a commencement audience at the University of Missouri which conferred on him an honorary Doctor of Laws degree. Mr. Truman was also made an honorary member of Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholastic society.

"Obviously, we do not want to continue our extraordinary financial assistance to other countries any longer than necessary," Truman said.

But he warned that it would be "disastrous" to take away our assistance now.

"Our program for peace and freedom is necessarily designed at present to build a strong community of free nations which can resist Communist aggression, whether that aggression takes the form of internal subversion or external attack," he said.

The chief executive left wide open the question of how this country will continue to send aid overseas when the Marshall Plan ends in June 1952. But he emphasized that "our vital national interest in a healthy world economy will not end" then.

"It will be just as necessary then as it is today to have a secure foundation for world peace," he said.

"The economic well-being of other free nations around the world is important to our common effort for peace. It is also important to our own economic well-being."

Truman noted with satisfaction that the European recovery program had produced a steady recession in Communist influence abroad.

"The nations of Western Europe, with Marshall Plan aid, are setting new records of production and approaching the restoration of pre-war standards of living," he told the campus audience.

"In the last two years, the Communists have received progressively fewer votes in every election held in the Marshall Plan countries. Today, every one of them is stronger and better able to resist Communism and to work for peace than at any time since the war ended."

But the President cautioned that Western Europe still is some distance from economic self-sufficiency.

"If we were to take away our assistance now, they would still be unable to pay for all the things they need to buy from us and from other countries," he said. "The result would be a sudden drop in living standards, weakened defenses, and a greater opportunity for the Communists to move in."

The chief executive, on his first visit this year to his home state, forecast that current federal studies on closing the door on the gap in exports and imports would benefit Europe extensively. He repeated earlier recommendations for greater imports into this country and increased investment of private American capital abroad.

He also took the occasion to plug again for his "point four" program of aid to underdeveloped areas abroad. He said it is needed "if we are to build a healthy world trade and investment."

He rejected complaints that the point four program, by helping underdeveloped areas produce more, would cut down American foreign sales.

On the contrary, he said, as under developed areas in Asia, Africa and Latin America grow in economic strength and prosperity, "they will increase the economic strength and prosperity of the whole world."

Truman, in a pointed reference to Russia, said that "one nation did not want to help world recovery."

"That nation," he said, "wished to prolong and intensify the misery of others (in the immediate post-war period), so that it could gain domination over them."

The Russian attitude, he said, made it necessary for this country "to work with other countries to build the combined strength necessary not only to withstand aggression, but also to achieve peace and human advancement."

"If we are to have that kind of peace, we must be willing to work hard and long for it," he said. "We must be willing to bear the temporary costs of defensive armaments as well as those of constructive economic development."

After his speech and lunch on the campus, the President returned by train to St. Louis for his annual reunion with World War I buddies of the 35th division.

Government Asks Speedy Perjury Trial

NEW YORK, June 9 (UP)—The federal government demanded today the fastest possible trial of William Remington on charges he lied when he swore under oath he never was a Communist.

Remington, a 32-year-old $10,000 a year man in the commerce department, declared he is innocent.

Promising to surrender here for arraignment next Tuesday, the handsome government economist said he told the truth when he answered "no" to a federal grand jury which asked: "At any time have you ever been a member of the Communist party?"

The grand jury said, however, it believed the testimony of three former Communists who said they knew Remington as a Communist when he was 19 years old. It returned an indictment charging him with perjury, an offense punishable by a maximum prison term of five years, and a fine of $10,000.

United States Attorney Irving H. Saypol said it was "the intention of the government to move this trial as promptly as possible."

Child-Rapist Burns While Parents Mourn

HUNTSVILLE, June 9 (UP)—A convicted child rapist died in the electric chair today, claiming innocence in his last words.

When William K. Ray, 35, was asked if he had anything to say before his execution, he replied: "I'm dying for something I don't know anything about. I've been treated pretty tough, but I hope God will forgive the persons who persecuted me. May God have mercy on their souls."

Ray's mother and sister, who had joined the rapist in a condemnation of newspapermen who covered his trial, sat in an automobile 25 feet from the death chamber at the Texas State Penitentiary during the execution.

Ray was given the death sentence for raping a nine-year-old girl in Fort Worth two years ago.

County Still Lags In Bond Buying Drive

Sale of Series E savings bonds in Eastland County continued to grow.

But the $15,927.50 in bonds that has been sold in the first three weeks of the drive is far from the $108,700 quota accepted by the county.

There haven't been too many bonds sold in the state yet. A report from the treasury department shows $5,397,589.25 worth of bonds sold out of the quota of $24,088,000.

Gordon Brown, director of publicity for the current campaign said that next week's report, which will include a large volume of May sales not previously reported, is expected to show a tremendous increase.

First Negro Student At UT Finds Fellows Helpful; No Resentment

AUSTIN, June 9 (UP)—The happiest man at the University of Texas today was John Saunders Chase, the first Negro admitted to the traditionally all-white campus.

With a legal assist from the U. S. Supreme Court, Chase, 25, took an unsegregated seat in an architecture class yesterday.

Chase's face was expressionless as Hugh L. McMath, director of the School of Architecture, introduced him to his 14 classmates.

McMath said he believed each shook hands with Chase.

"I didn't attempt to make anything of it," McMath said. "I did what would be done for any new student. He's just one of the boys."

"I sat about half way back," Chase said. "As the rest of the class came in, they just filled in."

If the white students resented his presence, they did not show it, Chase said.

"Everybody was very helpful," he remarked. "For instance, in the bookstore this morning, one fellow voluntarily helped me out."

Heath will not eat lunch on the campus. He said he would have sufficient time to return to a lumber yard, where he works, to eat.

Another Negro, Horace Lincoln Heath, 50, of Waco, will enter the graduate school today.

Acceptance of the two students at the state university followed a U. S. Supreme Court ruling Monday ordering the school to admit Herman Marion Sweat, a Houston Negro, to the state law school.

Sweat had refused to attend the Texas State University for Negroes, which has its own law school. The Supreme Court found that, whereas a separate law school was available for Negroes, it did not offer facilities equal with that of the University of Texas.

Sweat said he would enter the law school in September.

Hulen Hazard To Preach At Morton Valley

The subject of the sermon will be: "The Greatest of These is Love."

The pastor, Joe Smith, will conduct at the evening service following training union which meets at 7:30 p. m. A youth fellowship meeting will follow the evening service.

Superfort May Have Shot Self Down Over Sea

YARMOUTH, England, June 9 (UP)—Reliable sources reported today that an American superfortress which plunged afire into the North Sea Wednesday night shot itself down in a rare if not unique mishap.

Three crewmen died, four were rescued, and four still were missing in the downing of the superfortress some 85 miles off Yarmouth.

The search for the missing men continued. Fall foreshore over hundreds of miles of the North Sea. Hope ran low that any of them would be saved.

FBI Director Asks For More Money As Reds Go Underground

By George E. Reedy, Jr.

WASHINGTON, June 8 (UP)—Official FBI figures disclosed today that a two-year-old Communist program to infiltrate basic U. S. industries has met with a high degree of success.

The figures were supplied to a senate appropriations subcommittee at a closed session last Feb. 3 by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover. The transcript of his testimony was not released until last night.

Hoover said the Communists have a "potential fifth column" of 540,000 persons—54,174 actual members and some 500,000 sympathizers and fellow travelers.

He said unprecedented numbers of Communist agents are seeking vital American atomic, military and industrial secrets in operations that are more extensive than those carried out by Nazis and Fascists during World War II.

But even more important, he said, is the fact that 48 per cent of the party's members are "in the basic industry of this country" — in New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, California and Michigan.

"In this manner," he said "they would be able to sabotage essential industry in vital defense areas in the event of a national emergency."

While there are only 54,174 actual members in the party, Hoover said, its leaders "boast that for every member there are 10 others who— are ready, willing and able to do the party's work."

"In other words," he said, "there is a potential fifth column of 540,000 people dedicated to this philosophy."

Hoover's figures demonstrated a sharp increase — nearly 30 per cent — in the number of party members in basic industries since 1948.

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

By J. Fred Eder—United Press
 Outdoors Consultant

Few anglers realize or appreciate the efforts of Mother Nature to provide us with great gifts.

For instance, did you know that some species of bamboo blossom only about every 32 years? And that some bamboo plants have been known to grow as much as 16 inches in a single day?

The next time you pick up that bamboo rod remember the role of Mother Nature in making your fishing pleasant.

High in California's Sierra Nevada Mountains, Mother Nature went out of her way to make sure that the golden yellow trout got along in the world.

About the turn of the century when these brightly-colored species of trout were discovered, it wasn't long until two more discoveries of the same golden trout were found in other remote and completely separate localities of the Sierras.

This beautiful game fish is found nowhere else on the globe. But, in this day there has been no satisfactory explanation of how it originated two miles high in the snow-capped Sierras.

In recent years the golden trout has been transplanted to a number of high-altitude lakes near their original water. They have thrived. It no longer is a scarce beauty, but still remains one of Mother Nature's unexplained mysteries.

Lake Texoma in the past few weeks has produced some exciting sport fishing.

Sand bass are striking savagely after a layoff and black bass are cooperating well for the angler with the "know how".

Remarkable catches are being reported on sand bass in the vicinity of the Famous Islands, Island View Camp, Highport Resort, Millcreek, Big Mineral and Platter Flats.

Crappie still are biting good and have been taking well to small, midget lures.

Most sand bass takes have been from trolling.

Top water lures are now in first place in producing good strings and fishing is picking up throughout the state.

A skillfully-worked top water lure can result in a mighty-thrilling explosion these days.

Now for the mail bag:
 Q. Is the name "Bronzeback" correct for largemouth black bass?
 A. The name "Bronzeback" usually is applied to the smallmouth bass, but we've heard it used for largemouth many times. It originates from the fact that in some waters the smallmouth has a bronze look.

Q. Why is a leader between plug and line?
 A. A transparent or light grey colored nylon leaders has a tendency to camouflage the line from the bait, creating the effect that the lure is a separate object. In case of a snag down deep, a leader of lighter test than the line will break first, preventing loss of a lot of good casting line.

Ranger Rambling

By the paper, I see where General MacArthur has clamped down on some Japanese Commie editors.

Since this is some 12,000 miles away, little has been said.

Yet sometimes, I wonder if MacArthur doesn't clamp down on persons too rapidly. I admit he's got a hard job. And with some of the crud that Commies can spell out, he, you and I oftentimes would like to kick them in one specific place for a quick trip to the salt mines of Siberia.

At the same time, it's dangerous as the devil for any man to start clamping down on the freedom of the press—even if some wisecracker starts misusing that freedom.

And again we grant it's not happening here—it's just happening to a bunch of radicals.

But I'm remembering that maybe we wouldn't have had to fight this past war if we'd been concerned about some Chinese back about 1932 or some Ethiopians back about 1936.

So when anyone starts clamping down on freedom of the press it's time to do a little worrying.

It's bad when some ruler in stand will be Council Representative with the Commissary.

some other country starts censorship. But it's even worse when an American ruler clamps down. It's a bad habit to see started, 12,000 miles away or close at home.

When you allow one guy's freedom to be abridged, you're setting up a situation that will eventually abridge your freedom. We're in a tough fight with Communism. They're dirty fighters, they've got lots of tricks up their sleeves and it's getting to be a meaner and meaner fight.

But if in that fight we lose the things that we've come to believe mean Democracy, we may win nothing but a bag of bones. If we stoop to totalitarianism at home to beat totalitarianism abroad, we're not going to gain much.

And for that reason if you believe in Democracy instead of totalitarianism you've got to fight for it every moment, not letting momentary hatreds blind you to the fact that the minute you allow one man's liberty restricted, you are making the chains that will shackle you.

For example, if the deed is drawn in a careless manner by an inexperienced person it may be full of errors which will show up in your abstract when it comes time to sell, get a loan or lease for oil and gas. The abstractor must copy the instrument just as he finds it on record. The moral is, have your legal documents drawn carefully and only by experienced conveyancers.

Palmer Is A Cop Who Loves Kids Plenty

—Lt. Frank Palmer is a cop who loves kids.

If the occasion demands, he'll lollypop 'em sick, but at the same time he likes to see them grow up to be big people. So with the cooperation of authorities in Arlington County, Virginia, and the American Automobile Association, our copper friend has devised a plan.

He looked at the national record. It wasn't good. In 1948, more than 500 children were killed when dumped off their bikes by cars. That same year there were 30,000 other accidents in which young folks were maimed in car-bike mishaps.

So Palmer and his helpers decided to teach the small fry of Arlington County something that might save a life or a limb.

Late in August they're going to have a bike rodeo for all comers. There will be movies showing how to—and how not to—ride a bicycle. There will be an inspection of brakes, seats, lights, reflectors, tires, chains, lubrication, and a look at the wheels to see if they are in-line.

"These things are as important in a bike as in an automobile," Palmer said. "Bad brakes, or handlebars that are on the bias can be as dangerous on a two-wheeler as on a four-wheeler."

"If the kids pass, we'll give them a sticker to paste on their fender. Later we will issue license tags which the young folks can tack onto the back of their bikes. Good psychology, too."

In case a boy or girl fails to pass the test, the county gives him or her 30 days to fix things up—so they can get well with Arlington County.

As an incentive, the county civic leaders put up $300 in prizes for safe bike riding.

In case your small one—certainly a potential victim of some big folk's carelessness if not his own—rides a bike, you might want to paste these rules of safety up on the bedroom wall:

Don't ride in street car track grooves.

Don't ride two on a bike. It's dangerous because the wheel is difficult to control.

Don't ride on the wrong side of the road. Keep to the right and stay close to the curb.

Don't dart into a traffic lane from between parked cars. Always look in both directions.

Don't cough disaster by zipping along, "no hands." It is too easy to lose your balance. Always grip the handlebars with both hands.

Actually these rules come from the District of Columbia motor Club, But Lt. Palmer backs them up with all his weight.

He goes a little farther in his campaign. He tests the kids, one by one. They are given a certain distance to pump it up as fast as they can. Then they are commanded to stop—within a given area.
