Oil Field Daredevils Working To Snuff Out Exploding Well

SNYDER, June 12 (UP)—Oil field daredevils today cautiously tried to snuff out a sensational oil well fire that caused the death of one worker.

The well exploded late Saturday night and raged out of control spouting flames 500 feet into the air.

Jack M. Bristol, 26, a geologist for the Hughes Engineering

Co. of Fort Worth, was killed as he drove away from a nearby well. The blast caused a pocket of gas around him to ignite.

Firefighting equipment and troubleshooters arrived late yesterday, but the terrific heat from the burning geyser made it impossible to use the equipment last night. The operation was postponed until today.

Authorities said there appeared no danger of the fire spreading to other wells in the field.

SAVES FIVE IN FIRE

—One father who will always be a hero to his children is Carl Huber, 25, pictured in Elyria (Ohio) Hospital. Although bleeding badly from a severed artery, he carried four of his six small children to safety from a fire that wrecked his Elyria home. Then he dashed back into the blazing house and rescued a fifth child. In the meantime his wife Joyce, 22, had saved the sixth. Huber, who cut his arm when he punched his fist through a window pane "to let the smoke out," collapsed from loss of blood. (NEA Telephoto).

Mac Arthur Rules Hawley Persona Non Grata, Today

TOKYO, June 12 (UP)—Frank Hawley, Tokyo correspondent of the London Times, has been designated "Persona non Grata" by Gen. Douglas MacArthur because of a recent dispatch criticizing events in Japan, it was disclosed today.

MacArthur's views were communicated verbally to British Ambassador Sir Alvir D. F. Gascoigne last Thursday by Maj. Gen. Edward Almond, chief of staff at supreme headquarters.

So far Hawley has not been asked to leave Japan nor has he been given the privilege of filing cable dispatches to the Times being revoked.

Almond said that MacArthur objected specifically to two points in a dispatch filed by Hawley on June 6.

1. That in banning all Tokyo demonstrations, Japanese police violated article 21 of the Japanese constitution.

2. That police asked to be relieved of their guns because of a fear of retaliation in event Japan became Communist.

The dispatch as it appeared in the London Times was reported back to Japanese newspapers by news agencies.

Hawley met with Almond for an hour Thursday night to discuss the situation. After the conference Hawley said he had been told that both points were in error.

Hawley said he since has ascertained that the dispatch as he sent it was "slightly incorrect" and that he has filed a correction.

Searchers Recover

ABILENE, June 12 (UP)—Searchers late yesterday recovered the body of A. G. Powers, 18, who was drowned in Fort Phantom Hill lake 10 miles north of here when the boat, in which he and two companions were riding, sank.

Not looking where you're going when you cross the street is very likely to give you that rundown feeling.

SOME DEMOS WILL BOLT PARTY LEAD

Candidates Are Scared Of AMA And Farm Bureau

By Lyle C. Wilson
WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—Some Democratic congressional candidates will bolt the administration this year on a couple of President Truman's prime campaign issues.

They are the Brannan Plan and compulsory medical insurance.

The Brannan Plan would maintain high farm prices with subsidies while food prices sought a lower level at the retail counter. High prices to farmers and low prices to consumers are the objectives. What the plan would cost has never been estimated.

Compulsory medical insurance would cost about $6,500,000,000 in its first year. Federal security administrator Oscar R. Ewing estimates that about $1,500,000,000 of this would come from general tax revenue; the remainder from a payroll tax.

The American Farm Bureau Federation and some unorganized farmers are hotly against the plan bearing the name of Secretary Charles F. Brannan. The American Medical Association and some unorganized voters are equally opposed to compulsory medical insurance.

Such opposition is not healthy for political candidates. Some are uneasy over the all-out campaign by the Democratic National Committee to make the two plans top issues in this year's congressional elections.

A group of worried Democratic Senators recently met with committee chairman William M. Boyle, Jr. They are not sure they persuaded him to lay off. One told the United Press:

"It seems that Brannan and Ewing have more influence than we do."

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas, Ill., already has rejected the Brannan plan and Medical insurance as issues in his hot reelection campaign against former Rep. Everett Dirksen, Republican.

Associates of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Dr. N. M., chairman of the Senate Democratic Committee, report him to be objecting to the national committee's Brannan plan promotion. Brannan succeeded Anderson in the cabinet.

One of the complaints against Boyle is that he is using the national committee to promote policies which some individual senate candidates feel would jeopardize their reelection.

Scouts, Leaders Urged To Sign Up For Coming Year

All scout leaders and scouts who haven't registered for the coming year are asked to do so at next Tuesday meeting.

The scouts will hold their regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the basement of the First Baptist Church.

Child's Cry Scares Away Negro Prowler

DALLAS, June 12 (UP)—A Negro prowler was frightened by a child's cry today as he rummaged through a dresser drawer and, in making his escape, he shot and critically wounded the owner of the house.

Police said the injured man was Edmundo Grinaldo, 32.

Mrs. Grinaldo said she and her husband were aroused from their sleep by the screams of one of their children. A few seconds later the Negro rushed through their bedroom and fired one shot.

The bullet struck Grinaldo in the collar bone and moved downward, tipping his lung and lodging between his seventh and eighth ribs.

Police said the prowler, believed to be about 45, left behind a pair of good house slippers in his flight. He also left a print of his big toe in a flower bed near the window where he made his entrance.

Parkland Hospital authorities gave Grinaldo a "fighting chance" to live.

GOVERNMENT EXPERTS SAY BOOM GOOD

They Predict US Will Have More Prosperity

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—Government experts believe the national economy is in the midst of its biggest peacetime boom, will continue to prosper for at least another 18 months.

Economists noted that production, income and employment are up and said the best guess is that these economic indicators will continue to climb throughout 1951.

The gross national output—the total value of all goods and services produced—stood at the annual rate of $263,900,000,000 for the first three months of this year. If the pace is maintained, 1950 will set a new peacetime record.

Also contributing to the optimism is the plan of businessmen to build new plants and buy new equipment.

The Commerce Department reported that personal income, not including life insurance dividends paid former servicemen, climbed to an annual rate of $136,700,000,000 in April. This was almost $3,000,000,000 higher than the annual rate last year.

The department also said total wages and salaries were on the upswing. In April they rose to the annual rate of $136,700,000,000 about $1,800,000,000 higher than the previous month.

The Labor Department reported that some 300,000 fewer workers drew unemployment compensation last month than in May, 1949.

Conceding that some of the drop might have been caused by workers exhausting their right to benefits, the department thought most of the decline resulted from new jobs in the construction industry, agriculture and summer resorts.

Taxi Drivers Studying If Should Fish

HOUSTON, June 12 (UP)—Taxi drivers were making up their minds early today whether they would "go fishing" in a protest walkout against alleged police brutality.

Harold Suber, business agent for taxi drivers Local 549 (AFL), was scheduled to meet at 9 a. m. with police chief B. W. Payne to discuss drivers' complaints about police conduct.

Suber said the union men sought an explanation of alleged discrimination against them by policemen.

He explained no strike was scheduled, adding, "but the boys might decide to go fishing."

Cabmen claimed that three drivers were beaten last Tuesday after a fight with an off-duty city policeman accused of parking his car in a cab stand.

One of the drivers, Harvey N. Bailey, 40, remained in a hospital suffering with a concussion, a fractured rib and multiple bruises.

Bailey and another of the trio, Robert D. Hayes, 33, were charged with aggravated assault. The third driver, Roy Morales, was released.

Hayes said he was beaten in a patrol car. Bailey claimed he was beaten in the car and again at police headquarters.

NEAR DEATH

—Bushman, sixfoot-two-inch, $100,000 gorilla of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo, is near death from a combination of heart disease, arthritis and old age. The 550-pound ape's age is estimated at more than 20 years.

Two Talents Make Lung

TYLER, June 12 (UP)—An artfully minded doctor and a gifted machinist combined their talents to put an iron lung in working order for a new polio patient, hospital authorities said today.

The iron lung was moved from San Antonio to Tyler several days ago. When young Earl Hudson was admitted yesterday, hospital attendants learned to their dismay that a part was missing.

A doctor drew a sketch of the missing part and machinist L. M. Foreman hurried to his shop. In less than 30 minutes, Foreman made a new part and installed it in the iron lung.

Newsman Decides For Reds

A New Jersey dog bit eight people—which reminds us that mosquito season is with us again.

Laundryman Almost Succeeds In Televising His Suicide At Game

HOUSTON, June 12 (UP)—A laundryman almost succeeded in televising his suicide, police said today.

Stanford Twente, 50, walked into the press box of the Houston baseball park last night sat in front of television camera, and fired a bullet into his temple.

He died a short time later in a Houston hospital without knowing that his plan only partially succeeded.

The camera was focused on the diamond, where the Tulsa Oilers and Houston Buffs were in the sixth inning of a Texas league game.

Television fans did not see Twente put the gun to his temple, but they heard the sound of the bullet and saw his body slump as the camera was wheeled in his direction.

More Mystery Added Today To Amerasia

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover added new mystery to the Amerasia stolen document case today, by saying the late James Forrestal never asked him to delay the arrests of suspects.

Ever since the five-year-old case has come up for re-investigation by a Senate subcommittee and a federal grand jury, a key question has been the identity of the person who caused a brief delay in the arrests—a delay finally counter-manded by President Truman himself.

May 28, 1945, entry in Forrestal's diary, made public by the Justice Department Saturday, some light on the mystery.

Forrestal wrote that, as navy Secretary, he intervened because he was convinced the arrests would have complicated founding sessions of the United Nations and served to "embarrass" President Truman in delicate negotiations with the Russians. He said he telephoned Hoover and James K. Yardsman, Jr., then Truman's naval aide, urging that the chief executive be informed regarding "all the facts in the matter as well as their implication."

Hoover told the United Press in Milwaukee last night that: "At no time did Forrestal indicate to me a desire to delay or stop the Amerasia case."

The FBI chief said Forrestal asked him merely to tell J. M. C. Clark, then head of the Justice Department's Criminal Division to keep Truman informed of the facts in the case.

Yardsman, now a member of the Federal Reserve Board, has cast some doubts on the accuracy of Forrestal's diary entry.

He told Senate investigators last week that he had no knowledge of the Amerasia case until recently, had discussed it with no one and Forrestal never would have discussed a matter of that importance with a naval aide. He stuck to those statements after the diary entry was made public.

Phillip Jaffe Russian-born greeting card manufacturer and editor of the now-defunct Amerasia magazine, faced extensive questioning by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee studying the case.

Green Collis Bill An Insult

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—AFL President William Green said today—that a bill to outlaw railroad strikes is a "gratuitous insult to union members throughout the country."

Democrat Big-Wigs Meet
AUSTIN, June 12 (UP)—Texas Democratic big-wigs gathered here today for a state executive committee meeting and a closed political pow-wow with party leaders from Washington.

Justice of the Peace Tom Maes, who was viewing the game on a T-V set, ruled without leaving his home that Twente's death was a suicide. He base his report on what he saw on the screen and upon the reports of witnesses.

Dick Gottlieb, KLEE-TV sport announcer, told police that Twente entered the box and sat between him and the camera. He tried to warn Twente away, he said, the man whipped out the gun and shot himself.

The video crew went telecasting the game.

Police said Twente, in a side note dated June 12, gave instructions for disposal of effects.

Hankins College Alumni Hold Annual Homecoming At Gorman

By Buena Van Winkle
 The meeting of the Hankins Exs, June 8th 1950, was not outstandingly different in scope or makeup to any other meeting of any group of ex-students of any other beloved Alma Mater. Its President, Elzo Been, called the meeting to order about 10:30 a. m. with the secretary, Mrs. Pearl Powers Duncan, assisting with the program. Congregational singing was led by Ike Butler of Carbon, while the invocation was given by Robert Palmer of Stephenville. Memorial service was given by the Reverend G. W. Thomas of Carbon. Those remembered that will not be with the group again were: Tom Eummit, Sam Huckabee; Newt Crawley, Ranger; Electra Horn Hagood, Lorenzo; Ernest Jones, Eastland; Clyde Mason Vinson, Abilene; Riley Wragg, Abilene; Mrs. Walter Anglin, Lubbock; John Bales, Lubbock; Reuel Sikes, Eastland; Henry Russell, Tucumcari, New Mexico; and Col. Caldwell, Crane.

Meeting was adjourned until after lunch.

The principal address was given immediately after lunch by Hob Gray of Austin, who used as his theme: "A Common Denominator." Mr. Gray was followed by J. F. Hankins who spoke from his heart, as he told the group. From past contacts with the only member of the Hankins left those 123 Ex's registered for the meeting all seemed to feel that J. F. Hankins' heart is big enough to take them all in. During the business session which followed Mr. Hankins' remarks, Claiborne Eldredge of Doodson was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, while Edna Anderson Kirk (Mrs. John Kirk) was elected secretary, and Mrs. Mollie Alsbrook Dean was named as treasurer. Mr. Eldridge appointed Florence Butler, Rosa Vaughn Boucher, and Florence Summit Underwood, all of Gorman; and Robert Palmer of Stephenville; and Ed Leighton of Eastland to a committee for the coming year's work. The meeting was closed with a prayer by Clyde Garrett.

When the nostalgic note is struck in any speech the heart strings of those in the audience of listeners are usually responsive and that was certainly the case at Thursday's meeting of the Exs of old Hankins Normal College which flourished in Gorman from about 1901 to 1913. The principal speaker, Hob Gray, who is with the University of Texas in both a teaching capacity and as head of their placement, voiced such a note. He told how he had driven around for perhaps 30 minutes trying to locate some physical landmark out where the Old College used to be, but that he finally had to give up the quest because there was not so much as a stick or a stone indicating the locations of old buildings or playgrounds. On the acreage where the college formerly stood are now located the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association offices, Gorman Peanut Shelling Co., the Primitive Baptist Church, and numerous dwellings.

Those of us who have our own particular attachment for some college which meant so much to us in former years, and which now has a peculiar place in our memories, can only begin to appreciate the feelings which Mr. Gray let the audience see he had experienced at his disappointed quest for some visible sign that the old school was still remembered in the neighborhood.

However, Hankins Normal School, even without a proper marker of its old location, is a just as many markers in the hearts of those it touched as there are still hearts to beat and to testify to the influence it wielded.

The Hankins twins—J. H. and J. F.—were two Arkansas country boys who coming from rural areas themselves, knew just how to go out into the Hogtown (Desdemona) Rising Star, and other rural communities surrounding Gorman where they had located their normal school, and to give that stimulant to the latent ambition and courage to the farm youth which they found in those areas.

When the matter of money for an education would come up J. F. Hankins told how he could always help the farmer locate a pig or a cow, or some chickens which he could send along with his son or daughter to help to pay for their tuition. The board was only $9.00 per month! Evidently some of us lived too late.

The Reverend G. W. Thomas of Carbon who gave the Memorial service, Hob Gray of Austin, who was the principal speaker, and J. F. Hankins, the only remaining member of the Hankins team—all three speakers emphasized strongly throughout the day one main theme.

That theme was: The Hankins brothers gave a stimulant to the latent ambition and courage which all youth possesses to a greater or lesser degree, thus causing all those who passed through it to be that spirit of ambition, determination, and dauntless courage, and integrity of character which has led them to become leaders in their communities and in the various fields of endeavor in which they have fitted themselves.

Victor Sprattling's family—that is, the family of his brothers and sisters—seemed typical of this theme to us as we talked with him at some length. In fact he really summed the thing up in those very words which we have used: "That the Hankins boys acted as a stimulant to the latent ambition and courage" to the youth which they contacted. There were seven brothers and sisters in this family. All seven were touched educationally by the Hankins brothers. All seven were taught in public schools by the Hankins boys. Then five of the family attended the Hankins Normal college. The Sprattling family was a comparatively large family with not too much money. Just a good hard working American family. They lived two miles from town and all the children walked the two miles to school. They had no idea of going higher educationally than the little local school because a college career, even in those days cost money, and there were seven of them.

Then the Hankins brothers came into the lives of the youngsters of this family. As Victor further added: "They got us kids to believing we could get an education and could really be somebody in the world." We checked on the seven members of the Sprattling family and here is what they have done with themselves after having been touched by the Hankins team:

Johnson Car Plate

Victor Sprattling lives in Fort Worth and is a Railway Mail Clerk almost ready for retirement. Cecil Sprattling lived in Henderson, until his decease and he too, was a Railway Mail Clerk. Claude Sprattling lives in Ft. Worth and is an attorney; W. Trimble Sprattling lives in Smithville where he is connected with the Katy Railway; Hosea Sprattling is a mail carrier in Galveston. Mrs. Gladys Sprattling Binion lives in Texas City. She is now a housewife, after having taught for several years and Mrs. Lyde Sprattling Griffin was a housewife living in Lubbock at the time of her death.

To us this is a typical American family which attests to the fact that there are possibilities in each boy and girl of the average American family if some person or force comes into the life of that family energizing its latent ambitions and courage as did the Hankins brothers and the Hankins Institution for this family.

Throughout the day we felt strongly that we were dealing with the human equation in the gathering of Hankins exs, so we shall try to give you readers some of the human side as we found it.

We thought it would be interesting to check on how many

Hankins men married Hankins girls and how many of such couples were in attendance on the 1950 meeting. Various estimates were made as to the percentage of Hankins students marrying within the ranks but we finally settled on not more than 25 per cent, and there were only 3 of such couples present Thursday: Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Frost, Sr., of Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper of Moody—Mrs. Cooper was the former Ruby Oney; and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Harper of Gorman; Mrs. Harper was formerly Norma Moorman. And of course, there are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hankins—she was the former Ada McEntire. Ada McEntire attended the college as a student before she married J. F. Hankins and then joined the teaching staff of the school.

We then scouted around to see how many had two or more members of the same family present who had both been students of Hankins. Some of these were: Loma McKnight, and Fannie Burkett, (the Pullig sisters) — they both live in San Antonio; Mrs. Burkett is with Frosts while Mrs.

McKnight, operates her own beauty salon; Elzo Been and Rufus Been—both still reside in Eastland county where Elzo has held various political offices, now being county attorney, while Rufus is a farmer-rancher in Carbon; Mrs.

The Little Things We Notice—
... in preparing your abstract often grow into big things as time passes. For example, if the deed is drawn in a careless manner by an inexperienced person it may be full of errors which will show up in your abstract when it comes time to sell, get a loan or lease for oil and gas. The abstractor must copy the instrument just as he finds it on record. The moral is, have your legal documents drawn carefully and only by experienced conveyancers.

Hankins --

Allie Brooks Gilbert, of Carbon, and her sister, Miss Maude Brooks of Fort Worth; Virgil Love, County Clerk of Eastland and his brother, Clarence who at one time held the same position here. There may have been other teams but we could not get them together long enough to get all the facts.

And of course there are women from Hankins who have and are achieving. Dr. Daisy Pirty of Stillwater, Oklahoma, is properly called Dr. Pirty because she is a Ph.D. Miss Ulla Davenport, a teacher of some note in Sapulpa, Oklahoma; Mrs. Linda Purdy Kinney, wife of Henry Kinney of Stamford, who is the only licensed woman embalmer-undertaker in all the whole area of West Texas; Rosa-Vaught Boucher, who taught for a number of years, was postmistress of Gorman for years, and then city secretary of Gorman for seven years; Mrs. Cheryl Heath of Rising Star was born as good neighbor by one of her neighbors from Sipe Springs and won a place on the National Radio Program of "Tell Your Neighbor" featured by Walt Mason and broadcast from New York.

Hankins had its share of those men who were smitten by the political bug. Elzo Been, county attorney, Eastland county; Virgil Love, county clerk of Eastland county; Warren Winters, Mineral Wells, who is chief accountant of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district, which built the Possum Kingdom Dam. He now sees an urgent need for at least three more of such dams; Clyde Garrett of Washington, D. C. who has held political spotlight positions so long that his constituency think of him in terms of holding some office or position of national importance always; and Oscar Lyerla, Democratic chairman for Eastland county, a position which he holds along with his job with Texas Electric, and also his interests in his farm and ranch in the Flatwood Community.

The oldest man present was P. S. Pullig of Gorman who had three daughters attend Hankins, while the member traveling the furthest to get to the reunion was Mrs. Gert Chambless Kirkpatrick of Natchez, Mississippi, who estimated conservatively she traveled 600 miles to get here for the Thursdays' meeting.

Alex Browning of Denton, gave us an item as we were concluding our interviews which we believe you will appreciate as a closing remark. He said that when he left Gorman and Eastland county in 1917, that every office in the Eastland courthouse was filled by former Hankins students. To me that is a record of no mean achievement, certainly a clear example of just how the Old Hankins Normal school did reach out and touch those who came to it, bringing out their latent ambition and courage to a full fruition.

Mount Rainier and Point Success, 14,408 and 14,150 feet high, respectively, are the two highest peaks in Washington State.

By PATRICIA CLARY

United Press Staff Correspondent Hollywood (U.P.)—If Louis B. Mayer can do it, Louis F. Costello won't be left behind.

The stouter member of Abbott and Costello has followed the stouter member of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in breeding and racing horses. Costello had six thoroughbreds at Tannofan, eight more at Garden City and 12 at his home North Hollywood ranch.

The comic has got so wrapped up in racing that he spends most of his time between scenes of Universal-International's "Abbott and Costello in the Foreign Legion" at the telephone confering on strategy to berring in a winner.

"At least they won't kid me like they kid Bing Crosby," he said. "My horses win often enough to off the radio."

Costello isn't much of a horse man himself. He'd rather look at his nag from the other side of a high strong fence.

"I was kicked by a horse when I was a kid," he said. "I've been scared of them every since."

Pets One Mare
The only equine who gets to nuzzle Costello for sugar is Lolly C., a mare named for his mother. For the first time in his life, since his childhood accident, he's been able to approach a horse and pet her.

"She's got a six-week-old filly, Little Lolly," Costello reported, readily showing signs of being a racer. I bet she'll be another Busher."

If he gets a good racer, he can match it with one from the stable of his boss, William Goetz, production chief at Universal-International. Goetz's stable was made famous in less than a year by his great colt 'Your Host'.

Costello's elder daughters, Patricia Ann, 13, and Carole Lou, 11, spend all their free time at the ranch learning how to ride.

"They go crazy about it," Costello said, "they absolutely refused at first to go to Europe with me to convince them some London, Scotland and Paris was more important than a dry riding lesson."

In 1899, coal furnished 89 per cent of all energy consumed in the United States. By 1938 it provided only 49 per cent.

Harvey McGown of Dallas was here Sunday to attend the funeral services for J. D. Jones.
