Connie Mack Admits Dreams Of One More Pennant Turn Into Nightmare

PHILADELPHIA, (UP)—Nearing the end of a long baseball trail, silver-haired Connie Mack admitted today that his dreams of "just one more pennant" had turned into a nightmare.

This was to have been the year, Connie believed, when his dreams might come true. He had, he thought, one of the best pitching staffs in baseball—and the vision was bright for his tenth American league flag.

Long years of disappointment lay behind him. His beloved Athletics hadn't won a pennant since 1911. Since 1933 they had been in the first division and yonce, a fourth place windup in 1948, and last season they had skidded to fifth.

But a 87, Connie asserted, you have learned patience. He had waited, hopefully, and this year the long-thwarted dream appeared to be nearing fulfillment.

Yet things didn't work out the way he had planned. The pitching staff which promised greatness was a fraudulent imitation and in the major leagues when you can't get 'em out you can't win. So today the A's are in a hopeless, cellar battle with the St. Louis Browns and Connie's heart, bright with hope in the spring, is heavy and his once-bright blue eyes are shaded with disillusion.

"Nobody will ever know how disappointed I am," he said bitterly. "I thought this might be my year but I have to admit now that it isn't. I can't tell you how disappointed I am."

"Our pitching failed us," Connie admitted. "Dick Fowler has recurrent Bursitis which has become worse. Joe Coleman has a bad pain in his shoulder. Alex Kellner has had a difficult time getting started. Frankly, I have no hope for Fowler and Coleman.

"Look at the statistics and you'll see why we have dropped so badly," Connie added.

"In our first 41 games out pitchers gave up 430 hits and 206 bases on balls. That doesn't count errors, either, which means that we have been putting 16 or 17 of the opposition on base in each game."

"You just don't win ball games—and pennants—that way," Mack muttered.

Every tick of the clock is bringing Connie that much closer to the final out and he realizes better than anyone else that his chances of "just one more pennant" can't stand many more such failures as the one his A's are suffering in 1950.

"As a matter of fact, it is a dream which is almost gone."

Foster Dulles Hints US Ready To Defend Japan Against Aggression

TOKYO, Japan, June 22 (UP)—Japanese government leaders asked U. S. State department adviser John Foster Dulles today for a quick separate peace with the Western Democracies and American protection against Communist aggression.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida, Upper House President Naotake Sato and former Premier Kijuro Shidehara, all ranking members of the pro-American liberal party, conferred with Dulles after consulting Emperor Hirohito.

They told the republic foreign policy expert that Japan wanted a peace treaty with the West even if Russia and Communist China refused to sign it.

They also were reported to have said that Japan would offer voluntarily to lease military bases to the United States as protection against possible Soviet aggression.

Dulles hinted at a press conference earlier that the United States is ready to defend Japan against any future aggression.

While Dulles was consulting government leaders, U. S. Defense Minister Louis Johnson and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, paid a flying visit to Okinawa.

They returned to Japan proper later today and met their wives at Kyoto, Japan's cultural center 220 miles west of Tokyo.

Johnson told newsmen at Okinawa that the United States intends to build the strategic island into an impregnable base that can defend itself from any attack from Communist Asia.

He implied that the U. S. intends to hold onto the island, which lies half-way between Formosa and Japan proper, even after a peace treaty has been signed.

American military operations will be in Okinawa "for a long time," he said.

Ranger Rambling

Everything appears quiet on the rodeo front. Most of the preliminary work has been done. Now it's a matter of waiting and building promotion for what may be Ranger's biggest rodeo.

The Jaycees have a top hand, Frank Mariani, to ramrod the events.

Marian is the third spelling of Frank's name I am offering. The first time I tried it Merriam. Frank mentioned that there was one 'r' too many in the name so out it came.

That made it Meriam. Then one of the linotype operators decided that didn't look right and looked it up in a directory. We tried to get it in the way the directory spelled it but it didn't quite make it. Then I met Miss Marjorie Maddox, who ramrods the Southwestern Life Insurance company, and she told me that Mariani was right and to give it a go around again.

I note by the front page of the Times that the local square dance club is going to throw a big jamboree here, Friday night. This should attract a large number of people into town.

Square dancing is the best dancing I know to watch—from the exercise point of view. It should equal a good work-out, just standing or sitting on the sidelines and watching the gyrations of the dancers.

And as for the dancing itself, I've never understood why fight managers didn't include it in their boxers curricula. It should speed up the footwork—and with boxing in its present state—that footwork is all important.

Eventually, if things keep going as they are—in the fight world, they'll be awarding championships to some Swedish runner with the world's fastest long distance pace.

There's lots of people around yet, who remember dancing the square when that was the only way to dance.

The nice thing about square dancing was that you didn't need a fancy pair of slippers, a hardwood floor or a large orchestra.

If the going wanted a get-together, you hauled a fiddler out of someone's woodpile, scraped the straw back from the barn loft floor, and got down to work.

Then folks began to build hardwood floors. And not wanting to see them go to waste, they decided the square dancing was a little too much of a good thing and imported the waltz and fox trot.

This did pretty good though a little less time when everybody was acting with decor and the world was plumb played out from fighting a war, and making money.

By the thirties, we'd got all the money made, lost it a little quicker than we made it and didn't have any work to do so we started the Big Apple, the Lindy Hop and a few other jitterbug numbers.

We found out that was okay. Until we got up in the late twenties and then the pace began to tell. Our ears couldn't take the jagged rhythm, our knees couldn't stand the contortions.

And about that time, we wisely decided that civilization was a little too much with us. So we dug out that fiddler, now in somebody's radio station—not much difference or is there—and turned to the square dance. California liked it New York liked it—and then the Midwest really got behind it and put it over.

Aficiandos of the waltz, fox trot, square dance, jitterbug must make appointments to tell me how

I've grossly slandered their great art

And now one piece of free advertising

The Times is going to run a stupendous, super-colossal feature Sunday

Seriously, I've interviewed a Ranger citizen and I think he has a great story—a story I'm going to write as well as he told it.

It's the story of a farmer who made money from 1922 on through the present time

And his story's particularly wonderful when we remember that the depression hit farmers in 1922 when he started out with one cow and a little land

Punishment Enough

Minneapolis, (UP) — Traffic Judge Thomas L. Bergin said enough is enough. William Marshall, 47, had spent nearly five months in a hospital after an automobile accident. Bergin stayed a 30-day sentence for careless driving on the grounds that Marshall had been confined long enough.

Hover Wants To Put Nightclub On Relief Rolls

By Virginia MacPherson HOLLYWOOD, (UP)—H. D. Hover, owner of Ciro's, said today he's trying to swing a deal to put Hollywood's swankiest nightclub on relief.

It's losing money with every steak, he said, and he's asking Los Angeles county to help him support it.

"Why not?" Hover said. "This is not such a fantastic idea. The county helps support the Hollywood bowl, which is run by independent interests."

"They do it because the bowl is a prestige attraction for Southern California. Well, so is Ciro's. We are a great tourist attraction. We present the powerhouse names in show business: Sophie Tucker, Dany Thomas, Ella Logan, Martin and Lewis. This is a powerful addition to the lure of this town."

It is also a powerful expensive item in the Hover budget. He can't afford to keep it up much longer, he said.

And he thinks it would be nice if the board of supervisors would appropriate a certain sum each year to help him out.

"About $25,000 would do it," Hover said. "Yes, that would do it very nicely."

"Our big name celebrities pull plenty of tourists into this town," he said. "By keeping Ciro's in the black the county could boost profits for industries like hotels, taxicabs, department stores and specialty shops."

Actually, Hover went on, Ciro's is about the only super-exciting thing Southern California has to offer star-dazzled travelers.

The movie studios are virtually closed to the out-of-towner," he said. "Our beaches are not comparable to those of the East or other sections of the country."

"Even the climate—at its best—is only as good as that of other resorts in season. And we don't have any boardwalks where the visitor can run into friends from home."

Penna Lashes Hogan For Not Showing At PGA

By Oscar Fratey

COLUMBUS, O., June 22 (UP)—Indignant over Ben Hogan's failure to simply make an appearance at the P.G.A. golf championship, Tiny Toney Penna, one of the nation's leading tournament players, charged today that the national open king "isn't the champion we think he is."

"This is the game and the outfit which made Hogan," the Cincinnati shotmaker asserted, "and now he has a chance to put something back and he doesn't do it."

It was an oft-heard gripe, as the field went out today for the second qualifying round to cut the field to 64 survivors for match play. But Penna, a top tournament player since 1932, was the only one with the courage to allow himself to be quoted.

Tom Crane, executive secretary of the P.G.A., disclosed that he had sent two wires and a letter to Hogan and that President Joe Novak had sent a letter, all asking the recent open winner to appear

"even as a referee or just a spectator". Hogan did not answer any of them, they said.

But, while most of the officials and players refused to be quoted on their feelings in the matter, Penna took the bull by the horns and laid into Hogan for failing to at least make an appearance.

Hogan, injured critically in an automobile accident in February of 1949, started a comeback last January. He topped it by winning the open at Merion 11 days ago and then played in last weekend's New Rochelle invitation. He played two rounds one day during the open, and said then that two rounds a day was too much.

"But he played two rounds in the New Rochelle tournament—in the rain—last weekend," Penna sneered. "Why didn't he pass up that one and come here?"

"He should have, even if he had played on crutches, considering what he owes golf and the P.G.A.," the dapper Cincinnati pro insisted. "And he also might have considered what he owed the people of Columbus."

"After his accident, he received lots of letters and flowers from people around here," Penna said. "Remember, too, that at that time the Texas P.G.A. section sent him a punch bowl inscribed: 'to one of the champions of champions.'

And at the Masters they gave him a silver humidor, with the names of all the contestants inscribed on it.

"Those things should mean something to him—but apparently they don't."

A group of listening pros, gathered around Penna in the Scioto country club locker room, nodded ready agreement. But none of them wanted to be quoted.

"Well, you can quote me," Penna said. "And I'll take it up with anybody who wants to. This game is bigger than any one man, and a lot of us owe it a lot and should do our best to repay the game."

If Hogan was able to play last weekend and not in this PGA event, Penna asserted, he should have passed up the New Rochelle tournament and saved himself for this one.

"So Joe Blow beats him," Toney growled. "So what? He should remember what he owes to the game of golf—and to the P.G.A. which sponsored most of the events that gave him his reputation."

"It's pretty evident," the straight-talking Penna blasted, "that Hogan isn't the champion we think he is."

Money may be the root of all evil, but some mighty nice things grow out of it.

Hollywood Film Shop

By PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Robert Cumming got tired of breathing coal dust and iron filings in a Chicago office. So he's now basking on a tropical island where the air is pure, the skies are blue and a man can live like a king on $2,000 a year.

What's more he's set to make more money than he ever dreamed of in Chicago.

Cumming has started the only movie business ever to be written into a country's constitution on the island of Jamaica in the British West Indies. He's got his Kingswood Films studio on an old airfield, a corporate set-up that eliminates income taxes, exclusive movie-rights in the island for 15 years and the backing of the whole British empire.

One big company is coming down to rent his studio and his franchise, to make "Robinson Crusoe." The Tarzan producers are talking about sending the jungle man to Jamaica. Bud Abbott and Lou Costello might do a picture there.

"When they find out the advantages," Cumming said, "I think all the stars will be begging to come."

Plenty of Scenery
The advantages, Cumming said, start with a year-round climate like Palm Springs. Even in summer Jamaica isn't bad. Within three hours by air from Miami and an hour's ride across the island, there's scenery to match any place else on earth. Costs are cheap and living's cheaper.

What's best, stars who take up residence for a year and have an interest in the picture don't have to pay any taxes. Jamaica hasn't heard about capital gains. "I draw out $65 a week for living expenses," Cumming said, "and I just can't pay $9.99 a week for three servants. That's more money than they can get any place else."

"I can entertain in the local night clubs like Louis B. Mayer at Ciro's. But it's never more than a $7 check."

Homes Cheap
Homes are cheap, too, Cumming said, and lots of wealthy Britishers live there, such as Noel Coward, Ann Todd and Errol Flynn and his father, who's a professor in Jamaica's University of the West Indies.

There's still another inducement for movie stars. If they've been making independent pictures and weeping about having their money blocked overseas, they need weep no more. They can use the money their other pictures earned in the British empire to make a picture in Jamaica. Then they can take most of the profits out in dollars.

But even if stars and producers don't rush to make pictures with him on his island, Cumming won't care much.

"After two years of pure air," he said, "I've finally gotten the last of the iron filings and coal dust of Chicago out of my lungs."

Red Graham and wife, W. W. Walters and family, Bill Walters, Jr., and family, and James King and family of Fort Worth took a trip to Goldthwaite and fished on the Colorado River at the Weatherly place.

They caught a 40-pound yellow cat and a 15-pound yellow cat and several smaller fish.

James King is a brother-in-law of Bill Walters. Bill proved to be the squirrel hunter of the group forty squirrels were killed.

The census taker who couldn't find all his prospects at home may well envy the system employed by some state fish and game departments to count fish. Capper's Farmer reports the method draws upon the fact that when lightning strikes water, it stuns the fish population for yards around.

So wildlife specialists are creating their own "lightening" with gasoline generators. A 5-man crew is using a portable rig in taking a census of Colorado streams. Fish aren't harmed, but remain stunned for three minutes or more, according to an article in the nationally-circulated farm magazine. This allows ample time for counting, tagging or examining them.

AUSTIN—A sharp reduction in bass fry production and distribution this year was indicated Saturday by reports from seven of the state's twelve hatcheries to the director of hatcheries for the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

Indicative of the curtailment, mainly because of unseasonably cold in March, was the San Marcos Hatchery statement that an estimated 75 per cent of normal production was lost. Contrasting conspicuously with the dismal picture was the laconic report from Luke Proctor, Superintendent of the Brownsville Hatchery, that his distribution of 2,172,950 black bass represented "average hatch, average luck."

On the face of the survey, the bass fry crop will fall far short of the expected 20,000,000 total for the state.

In his gloomy appraisal, Hatchery Chief Harmon Anderson at San Angelo, wrote: "Due to late cold weather in March after having a mild February which caused our bass to spawn early, I estimate we lost about 75 per cent of the bass eggs. Our brood bass were all in fine condition and were full when we put them into the hatching ponds. We had several bass on nests in ponds that we could watch and three different times all the spawns were ruined in these ponds by a sudden drop in temperature or high winds."

Henderson's 340,000 fry distribution contrasts with the expected 1,400,000 from that hatchery alone. Superintendent D. C. Harper at Medina Hatchery at Devine, reported his production held to 197,000, partly from cold snaps. Bill White of the Lake Dallas Hatchery, distributed 483,000.

Superintendent Ben Stone of the big Eagle Mountain Hatchery at Fort Worth wrote that his distribution of 826,500 represented a 50 per cent cut because of a late freeze. Hatchery superintendent B. T. McRoberts of Huntsville reported a small harvest of 34,550 bass. Hatchery chief Grady Walker at Ingram reported primarily because of only 3,000 bass primarily because of a worm infestation that destroyed both eggs and fry.
