Fat Businessmen Beat Leans In Game That Has Ministers Show Temper

Ranger Fat Businessmen measured a younger, leaner businessmen softball nine 11 to 9 Monday night, here.

The benefit game raised $70.90 to the field. The fans saw two benches.

Fans and players ignored an early evening sprinkle to come to the field. The fans saw two preachers lose their pulpit dignity when Rev. R. C. McCord disserved with the umpire and Rev. Garland Lavender, playing for the Leans came in to back up the ump.

McCord not only lost his temper, but brought his bat across the head of Lavender. No harm was done. The bat turned out to be cardboard. And the ministers—who'd broken bread together earlier that evening—turned out not to be angry. Incidentally both managed to name call without using profanity.

The Fats stepped into an early lead when Art Arterburn sank a three hagger and scored off of Prettly-Legs Bran Garner's single error. Bran was caught trying to steal second in the first inning.

But his pants didn't come down—he had forestalled such an emergency by wearing suspenders, a belt and pinning his po-stripped shorts to his undershirt.

The Leans waited till the third before making their bid to stay in the game. Shortstop Carol Boone crossed the plate after getting on first through a Fat error. Two more came home during the same inning. Joe Nussle, hitting for the Leans, scored the only home run of the game. H. C. Henderson and Bran Garner managed the Fats. Bruce Maddox and Johnny Bates managed the Leans. Raymond Lingle announced; Junior Arterburn kept score. Umpires were Harlan Phillips, Bill

Simpson, Charlie Isabel. Fat players were Bench warming Joe Dennis; Catcher Earl Blackwell, Jr.; pitcher Pete Brasher; Allan Full, McCord, Arterburn, Garner, Dago Varner, Dave Morgan, Kale Van Horn, Marquis Mathews, Burt Cliff, R. A. Wagner, Cy Lander, T. K. Hardy. Lean players were pitchers R. V. Robinson, W. F. Jacoby, Bob Lester; Catchers Weaver Aishman and Onis Littlefield; Maddox, Bates, Joe Fabry, Price Crawley, Lavender, Boone, Richard Bonney, Morris George, Charles Millican, Nussle, Mac Walker, J. B. Houghton, Jack Mace, Dr. Carl Straley, Bruce Harris, Menzmore and Curtis Blackwell.

Maddox credited Littlefield with originating the idea of the game. Littlefield, Elvis Woods, president and E. F. Arterburn, vice-president of the quarterback club thanked the captains, players, and fans for helping raise the funds. See inside for boxscore.

US Hits Back At Commies

By Ernest Hoberrecht
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, Aug. 15 (UP)—American and South Korean troops counter-attacked successfully today in two sectors at the north end of the Nakdong river line where the Communists had seized two new bridgeheads in the approach of Taegu.

Front reports said the Communists had thrown back about 6,000 men across the river into the two new pockets. U. S. Eighth Army headquarters announced the effective counter-attacks in the Taegu area. There the North Koreans were battling for toe-holds in the west bank of the Nakdong from which they could launch an offensive against the emergency capital of South Korea.

A few miles to the south, the U. S. 24th division slugged away at the Communist bridgehead in the bend of the Nakdong. A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur said the minimum depth of the pocket was 27 miles and the maximum length five miles. The Americans drove half way through it in their first assault Monday. The predicted offensive on the Nakdong line by the Communists Monday on the anniversary of Korean independence and of the liberation from the Japanese failed to develop. Dispatches from Eighth Army headquarters said the apparent success in the Communist plans could be attributed to the fact that in their constant probing at the line they had found the going rough and paid heavily.

The North Koreans managed to set up bridgeheads 15 miles south-west and 16 miles northwest of Taegu. An eighth Army communique reported that the South Korean first division, which was handling the northern of the two enemy pockets in the Taegu sector, carried out a successful counter-attack Tuesday afternoon.

Just to the south, troops of the U. S. 1st cavalry division counter-attacked successfully, killed the gun crews of three guns and captured the weapons, the Eighth Army reported.

It's communique said the 34th regimental combat team in the 24th division area repulsed an attack by 200 North Koreans. It did not say whether this fighting was in the elbow bridgehead, where enemy troops were estimated to number 10,000 to 12,000. The 24th division was waging the attack which had reduced the pocket sharply.

Even our ground force officers admit that the U. S. Air Force saved the day in Korea. We probably would have been pushed into the sea in the early days of the fighting if our planes making over water hops from Japanese bases, had not torn into the Communists in ground-support actions. Now we have bases in Korea and can step up the air assault.

But from a long-range standpoint it is Maj. Gen. Rosy O'Donnell's big bombers which are giving the Communists bad nights and days. They are hitting at the places where the Communist ground forces get their gasoline, guns and ammunition and gradually are drying up the enemy's sources of supply.

Charles Corridy, United Press aviation writer, sends this note from Korea telling how the B-29s are pin-pointing their strategic targets:

"I SAW THE PICTURES TODAY of the result of the raid by 50 superforts on the Chosen Oil Refinery at Wonsan. The refinery was flattened. Across the river the residential areas were untouched. O'Donnell's bomber command has far exceeded the 5,000 tons of bombs per month which he promised to deliver, and more than half that tonnage has been dropped on five strategic targets."

There is a saying that an Army travels on its stomach. That was true in Napoleon's day, but it isn't true any more. A modern Army travels on gasoline.

The first quarterly conference of the Methodist church will be held 7:45 p. m. Wednesday, at the local church. The conference will be preceded by a covered dish luncheon followed by the meeting at 8:15 p. m.

Rev. Leslie Seymour, newly appointed district superintendent of the Cisco District will be in charge of the meeting. Written reports will be made to the Conference by the officials of the church.

Investigators Examine Wreck Of Big Bomber

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15 (UP)—The seared wreckage of a B-29 bomber was examined today by Air Force investigators to determine what caused the big ship to crash and kill four of its 12 crewmen.

Hundreds of Fort Worth residents saw the four-engine plane circle Carswell Air Force Base twice yesterday, then slowly veer to the north and crash five miles away.

THE BIG CRAFT WAS ON A training mission from Barksdale Air Force base near Shreveport, La. It was attached to the 91st Strategic Reconnaissance wing and was fully armed.

Witnesses said it obviously was in trouble as it slowly lost altitude and crashed 50 yards from a row of houses. Some said the ship was on fire.

IT SKIMMED CLOSE TO houses in the Indian Oak suburb, clipped a utility line and skidded 250 yards in a pasture. A series of small explosions occurred and eight dazed crew-members staggered to safety.

A loud blast followed and the plane became a funeral pyre for the four fliers still aboard.

Dallas Youth Shot During Robbery Try

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 15 (UP)—A Dallas youth tried to hold up a San Antonio filling station attendant today and received a shot in the chest for his efforts.

Police identified the hijacker as Rufus Ivy, 22. His condition was reported as critical.

ATTENDANT JOHN YATES said the gunman entered his filling station, took money from the cash register and searched his pockets, but overlooked a gun concealed in his shirt.

Yates said a motorist drove into the station and the gunman ordered him to wait on the customer. He said he walked toward the automobile, pulled his gun and shouted: "Okay, buddy, put your hands up."

YATES SAID THE MAN REACHED for his gun but was not fast enough on the draw. A slug from Yates gun struck the hijacker in the chest, knocking him down. Yates disarmed the man and called police.

Labor Roundup CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS WALK OUT OF PACKARD PLANT; RAILROAD TRAINMEN THREATEN TO CALL NATIONWIDE STRIKE

By United Press
CIO United Auto Workers walked out at the Packard Motor company plant in Detroit today, and 300,000 railroad conductors and trainmen threatened to call a nationwide strike unless there was an immediate break in stalemated negotiations. The Packard strike, second to hit the automobile industry this year, idled 8,000 employees just as the company prepared to put 1951 models on display.

Triggs manufacturing company, which supplies bodies for Packard, said it would have to lay off "several thousand" of its employees.

The UAW walked out at midnight. Forty-five minutes later, negotiations recessed. They were to be resumed this afternoon.

Union officials said the strike was called because the company was "stalling" on contract talks. C. Wayne Brownell, Packard's industrial relations manager, retorted that the union's attitude was "excessive and unreasonable."

The old contract expired June 12 and had been extended on a day-to-day basis. Negotiators said pensions and insurance demands were the major stumbling blocks.

Chrysler corporation was shut down for 100 days earlier this year by a UAW strike.

In Washington, officials of the Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen and Railway Conductors threatened to hand the White House a "seizure or strike" ultimatum but agreed to continue talks with the carriers today under the guidance of Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman.

President W. Park Kennedy and Roy O. Hughes, president of the Conductors Union, said very little progress had been made toward a settlement of the workers' demand for a reduction in the work week to 40 hours without a cut in pay.

But Steelman, the government's top labor trouble-shooter, and management spokesmen said they believed the negotiators came closer together last night.

Representatives of the New York World Telegram and Sun and the CIO American Newspaper Guild scheduled a negotiating session today as the Guild strike against the newspaper entered its 10th week. Federal mediators said negotiators were "prepared to sit in continuous session until agreement is reached."

Newspaperman's Wife Buys Jazz Writer's Piano

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15 (UP)—The 56-year-old upright piano composed "12th Street Rag" today became a prized part of a newspaperman's household.

Mrs. Wylie Stewart, wife of the Southwestern manager of Scripps-Howard newspapers, purchased the battered piano at an auction yesterday for only $47.

"I BOUGHT IT BECAUSE OUR kids love the '12th Street Rag,'" Mrs. Stewart said.

She described the old piano as "beautiful," but said the keys showed that the late Bowman spent many hours composing the now immortal jazz classic and other ragtime tunes.

"That man must have just sat there and picked away at it for years," Mrs. Stewart said. "We're going to have it refinished, but we're not going to have anything done to those keys."

Mrs. Stewart hasn't played a piano lately. She has been too busy caring for her four children.

Ministers Elect Lavender Head Of Alliance

The Ministerial Alliance honored Rev. and Mrs. R. C. McCord with a farwell dinner at the Chick-en-Inn Monday evening. The minister and his family were presented with appropriate gifts.

During a brief business meeting, new officers for the year were elected. Rev. Garland Lavender, pastor of the Methodist church, was elected president. Rev. Jasper Masegosa, pastor of the Second Baptist church, was named secretary-treasurer.

Bowman died in New York in 1949. His sister died in Fort Worth last spring.

Thirty Report To Dallas For Pre-Induction

Thirty men from Eastland and Stephens counties left Eastland by bus this morning for Dallas where they will take Armed Forces pre-induction physical examinations under the selective service act.

The 30 raised the total sent from the local board to date to 50. Another 50 men are scheduled to report for pre-induction examinations on August 24.

The latter group will take examinations in Abilene.

Pre-induction examinations are to choose those men physically able for duty in the armed forces. Induction calls will be sent out later.

John H. Kleiner Funeral Services Set Wednesday

Funeral services for John Hartman Kleiner, 54, Cisco oilman, will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church in Cisco with Rev. Stuart McRobre of Rusk, former pastor, officiating.

Rev. Len Orr, pastor, will assist in the services. Burial will be in the Oakwood cemetery in Cisco, directed by Thomas Funeral home.

Kleiner died at 3 a. m. Monday in an Abilene hospital after a four month illness.

Born Jan. 29, 1896 in Cisco, Kleiner lived in and near Cisco his entire life. He was one of the developers of the shallow oil pool in Callahan and Eastland counties. He was a World War II veteran and a member of the Presbyterian church.

Kleiner married the former Johanne Mae Jensen, Dec. 25, 1925 in Cisco.

THE STORY: Seeking a job as literary secretary to Mrs. Muriel Halleck, who writes popular novels under the name of "Jo Palmer," Alice Pine goes to the Halleck home, at the end of Grosvenor Point, Conn., off Long Island Sound. Alice is pleased with the surroundings and Mrs. Halleck, who says she wants more than "just a stenographer." Alice has just given Mrs. Halleck her background and her name, which is M.

"Didn't see the sign, eh?" He pointed to the road. "Well, it's over there. Perhaps I'd better have it blown up into a billboard—against the usual summer invasion."

MURIEL HALLECK drummed her fingers on the table. "Would it surprise you, Miss Pine, if I engaged you? Right now?"

Alice Pine started. She hadn't expected to land the job so easily. But Muriel continued: "Why not? I think you'd be perfect. And your references are splendid. Put do you have any questions of your own?"

"No," Alice said. "I ought to say, though, that the salary you mentioned is pretty—well, terrific."

Muriel waved, a quick decisive gesture. "Not for what I want. Listen! For years I've written stuff that editors and the public expected me to write. But now I'm blowing myself, so the luxury of a novel. Something I really want to do. I need the right kind of help. And I'm willing to pay for it."

"Well," Alice said slowly, "if you're sure you really want me, I'm ready to work for you."

"You mean now?"

Alice smiled. "Perhaps I was rather overconfident. But I packed a bag on the chance that I might be staying. The other things I'll need can be sent up."

Muriel Halleck arose. She dropped a friendly arm around Alice's shoulders. "Why, that's splendid. I hadn't hoped—Oh, my dear! I'm forgetting. You've had a long drive. What would you like? Tea? A drink?"

"Tea, please," Alice said. She felt a little stunned. A plush job had fallen into her lap, with scarcely any selling effort on her part.

TEA was a pleasant interlude on a flagstone terrace beneath the study window. After it Muriel conducted Alice upstairs to a large airy bedroom.

"I hope you'll be comfortable here," she said. "In any case, it's private. You have your own bath, and my room and Brent's is miles away."

"Comfortable?" Alice looked at luxurious appointments and colorful drapes. "I should think so, it's lovely."

"Well, make yourself at home. Dinner's at seven-thirty. We have it late because of Brent. He's an unpredictable artist. He does a lot of his work outdoors and never comes home till the last whistle."

"I'm used to artists," Alice said. "We had plenty of them around the advertising agency."

"Then you know that they're no conception of time. Now I'll leave you for a while. I usually have a nap before dinner. Maybe you'd like one yourself?"

"If you don't mind, I'd rather walk around outside. And see the beach."

ALICE changed into a gray flannel sports suit and aquamarine pullover and went downstairs. She presently discovered a formal garden that promised a virtual flower show later on. A grizzled individual in dirty corduroys was digging therein. He regarded her with neither interest nor approval and did not speak. He looked rather surly, Alice thought. But she had no time this afternoon for surly gardeners. She felt both contented and elated. It was miraculous to have stepped so quickly from a good-paying job into a better-paying one. And Grosvenor Point, Conn., would be an ideal spot in which to spend the summer.

"Miss Pine," she told herself, aloud and gaily, "it's your day out." She walked toward the beach, enjoying the salty tang of the Sound.

Then, on the beach itself, she stopped.

A small boy of about four had come into view, running along the water's edge. He had hair the color of pulled taffy and a compact little body. At intervals he paused to kick delightedly at curlers of white spume infiltrating the shore. As Alice watched, one kick was too vigorous. He sat down abruptly, to the confusion of his blue play suit.

Alice moved forward. "Hello, there!"

The youngster scrambled up. His cheeks were like ripe apples; his eyes large and brown.

"You're not Mural," he said, almost accusingly.

"Mural?" Alice repeated. "I... Or, I see who—"

She didn't finish. A voice from behind said: "I imagine I should put up a sign here, too."

Alice whipped around, upon a tall man in tweed slacks and frayed sports jacket. He had black hair slightly gray-flecked, and dark unsmiling eyes.

"Oh!" she exclaimed. "I... Didn't see the sign, eh?" He pointed to where the road along which she had driven became a dead-end at the Sound. "Well, it's over there. Perhaps I'd better have it blown up into a billboard—against the usual summer invasion."

He spoke in proprietary manner and Alice chanced a guess. "But, of course, you're Mr. Halleck?"

He nodded. "Yes, Brent Halleck."

Hastily, Alice explained herself. "So?" Halleck did not seem amused at the little misunderstanding and did not speak. "Well, my wife's been talking about getting a secretary. But I didn't know she'd actually done it. My apologies, Miss Pine. You see, Talliver—that's the village here—is a summer resort. And sometimes visitors try to use this beach. I thought you were an early visitor."

Brent's jaw jutted. "It's not that I want to hog the country's natural playgrounds. But, after all, this is my property."

THE small boy had been inspecting Alice curiously. "She's not Mural," he told Brent now.

"No," said Brent. "She's Miss Pine and she's staying at our house. Say 'how-do-you-do', Rick."

Rick did so gravely, then darted back toward the water, raising sand furries in his wake.

Brent looked after him. "He meant my wife, of course. But 'Mural' is beyond him."

"He's adorable," Alice said. "Is he your son?"

Brent's thick dark brows lifted. "Muriel didn't tell you?"

"About Rick? No, I'm afraid we talked work, to the exclusion of everything else."

"Oh! Well, Rick—short for Richard—is my brother's child. He paused, frowning. "My brother and his wife were killed three years ago in a plane crash. So we took Rick, adopted him."

He sounded matter-of-fact, impersonal. And Alice felt herself move, involuntarily, a little away from him. Something about this man repelled her.

"Well, that was a wonderful thing to do," she said, somewhat embarrassedly.

He shrugged and, for the first time, she noticed a peculiarity in the set of his shoulders. They seemed to sag inordinately, as if he had practiced relaxing them until they gave almost a suggestion of limpness. "You do what you have to do," he said shortly. "Shall we go up to the house?"

"Yes," said Alice. With Rick at her side she followed him.

THE STORY: Alice Pine has been engaged as the secretary to the popular author, Mrs. Muriel Halleck, who writes under the name of Mrs. Folsom. Alice is pleased with the surroundings and the Mrs. Halleck, who reveals that she is working on an important novel. As Alice walks about the place she notices the place where Muriel Halleck's husband, with his four-year-old nephew, Rick, were killed in a plane crash and the Hallecks adopted him, Brent says.

"Well," Muriel said to Alice, "I see you've met my family."

MURIEL HALLECK was on the terrace as her husband Brent came up with Alice Pine and Rick. "Well," she said to Alice, "I see you've met my family."

"Quite informally. But you didn't tell me you had a cute little boy, Mrs. Halleck."

"Look, Alice, let's drop the 'Mrs. Halleck-Miss Pine' business. My name's Muriel. But—she shook her pale-gold head—"I can't think why I didn't mention Rick. Too excited, I guess, about engaging a secretary."

"Now, really," Alice said, "you'll make me feel too important—Muriel."

"I assure you, you're going to be very important," Muriel turned to Brent who had stood silently by, his mouth, Alice thought, a trifle sardonic. "Go and change, will you, darling? Then make us cocktails."

Brent moved off at once. "Come on, Rick! Time for your supper. I'll hand you over to Stella."

"Stella," Muriel explained to Alice, "is a combination housemaid and nursemaid. And a perfect godsend. I simply can't give the child the time I'd like to give him."

moody man. But if so Muriel, with her gay laugh and easy chatter, was a perfect foil for him. And decidedly the better company. The next morning, however, Muriel ceased chattering. Taking the novel manuscript from her writing table, she became strictly businesslike. "Here," she said, "is an outline of my book and rough drafts of a few chapters. I want you to read the whole thing. And if you have any reservations or criticisms, don't hesitate. It's part of your job to help me think."

"I'll try to," Alice said doubtfully. Muriel laughed. "Don't look so terrified. I'm not expecting, maybe, an Einstein. But I told you I didn't want just a stenographer. Now I'll show you where I've put you."

Alice's workroom was a small library at the rear of the house. Its walls were book-lined. An office desk of dark wood was at variance with the other furnishings. Just outside an ancient apple tree thrust branches almost against the windows.

"This," Muriel kicked the desk. "Looks like the devil in here. But you won't mind, will you?"

"Not a bit. Besides, it's the kind I'm used to."

Muriel went away and Alice settled down with the outline. And although it was just that, a synopsis without embellishment or trimming, the thing interested her immediately. Muriel Halleck had a quick and logical mind. She appeared able to proceed from A to H, and beyond, with the precision of a Euclid. Alice found herself marveling slightly at the structural perfection of the book's plan.

answered practically everything. And she had the nucleus of a powerful story. If the execution was—Alice paused and blew cigarette smoke streamers. Yes, granted the writing stood up, this book would be the kind that got right in at you; hit you where you lived.

A little doubtfully she turned to the chapter drafts. Doubtfully, because she was strangely afraid of a letdown. Then, about to read, she paused.

Was not this feeling of uncertainty significant? Had the characters and situations of the outline been weak or inconsequential she would not have been interested enough to be doubtful. In brief, she wouldn't have cared. To Alice, that seemed proof that a sound novel was under construction.

AN hour later she knocked at Muriel's study. Muriel was enthroned behind her typewriter, hair awry, a grease smudge on her nose. A butt-choked ashtray stood at her elbow.

"Well, finished it?" Muriel asked expectantly.

Alice wasted no words. "I have. And I think it's swell."

By Patricia Gray United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Joan Fontaine, one of Hollywood's best hostesses, says her secret is to act at her parties as if she were a guest.

"I do my worrying first," she says. "Then when my guests arrive, I relax."

Miss Fontaine entertains effortlessly, a result of grace, charm, elegance, originality and lots of practice. Her parties are so famous around town that she was asked to serve as technical adviser in Paramount's "Mr. and Mrs. Anonymous."

The script called for a formal dinner party for 50 in a small but elegant New York apartment. Miss Fontaine coached at hostess at the same time she was acting her part in a tense dramatic scene.

"Don't" for hostesses. These are Miss Fontaine's "don'ts" for good hostesses: Don't starve your guests until midnight and then in surly desperation blame the cook. Plan the time for serving and stick to it. Don't try to revive a conversation that seems to be dying. Nine times out of ten, the conversation isn't worth reviving.

Don't be a superorganizer at your own party, and don't encourage any guests who are. Let the party roll, make suggestions but don't rush. Don't overhear and watch not for fresh air friends. Don't plague guests with food and drink. They may be allergic not thirsty, on the wagon, or stuffed to the gills. And they may prefer that you don't notice it.

It Never Works. Don't play cupid. Don't drag an unattached woman to the first bachelor in sight and announce "you two must get together." It never works. Don't try out new recipes on guests. Experiment on the family first and save frayed nerves for you and the cook (if any). Don't get in a rut, serve new foods or new drinks, and try to make them all attractive to the eye. Don't insist on people staying later than they want to. They'll be bored, and so will you.

Takes A Doctor's Advice

Gas Station Man's Neuritis Pains Leave Completely After 3 Bottles Of Hadacol Father helped, too, who also had deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin

Wesley Scallions, energetic young gas station attendant in Peoria, Illinois, tells how HADACOL keeps him on the job feeling fine. Wesley Scallions has this to report: "I took HADACOL upon the advice of my father who has taken it regularly for some time. He could not eat, was unable to get around, lost sleep and was generally run-down. My brother who is a doctor recommended HADACOL to Dad. Since taking HADACOL, Dad has been feeling like a different man; he now has a hearty appetite, sleeps well and gets around once again on his own. "I have had pains in my right arm and legs. Due to this condition I lost many days of work until I started to take HADACOL. After my third bottle the pains left me completely and now I work every day and overtime also, without having any pains I am a gas attendant and need full use of both arms and legs in my line of work. Thanks to HADACOL I can now perform my job satisfactorily and feel fine."

Dive Bombers, Fighters Plaster Pyongyang With Rockets, Bombs

By Jack Burby

United Press Staff Correspondent WITH U.S. TASK FORCE 77, off Korea, Aug. 13—(Delayed)—(UP)—Dive bombers and fighters plastered Pyongyang with bombs, rockets and cannon fire today in the Korean war's largest single carrier strike against the enemy capital.

Other carrier-based planes hit railroad marshalling yards within 15 miles of the Manchurian border. There was high overcast over Pyongyang and pilots had to thread their way through the heaviest flak they have encountered so far. Nevertheless they reported that they "never had it so good."

It was the first meaty target offered this task force's warplanes after more than a week of hunting along central Korean highways and trails for the hard-to-spot Communist supply lines.

Lt. Commander Jerry Lake, 35, of Los Angeles, who led a five-bomber attack on the Pyongyang air field, said, "they walked big puffs of flak right in with us, but it was not very accurate. We pushed over near the air field, and the first three planes got their bombs right in the machine shop and building area. I think we ruined that air field."

Lake then led his dive bombers along the railroad tracks and they wiped out eight locomotives on their way home. "I didn't have a live one with a burst of 20-millimeter," Lake said. "It was the first locomotive I've seen moving, and it really blew up."

While the bombers hit the air field, Corsair fighters lugging bombs and rockets circled above the overcast over Pyongyang trying to get their bearings. "We didn't have to look too long," said Commander R. W. Vogel, Jr. "They sent up some ack ack to show us we were right over the target."

Vogel's planes hit the railroad tracks after Lake's. "I dove right in close to one locomotive and let go with my last rocket," Vogel said. "My wing man said it just disintegrated."

Other Sky Raiders and Corsairs dragged Communist supply lines above the 38th parallel, strafing southbound troop trains near Pyongyang, and blowing up eight ammunition boxcars, ten ammunition trucks, and a highway bridge.

TEXAS NEWS BRIEFS

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 15—Roland Hitzfelder was electrocuted when he touched a windmill tower leg in which an electric wire had short circuited.

The accident happened on a farm near San Antonio as Hitzfelder was talking to John Granberk, his brother-in-law.

HILLSBORO, Aug. 15—One Hillsboro teen-ager was killed and five others injured last night when an automobile crashed into the rear of a motor scooter ridden by three 14-year-old youths.

David Murray wooten, driver of the scooter, was killed. His passengers, J. D. Wells and Jimmie Strength, were badly injured. Edgar Allen Johnson, driver of the auto, was not injured but three girls in his vehicle were hurt. The accident happened on a bridge a mile west of Hillsboro on state highway 22.

CROWELL, Aug. 15 (UP)—Melvin Arthur Gepner, 50-year-old father of two teen-aged girls, faced charges today of rape and incest.

Gepner, a ranch hand, signed a statement relating details of attacks against the 13 and 14-year-old girls, Sheriff J. L. Cobin said. The daughters made statements against their father and the younger girl said that she was pregnant.

Gepner was held in lieu of $5,000 bond on each offense.

Pierce Brooks Asks New Blood

WACO, Aug. 15 (UP)—Pierce Brooks, Dallas insurance man seeking the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor, called last night for "injection of new blood" into state government to eliminate "existing confusion."

Voters will choose between Brooks and Ben Ramsey, former state senator and secretary of state, in the Aug. 26 runoff election.

Brooks, renewing his assault against "professional office holders," charged they have brought Texas "to the brink of its worst financial crisis in history."

Meanwhile at Seton hospital in Austin, Ramsey's condition from an intestinal ailment was reported "much better." He marked his absence ballot for the runoff election yesterday.

Ezzard Charles Figures To Take Opponent Early

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 15 (UP)—Ezzard Charles plans to knock out Freddie Beshore within three rounds tonight in their heavyweight title fight at Memorial auditorium.

That's what the brown-skinned champion told friends before today's weigh-in and physical examination.
"I'll make it quick; I'll make up for lost time," said the slender broad-shouldered Cincinnati Negro who is returning to the ring after an absence of 10 months for their twice-postponed 15-round bout.

HEADS BAPTISTS—Dr. F. Townley Lord, of London, Eng., above, is the new president of the Baptist World Alliance. Dr. Lord, 57, was elected to head the 16,000,000-member organization at the Baptist World Congress in Cleveland, O.

Charles, who is recognized as champion only by the National Boxing Association, had two reasons for his determination to belt out the blond Pennsylvania Dutchman in a hurry. They were:

- (1) Because of Ezzard's fractured rib and bruised heart-muscle that had caused the two postponements, he did not relish the prospect of subjecting his misdeed to a lengthy bombardment by Beshore, a body-punching specialist.
- (2) He wanted to appear like a tiger against Freddie so that his proposed title fight with Joe Louis at New York, Sept. 27, would draw more than $500,000.

Officials of the International boxing club probably will announce the Charles-Louis match immediately after tonight's scrap, if Charles wins as almost unanimously expected.

Apparently Beshore and manager Ralph Gold were the only ones who gave the challenger from Harrisburg, Pa., a chance. There was no betting although Charles' admirers were offering 5-1 and higher on a victory, and 3-1 and higher on a knockout.

Despite the pessimism of promoter Dewey Michaels, tonight's indoor show was expected to attract more than $70,000. A sellout would mean 12,800 fans and $78,000. Although the ticket sale had picked up briskly yesterday, the promoter held his gate-prediction of $65,000. It will be Buffalo's first heavyweight title fight.

Charles will receive 40 per cent of the net gate and Beshore, 17- and one half.

It Was An Error In Judgment—

... when the rejected candidate was led to believe that he had his race in the bag because every voter he met told him so. And about as disillusioned is the person who is convinced that an abstract is a lot of extra expense, and unnecessary, in a real estate transaction. There's another error in judgment. He stands to lose more, perhaps, than the candidate who lost the election. A winner always insists on an abstract when he buys real estate, and you can't beat that for good judgment.

returned from a state-wide meeting of vocational agriculture teachers at San Antonio, is making plans for his second year here.

Beverley is worrying about the small number of boys that actually live on farms. He says that there are very few in school who can get actual agriculture practice on their folks' farms. And he wants some help in figuring out a way to teach city boys actual farm practice.

While most of us are still thinking about what clothes we can get rid of and still stay almost respectable, merchants are worrying about what clothes they can get us into come cold weather.

Most of the merchants have already ordered a large part of their fall merchandise. Many of them have made shopping tours to pick out the latest styles—and the styles they think Ranger people will like.

Saul Perlestein, down at the Globe, is featuring luggage aimed to catch the eyes of college students.

Killingsworth Furniture store is planning a big sale to clear their shelves for 1951 model goods.

Most of the grocery stores are cooperating with the government to limit hoarding. And those who have talked to say folks are almost ashamed to buy more than they need.

One woman ordered a big carton of goods. But she explained that she wasn't stocking the goods because she feared shortages—she just wanted to beat a price rise.

A spokesman for the city says that Memorial park will be cleaned up as soon as the street crew finishes putting up street markers, purchased by the Civic League.

Dairymen in this area are now trying to lick the problem.

At the present time dairying throughout West-Central Texas is wrapping itself in a circle—and getting nowhere.

Milk processors during the summer months can't get enough milk from Texas dairymen to supply the cities. So they order it on a yearly contract basis from Wisconsin.

When the Texas dairy herds start producing in the winter, the processors have to declare a surplus because they are bound to buy Wisconsin milk. For this reason, local producers can't afford to increase milk production very much.

And the processors can't afford to break with Wisconsin until there is more milk produced locally.

And it ends up hurting everyone but the Wisconsin men. It hurts Texas producers, Texas consumers and Texas processors.

Before taking HADACOL her system suffered a deficiency of these.

Here is Mrs. Shuff's statement: "I have been sick and weak for some time. When you are a housewife on the farm you have lots of work to do—not hard work but work that is tiring, specially when you are sick. At night I couldn't rest—and food, no matter what I ate, didn't agree with me. Then my sister told me about HADACOL—she said HADACOL would really make me feel better. I took her advice and began taking HADACOL. I felt better after the third bottle. So far I have taken 15 bottles of HADACOL. I eat anything I want to, I sleep well every night and my housework doesn't tire me at all. Anything I say about HADACOL would be an understatement. I think HADACOL is wonderful!"

You, Too, Can Be Helped as have thousands of other fine folks if you, too, suffer a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron, which HADACOL contains. Mr. and Mrs. H. X. Wallace and Mary Ann have returned from a three weeks vacation in New York and Pennsylvania.

Army Official Announcement Says It Will Call Up Local Reserves

Herschel Angus, local Army Reserve public relations officer, released the following announcement today:

Officers of the Army Reserve Corps, not assigned to organized troop units will be ordered to extended active duty for a period of 21 months, or such other period as may be authorized by law, with or without their consent.

The orders will affect male officers of all major branches of the army, including medical, dental, veterinary and medical service as well as the combat and service branches.

In the combat and service branches only company grade officers, that is, lieutenants and captains will be called under this authority. All grades to include Lieutenant colonel are subject to active duty in the medical and dental services.

Officer selected will be ordered to duty from both the active and inactive reserve elements. Those assigned to Organized Reserve Corps troop units will not be called under this authority.

Processing of physical examinations will be expedited so that one-third of the officers will be able to report to their stations by September 22, another third by September 29 and the remainder not later than October 6. Officers selected for the call will be ordered to the nearest army installation for physical examination, return to their homes and await final orders and will be granted a minimum of 21 days from the date of receipt of active duty orders to the date of reporting to their stations.

Although the Volunteer program for officers previously announced has been superseded by this call, it is still desired that applications from company grade officers for recall to extended active duty be forwarded to Headquarters Texas Military District Officers ordered to active duty pursuant to their own request will reduce the number required to be called into service without their consent.

While officers of the medical and dental services may be called with or without their consent, they will be encouraged to volunteer for at least 21 months.

The Fourth Army area, which includes Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico, has been given a quota of 182 captains and 612 Lieutenants as follows:

Combat Arms: Armored, 15 captains, 75 lieutenants; Field artillery, 16 captains, 65 lieutenants; Infantry, 81 captains, 273 lieutenants; Corps of Engineers, 23 captains, 47 lieutenants; Coast Artillery, 3 captains, 9 lieutenants. Services: 64 captains and 143 lieutenants.

The quota for all medical branches is 195. Of these, 25 are for medical officers above the rank of captain and 74 captains and lieutenants. The quota calls for 4 dentists above the rank of captain and 20 captains and lieutenants. Other medical services will furnish 2 field grade officers and 70 captains and lieutenants.

State quotas were not announced.
