Kimpo Airport Falls To US; Marines See Seoul

UN FORCES MEETING SUCCESS IN SOUTHERN PINCH ON RED FORCES HOLDING RIVER LINE

By Ralph Teatsorth
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, Tuesday, Sept. 19 (UP)—U. S. Marines plunged to the Han river just across from Seoul Monday and were probing for crossings under cover of fighter planes using captured Kimpo airport for the first time.
The Marines, within sight of Seoul, met heavy resistance from mortars, anti-tank guns and Communist "suicide" units.
One hundred and fifty miles to the south—the avian portion of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's blow to smash the invading Communist army—units of the American second division smashed across the Naktong river at both their right and center on the road to Hyopchon.
An 8th Army communique reported general gains all along the Pusan beachhead perimeter, except at the extreme southern and northeastern ends.

United Press correspondent Jack James, reporting the advance on Seoul, told of increasing enemy resistance as the Americans advanced toward the capital from their Inchon landing base.
One Communist soldier—in an act reminiscent of Japanese Kamikaze tactics of World War II—loaded his motorcycle with TNT and then crashed into the side of an American tank.
The American Seventh Division was moving into the combat area today from Inchon. The Division, now half and half American and South Korean, moved up to the front along roads lined with tanks and flame-throwers.

MARINES WHO CAPTURED Kimpo airport late Saturday, today had plunged on to the Han river seven miles west of Seoul. It appeared the American strategy was to move forward on a broad front, clearing up as the troops moved forward and possibly to envelop Seoul rather than hit it at once in a frontal attack.
It was estimated that one enemy division of 10,000 to 15,000 men was in the area, but had not yet had a chance to organize any all-out resistance.

The picture of Kimpo airport, biggest and best in Korea, was a tribute to the accuracy of American airmen. Buildings were burned out shells. But the runways, capable of handling the heaviest planes, mostly were intact.

THE FIRST AMERICAN AIRCRAFT to land at Kimpo airport Monday morning was a Marine helicopter piloted by Capt. V. A. Armstrong of Portland, Ore. With him was Lt. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, commander of the fleet Marine force in the Pacific. Three more generals arrived at the airport before 10 a. m.

Far to the south, on the Second Division front along the Naktong, United Press Correspondent Jack Barby reported that five companies, or between 750 and 1,000 men of the Second, drove across the Naktong in the first United Nations crossing of that embattled line since the retreat from Taejon late in July.

WHILE THE YANKS WERE pouring across the river south of Chojidong, other Second Division troops were still engaged in a hard fight for a hill three miles southwest of Changnyong. They had been trying to take the hill for four days.

Farther north, on the Taegu front at the hinge of the box-like southern perimeter, 40 "beautiful" B-29's unloaded tons of bombs on Communist positions one mile west of Waegwan. The earth-shaking bombing, which could be heard and felt in Taegu 13 miles away, was observed by First Cavalry Division commander, Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay, and the word "beautiful" was his.

IT WAS THE SECOND CLOSE support saturation raid by super-forts in Korea and it was staged in the same general area as the first one three weeks ago.
From Taegu east to the Japan Sea, South Korean troops were making excellent progress except at the ruined port of Pohang.

There, United Press Correspondent Robert Beneshoff reported, the North Koreans apparently intend to hold Pohang as long as possible to prevent American fighter planes from using the excellent airstrip four miles south of the city.

One of the toughest battles on the southern perimeter was being fought at the southern end of the line two miles southwest of Haman. Fifteen American tanks joined the American 25th Division's drive to take a 1,000-yard-long ridge occupied by the Americans at one end and the North Koreans at the other.

A spokesman said it appeared that the entire enemy Sixth Division had dug in opposite the center of the 25th's line.
American casualties were described as "a little high."

Directors Appreciate Ranger Band Booster Club Needs More Members To Help Build Band
By Robert Gans
Ranger High School Band Director

All over the United States, band directors say, "Thank goodness I have a band booster club behind me. Without it I couldn't do half as much as I have done." What is the reason for this intense expression of gratitude? Why do band directors need a band booster club? Just what is a band booster club?

I will try to explain the need for and value of a loyal, hard working group of band boosters.
Band boosters are parents of children who play in the junior and senior high school bands. The club is not social in function. When a meeting is called, the members know that there is serious work before them. The object of a boosters club is to help the bandsmen, financially, morally, and spiritually. They help raise funds to provide the band with large, expensive instruments—instruments which would be beyond the means of the average parent. They also accompany the band out of town to football games, concerts, contests and many other little trips. They act as chaperones, and work with the band director. They care for, and mother 40 odd bandsmen as they would their own boys or girls. They counsel and advise and help in every conceivable way.

Their task of raising funds for the band is a thankless one. It means hours rehearsing for plays, baking pies and cakes, selling popcorn, etc.

All this to help Ranger have a better musical organization, a better community and a better group of future citizens.

I COULD NAME FOLKS LIKE the James Smith's, the Fox's, the Longs, the Gays, the Garvins, the Perlatins, the Hightowers, the Lawsons and many others who have unselfishly devoted many years to the school bands. These people know and understand the need for and value of musical training for youngsters, and they don't mind giving up some of their time to help.

More active band boosters are needed to carry on this important work, now that the Ranger bands are fully organized. We have sixteen bandsmen in the junior band and thirty-eight members in the senior band. This means that there are that many qualified parents. We can't ask the same people to do all the work year after year.

We need more people willing to help make the Ranger music program the best in the South. Our bands today are fine musical organizations. The bandsmen receive training that will make them better Americans and better Rangers. If you are the parent of a bandsman, look up one of the members whose name I have mentioned here. Join the band booster club, get on the band wagon. Be proud of your band—it's a band to be proud of.

Band Boosters Club To Meet Tuesday Night

The Band Boosters club will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the band hall. Several important issues will be discussed, Mrs. Tom Fox, reporter, said.
"These issues concern your child. We urge every interested parent to be present."

Easy Installment Buying Becomes War Casualty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (UP)—Free and easy installment buying became a Korean war casualty today.

From now on you'll have to put more cash on the line to buy such things as automobiles, radios, televisions and refrigerators. You'll have to pay for them quicker, too.
The new controls, to be administered by the Federal Reserve board, went into effect last night—little more than 14 months after similar controls in World War II expired.

HERE ARE THE NEW BASIC consumer credit requirements:
One third down on automobiles with 21 months to pay the balance.

Fifteen per cent down on household appliances, such as washing machines, stoves, televisions, radios, refrigerators, and 18 months to pay off the balance.
Ten per cent down on furniture and rugs and 18 months to pay up.

TEN PER CENT DOWN to make home repairs and alterations and repayment in 30 months instead of the present 24 months.
There is no down payment required for items costing less than $100, but the balance must be paid off within the period prescribed for that type of purchase.
For instance, a $99 refrigerator would have to be paid off in 18 months.

FERGUSON SAYS
By Harry Ferguson
United Press Foreign News Editor
A quick victory in Korea may save the peace of the world for several years.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's overall objective is to destroy the Communist army before it can retreat to the 38th parallel, the line that divides North and South Korea. If any sizeable part of the enemy's army gets across the parallel, the United States and the United Nations are going to be faced with a decision that could set the world in flames.

Our policy, and the policy of the nations that stand beside us in the U. N., is that we are in Korea to protect a free people from aggression. Technically, our obligation will have been discharged when there no longer is a single Communist soldier in South Korea. If we have to pursue the Communists across the 38th parallel, the Russians will be on their feet at the U. N., screaming "aggression" even louder than they do now.

The grave danger is that if the U. N. troops invade North Korea, the Chinese Communists and the Russians then will decide the time has come for them to resist aggression. That will be the start of World War III.

Some 200,000 well-trained, well equipped Chinese Communist troops stand on the northern border of Korea and could be thrown into action overnight. At the same time the Chinese Communists probably would attempt an invasion of the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa and the entire Far East would be aflame.

That is why MacArthur is going to press for a quick knockout. What he hopes for is that the average Korean Communist soldier will realize he is out-gunned and out-gunned and will decide to give up. The best possible thing that could happen would be for the Communists to start surrendering by the thousands.

That would put Moscow squarely on the spot. The only way Stalin could salvage anything out of his Korean adventure would be to pour in enough troops and equipment—Russian and Chinese—to put up a fight. If he doesn't do that, Communism is going to lose much face throughout Asia, a part of the world where face is all important.

There is one way out of the dilemma. If our offensive runs into obstacles and some Communist troops, say 20,000, fight their way out of encirclement and retreat past the 38th parallel, we could send the South Korean army out to destroy them. All other United Nations troops would wait at the parallel and it might even develop that none of our planes would fly into enemy territory. The surviving Communist troops might be so demoralized that the South Koreans would have nothing more than a mopping up operation to do.

All these speculations depend on the fortunes of war. But it is the announced policy of the United States government to try to localize the Korean war, and our field commanders are being scrupulous to implement that policy. That is why the policing and civic administration of the port of Inchon was turned over to the South Koreans only a few hours after the U. S. Marines captured the city.

New Outbreak?

REDS MASSING FORCES

SAIGON, Indo-China, Sept. 18 (UP)—Thousands of Communist troops were reported to be massing along the Chinese-Indo-China border today and two French garrisons guarding invasion routes have been attacked. Some military observers here said the attacks might be the start of a general Red offensive.

(The French have a sizeable army in Indo-China which is fighting the native Viet-Minh Communist forces. There has been speculation for some time that Indo-China might be the next place the Communists would attack in their attempt to conquer Asia.)
A French army spokesman said a Communist army of between 4,000 and 5,000 troops was attacking the outpost of Dongkhe, on the Chinese border.

TUNE-UP FOR TROUBLE—Republic of Korea Marines practice amphibious landing tactics with 30 caliber machine gun on pier at a South Korean port while waiting to board landing ship tank "City of Ulsan" (background). These troops were in the thick of MacArthur-planned pincers operation to cut off North Koreans at the front from the Seoul supply area, 165 miles northwest. REPORT MADE TO CONGRESS SHOWING WAY TO DEFEND US FROM RED ATOMIC BLITZING

By Raymond H. Wilson
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (UP)—The government today unwrapped its long-awaited "master blueprint" for building up the nation's civil defenses against a sneak Atomic attack.

The 149-page document warned that Russia "has the power to attack our cities in force" and added that any Atomic blitz "would be partially successful."
To counteract the effects of such a blow, it called for a federal civil defense administration, state and local organizations, and "millions" of civilian volunteers to act as block wardens, rescue squad members, auxiliary police, fire guards, and shore patrolmen.

The report, drafted by the National Security Resources board and forwarded to Congress by President Truman, said such a defense setup would enable the nation to recover quickly from an A-bombing and "fight back."
Properly administered, it said, civil defense could cut casualties by 50 per cent and keep the nation's industrial power intact.

Primary emphasis would be placed on defense of some 140 "critical target areas," including all major population and industrial centers of the nation. State Governors soon will be given maps showing which areas are in their jurisdiction.

US Pilots Hurt Enemy; But KoReds Also Count Toll On US In Wounded

By Robert Vermillion

ABOARD CARRIER OFF KOREA, Sept. 18 (UP)—The pilot with the bloody face was matter of fact.

"I am losing quite a lot of blood," he said.

"Can you make it back to the ship?" a voice on the radio said.

"I hope so," the wounded pilot said.

The official communiques tell you how many enemy tanks American fliers damaged and destroyed. But they only tell part of the story. You have to listen to the radio net that links the men in the air with their carriers at sea to get the rest of the story.

The story begins when we roar off the deck of our carrier in a Navy attack bomber and gather like pigeons above the home left. Lt. Comdr. Richard W. Fleck of Independence, Mo., then leads the flight toward the beach and as he nears it he checks in with the ground control.

"Do you have a mission?" control asks.

"Anything you want to use us for," Fleck replies.

There is no assignment immediately so we circle for an hour waiting for one. Meantime, voices

Industrial Loss Climbs Fast

Industrial fire losses have increased 68 percent in 10 years, approximating $175,000,000, or about 25 percent of the total loss in 1949, according to the National Fire Protection Association, nonprofit fire control group.

The NFPA, sponsor of Fire Prevention Week, being observed Oct. 8-14, points out that this estimate does not include lost production, which often is greater than the value of the industrial property destroyed.

With industry being called upon to meet war needs and to sustain a strong civilian economy as well, the NFPA asserts that 80 to 90 percent of the loss can be prevented by these steps:

- 1—Keep factory premises clean.
- 2—Inspect plants regularly for familiar hazards such as defective wiring, smoking in hazardous locations, and careless use and storage of flammable liquids.
- 3—Provide metal containers for waste.
- 4—Be sure fire extinguishers, automatic sprinklers, hose connections and lines are ready in case of need.
- 5—Keep fire doors closed, and exits free of obstructions.
- 6—Deal employees in how to fight small fires. Maintain a close relationship with the local fire department and call it instantly in case of fire.

Seventh Division, Almost Half South Korean Lands At Inchon

By Rutherford Poats
United Press Staff Correspondent
INCHON, Korea, Sept. 16 (UP)—People of this burned and blasted city began returning home today as the battlefront rolled eastward with the spectacular Marine advance on Seoul.

Many found their homes destroyed by the naval and air bombardment of their liberators. Some found relatives and neighbors dead in the still smoldering port city that only yesterday was in Communist hands.

But they are not bitter, according to Rear Admiral Sohn Won Yil whose South Korean Marine brigade had the job of mopping up and distinguishing friend from foe in the path of the American advance.

"The people seem happy," Sohn Won Yil said. "They knew this was coming. They are glad to see the Communists driven out."

The Admiral, chief of naval operations for the spunky little republic, said Inchon people he had talked with told of the tragic error many citizens had made.

"People began evacuating three days ago," he said, after the American bombardment squadron started its softening up attack on Communist coastal defenses.

"After two days (Friday), they began coming back."

Friday was D-Day.

The returning refugees walked right into the air, sea and ground attack and crossfire between Americans, and North Koreans.

"Many were killed," the Admiral said.

To estimate that two-thirds of Inchon had been destroyed or burned, "mostly by shelling."

The American and British naval forces tried to concentrate on Red gun positions but the guns were all over the hilly peninsula on which the city is built.

Chinese Nationalist flags were fluttering over several shops and buildings still standing down town. The big colony of Chinese residents apparently were using the same device they employed during the American liberation of Inchon in 1945. Then they wanted to be distinguished from Japanese and today from the Korean Communists.

As South Korean and Chinese Nationalist flags went up, Red

Mary Martin hits "South Pacific" girl friend, says of him: "He has magnetism. I'd walk away from him during a performance and be conscious that he was still there, radiating waves of pure animal attraction."

Lana Turner, his Hollywood co-star, is briefer: "He has charm," she said.

Another star with operatic tendencies, Katherine Grayson, says: "I'd never wash that man out of my hair."

propaganda posters and portraits of Joseph Stalin and Kim Il Sung came down.

Stalin's billboard size portrait already had become the most common souvenir for the Americans.

Even men recognize that Pinza has something. Jose Ferrer, no slouch himself at the Kiss-and-enjoy-it business, says:

It Was Just An Accident—

But he had faith that he would discover a great land, and he did. Likewise, the person who buys land without an abstract is embarking on a dangerous course. Like Columbus he must have faith that he won't lose his all and plenty of luck to avoid disaster.

Coaches Will Pick Top Football Teams Of Nation For United Press

By Oscar Fraley
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Sept 18 (UP)—The rather daffy business of attempting to rate the nation's college football teams week by week during the season finally has been solved with an application of solid common sense.

If you want a job done right in any line, you call on an expert in that particular field of endeavor. For a job of fancy plumbing you wouldn't call on a newspaperman, even though there have been indications from time to time that Fearless Fraley might have done better as such. So to rate the nation's football powers, the United Press will get the job done by real experts—not guys like Old Fearless who might have been ogling the fillies (saddled and vice versa) as some race track the day that Siswah pulled its greatest grid upset.

The U. P. football ratings will be made by 35 of the greatest football coaches in the nation, five from each of seven sections. Ordinarily these guys would shy away from the experiment. But they have agreed to the task because their ballots each week will be strictly confidential and they will be able to rate their rivals—and themselves—without putting themselves on the spot.

Without attempting to list all 35, here's a sample of the kind of talent on hand to juggle the weekly lineup:

Huge Herman Hickman of Yale, the poet of the Tennessee mountains; Lou Little of Columbia, head man of the Coaches' rules committee; Frank Leahy of Notre Dame ("nuff said); Jeff Cravath of Southern California; Jack Curtice of Utah; Bob Neyland of Tennessee; Carl Snavely of North Carolina, who thus continues to deal in justice; Dutch Meyer of T. C. U. and Blair Cherry of Texas.

That's leaving out a lot of top flight football names who will contribute their knowledge each week, and you could write a book about each of them.

All previous attempts to rate the nation's grid leaders, an intriguing bit of grist for the weekly football mill have been strictly catch-as-catch-can. It was like Boris Karloff and Zazu Pitts playing Romeo and Juliet.

One thing you had to admit in some of them, everybody was allowed to vote. It made no difference if you were a subway conductor who was barreling through a Brooklyn tunnel at 2:30 of a Saturday afternoon. Many of the voters probably never saw a game all season. But when you have to depend on experts like Old Fearless, subway motormen, bus boys, doormen and lunch counter traffic cops, you're putting out a top 10 list which is right off the wallpaper.

Our guys can get the job done—and right. Their predictions will be based on facts, not guesswork. They'll have scouting reports, movies of games, actual play conditions and the advantage of combing the country through intersectional conflict.

As of the moment, Old Fearless is retiring from the rating of football teams during the season. I am glad to shed the "expert's" mantle.

So grab hold, men, you'll get less Monday mourning quarterbacking than you ever dreamed possible. And thanks in advance for what we know will be a grand job.

Things are looking much better in Korea. And unless Stalin or the Chinese Comies think up a new trick like sending troops to help their brothers, we may be able to finish Korea by spring.

The biggest danger now is that an early victory in Korea will cause a general sluffing off again in the United States.

Defeating the North Koreans doesn't mean a serious defeat for the Russians.

The Reds did us a big favor when they attacked South Korea. It woke us up to our general state of unpreparedness—mentally and materially. Talk is now getting serious about 60 divisions in Europe.

Our armed forces in the United States are being strengthened.

But it's doubtful if our preparedness is going fast enough.

Russia is now being held back only by our Atomic stockpile and our B-36 bombers. And she is reported to be rapidly overtaking our Atomic lead.

When she has enough A-bombs to destroy our principal cities and manufacturing areas, Russia will probably start the Third World War.

If Europe is as lightly defended at that time as now, the United States will be hard put to win a compromise peace or puppet nation status.

BOYCE HOUSE SAYS

Brown was the wealthiest member of the congregation and was showing the minister his new home in the country.

"There was a big hole here which I filled in," the owner said, "and I built that lake over there, and I had those trees set out."

"Yes," replied the minister, "You and the Lord have done well here."

"Well, parson, I wish you could have seen the place when the Lord had it by Himself."

Hadacol Helps Relieve St. Louis Man's Leg Pains

He Suffered Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin

Elmer Prater, 3619 North Broadway, St. Louis, Mo., having tended bar for a good many years, says a man has to work mighty hard these days to make himself a passable living. Gone are the days when you could buy a good lunch for 15c. But he says the good old days of healthful living are today. That is because he found out how worthwhile life really can be. Gone are his days of suffering, thanks to HADACOL. Mr. Prater had been suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

Read Mr. Prater's statement: "I had been bothered many years with neuritis pains in my legs—the pain was so bad I couldn't sleep at night. My appetite was way off, too I just couldn't seem to get any enjoyment out of food and what I did eat didn't agree with me at all. I had just about given up hope when my brother and sister persuaded me to take HADACOL. What did HADACOL do for me? . . . Why, after taking HADACOL for only 2 weeks I was able to go back to work. You think I don't rate HADACOL First Place? . . . I recommend HADACOL every time."

Wonderful for Both Old and Young!

This new HADACOL is simply wonderful for men, women and children of all ages who are sick and ailing because their systems are lacking these important Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. The important Vitamins a and Minerals in HADACOL come to you in special liquid form so that they are more quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood stream, ready to go right to work at once. HADACOL even builds up the red blood cells (when iron is needed) to carry these precious elements to every part of your body — to your kidneys, lungs, heart, liver — even to the hair, nails and eyes!

Relieves Cause of Your Sickness from Such Deficiencies

HADACOL now makes it possible for you to relieve the active cause of neuritis pains and a general run-down nervous condition when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.
