WCTU Challenges Liquor Interests

New Law Would Label Alcoholic Bottles With 'Danger Signals'

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 25 (UP)—The leader of Texas' militant women Drys today challenged the liquor interests to a showdown fight on the floor of the 52nd Legislature.

Mrs. Claude De Vann Watts, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, announced "we are now challenging the liquor interests for a showdown."

"We are confident," she said, "of our strength."

Meantime, at Dallas a spokesman for the United Texas Drys said his organization was "exploring" the possibilities of introducing a constitutional amendment calling for a popular vote on the question of prohibition.

H. M. Jones, assistant to Dr. Walter H. McKenzie, executive secretary of the United Texas Drys, said he would be in Austin next week to look over the situation.

The opening gun in the prohibition fight was fired last week when Rep. Milton Wilkinson of the 11th district introduced a measure halting the sale of beer on Sunday. Beer may now be sold on Sunday from 1 p.m. until midnight.

A second proposal, introduced today, would require liquor, beer and wine to be labeled with a "danger signal" that they may be habit forming. The measure was sponsored by Rep. J. F. Gray of Three Rivers and seven other members of the lower chamber.

The alcoholic beverages would be labeled: "Warning: Do Not Overindulge—Alcohol May Be Habit-Forming."

"Danger: Do Not Drink and Drive—the Life You Take May Be Your Own."

Mrs. Watts said "the question of state-wide prohibition will very definitely come before the Texas Legislature now in session. It will be laid before our lawmakers in the form of thousands of petitions bearing the names of hundreds of thousands of Texans asking that the people of the state be allowed to vote on a constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition."

"We have excellent reason to believe," she added, "that a state wide vote will drive liquor from Texas."

Mrs. Watts quoted a recent independent poll which she said reported 54 per cent of Texans in favor of prohibition.

No legislator would hazard a guess on the outcome of a legislative prohibition vote.

However, one veteran House member, asking that he not be named, said:

"We might be surprised on how many would vote dry when the chips were down."

However, he did not predict that the measure would necessarily carry.

Effect On Public By Eng. Actions Worries Leaders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (UP)—Officials are uneasy about the effect on public opinion and in Congress of Great Britain's refusal to support the United States all the way in the United Nations.

The House and Senate voted overwhelmingly in favor of an action branding Communist China an aggressor. The State department proposed that the UN do that and also punish the Chinese.

This could be done by a world trade boycott which would leave the Chinese dependent upon the Soviet Union and her satellites for economic nourishment. Great Britain balked.

The British are reluctantly agreeable to an indirect indictment of Communist China as an aggressor—but no penalties. They fear any one or all of these things might happen if the UN moved vigorously to challenge the Red Chinese:

1. It might lead to general war in Asia.
2. China might make UN action an excuse for further pressure or even military action against British possessions in southeast Asia, or against India and Pakistan.
3. There would be a further diversion of American attention, men, money and munitions from Europe to Asia.
4. With London and Washington in open disagreement over fundamental policy toward Communist China, the Soviet Union urgently hopes the break will widen the anti-Communist front by collapse. Breaking that front is the foundation of Communist foreign policy.

Boy Kills Woman Because It 'Made Him Feel Good'

NEW BOSTON, TEX., Jan. 25 (UP)—A 16-year-old boy, who thought he could get away with murder where hadman Billy Cook failed, admitted today he shot a 72-year-old woman because it made him "feel good to kill."

Lloyd Hershel Pierce signed a confession admitting he stood behind Mrs. Missouri Coleman, a distant relative, and fired a .22 caliber rifle into her head as she sat rocking before her fireplace. He was charged with murder.

The youth, a former resident of Boys' Town, Neb., said newspaper and radio accounts of Bill Cook's murderous exploits had heightened an "uncontrollable desire to kill," according to district attorney Maxwell Welch.

Cook was indicted at Oklahoma City yesterday for the kidnap-murder of an Illinois family of five.

"He got caught, but I figure I could kill and get away with it," Welch quoted him.

Pierce was captured near New Boston last night when he went to a country store in search of food. An order had been issued for his arrest after he was seen in the neighborhood with a gun.

The youth said he left the home of his mother, Mrs. Ruby Cunningham of nearby Malta, 10 days ago and had been living "off the land" in fields and woods ever since.

The rifle he stole from a relative was found hidden in tall grass nearby after his arrest.

Pierce said he went to the home of Mrs. Coleman Monday when a cold wave forced him to seek shelter. The great-grandmother lived alone in a house six miles from Pierce's home.

Mrs. Coleman talked with him as he warmed himself in front of the fireplace. He started toward the front door and turned to see Mrs. Coleman sitting in front of the fire, her back turned to him.

"He took his rifle and fired one shot into the back of her head," Welch said. "Then headed for the woods again."

Welch said complaints had been received before Mrs. Coleman's death that Pierce had been "killing things," including "a horse, some hogs, and we don't know what else."

Graham Jaycees Lose To RJC By 67-43 Score

RJC tabbed its second win in five days over the Graham Jaycee team in Graham Wednesday night, 67-43. The score was almost identical with the 68-48 Ranger win Saturday.

Coach Boone Yarbrough said the Jaycee team had shown a lot of improvement since the first game, when the RJC coach played his second string for more than half the game. The subs played in the last 10 minutes of last night's tilt.

Graham was only four points behind at the half when Ranger led 32-28. The college team played a better game during the last session and pulled away from the Jaycees.

Ranger's T. Wilson bucketed 21 points, Ferguson 12 and Moseley 10 points. Decatur Junior College will try RJC again Friday night as the two teams begin the second round of conference play. RJC has already defeated that team, 64-45 and 65-55.

Allied Patrols Roam 11 Miles Into C. Korea

TOKYO, FRIDAY, Jan. 26 (UP)—United Nations patrols re-entered Hoengsong and roamed as deep as 11 miles into the no-man's land of central Korea Thursday without meeting the will-o-the-wisp Communist army.

The Communist also disappeared from the air after five days of aerial dogfights. Five hundred Allied planes bombed and strafed unchallenged, hitting rail centers and other targets.

This continued inactivity led to speculation by some United Nations officers that the bulk of the Reds may have pulled back closer to the 38th Parallel. Most field officers believed however that a new Red attack was in the making.

Another Allied tank force surged out of the main defense line south of Wonju Thursday and rolled 10 miles north of Wonju to Hoengsong along the same road traveled yesterday.

Air observers said the area through which the tank force passed was dotted with enemy groups of from 40 to 500 men, but none of these forces challenged the tanks. Air sorties claimed 170 Reds were killed by air strikes preceding the patrol.

Despite the scarcity of Reds on the front, there were reports that 3,000 Communists were massing in the area 31 miles northwest of Yaju. Another report said between 2,000 and 3,000 guerrillas or infiltrators were sighted marching south through the rugged east-central mountains.

ARAB-ASIAN TERMS SETS SEVEN-NATION CONFERENCE

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 25 (UP)—Communist China reported reliably today to have accepted an Arab-Asian proposal for an immediate seven-power conference on Far Eastern problems with a simultaneous cease-fire in Korea.

Informants in London said the Peking government has sent to the Indian delegation to the United Nations an unconditional acceptance of the proposal which will be under debate by the General Assembly's Political Committee when it meets at 3 p.m. EST.

India's chief delegate, Sir Benegal Rau, was understood to have received a communication from India's ambassador in Peking yesterday and it was believed he may reveal its contents when he speaks to the committee this afternoon.

The proposal by the 12-nation Arab-Asian bloc, led by India, calls for a seven-power conference among the United States, Russia, Britain, France, Communist China, Egypt and India. The conference would be called at a time and place to be fixed by the UN's General Assembly president.

London informants said Peking attached no strings to its acceptance. Previously Communist China insisted on membership in the United Nations and withdrawal of U. S. forces from Formosa as conditions to a Korean cease-fire.

Observers said the United States will oppose the Arab-Asian plan if it is called to a vote prior to an American resolution branding the Chinese Reds aggressors in Korea and calling for steps leading to punishment of Peking.

However, these observers believed the U. S. would attend the seven-power conference if the Arab-Asian plan is accepted by the necessary two-thirds of the membership.

Britain and Canada are expected to make their stands known today on the Chinese Red question with Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb and Canada's Lester B. Pearson both scheduled to speak.

U. S. Ambassador Warren R. Austin in a comparatively mild speech yesterday said this country stood "ready at all times" to join genuine peace talks and "would raise no objections" if some members wanted to send new appeals to Mao Tse-Tung's regime.

Austin warned that "you can't shoot your way into the United Nations."

Mock Air Raid May Pit Jets Against B-36's

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25 (UP)—An Air Force spokesman indicated today a long-awaited dogfight between Navy jet fighters and giant B-36 bombers "could quite possibly arise" during a planned four-day mock air raid on 15 western states.

Western air defense headquarters announced yesterday that sneak attacks involving planes from the strategic air command would start February 1 at altitudes so high the crafts would be invisible from the ground. The announcement said the simulated enemy bombings would continue until February 4, covering 15 states as far east as Nebraska and Texas.

The Air Force refused to say whether it would use the much-publicized B-36 plane in its attacks. But one spokesman said it was possible the giant planes would operate as "aggressors."

The Navy and Air Force were involved recently in a heated controversy about the merits of carrier-based aircraft as compared to the long-range B-36. Demands for a test between the two service aircraft were voiced in Congress prior to outbreak of the Korean War.

Some B-36 planes were equipped with jet pods on their wing tips. These models are 10-engine planes. The Carswell Air Base, at Ft. Worth, Tex., is a member of the strategic air command and has B-36 planes in its squadrons. B-29s and B-50's also operate under the strategic air command.

The number of planes to be used in the attack maneuver was classified top secret and the targets assigned to the raiders will not be listed in advance, the air force said. However, it was expected that hundreds of planes would be involved.

The Navy jets will be aided by Army anti-aircraft units, and by other Navy and Marine squadrons. Some groups from the Canadian Air Force were also invited to join in the defense. The radar network was considered a starting point for defensive operations.

Brig. Gen. William M. Morgan, vice-commander of the western air defense force, said most of the action will be fighters vs. bomber at about 30,000 feet. He said camera guns and bomb cameras would record results of the attack.

Junior College ROTC Units Can Do Much To Meet Military Training Needs, Education Authority States

AUSTIN, Jan. 25 — Junior College ROTC units could do much to help meet military training needs, Dr. C. C. Colvert, University of Texas professor and junior college education authority, asserts.

The junior colleges can have successful reserve corps units if Congress will allocate funds for such training, he maintains. About 35 U. S. junior colleges now have federally-sponsored military training programs.

Reserve corps or similar training programs are probably the only means to keep many junior colleges from closing because of enrollment drops, Dr. Colvert says.

The plan the American Association of Junior Colleges advocates offers a solution of the manpower problem, he declares. That plan aims to give young men a choice, except under total mobilization, in the ways they may obtain proper military training. Under the plan, youths at the age of 18 or high school graduation would know they would have to receive at least a year of military training or its equivalent.

Each youth could choose one of five alternatives: enlist in any branch of the regular services; enter a basic training program for one year of continuous training; enlist in the National Guard, continuing with civilian employment or education and getting military training at the same time; apply for admission to a service academy and, if successful, obtain his college education and military training concurrently; or apply for admission to a senior or junior college, or technical institute which has a military training program. There he would receive his education and military training together just as he would if he were attending a military school or service academy.

Every college would have the privilege of deciding whether or not it wanted military training. Also, any young man not wishing to take such training with his education could take his military training before going to college.

Such a plan would supply trained young men for defense at not too great a cost to the federal government, Dr. Colvert remarked.

Preparation For Civil Defense
Is Hard Work

AUSTIN, Jan. 25—It is hoped that we may achieve orderly thinking and make concrete suggestions for use by local and state committees in planning the medical phase of civil defense and disaster relief in the very near future, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer and State Defense Director.

No community can prepare itself to provide these additional health services that will be essential for civilians subjected to disaster, without a great deal of forethought, prolonged training and development of systematic performances, drills, tests, etc. When the average community prepares itself for disaster, the effort of each citizen and every profession must be fitted into coordinated system.

There is no easy way to prepare for disaster, it is all hard work. There are two opinions as to local disaster planning. One maintains that no real planning should be done until the central agency prescribes a uniform pattern for each locality. Such a regimented approach would result in a speedy realization of the desired total readiness. Certain elements of local plans would depend upon such a system if mutual support between communities are to be achieved with a maximum of economy and efficiency.

ciency. Such a system is the only one likely to survive national disaster.

A second group maintains that each community should proceed immediately with its own preparations for meeting disaster. Such a plan would not interfere with a national program. Each team can lay the necessary ground work in plans and at the same time, improve its own and others' readiness to meet any problems that may require community participation. Above all, much time and effort can be saved because such planning will be required with or without a universal national pattern.

Baptist Rally In Support Of '51 Hour

Pastors and lay leaders all over the Southern Baptist Convention are determined to put over the 1951 Baptist Hour. Dr. S. F. Lowe, Director of the Radio Commission, says that from all indications this will be the greatest year in the history of Baptist Hour broadcasting.

The first program of the new year was heard over 210 stations in 20 states and three foreign countries on January 7. Other outlets are being added all along. "The Radio Commission is on a very limited budget this year," Dr. Lowe explains, "and the vast majority of these stations are either donating their time outright, or it is being taken care of by local Baptists."

Five Teams Look Like Cinch To Play In NCAA

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (UP)—At least five teams were regarded as virtual "Shoo-ins" to gain berths in the NCAA college basketball tournament today despite the fact that the season is only half over.

Columbia, North Carolina State and Indiana apparently can't miss gaining bids to the NCAA eastern regional eliminations, while Arizona and Kansas State are the best bets for the western regionals.

The NCAA eliminations this year will be open to 16 teams. Eight will battle it out in the east and a like number will vie for the western title. The winners will meet for the national championship at Minneapolis, March 27.

In the eastern regionals, four of the eight berths will be awarded to conference champions. Under this set-up, Columbia is a cinch to represent the Ivy League, Indiana should get the Big Ten berth, and North Carolina State again looks like the Southern Conference champion.

The Southeastern Conference title is decided by a tournament, but who is willing to bet against Adolph Rupp's ever-powerful Wildcats?

St. John's, Villanova, Holy Cross and Vanderbilt or Maryland are the likely candidates for the four remaining eastern berths.

In the western regionals, six of the eight berths will fall to conference title-holders. As usual, the best battle is expected to develop in the Missouri Valley Conference between the Oklahoma Aggies, Bradley and St. Louis. However, under the new NCAA rules, all three can qualify for bids.

Arizona is unbeaten in the Border Conference. So is Kansas State in the Big Seven and Texas in the Southwest. Brigham Young and Denver are locked in an exciting battle to represent the Skyline Six, while the Pacific Coast Conference bid will probably be awarded to Washington State of Southern California.

Long Island University, unbeaten in 15 games, is not a member of the NCAA, so will not be eligible for its tournament. But Clair Bee's Blackbirds can't miss being awarded a bid to the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

There are a number of other good-record teams regarded as candidates for the NIT, which also will comprise a 16-team field this year. These include Duquesne, LaSalle, Canisius, New York University, Toledo, Bowling Green, Dayton, Vanderbilt, Cincinnati, Louisville and Stanford.

City College of New York, which became the first "double champion" last season, may not rate a bid to either tournament. The baleful Beavers have lost five of their first 11 games.

Somervell County Farmers Fight Grass Fires

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 25—In Somervell County, Texas, farmers banded together and burned the grass along the highways. Each morning when the wind was moderate, farmers would burn the grass to prevent fires starting when no one was present to control them.

Much can be done toward educating motorists to refrain from throwing lighted matches and cigarettes along highways where grass can be set afire, says Somervell county agricultural agent E. D. Cooper. But it is doubtful if a 100 percent job can be done. An estimate has been made that indicates about ten percent of the drivers are law violators who pay little attention to any law.

They pass cars in no-passing zones; fail to stop at intersections where stop signs are placed; and they pay no attention to 30-mile speed zones. When one of these drivers violates one law, chances are good he'll violate another the next time the opportunity presents itself. Cooper suggests that drivers do a little checking on their own as well as the other fellow's driving habits.

He points out that unless 100 percent of the drivers cooperate in keeping down fires, much can be done because ten drivers can strew lighted matches and cigarettes along the highway and ruin the good record set by 90 careful drivers. The best answer to the problem is to fight fire with fire.

Before the program was started in Somervell county, he says, several large fires destroyed pastures ranging from 20 acres to 300 acres. One home lost from a grass fire.

This may not be all that could be desired from the standpoint of highway beautification, he adds, but it does stop the losses caused by careless motorists.

It's a Tough Life SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—Mrs. Eugene E. Brough never knows just how her name will be pronounced next.

She has run the gamut—from "dough" through "tough", "bough", "caugh" and "slough" to "hough" (hok)—and says ever her closest friends have difficulty remembering her name rhymes with "tough."

Little Korean Boy Found Crying On Steps Adopted By Correspondents

BY H. D. QUIGG
SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Jan. 25 (UP)—A letter to my daughter, Susan, age 10.

Dear Susan:
Since I wrote you last many things have happened, some of them good, some bad. One of the very best of the good things is that the correspondents corps now has a new member.

He is seven years old and he goes around the drafty hall of our billet singing songs in a hoarse voice and stomping his little feet in time to the music. He's a Korean boy named Hong Kiu He. A group of correspondents found him crying on the steps of the city hall the day the American Army left Seoul, the capital of Korea.

His mother and father had been killed in the fighting for Seoul. He had been living with a sister but now he couldn't find her. He was all alone, sobbing his heart out. The correspondents tucked him in their jeep and brought him along to our new billet.

They had new clothes, of military cut, made for him. Harold Boyle, who you remember used to bring you presents when you were young, got him a fine pair of shiny boots, and he went around showing them to people saying, "Uncle Hal Presento." That word "presento" is one the Koreans have picked up from the Japanese. It's the Japanese way of trying to say the English word "present."

Kiu He knows how to say "thank you very much" in English. And he can sing the first verse of the old Sunday school song "Jesus Loves Me."

But the song he sings best is a Japanese nonsense verse to the tune of "London Bridge Is Falling Down." It goes: "Mostly moshy ano ne, ano ne, ano ne, moshy moshy ano ne, ah so deska."

Kiu He sings loud duets of this song with any correspondent who happens to be around. The song was made up by the American soldiers when they first went into Japan on occupation. "Moshy Moshy" in Japanese means "hello" or "hey, you." "Ano ne" means "Listen to this." "Ah so deska" means "Ah, is it so?"

The Americans would listen to the Japanese on the telephone and it seemed that the whole conversation was made up of those phrases. So they started the song.

Now it's popular in Japan. The Japanese kids sing it.

One day recently two or three of the correspondents who had been taking care of Kiu He and in whose room he had been living began getting packed. They were going to Tokyo. They didn't tell Kiu He they were leaving, but he could tell. Misery entered his life again. He began crying, sitting on a cot and uttering heaving sobs.

Kim the houseboy, spoke with him; and then told us: "He says that everybody goes away and they either die or they don't come back."

Kiu He carried on through the morning. Finally a French correspondent took him on his lap and hugged him tightly and rocked back and forth saying: "I know, I know. Don't cry, little boy. Everybody Loves You." that finally stopped his crying.

He went to the airport with his friends and somebody got him so interested in the planes that he didn't notice when they left.

He's okay again now and singing happily. Frank Conniff, a correspondent from New York, has given him a new name, "Charley Company." Conniff says there's an infantry company he likes very much which is named that, so he's naming the boy after the company. Love to you, Daddy.

SCENES AROUND RANGER

Chalk up one answer to those "things" flying around Ranger. A fellow in the city, who prefers to remain anonymous, said he and some other people were watching a couple of planes the other day. The aircraft were cruising around high in the sky and, says the man, when they were seen from a certain angle they looked just like 'round, silver objects'—in other words, like a flying saucer. That's the most logical explanation but, still, other people have insisted that what they saw was not an airplane. So we're back where we started. Any other explanations?

Seems we were mixed up on our definition of "ditch-em." Ditch-em, we wrote, is a sort of tag game played in automobiles.

No siree, a high school girl tells us. Ditch-em she says is a game played with cars, alright, but it's not a tag game, it's where one car follows another. When they have no place to go, we assume. Whether it's tag or follow-the-leader, it still sounds like suicide hop-scotch.

6 Year Old Boy Killed Dashing In Front Of Truck

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 25 (UP)—Six-year-old Bobby Joe Judkins died today from injuries he suffered when he dashed into a light pickup truck in front of an elementary school yesterday.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Ruth Judkins, 28, standing across the street, saw the danger and was screaming, "no, no," as the impact knocked the child to the pavement. Police said he suffered multiple skull fractures.

Driver of the truck was August Svoboda of Liverpool. He told police he was traveling about 20 miles per hour when the accident happened.

Yesterday was the little boy's first day at Cage Elementary School. The family moved here from Whitewright, Tex., a week ago.

UNCLE SUGAR MAY HAVE PRESSED THE PANIC BUTTON TO BUG OUT FROM GOLF BALLS, BUT WE'VE CLOBBERED SOME GOOKS, ARIGATO

BY H. D. QUIGG

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Jan. 24 (UP)—Quigg's handy guide to phrases in use in Korea:

(All in current usage—more or less.) A good many of them you have to know in order to make any sense out of conversation between soldiers out here. Some have made comebacks. (Anyone loudly claiming to have heard any of them first in the Spanish-American war— is kindly invited to come out here so I can clobber him over the head with a baseball bat.)

Hassel—an argument, disagreement, hard time, fight. E.G., "We got into a hassel about our rations."

No sweat—means something was no bother or trouble. You thank someone for doing something for you and he replies, "No sweat."

Got it—as in "he's got it made," means a person is well set up, has plenty of whatever he wants, has triumphed.

I got news for you: You're wrong, bub—you have the wrong information. (was used especially among liaison pilots; now has spread.)

Rug out—to get the hell out of wherever you are. "Let's bug out of here." Goes well with retreats.

Cut a tail—to bug out. Used by outfits whose commanding officers have given orders that the phrase "bug out" will not be used.

Panic button—usually somebody "pushed," "pressed," or "hits" it. A joking expression used to cover almost anything. When an outfit moves, wags will remark, "somebody hit the panic button." Some guys in the rear areas even have a well-labeled panic button on the wall by their desks.

Prize expression when the Army bugged out of Seoul: "They moved the panic button to Pusan."

Mus (pronounced moose) of mouse (pronounced moose)—girl friend. A term picked up in Japan during the occupation, from the Japanese word "musume" (pronounced moosoomay).

What's the big picture?—first thing a soldier asks of a correspondent.

You're fat or he's fat—mens well fixed, has plenty. (especially by Navy carrier pilots.)

Clobber—to hit hard, really slaughter. "We clobbered them with artillery." (Never caught on too well in World War II but going great guns in Korea.)

Them cooks—the enemy.

Gook—a term used loosely by soldiers for Pacific Island natives and orientals generally. Had about died out in Japan before this war started. Had big comeback in Korea. Now, South Korean soldiers call North Korean soldiers gooks.

Rok (pronounced rock)—South Korean. "The roks" are the South Korean army. From the initials for "Republic of Korea."

Slime—Army food.

Golf balls—tracers from gunfire of enemy plane. (Used by jet fighter pilots.)

Round Slesk—Vienna sausage.

Sloggerville—correspondent's term for fighting front.

Mamsan, papsan, boy-san—native man, woman male servant. Sukoshi—a little, Takusan—much. Dozo—if you please.

Arigate—thank you. (All Japanese words picked up in occupation.)

Laundryman—Chinese soldier.

Uncle sugar—The U.S.A.

Mice Beter Beware

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Undoubtedly they'll be after bigger game than that, but articles of incorporation have been filed for the Mouse Island gun club of Portland, Ore.

School Chief Approves MOD

AUSTIN, Jan. 25—The 1951 Texas March of Dimes got a formal acknowledgment as the annual drive for funds to fight polio swept ahead throughout Texas.

The support came from Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commissioner of Education.

Speaking for the more than one million and a half public school children and the thousands of teachers, Commissioner Edgar anticipated the backing of all educational forces in the state.

In a letter to Ralph Frede of Austin, Central Texas Representative for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Commissioner Edgar wrote in part:

"We are greatly interested in both the educational program and the fundraising program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and, along with the other school people of this state, we are glad to lend our cooperation and assistance to these programs in any manner that is fitting."

"We wish you success in the March of Dimes program, and I know that you will again this year, as in the past years, have the full cooperation of the pupils, teachers and administrators of the public schools of this state."

The Texas quota for the 1951 MOD is $2,500,000. Ed. S. Stewart of Abilene, state chairman, said the success of the annual drive "is unusually urgent because of the record incidence of polio in the last three years."

US Population Jumps 2 Million Since April

New York, N. Y. — The population of the United States has since the Census was taken last increased by nearly 2,000,000 April, which brings the total—including men overseas service—to about 153,000,000 as of the end of 1950, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

For the full year the natural increase—the excess of births over deaths, including losses in the armed forces overseas—was close to 2,250,000. The rate of natural increase was about one and a half percent, which is substantially higher than the average for the past decade.

"The population record of the country in recent years provide an index of the vitality of the American people which is particularly reassuring in the present crisis," the statisticians' comment.

The Railroads RESPECT... The Union Leaders seek to REPUDIATE... this agreement!

What is the TRUTH?

At various stages in the present dispute with the brotherhoods of railroad operating employees

- ... the railroads agreed to arbitrate. The union leaders refused.
- ... the railroads accepted the recommendations of President Truman's Emergency Board. The union leaders refused.
- ... the railroads accepted the White House proposal of August 19, 1950. The union leaders refused.

Finally an Agreement was signed at the White House on December 21, 1950. Now the union leaders seek to repudiate the Agreement.

The railroads stand ready to put the terms of this Agreement into effect immediately, with back pay at the rates and dates indicated.

The Agreement is given in full below.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT
Washington, D. C.
December 21, 1950

- Establish 40 hour week for yardmen with increase of 23 cents effective October 1, 1950, and additional 2 cents effective January 1, 1951.
- Set aside 40 hour week agreement until January 1, 1952, and establish 6 day work week for yardmen. Effective with the first pay roll period after 30 days from the date of execution of the formal agreement, yardmen required by the carrier to work on the 7th day to be paid overtime rates for the 7th day. This does not create guarantees where they do not now exist. On and after October 1, 1951, three months' notice to be given of desire to go on 40 hour week. Provide for consideration of availability of manpower and 4 cents per hour if and when the 40 hour week actually becomes effective.
- Settle rules for 40 hour week and 6 day week.
- Grant yard conductors and brakemen other rules such as daily earnings minimum, car retarder operators and footboard yardmasters as recommended by Emergency Board No. 81.
- Settle following rules: Initial Terminal Delay (Conductors and Trainmen) Interdivisional Runs Pooling Caboomes (Conductors and Trainmen) Reporting for Duty More than One Class of Service Switching Limits Air Hose (Conductors and Trainmen) Western Differential and Double Header and Tonnage Limitation (Conductors and Trainmen, all Territories)
- Road men to receive 5 cents per hour increase effective October 1, 1950, and additional 5 cents per hour increase effective January 1, 1951.

7. Quarterly adjustment of wages on basis of cost of living index (1 point to equal 1¢ per hour. First adjustment April 1, 1951. Base to be 176).

8. Agreement embodying principles applicable to yardmasters to be entered into for benefit of yardmasters.

9. Effective October 1, 1950, the basic hours of dining car stewards shall be reduced from 225 to 205 hours per month; no penalty overtime to accrue until 240 hours have been worked, the hours between 205 and 240 to be paid for at the pro rata rate.

Effective February 1, 1951, overtime at time and one-half shall accrue after 220 hours have been worked. The basic monthly salary to be paid for the 205-hour month shall be the same as that now paid for the 225-hour month. Except that four dollars and ten cents ($4.10) shall be added to the present monthly rate effective January 1, 1951.

10. In consideration of above, this agreement to be effective until October 1, 1953, and thereafter until changed or modified under provisions of Railway Labor Act. Moratorium on proposals for changes in wages or rules until October 1, 1953, as follows:

No proposals for changes in rates of pay, rules or working conditions will be initiated or progressed by the employees against any carrier or by any carrier against its employees, parties hereto, within a period of three years from October 1, 1950, except such proposals for changes in rules or working conditions which may have been initiated prior to June 1, 1950. Provided, however, that if as the result of government wage stabilization policy, workers generally have been permitted to receive so-called annual improvement increases, the parties may meet with Doctor Steelman on or after July 1, 1952, to discuss whether or not further wage adjustments for employees covered by this agreement are justified, in addition to increases received under the cost of living formula. At the request of either party for such a meeting, Doctor Steelman shall fix the time and place for such meeting. Doctor Steelman and the parties may secure information from the wage stabilization authorities or other government agencies. If the parties are unable to agree at such conferences whether or not further wage adjustments are justified they shall ask the President of the United States to appoint a referee who shall sit with them and consider all pertinent information, and decide promptly whether further wage increases are justified and, if so, what such increases should be, and the effective date thereof. The carrier representatives shall have one vote, the employee representatives shall have one vote and the referee shall have one vote.

11. If the parties cannot agree on details of agreement or rules they shall be submitted to John R. Steelman for final decision.

The usual protections for arbitrators, miscellaneous rates, special allowances, and existing money differentials above existing standard daily rates will be included in the formal agreement.

The foregoing will not debar management and committees on individual railroads from mutually agreeing upon changes in rates, rules and working conditions of employees covered by this agreement.
