Cut For Civilian Use Of Aluminum Ordered Apr. 1

BAN HITS 200 PRODUCTS; USE OF RUBBER ALSO CURBED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (UP)—The government today banned the use of aluminum in more than 200 civilian products, effective April 1.

It also announced that natural rubber may not be used after March 1 in a long list of products ranging from shoe soles to bath mats.

The national production authority said the two orders are essential to insure enough supplies of aluminum and rubber to meet increased defense needs.

The aluminum order also directed that producers and fabricators of the metal must divert a bigger share of their facilities to handling defense orders, in some cases up to 60 per cent of their production.

Among aluminum items banned on and after April 1 are ash trays, cocktail shakers, bicycles, cigaret lighters, hair curlers, jewelry, residential roofing, venetian blinds, storm windows and toys.

The order permits continued use of aluminum for strictly functional parts of civilian goods, but requires that after April 1 manufacturers cannot use more aluminum than is absolutely necessary for such functional parts.

NPA also ruled that, beginning June 1, aluminum cannot be used to make any item solely for decorative or ornamental purposes.

The rubber order, in addition to eliminating non-essential uses, reduced slightly the amount of new rubber available for all civilian purposes in February and March.

It also directed an increase in production of camelback for re-capping automobile tires and moved to encourage development of wild rubber imports from Latin America.

In addition, the order provided for simplification of styles, types and colors of rubber products used in civilian life, effective Feb. 15.

Among the products in which natural rubber no longer may be used after March 1 are toys, non-functional household, industrial and automotive rubber goods, rubber sundries not essential to basic health needs, floor coverings, bath mats, shoe soles and heels, non-functional athletic and sports goods, and inner tubes having an 8.25-inch cross-section or smaller.

Synthetic rubber, however, can be substituted for practically all of those items so that they will not disappear from the civilian market.

The rubber order also cut the permitted civilian use of new natural and synthetic rubber in February to 72 percent of the average amount used in the 12 months ended June 30, 1950. The February civilian quota previously had been 80 percent.

In March the civilian quota will be 74 per cent, but only 35 percent of that supply will be natural rubber, instead of 43 percent as at present.

The number paid this year is about half that of last year when about 6,400 were issued. Reason for the lag this year is that no regular election are set.

Since the wildest walkout started Tuesday, it has hit 50 railroads in 44 cities. More than 160,000 workers were idled as result of the stoppage which cut off transportation facilities to plants just beginning to hit high gear on war production.

The White House denounced the railroad strike yesterday, charging the leaders of four railroad brotherhoods with "bad faith," and citing the danger to our "national existence" by the strike.

Thousands of homes were threatened by a shortage of fuel for heating purposes and some fuel oil dealers already were rationing their customers.

Higher food prices were in prospect because of the strike, some sources said. Lt. Col. H. S. Francis, executive officer of the Army quartermaster center at Chicago said wholesale prices of fresh fruits and vegetables doubled and, in some cases, tripled, as result of the railroad tie-up.

The strike was hitting the nation's war effort harder every hour it continued.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the U. S. Steel Corp., said it was having a "serious effect" on vital defense industries and the nation's welfare.

It appeared that the nation would feel the strike's full force on Monday when many plants will be forced into wholesale lay-offs of their employees.

Local basketball teams took a brief rest before resuming scrimmages for forthcoming games. RJC who tied Cisco for the conference lead with a 76-62 victory over that team Thursday, will meet Abilene Christian College's freshmen here Monday night.

UN Will Soon Debate Crossing 38th Parallel

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (UP)—The United States and its United Nations partners soon will begin debating whether Gen. Douglas MacArthur will be authorized to send Allied troops across the 38th Parallel—if they get that far.

Pending UN discussion and a decision, the best advance guess is that UN ground forces will be ordered to halt at the border between North and South Korea.

London reports said Britain wants a "full discussion" among all interested powers before any attempt is made to cross into North Korea again. American officials indicated this government would agree to talks on the important question.

Full-scale intervention of Communist China in the Korean War last November and six weeks of withdrawals by the UN forces have made it unlikely that MacArthur will be authorized to stab northward again. Many nations wavered on the initial order, and more are expected to join them when the issue is discussed.

The State Department last night refused to confirm reports that the United States will favor halting at the 38th Parallel for a new try at cease-fire negotiations with the Communists. The question of peace in Korea, the department said, is before the UN, and speculation "at this time" about the 38th Parallel would not help solution of the question.

The department however, reaffirmed U. S. policy to continue the war pending any settlement.

"The present mission of the United Nations forces in Korea," it said, "is to repel the aggression and restore international peace and security in the area. Repelling aggression is a military mission which will be vigorously pressed.

A total of 3,255 poll taxes were paid in Eastland county this year, Stanley Webb, tax assessor-collector, has announced.

Psychiatrists Try To Learn Why Woman Hacked Her Niece To Death

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 3 (UP)—Psychiatrists will examine Mrs. Ada M. Turner, 39, today in an attempt to learn why she hacked her seven-year-old niece to death with an axe.

The body of pretty, brown-haired Juanita Lewis was found yesterday on a bloody bedroom floor, her head split and almost severed by repeated blows from an axe.

Mrs. Turner was arrested and charged with murder.

The plump blonde, mother of a four-year-old daughter, talked freely to officers, but was unable to explain why she killed her young niece.

Lloyd Frazier, Harris County chief deputy sheriff, said psychiatrists would talk with her this morning. Frazier said Mrs. Turner once was a patient at a Nashville, Tenn., hospital.

"I don't know why I did it. I just picked up the axe and cut her. Then I saw the blood and left," Frazier quoted Mrs. Turner.

"She said she didn't feel 'just right' when she got up this morning," the deputy said. "And parts of her memory seem foggy."

Frazier said Mrs. Turner told him she first got the axe out of a tool shed to chop ice from a frozen wash basin, but suddenly attacked the child in the bedroom.

The slaying at the Turner's lonely farm house near the community of Fairbanks was disclosed when Mrs. Turner went to a neighbor.

Mrs. L. C. Lane, and said, "Juanita is hurt."

Two men found the body on the bedroom floor and the bloody axe in a nearby bathroom.

Officers said they believed the first of many blows rained on Juanita's head and throat proved fatal.

Mrs. Turner and her husband, William Turner, came to the Houston area a month ago from Nashville, Tenn., to visit Mrs. Rosie Lewis, the slain child's mother, and her husband, Turner and Mrs. Lewis are brother and sister.

Frazier said Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were grief-stricken, but not embittered, over their young daughter's murder. He said the couple did not believe Mrs. Turner was mentally responsible.

Communists Counter-Attack Assault Force Near Seoul

By Earnest Hoherecht

TOKYO (Sunday) Feb. 4 (UP)

A three-pronged Allied force massing for an assault on Seoul ran into a stiff Communist counter attack 10 miles south of the South Korean capital last night.

A Turkish unit which had participated in the 10-day United Nations drive to within artillery range of the battered city beat off one Chinese counter attack.

Two companies of Chinese slammed into South Koreans on a steep mountain slope and a fierce battle still was raging there at 11 p.m. last night.

American troops making up the third prong of the spearhead were massing between Suwon and Seoul and had settled down for the night in foxholes dug in the frozen earth when the Reds attacked. Late reports indicated the GI's were holding their positions.

The Allies had advanced for 10 days through South Korean valleys against little resistance, while Chinese troops were reported massing in force for a new assault on the troops they had pushed all the way south from the Manchurian border.

The Reds suddenly attacked in strength after dark in attempts to regain the heights commanding the village of Anyang, the last town of any size between UN troops and Seoul, which has fallen to the enemy twice in the see-sawing Korean War.

The Communists struck with artillery, mortars and machinegun fire, but a front dispatch said the vastly superior fire power of the Allies was inflicting an "incredible" number of casualties on the Communists. Total ground and Air Force claims indicated that more than 6,000 Communists—half the strength of a division—were wiped out in a single engagement.

As the spearheads punched and jabbed at Communist lines, other U. S. 8th Army forces ripped new holes in Red defenses below Seoul. One flanking spearhead was sent racing around the eastern end of the enemy line to within 30 miles of the 38th Parallel.

An 8th Army communique said UN tanks and infantry advanced an average of 1,500 to 2,000 yards against steadily mounting enemy resistance all along the zig-zag 45-mile western Korean front.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday for William L. Henning of Staff Community who died in Ranger Friday of a heart attack while at the livestock show barn. Interment will be at Simpson Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are in care of Morris Funeral Home.

Henning was born in Eastland County, Dec. 22, 1884. He married Anna Smith in 1929. He was an active farmer and a member of the Staff Church of Christ. Survivors include his wife; one sister, Mrs. J. F. Tanner of Staff and several cousins.

Funeral services will be J. W. Vinson, Buddy Vinson, W. S. Vinson, Elver Everton, Frank Williams and T. A. Eutley.

Enlargement of the Ranger Clinic includes a new office and special treatment room and extension of the reception room. Work will soon begin on a parking area at the back of the building. The treatment room will have an electrocardiogram, short wave diathermy and other special equipment.

Dr. White's association with the clinic brings to seven the number of staff members which includes: Dr. W. P. Watkins, Dr. C. W. Harris, Mrs. G. B. Rush, registered nurse; Miss Helen Jennings, laboratory technician; Miss Myrtle Eaves, laboratory technician and Miss Wanda Glen, bookkeeper.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 3 (UP)—Fire damages to the spiritual Temple Church in Fort Worth was estimated at more than $35,000 today, following a blaze that raged out of control for two hours yesterday.

"It is not only naked deceit; it is also an insult to the Chinese people."

He said the United States introduced the resolution to leave the way clear for it not only to intervene in Korea and Formosa, but also in Indo-China and southeast Asia.

But, he suggested, there is still one possible way out for the UN. At the very end of his statement, Chou said:

"To strive for the burying of this resolution, to strike for rendering it an utter failure, will not only pave the way for peaceful settlement of the Korean problem and other important Asian problems, but also establish a basis for opposition to aggressive war, for defense of world peace and for restoration of the dignity of the UN charter."

He charged that the American resolution was "an utter perversion of truth and confounds black and white."

"While it is obviously the United States which engineered the Korea incident, intervened in and invaded Korea, and intervened in and invaded China's Formosa, the U. S. resolution alleges that the Chinese Communist party is intervening in Korea and the central people's government of the people's Republic of China is invading Korea—"

Chou, who also is foreign minister of the Red regime, said the assembly's action was "obviously illegal, slanderous and null and void" because Peiping was not represented.

He said the UN General Assembly's adoption of the American resolution against Red China had "blocked the path" of any peace negotiations.

China will pay "absolutely no attention" to the "good offices" commission set up by the General Assembly under the resolution to seek a negotiated settlement, Chou said in a 1,800-word statement broadcast by Peiping radio.

"The Chinese people will henceforth recognize all the more clearly the aggressive ambitions of American imperialism, will be all the more determined to defeat the aggression with action, and will understand better how to take all necessary measures to cope with the attempts of American imperialism and its accomplices to extend aggressive war."

Few Economies Are Visible In Truman Budget Message

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—It's a darn sight easier to tell what isn't in the President's $71 billion budget message than what is in it. For pretty high everything the President ever asked for before is there, including a start on compulsory health insurance, the Brannan plan, aid to education, St. Lawrence sea wall—and a few odd thousand kitchen knives. No fooling—they'll go into new defense housing. In the President's message the Union message he got cheers from Congress for saying that the government "must practice rigid economy in its non-defense expenditures. Many of the things we would normally do must be curtailed." The President still thinks this is a tight budget. He is asking for only $4.3 billion in new legislative authorizations. Of this, $3 billion will be for foreign military and economic assistance, $700 million to expand defense production, $300 million for price and economic control machinery, $290 million for an extended draft, $164 million for dispersal of government buildings, $100 million for defense housing, the rest in lesser items. In preparing the budget, the claim is made that 130 items, or 40 per cent of the appropriation requests that will go to Congress, were cut back from last year. Outbacks totaled $5.75 billion. Of this $3.7 billion represent cutbacks for stock-piling, shipbuilding and atomic energy, due to heavy expenditures in these fields this year. The other $2 billion outback is in new defense items. These savings are, of course, a mere molehill when stacked beside the mountainous fact that military expenditures will be nearly doubled from this year's $24 billion to next year's $41 billion. This is no way to save money, if that's the objective. In reviewing the budget, the President said that when people make wild statements about what could be cut out, he wished they'd first learn half as much about the budget as he knew. Among the most recent suggestions on how the budget could be cut was a statement from Otto A. Seyferth, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He said $6 billion could be cut from non-defense items of the federal budget. Mr. Seyferth recommended cutting $2 billion from farm subsidies and $3 billion from each of the following: housing loans, public works, veterans' benefits, welfare and public assistance. This is how the new Truman budget conforms, or rather doesn't conform: Expenditure for farm price supports in the present fiscal year is estimated at $18 million net. This figure is low because the government made $296 million on the sale of cotton and other surpluses. Existing federal housing aid programs are expected to cost $409 million this year. Next year they are expected to show a net return to the government of $102 million. The President's budget message, however, asks for an additional $1 billion authorization—instead of the Seyferth-recommended $1 billion cut for next year.

Not Too Deadly

Lucky Guys by FRANK R. ADAMS

XXXIII MARGIE LOU reached out to put her hand on Eddie's arm, but remembered, "I'm sorry it had to happen to you. Is it pretty bad?" They were on a darker side street now. "It's a lot easier for us than for you. We know everything's all right. You and the others don't. Living and dying aren't so important, really. You find that out after you've done both. The only thing bad is when you meet somebody like you, Margie, and it's too late." Margie gave a contented woman's laugh. "It's not too late. We can be together this way, Eddie. We'll belong to each other forever." Forever—the sad, futile word that lovers use. For Eddie there was only the time until dawn. He couldn't tell her yet. Let her have what happiness she could until they had to part again. She went on, planning, as women do, for an impossible, sorrowful future. "We won't ever have to be separated. Why, we could really be married. You could say, 'I take you, Margie Lou, to be my lawfully wedded wife.' Say that, Eddie." He did. "And I say, I take you, Eddie, to be my lawfully wedded husband, to love and cherish forever and ever, till death do us—" She stopped. "Oh, Eddie, it's happened already." She began to weep. "Don't cry, sweetheart. I can't even lend you my handkerchief—it's in my other pants." She laughed brokenly through her tears. "I'll be with you until reveille. I think she knows I ever had one, would be able to make me laugh no matter if I thought everything was all wrong until he told me different. Nothing can hurt us now, can it? The worst thing happened before we ever met. And when I die it will be the happiest day of my life. That's because you'll be right there waiting." EVERYTHING made it tough for Eddie. He didn't know where he would be at any time in the future. Except for the next few hours he wasn't sure that he would continue to exist even as a helpless shadow. Better not think of that. "There's something I want you to do, Margie Lou," he said briskly. "We've got to Kirsten Peterson's house, and you must give her a message from me." Margie Lou's interest was aroused. He told her the necessity for warning Kirsten to keep out of Max Lengel's way. Naturally Margie Lou was all sympathy. It took quite a while to get to Kirsten's little white house. Eddie could have been there instantly but Margie Lou had to walk. Kirsten was awake. She listened gravely to the other girl's story. "Thank you," she said when she had heard it. "I can take care of myself now that I know. Not that it matters. My husband, Carl, is dead so nothing matters to me." "You have had a telegram?" Margie Lou asked. "Not yet. But I am sure." Eddie said to Margie Lou, "He's standing right beside her." "It is all right," Kirsten continued. "The way things are it is better that we should not be together for a little while. We shall meet sometime." "Don't worry about Kirsten," Carl told Eddie. "I'll be with her until reveille. I think she knows I ever had one, would be able to make me laugh no matter if I thought everything was all wrong until he told me different. Nothing can hurt us now, can it? The worst thing happened before we ever met. And when I die it will be the happiest day of my life. That's because you'll be right there waiting." "You can come in with me," Margie Lou told Eddie shyly. "My room isn't very large for a man as big as you are, but you'll have to get used to it." Margie Lou was wrong about going in. The door at the head of the outside stairs was locked. There was no light inside. No sound either. Fastened to the screen door was a white envelope. "Oh, my goodness," wailed Margie Lou. "I was supposed to be home hours ago to get Aunt Ellen's supper. She's done it again!" "Done what?" Eddie inquired. She removed the note from the screen and read it under a street lamp. "On a sheet of ruled tablet paper was scrawled in pencil: 'I have locked the door and taken poison. Nobody cares if I live or die. I waited until 10 o'clock for you to come in from the office. I'm around. Go away and never come back, you sardines!' Eddie laughed right out loud. "Hold it, kid! I'll bet that old witch is just having herself a time making trouble for you. You can't get in, but I can. Wait." Eddie was gone only a moment. He came back chuckling. "Aunt Ellen is sitting in a chair near the door getting ready to put on an act when you break in." "But I still don't know what to do. If I stay out all night, she'll make me miserable—punish me for months." Eddie looked at his big hand regretfully. "If this was only real I'd spank the b'jingle bells out of her—" "A low bark interrupted him. "Hold it, Duke!" "Is Duke here, Eddie?" "Yeah. And someone else. Excuse me, Margie Lou," he apologized. "This won't make sense, me talking to somebody you can't see, but I'll explain later. What goes, Joe?" "Plenty, Sarge. We need you and your girl friend right away, double pronto. The stinkaroo and his jackal are drunk and on their way to the boatworks in Max Lengel's car—he can still drive— to carry out a tidy little plan to burn up the whole place and all the barges to get even for having been thrown out." Army Football Stars Carry Glorious Tradition to War

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There is a vastly more glorious side to Army football. The Black Knights of the Hudson Highlands carry their poise and glamorous tradition to the battlefield. This is in contrast to the severe criticism leveled in some quarters at Glenn Davis, who filled all his commitments to the United States Military Academy and the Army, by the way. Davis resigned just before the Red push in Korea. His illustrious partner of the football wars, Deck Blanchard, is flying jets in Alaska, which is positive proof that you can get quite a hunk of a man in a jet. No fewer than 32 who played football at West Point since 1936 have won Purple Hearts in World War II or in Korea. And if that isn't an all-out war on the Asiatic peninsula, our accident rate is extremely high. With time rapidly running out, Army trailed Pennsylvania by a touchdown in 1947. Arnold Galiffa had to hurry, but the quarterbacking son of the Donora, Pa., janitor didn't lose his presence. Galiffa refused to be panic-stricken, did not start throwing desperation passes all over Franklin Field. He coolly rushed the ball, set up two key passes with the Cadets' magnificent running game. There was just 30 seconds left when he threw the winning pass to Capt. John Trent. THIS story is cited only to make clearer the caliber of young men who play football while wearing Military Academy gray. Galiffa and Trent combined to help hand Navy the worst whipping in the long series. They were assigned as assistant coaches at West Point last August, served a month before their units were shipped overseas. Trent was killed hopping from foxhole to foxhole keeping his troops awake. The brave lad who played so much end and his men had been without sleep for three days. Galiffa remains in action with his foot soldiers. Bill Galiffa, who captained the 1940 team, was killed in action in Germany in World War II. Versatile and stable Herschel Fuson—remember "Ug?"—was promoted on the battlefield in Korea. Wounded, the big boy who played in center and fullback returned to the thick of things. Ditto Art Germetta, who played alongside him in the line in 1945-46 and wound up his college career in '47.

30-DAY OUTLOOK ON THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (UP)—The weather bureau has issued the following 30-day outlook: "The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for the month of February calls for temperatures averaging below normal in all parts of the country except for near to above normal in the extreme Southwest, New England and Florida. "Greatest negative departures are expected in the west Gulf states. A large week to week fluctuation of temperature is indicated, especially in the northern portion of the country. "Precipitation is expected to exceed normal from the Mississippi eastward to the Atlantic coast except for light amounts in Florida and the western Lake Region. Substantial amounts are also indicated in the Southwest. Elsewhere about the normal seasonal amounts are indicated."

MESSAGE FROM RED CHINA—Mrs. Ernest Reid, Jr. of Irving, Texas, looks at a picture of her husband, a Marine first lieutenant missing in Korea. The picture and a statement signed by 30 Yank prisoners of war was received by the Dallas Daily Times Herald from Canton, China. The Yanks expressed appreciation for "humane, courteous and kind treatment extended by the Chinese volunteers" and hope for an "early and peaceful settlement of the Korean situation."

How About It, Pard?

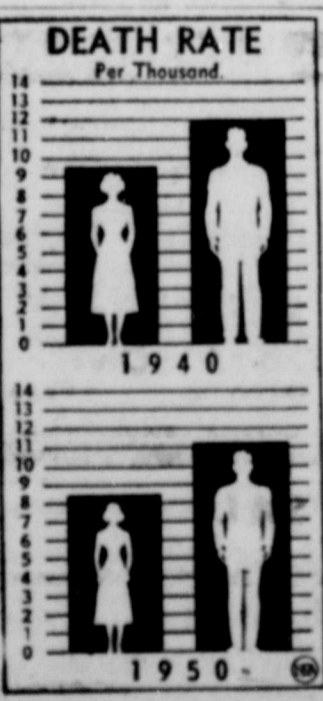

Gun-toting Patrick Edwards can now stand firmly on his two-year-old legs and fight his way in a normal, healthy boyhood. Pat was struck down by polio at his home in Jonia, Mich., during the record-breaking 1949 epidemic. Polio is one of the world's costliest diseases and in three years the nation has suffered its three worst epidemics. Patient care alone has cost $58,000,000 in three years. The 1951 March of Dimes will give a fighting chance to those who still need help.

American women continue to outlast the so-called "rugged" male sex, according to the U. S. Public Health Service. The Newschart above shows that while annual death rates for both men and women decreased in 1950, the women's rate is going down faster. Estimated 1950 figure for women is 8.3 per 1000, and for men 11.2.

That the world's woes are to be met and solved through a correct understanding and daily living of love and fellowship is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love" which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 4, 1951.
 The Golden text is: "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing" (Zephaniah 3:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time: Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you" (I Peter 5:6,7).

Also included is the following from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The eastern empires and nations owe their false government to the misconceptions of Deity there prevalent. Tyranny, intolerance, and bloodshed, wherever found, arise from the belief that the infinite is formed after the pattern of mortal personality, passion, and impulse" (page 94).

... you may find some of it during the New Year. The weather, war, walk-outs and wrinkles are all on the horizon. If you come out with enough money to pay income taxes consider yourself lucky. And then the person who buys real estate in 1951 without an abstract is sure to run into trouble later on. So play safe, be careful, watch your step—and don't forget those New Year's Resolutions.

The Lord Said "Men Ought Always To Pray and Not Faint" Luke 18:1

"Men ought always to pray and not to faint." That is what the Lord said regarding the necessity of praying. He reminds us that men faint under life's burdens because they do not pray for divine help. "He who does not pray robs himself of God's help and places God where He cannot help man. It is God's plan to work in the world through the prayers of His people. As the churches pray God's kingdom spreads and His will is done on earth as it is in heaven. Unceasing praying is essential, therefore to both God and His children.

There prayed," Jonathan Edwards, the early New England preacher expressed the meaning of divine fellowship thus: "The heaven I desire is a heaven spent with God, an eternity spent in the presence of divine love, and in holy communion with Christ." If praying is so necessary for God's work and our own souls, why not all of us become "Prayer-meeting Christians."

SCENES AROUND RANGER

By John Chopelas

Like all other newspapers we get a truckload of "canned" news every week. The kind of stuff that is sent out from outfits all over the country, most of it is hopes of being used to plug some product or service. But once in a while we get items that contain interesting little bits of information.

That's how we learn of facts such as that 362.1 billion cigarettes were smoked by Americans last year. Or the information from the Texas Liquor Control Board which states that in December there were 161 convictions of criminal cases in dry areas and 72 convictions in wet areas. Total fines and costs came to $38,045.55.

The monthly report of the State Treasury Dept. for December, 1950 shows that the net fund balance on Dec. 31 was $3,638,160.68 for Confederate pension; $173.75 for available lunatic asylum; and $66,328.27 for venereal disease rapid treatment. The largest net fund balance was $22,217,619.63 for something called Unallocated Clearance. The smallest sum was $6 for Texas Tech bond Retirement.

There were 64,000,000 motor vehicles in use in all countries in 1949 and the U. S. had 44,670,588 of them. Russia claimed 3 million vehicles and Greenland 20. Second to the U. S. was Great Britain with 3,051,292. We had a car for every 3.3 person; Russia had one for every 70 persons and China has a car for every 8745 persons. Texas had 1,997,996 passenger car registrations for 1949, and ranked 6th in the nation. All this information is in the 1950 edition of the Automobile Manufacturers Association booklet: In December 1895 only four passenger cars were officially registered in the United States.

In 1925 the average age of a car at time of scrapping was six and a half years, lifetime mileage per vehicle was 25,000 miles. Today the scrapping age of a car is nearly 14 years and lifetime mileage is 120,000 miles.

Then there are the jokes we've been using lately. We steal them from any and every booklet, letter or pamphlet that comes in. Consider the following: The lady was very indignant as she rushed out of the house. Her neighbor asked what the trouble was. "I'm going to sue that doctor for operating on my husband," said the first lady. "Whoever heard of such a thing," said the second lady. "Well he opened my male, didn't he?" (Oh, no!)

Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson, Misses Cynthia and Joy Hull, and Dean Richey are spending the weekend in Temple and Troy, Tex.

Long-term Investment that pays daily dividends

THESE days thoughtful people turn their minds to the durability of things they purchase. But it's rare when doing your duty turns out to be the best way to satisfy your heart's desire. That's what's so marvelous about this '51 Buick. If you picked a car just for the lift it gives you—your pride in its power—or its generous comfort—you couldn't make a better choice. But make note of this:

That gleaming new push-bar forefront, which greets your eye with flashing beauty, contains 25 grille bars made of stamped steel, individually mounted to "give" and come back unharmed. Combined with a massive, wrap-around bumper, fortified by two stalwart "bumper bombs" and two added uprights, it gives unsurpassed protection.

Springs of stout spiraled steel on all four wheels let your wheels curtsy over bumps, while you ride level as a lance. But they also need no servicing, and breakage is virtually unknown.

Buick's great-powered engine is a Fireball, wondrously lively and eager at the mere touch of your toe—but it also wrings extra power from every drop of fuel, and has the mechanical perfection that comes only from years of experience with this basic design.

Dynaflow Drive gives you effortless smoothness of control—but it also eliminates clutch repair bills, saves tires, eases strain on the whole driving mechanism, from engine to differential.

The road-steady gait of a Buick assures relaxed security—and is also evidence that you have a durable, deep-silled, X-braced frame beneath you. However you check it, you'll discover this: The things that make you yearn for a Buick on first acquaintance, are the very same things that make Buick such a smart long-time buy.

Better see your Buick dealer—soon.

No other car provides all this:

- DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL POWER
- 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DUAL VENTILATION
- PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
- WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • DREAMLINE STYLING
- BODY BY FISHER

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Buicks
