City-wide activities came to a standstill . . . flags were flying . . . people cheered . . . old friends shook hands . . . and . . . even a band was there, as the well known author Boyce "Roaring Ranger" House stepped down from the platform of the T & P Railroad's famous Eagle at the Ranger Railroad Depot.

House is in Ranger for the celebration of his new book "Roaring Ranger" which enjoyed its World Premier here today. The Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce and other organizations in Ranger welcomed Boyce home with a bang.

At this printing the festivities are still going strong. There will be a dance tonight at the Ranger Country Club to climax the day's activities.

Plan To Ban One Arm Thugs

AUSTIN, Tex., April 6 (UP)—A crime-conscious legislature was in session today as it considered a bill banning slot machines in Texas.

The Lower Chamber, by an overwhelming vote, docketed the one-armed bandit bill for debate next Tuesday.

The House measure, authored by Rep. Jimmy Adams of Mexico, would make possession of a slot machine or pay-off marble board a felony offense.

A similar bill, being pushed by Sen. Joe Russell of Royse City, is out of committee and ready for floor action in the Senate.

Action by the house in tagging the one-armed bandit bill for special attention followed a recent statement by Attorney General Price Daniel that Texas leads the nation in the number of slot machines.

At committee hearings on the bill, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, testified that slot machines are the "bankroll" of the racketeers. The one-armed bandits, he said, furnish the cash to finance the organized activities of the underworld syndicates.

Prior to adjournment, the House gave final approval and sent to Gov. Allan Shivers a bill expanding facilities of the public school system to include programs for mentally retarded children. The measure, sponsored in the House by Rep. Bill Wood of Tyler, was authored by Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston.

Barnes Is Powerhouse Delux At Ranger High School Practice

By Darrell F. Holmes, Jr.

Big "Bulldozer" Barnes powered his way into the hole in the line to bring the charging back down with a thump. Seconds later he crashed into a well timed interference and knocked down two blockers while slowing up the runner enough for the defensive halfback to make the tackle.

Barnes is a hard running, powerful, hunk of muscle who will help lead Bulldogs hopes for another district championship. He is only 16-year-old but will weigh around 185 pounds and will stand six-foot tall. He is fast for his size and has the pickup of a jet rocket.

Charles Massegee is still improving and is really becoming one of the best backfield men on the team. He runs with both speed and force and has ample supply of razz-dazzel. He will probably be called upon for many backfield duties this fall.

Wayne Hargraves is another fella who is improving with every practice. He has been mentioned here many times before and will be mentioned many times more if he continues to play the brand of ball he played on that field yesterday.

Jack Allen is still the boy to slip into a game when you want someone to play on guts alone. He hasn't any special athletic ability and he isn't any too fast. He certainly isn't very big. But he has enough guts to play in any league. He doesn't think any more of crashing into the largest man on the team than walking across a field. He will run at an interference and dive head first into the group, disregarding size, power, and the chance of being injured. He doesn't make many tackles but he sets them up by taking the interference out of way so someone can tackle the ballcarrier.

McDowell, 39, owner of the grill, was shot five times in the back as he fled the booth occupied by Zupanic. Police believed McDowell's killing was only "incidental" to the planned death of Zupanic.

Zupanic was slain even as police was looking for him as a possible suspect in the Wednesday morning dynamite bombing of a south Dallas building.

Charles V. Saterino, alleged gambler who owned the bombed building, told police he and Zupanic had had trouble only 12 hours before the assassination because of a woman they both had been married to at times.

Saterino was one of those taken into custody but denied any knowledge of the shooting. Frits said a pistol in the gambler's car had not been used in the murders.

Wednesday night's gunman entered Mae's Grill about one and one-half hours after Zupanic, a woman, and the man identified as Hay arrived. Without a word he fired five shots at the ex-convict.

He then turned his gun on McDowell who died instantly.

The gunman then turned and ran, firing at a pedestrian and a passing car as he went. The woman and man with Zupanic followed.

Young Abductor Faces Trial

MCALISTER, OKLA., April 6 (UP)—Robert Phillips, 22, accused of kidnaping 16-year-old Jackie Parris, probably will be tried during the district court term convening April 23, authorities said today.

Phillips, an ex-convict, pleaded "not guilty because of insanity" when arraigned before a justice of the peace on the charge yesterday.

He entered his own plea, telling sheriff's officers, "I don't want any lawyer." He also said he'd handle his own defense when brought to trial.

Previous plans to file rape charges against the young abductor were abandoned because "the evidence will not support such a charge," Latimer County Attorney Wayne Russell said.

He added that the girl's father said she wasn't molested during the 49 hours Phillips held her captive in the Sandbar Mountains. Convicted on either rape or kidnaping charges is punishable by death in Oklahoma.

After she was rescued by a searching party Jackie told officers Phillips attacked her in a mountain shack where the two spent part of Tuesday night.

Phillips told officers he "tried" to rape her but was unsuccessful. However, our posmen with the rescue party reported overhearing Phillips say he raped her once.

Phillips kidnaped the girl and her 17-year-old date, William Coghill as the two left a McAlester skating rink Sunday night. After forcing Coghill to drive them over Eastern Oklahoma, Phillips carried the girl off into the mountains when the car became stuck.

HOUSTON, April 6 (UP)—A brawdy house madame on trial in county court of law last night accused two former vice squad detectives of taking some $5,000 in payoff money during 1949 and 1950.

The admitted madame, Helen Gonzales, 39, testified that she paid the men $45 a week on their promise to "lay off" her house. Her testimony was given during her trial on a charge of operating a brawdy house.

Local Marine Gets Training

MARINE CORPS RECRUIT DEPOT, SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 6—Marine Private First Class Bryan C. Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Butler, 321 Young Street, Ranger Texas, recently completed his initial training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Upon a completion of this training he was promoted to the rank of Private First Class, an honor bestowed upon every Marine who finishes his recruit training with a clean record.

The young Leatherneck spent his first three weeks of training here at the post receiving instructions on small arms, first aid, field sanitation, map reading, military courtesy and infantry drill. The following three weeks the young Marine spent at the rifle range where for two weeks he was taught the fundamental principles of marksmanship and during the third week he made practical use of his training by firing the Marine Corps basic weapon, the M-1 rifle, for record purposes. The new Private First Class spent his last two weeks in the Recruit Depot being on additional subjects necessary to a Marine. These included bayonet fighting, combat formation of a rifle squad, digging of fox holes and a series of field problems where practical experience was gleaned through the application of classroom work.

He has been transferred to a Casual Platoon here and will soon be assigned to one of the many duty stations where Marines serve their country.

Marine Corps Report On Ranger Youth

MARINE CORPS RECRUIT DEPOT, SAN DIEGO, CALIF., April 6 — Marine Private First Class Tommy S. O'Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. O'Shields, P. O. Box 563, Ranger, recently completed his recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

In recognition of this accomplishment he was promoted to the rank of Private First Class.

The young Leatherneck has been thoroughly trained in basic weapons of the Marine Corps, first aid, field sanitation, map reading, military courtesy, infantry drill and many other military subjects. Almost one-third of this was at the rifle range where he quickly became an efficient marksman with the M-1 rifle.

He will now be transferred to one of the numerous duty stations where Marines are serving throughout the world, or be assigned to specialist school for further technical training.

Rising Star Farmer Becomes A Land Owner Through FHA Help

Words R. Erwin of Route 1, Rising Star, this week became a land owner, through and with the Farmers Home Administration assistance.

This farm is located in the Sabancan community in the southwest part of Eastland County. Erwin also purchased the livestock on this farm consisting of 22 head of cattle.

AMERICANS SEND RUSSIANS HOME IN SMOKE AND FLAME

By Earnest Hoherecht United Press Staff Correspondent TOKYO, Saturday, April 7 (UP)—Chinese Communist troops entrenched on a line of hills in West-Central Korea halted the United Nations northward advance with fanatical resistance Friday.

The Communists, holed up in eight huge bunkers on the crest of a hill in the center of the front, beat off repeated American attacks with mortar, machinegun and rifle fire.

Attacking infantrymen nearly reached the crest of the hill several times but were driven back by exploding hand grenades lobbed into their ranks from above.

Although the Reds fought back fanatically on the West-Central front, resistance was spotty elsewhere along the United Nations line north of the 38th Parallel.

In many places the attacking force made up to their objectives early in the morning and dug in for the night without a fight.

On the right of the American front, British Commonwealth Troops continued to move steadily northward through towering mountains on the way to their objectives.

Eight United Nations Divisions, including Greek, Thai and South Korean forces in addition to the Americans and British, were hammering their way north along a solid front 35 to 40 miles wide.

The deepest penetration was made by armored forces ranging out ahead of the foot soldiers. The tanks hit the Communists a surprise blow eight miles inside North Korea Thursday.

The Communists were putting up their stiffest resistance in more than a week in an attempt to gain time for more than 500,000 troops assembling farther north for an expected Red spring counter-offensive.

The Chinese fought to the death in their foxholes, holding their positions even in the face of American bayonet charges. They threw everything up to 105-millimeter artillery fire at the advancing UN columns.

The Reds also were bringing up tanks to challenge the Allied armored columns. UN planes intercepted at least 14 of the tanks and destroyed or damaged all before they could reach the front.

Even the elusive Communist Air Force came to life. A single unidentified plane, unladen with bombs behind UN lines Northeast of Chunchun under cover of darkness early today.

Far to the Northwest, 30 Russian-Built MIG-15 Jet Fighters jumped 12 American F-86 Sabrejets near the Manchurian frontier. The six-mile-high battle lasted 15 minutes and ended with the route of the enemy. Five of the Red jets high-tailing for home trailing smoke and dropped chunks of fuselage or wings. The U. S. planes were not damaged.

Other Allied aircraft ripped into enemy supply columns rushing supplies and reinforcements to the Communist build-up on the central front. Night raiders spotted more than 1,000 enemy vehicles last night and destroyed or damaged 85 of them.

B-29 superfortresses blasted the Communist build-up area itself and dropped another 150 tons of explosives on the key road junctions and supply centers of Chonju, Anju, Sariwon and Pyongyang, capital of North Korea.

Elements of three more UN divisions—two American and one South Korean—joined the five divisions already across the 38th Parallel in Central Korea yesterday. Altogether five American and three South Korean divisions, plus a British Commonwealth Brigade, are now across the pre-war Communist frontier.

Brand Russia As Aggressor Americans Say

TOKYO, April 6 (UP)—Two U. S. congressmen demanded today that United Nations forces be permitted to cross into Communist China and that Russia be branded an aggressor in the Korean War.

In a joint statement issued upon their return from a tour of Korea, the two representatives, one a Republican and the other a Democrat, declared restrictions on UN troops had produced an "intolerable situation."

Reps. O. K. Armstrong, R., Mo., and W. J. Bryan, D., S. C., said the enemy sanctuary behind the Yalu River on the Manchurian border served as Gen. Douglas MacArthur's one "terrific handicap."

"We feel that this is an intolerable situation," they said. "The Moscow stooges in Red China are making war upon the UN. We fail to see how the war can be won if our forces cannot carry the action to enemy territory. It is like asking our boys to fight with one hand tied behind them—"

"We feel that Gen. MacArthur and his commanders and forces should not be restricted in military actions which they consider necessary."

The congressmen bitterly reproached UN diplomats for opposing a free hand to MacArthur in conducting the war. They doubted the theory that a general advance to the Yalu River might bring Russia into the war.

"They, the Russians, are aggressors and should be branded as such," they said. "They are supplying the materials which is the same thing (as participation)."

Crimson Holiday

THE STORY: Lavinia Grenable, uncompromising and hateful old woman, has dominated her family for years from a wheel chair. Her eldest son Court has asked Lisa Farwell to be his bride, but Henry Farwell, Lisa's father, opposes the marriage, warning Lisa that Lavinia will make her miserable. Mr. Farwell adds: "I'd give my life to keep you from Court." And over her disagreement with her father, Lisa drives off to the Old Elm Road on Chicago's suburban North Shore, to think out her problem. She hears a siren announcing the escape of a prisoner from the Fort Sheridan guardhouse. Soon afterwards, a stranger who introduces himself as Angus Kent, starts Lisa. Angus is hunting for the home of Tim Ellsworth, a neighbor, and wanders off on his own. Lisa suddenly finds herself trembling like a high school girl the first time a boy looks at her. She smiles broadly in her thoughts and reminds herself that she is engaged to Court Grenable. Then she offers Angus a lift in her car.

way. When I saw your car I turned back. Somehow I didn't think Tim belonged to that kind of architecture."

"The Grenable house is quite a house," she agreed emphatically. "And Mrs. Grenable, the one who owns it, is quite a person!"

"Court Grenable's mother?" he inquired, turning to look at her. "You know him?" she tried to keep her tone even.

"I've met him," he said briefly. "I've heard a little about the family from Tim."

She didn't know why she felt she had to say it so quickly, so defensively, almost afraid he would go on before she did. "Court's the only normal Grenable there is," she told him. "That's why I'm going to marry him."

"Oh." He studied her for a moment. Then he looked ahead at the road. "He's a very lucky man," he said gravely.

The Fort Sheridan guardhouse siren had fallen away and only the soft, sighing sound of the wind through the ravines disturbed the quiet. As she made the turn in the clearing she glanced back at the Grenable house. It was a moment she was never to forget.

SUNLIGHT washed the ugliness of the old mansion and softened the harsh, leak lines in a kind of suffused light. Suddenly the house seemed to stand there alone, separated from the rest of the world, defiant, its broad lawns and dipping terraces like a painted landscape in the amber light.

And there in the center of the painting was Lavinia Grenable herself, sitting like a stone statue in the wheel chair that was her sole means of mobility.

She rolled the chair down the upper terrace . . . no . . . she . . . "Angus!"

Lisa screamed and jammed on the brake of her car.

"My God!" Angus exclaimed. They watched helplessly, paralyzed, while the wheel chair with its frantic occupant swept down the first terrace, then rocked and picked up speed, twisted and turned and pitched unbelievably down the second terrace and then, striking a rock on the very edge of the lawn it hurtled its shrieking passenger headlong into the steep ravine.

Lavinia Grenable's screams tore the stillness into little quivering shreds. It came back, echoing and re-echoing from the depths, and then there was nothing.

AFTERWARD there were two incidents, two fleeting separated moments, that returned to trouble Lisa and each time she thought shadowed her mind she put off thinking about them, until at last they came to haunt her a final time in a terrifying way.

The first of them happened in that shattered interval after Lavinia Grenable's final scream.

Somehow Angus propelled Lisa out of the car and they ran the full length of the tortuous driveway that curled from the road toward the back of the house and then to the west terrace and ravine.

A low ridge ran along the ravine, on the other side. Through it ran a narrow trail left over from childhood; she and the Ellsworths and Andy Grenable had called it their secret path. And up there, outlined on the ridge and so unmistakably clear, was a man. The man paused, hesitated a long moment, and then went on into the woods. The man Lisa recognized was her father.

She saw him in that instant that she had stopped to catch her breath. Then aware of Angus, following her startled gaze, she turned and began to run again.

"I had to catch my breath" she panted and prayed a little prayer that Angus had not seen the other man. She ran ahead toward the terrace, ignoring his puzzled glance.

And then the second incident occurred. (To Be Continued)

THE REBEL YELL

By Darrell F. Holmes, Jr.

By DARRELL F. HOLMES, JR.
The Trumaneratic chair polishers in Washington are apparently once more attempting to pull the wool over the eyes of the American public in the asserting that they are facing "war jitters". Administration leaders said today that they fear the "face of a terrible danger" in that Russia is about to throw her armed forces into the Korean war.

In the opinion of this writer, Truman and his tideland grabbing, South hating group of radicals who masquerade as Democrats want this to happen so that Truman can grab more power. American boys were shoved into Korea to fight and die in what is called a "police action" because Truman almost had a depression on his hands with the wide-spread unemployment and tax-ridden economic situation.

He sent troops into Korea after only a few months before allowing a similar threat to go unchallenged. The Korean WAR could be ended quickly should the administration unleash the full might of American fury. But when peace and contentment comes, RADICALS like Truman don't have unlimited powers.

Leaving the political aspect of the situation and getting down to some logical facts, it is an old story of America, how her youth don't want to be regimented and taken off to war. Americans are a bunch of jitterbugs, hot dog eaters, athletic minded, mama's boys. Those same boys mama's boys become the most deadly machine of death in the world when aroused.

We do not want war! Most of us like the cut of our civilian clothes. But a farmer will trade his plow for a rifle and a student will leave his books for a tank while a rancher will trade his horse for a big piece of artillery. I'll even trade in this typewriter for an M-1 if necessary. Most of us have fought before and will (if we have to) fight again.

So let Russia throw in her troops. Let the nation who goes under the table to stir up world trouble come out in the open and become an active belligerent. Then the Commies, fellow travelers, and pinks in Washington will have to stand up for one side or the other. Then we can stop calling a bloody, full-scale war a "Police Action" and get down to brass tacks.

Americans know that they can become a highly effective fighting force when they are indoctrinated into the ways of war. Americans aren't yellow! Americans will fight! We just don't enjoy it that's all. But we know we can win...

If we must... and we will have to sooner or later... fight a war with Russia, lets do it now. She isn't prepared to defeat us now. She would have already attacked us should she feel she could win. If she really had an Atomic Bomb which is in working order, she would have already dropped it unless she feared retaliation to the effect of destroying Russia. Russia and all forms of Communism are a lot of hokey and no person in his or her right mind should swallow it.

Boys are being drafted from jobs, school, homes, and loved ones, and sent off to service. The UMT Bill is another chain on the necks of free Americans. Lets get in there and defeat Russia and then after we have straightened out the people who sit in Washington and plan more wars for us to fight. We should clean house at home first, but people aren't going to do that. The present administration is loaded with COMMUNIST who show more allegiance to Russia (a country most of them have never seen) than they do to our own United States. Lets thorny crown of Communism or fellow travelers.

We always want to keep America "Free,"—and our true blooded Americans will all die before it can be made any other way. I admit the ones that or disguised by fancy talk and put ons will sneak away from it in time of need. Our forefathers fought for a free America—Free of heavy taxes and just one man's opinion. We are supposed to have a say so in our government—well are we in favor of what's going on in our own Nation's capitol. On second thought we talk about cleaning house that's what we should stop and do. "Clean House on the Leaders" of our nation, have a show down. We can't back men in doing things we don't believe in ourselves.

Situations could be better and we'll have to admit it. So why not ALL of US be men enough and have GUTS enough to be honest and brave—use some brains about this situation and it is a situation....

Let Russia come... I believe America will be ready. Again I repeat, stand fast and say to them, to relieve coughs—achy muscles

Quintuplets Use 'Musterole' For Chest Colds!

The Dionne Quints have always had the best care. Ever since they were babies, they've used Musterole to promptly relieve coughs and local congestion of colds. Be sure your kiddies enjoy Musterole's great benefits!

"You shall not press down upon the brow of a God fearing people the thorny crown of Communism or Socialism. You will not crucify the people on a cross of moral wrong."

"Old Timey Revival" Draws Good Crowds and Many Professions Of Faith As Services Draw To Close

(The following article was submitted by Ralph E. Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church.)

The "Old Timey Revival" that has been in progress at the First Baptist Church for several weeks reached a new high on Thursday when there were some 16 professions of faith, 13 of them joining the church by baptism. The other three will join other churches in the community. One came on promise of letter. Dr. Dunlap has brought the power of God down to the hearts of the hundreds who have attended this weeks services.

The public is invited to attend these closing services. Tonight special recognition will be made to the Volunteer Fire Department. We are proud of these men who answer many calls each month in behalf of the interests of the community. The football boys of Ranger Hi, and Junior Hi, have been invited as special guests at the evening services. We likewise extend an invitation to the graduating class, and the parents of these boys and girls, according to the pastor, Ralph E. Perkins. Congregational singing under the leadership of Bill Bullock reached the highest on Thursday night. This revival according to several is, "The same kind of a Revival we use to have way back in the 'good old days', and others, 'I've never seen such a revival in Ranger.'" Typical of this revival is the fact that a dozen or more of those who have come professing faith in Christ Jesus as their Saviour, have been led to a profession at home by their parents. Glorious is the day when parents are concerned about the "Soul Welfare of their children." One said last night, "I've got it, I feel it down in my heart." Several Mother's have remarked, "I can tell that there is a change in my children since they accepted Christ as their saviour."

Truly the Revival that Ranger has been waiting for is here. Come, enjoy these last services. There will be no Saturday morning service. But the regular services Saturday night at 7:30 for Booster band and Prayer services, and then the regular worship service at 8:00 Come praying, come and bring a friend or neighbor. "You are always welcome at the First Baptist Church."

Banquet Honors Two Graduating Seniors, Thurs.

Members of the First Christian Church honored two graduating seniors with a banquet held in the church Thursday night. The seniors honored were Bob Crawford and Peggy Hatten.

Don Dooley was master of ceremonies. Bob Crawford entertained the group with a solo which was followed by a saxophone solo by Don Dooley. Peggy Dooley, Joyce Dempsey and Maxine Calvert sang and Rev. A. Lynn Robbins was the principal speaker.

The decorations carried out the school colors of maroon and white. Place cards were miniature diplomas and favors were small graduation caps.

Those present were Peggy Hatten, Roy Lindsey, Bob Crawford, Bertha Gallagher, Billy MacNichols, Mary Jo Stie, Jack Allen, Wayne Hargraves, Jenna Vee Hatten, Betty Jean Howell, Joyce Dempsey, Jerry Rushing, Peggy Dooley, Herbert Williams, Don Dooley, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Pirkle, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Calvert and the Rev. and Mrs. A. Lynn Robbins.

Baptist Sunday School Sets New High For Sunday

A history making attendance of 601 at the First Baptist Church has been accepted by the some 70 teachers and officers of the S u n d a y School. The enrollment plus one is the attendance goal for Sunday morning, April 8. We believe said C. E. Pruet, S u n d a y School superintendent, "that with the high spiritual interest and the power of the Holy Spirit and the zealous desire of the teachers and officers that we can reach our goal."

The enrollment of the Sunday School, 600 has been numbered, and this is scriptural, for God told Moses and Joshua to "number the people." Then an extra group of lapel numbers have been issued to those who have promised to be present Sunday morning at 9:45. If a person has a number and is absent, then that number just won't be present.

Motion pictures will be made of this historic group of Sunday morning by Wesley Walker.

Booster Band Members To Have Picnic Saturday

The Booster Band of the First Baptist Church carried off the honors last night in having 101 in attendance. They will work for 105 tonight. Regardless of the attendance tonight they will have one of the best picnics that any group of fine boys and girls have ever had in Ranger, according to the pastor, Ralph E. Perkins.

Final arrangements will be announced tonight at the evening services. At the time this goes to press arrangements for 105 boys and girls has not been completed. There will be plenty of adults to supervise the out-door period of fun and fellowship for this large group.

A motion picture of the picnic will be made by Wesley Walker. Mr. Walker will use color film if the sunlight is sufficient. Games, songs, marches, and several surprises will be in store for these boys and girls. It is altogether possible that light refreshments will be served to those present.

If your boy or girl has attended or will attend the booster band we want them to attend the picnic tomorrow. It will last for one and a half hours. Booster band meets at the First Baptist Church at 7:30 each evening.
