RIDGWAY SAYS RED ATTACK HASN'T REACHED FULL FORCE

The Communist counter-offensive launched Sunday has not yet reached its full strength, the United Nations Supreme Commander told reporters.

He said the Red attack apparently is designed to drive Allied Forces out of all Korea regardless of the terrific cost

"The battle is joined. It may well prove decisive." Ridgway said.
"It appears to me at this time that this attack is another major effort by our Communist enemy to drive United Nations Forces from Korea, or to destroy them, regardless of the further destruction of his own troops, and the continued criminal devastation of Korea.

whole foreign policy.

What new crisis will drive the MacArthur case off the air and the What new crisis will drive the MacArthur case off the air and the front pages cannot be predicted with certainty. But in the field of international relations it is pointing to more criticism of the State Department, another "re-examination" of foreign policy. And to personify the mistrust of this policy, there are already new demands for the firing of Dean Acheson as Secretary of State. Since President Truman fired General MacArthur, the general's defenders are demanded to the first of the state of the second state.

The new trend seems to be a broad accusation that Secretary Acheson's policy is completely tied to the tail of the British lion. This is a variant. The former charge was that State Department policy was dictated by Communists. Now it's the British Socialists who are supposed to be dictating American foreign policy moves.

One story going around is that Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador in Washington, called at the State Department and delivered his government's ultimatum that unless General MacArthur were replaced, the British would withdraw from the North Atlantic Pact. THE story doesn't make sense on its face because the British need the North Atlantic Pact more than the United States. But for the record, it is officially denied as a complete lie by both the State De-

I. The British object to some clauses in the draft of a Japanese peace treaty drawn up by John Foster Dulles. In particular, the British believe that the island of Formosa, now seat of Chiang Kaishek's Nationalist government, should be eventually—though not now—returned to the Chinese Communist government, and not annexed to Japan. to Japan.

The U. S. position is that the Japanese should relinquish all claims sa, but that actual settlement of the island's status is years away and cannot be foreseen now. In the meantime, it will remain the seat of the Chinese Nationalist government, which the U.S. still recognizes, though the British do not.

2. The British recognize Mao Tae-tung's government not because they approve of it, they say, but because it is in actual control of the China mainland. For the same reason, the British think Red China should be admitted to the United Nations, though they are not pushing such recognition new.

The U.S. government rejects both these positions. In spite of its views on Red China, the British are supporting the war in Korea. They now have in Korea two infantry brigades of about 10,000 meneral an aircraft carrier task force of 13 vessels manned by 12,000 men. The British are now moving to increase their ground forces in Korea to a full division.

3. The British have differed with the American tactical decisions in Korea. On the original crossing of the 38th parallel, the British learned through Indian Ambassador Panikar at Pelping that if the UN forces made this move, the Chinese Communists would enter the On the basis of this report time British tried to argue the U. S. out of making this advance. But when the decision was made, the British troops supported it and fought right up to the Yalu.

The British position new is said to be that the UN commander-General Ridgway—cannot be bound in a tactical sense not to cross the 38th parallel again. But if any deep invasion of North Korea is to be made, the political situation should be reconsidered.

In these conflicting viewpoints of the two governments, it would seem that neither is leading the other around by a ring in the nose.

There are many other issues on which they differ, and on which American views prevail.

That left no room for the Indians, who were alternating with them, so the Cleveland athletes had to dress in their hotel soms downtown, and travel to the park in monkey suits. The Yankees came first, as usual.

The Indians, especially, are sizzling at the fuss made about the Yankees while they practically were ignored.

The True feels that it has run second to the Yankees long enough. New York is the only club that has beaten Cleveland in a seasonal series the past three years, and the 14 to 8 count last trip was the difference between them. The Bombers prevailed 12 to 10 in '49, by 28 years in a playoff in '48.

Glen McCarthy Is Sued By Sports Promoter

-Wealthy Texas oilman Glen H. McCarthy goes to Federal Court to day to defend himself in a $210,000 damage suit brought by sports promoter Larry Rummans

McCarthy, owner of the Sham rock Hotel in Houston was char-g e d with having assaulted and beaten Rummans in a dispute over arrangements for a professional football championship game.

Rummans' suit, filed in Octo ber, 1949, accused the husky mil-lionaire of beating him in Mc Carthy's office at the Shamrock while hotel employes held Rum-mans on the floor.

The fight grew out of plans to promote a charity football game in Houston, December 17, 1949, between champions of the Nation al and All-America football les

Also given are the percentage of casualties and the approximate total of troops supplied by each nation. Note the break in the bar representing U. S. losses. To show this bar in relative proportion to the others would require a chart about 12 feet high. In addition to the nine nations listed, several others have forces in Korea but have suffered negligible or no losses. These include: New Zealand, South Africa, Belgium, Thailand and Sweden. Highest percentage of casualties to troops involved was suffered by the French battalion attached to the U. S. 23rd Division. This unit suffered heavy losses in a delaying action during the first retreat north of Seoul and in hand-to-hand fighting near Wonju. The Turks also lost heavily in these actions.

Mrs. Anna Lavergne, Church Point, Louisiana: "You don't know how wonderful it feels to be in such good condition—after feeling run-down. I had a very poor appetite—in fact, food didn't agree CoL and decided that was what with me at all. I had a hard time the energy is selected and groggy all day long. You have no idea how terrible I felt. Now all this is gone . . . yes, now that I have been taking HADACOL. has been good for Lee and I heartily recommend it to everyone."

I feel wonderful. I get lots of good, sound sleep, have a fine appetite and just lots of energy. I can eat any kind of food now and it doesn't bother me a bit. I just can't begin to thank HADACOL. Is recommended by many doctars.
