Heavy Rains Fall During Night To Stave Off Curtailment Of Ranger's Water Supply

Two Teen-agers Are Drowned While Swimming In Lake Gordon

Two teen-aged boys were drowned yesterday while swimming in Lake Gordon, 22 miles East of Ranger, Dale Webb, 14, and Clifford Wayne Holiman 13, both of the Santo Community, apparently stepped into a deep hole on the lake bottom.

Their bodies were recovered a short time later by Dick Barton and Dockey Ringo. It was said that neither of the drowned boys could swim. Two members of the Ranger Fire Department, Charley Isabell and Park Warren rushed to the scene and artificial respiration was administered for over an hour with no avail.

Webb was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webb. He is survived by his parents and two brothers. Holiman was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holiman. Aside from his parents, he is survived by three sisters and a brother.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete at this writing. The Busbee Funeral Home in Mineral Wells is in charge of burial arrangements.

Administration's Control Drive Hurts Cattlemen, Farms, Packers, Homebuilders, And The Housewife

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—The Administration's drive for more economic controls was rocked today by cattlemen, homebuilders, and farmers.

The cattlemen told the Housing Banking Committee that if beef price controls are not scrapped they will have to depend on the "Black Market" to save them from "disaster."

The cattlemen suggested that consumers, likewise, would be better off with a "Black Market" as long as price ceilings stay in force.

The National Association of Home Builders said that housing credit controls are heading the nation "right back into a serious housing shortage, perhaps even more acute than the postwar shortage."

Four major farm organizations issued press statements condemning the price control method of dealing with inflation. Herschel D. Newsom, master of the national grange, said the program is motivated by politics rather than a sincere effort to curb inflation.

Other organizations criticizing the program were the National Council of Farm Cooperatives, the National Milk Producers Federation and the American Farm Bureau Federation. The National Farmers Union endorsed the general principles of price controls, but said it is "opposed to Pseudo-Price Stabilization that freezes farm and labor income, yet allows industrial and business profits to grow."

The Senate and House Banking Committees are holding hearings on the Administration's request for a two year extension beyond June 30 for tougher wage, price, credit and rent controls in the defense production act.

The cattlemen's position was outlined to the House Banking Committee by Loren C. Bamert, lone, Cal., President of the American National Cattlemen's Association. He agreed that government-ordered rollbacks in beef prices amount to "confiscation" of property.

Country Club Meets Tonight

There will be a meeting tonight of the Ranger Country Club at the Club House. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock. A. N. Larson, president, urged all members to be on hand.

Further discussion of plans for the pending Invitational Golf Tournament is set for the meeting. A good time is promised for all attending.

Youth Regains Consciousness At Cisco Hospital

Jackie Stephenson, lone surviving member of a family of six involved in an auto accident near Cisco, recently, has regained consciousness at a Cisco hospital and is reported to be in satisfactory condition.

Stephenson was recently treated in a Ft. Worth hospital in an effort to dissolve a blood clot which had formed near his brain. He was returned to Cisco Sunday where he has since regained consciousness for the first time since the accident, May 2.

KOREAN JET ACE—Capt. James Jabara, Wichita, Kan., jet pilot, demonstrates to fellow pilots how he maneuvered his F-86 Sabre into position for the "kill" on an enemy MIG. Jabara now has credit for two kills, one MIG destroyed and four damaged. He is an adopted Texan, being married to a McKinney, Texas girl. (NEA Telephoto).

Defence Opens Its Side Of The Case In Today's Trial

GALVESTON, May 22 (UP)—The defense opened its side of the case today in the murder trial of Mrs. Johnnie Louise Rogers, 30-year-old mother of three children.

The red-haired divorcee is charged with the slaying of Roy Hardy, 32-year-old Galveston garage mechanic. Shortly after the shooting, Mrs. Rogers told police she shot Hardy because he wouldn't leave her alone although he wouldn't marry her.

The prosecution presented its case against the attractive woman yesterday. It was highlighted by testimony by Mrs. Paul Hall, Hardy's widow, who has since remarried.

She told how she pleaded with Mrs. Rogers not to kill her husband when she came to the door of the Hardy home Sept. 27.

"She told me she was willing to fight to get him," Mrs. Hall testified "then she told Roy to come to the door."

"She was standing on the sidewalk with a gun in her hand and yelling at Roy that she was going to kill him. She said, 'I'm going to the electric chair and I don't care. I'm going to shoot you because I love you.'"

"I told her she was crazy and pleaded with her not to do it. I jumped in front of him to shield him and she fired a shot into the ground. She said that was to show she wasn't fooling. She pulled the trigger again. Roy slumped to the floor."

Nola Jean Howards, 17, who used to work at a filling station where Mrs. Rogers worked testified that up to about three weeks before the shooting, Hardy used to bring Mrs. Rogers to work.

She said she noticed that Hardy no longer came and asked Mrs. Rogers what happened to him. "She told me he wasn't going to marry her and if she didn't have him, nobody else would," the young witness testified.

Livestock Raisers To Meet Friday

All members of the Eastland County Livestock Raisers Association are being urged by Judge M. S. Long, president, to attend an important meeting of the organization, Friday May 25, in the Chamber of Commerce office in Eastland at 8 p.m.

Important matters have come up that need the attention of the members, Judge Long said. The meeting is expected to get under way promptly if it was announced.

Organized nearly a decade ago, the association has for its goal the continued improvement of different kinds of livestock over the county.

In order to progress toward their ultimate goal, the organization helps to sponsor the county livestock show held at Cisco for the past five years, the annual fall barbecue which normally draws crowds of 500 ranchers or more from several counties, the annual spring all-day livestock tour and each year send a group of winning 4-H Club and FFA boys to Ft. Worth for a tour of the stock yards, packing plants and other places of interest.

Fort Worth Men Free On Bond
FORT WORTH, May 22 (UP)—Two Fort Worth men were free under $5,000 bonds today after being charged with assault to murder in connection with a wild gun battle Sunday afternoon.

No one was hurt in the fracas during which 15 shots were fired at a minor traffic dispute. Involved were the car driven by R. L. Holland of Post and one occupied by two men.

Granvil Owens, a passenger in Holland's car, exchanged shots with the men in the other car after it followed them after the traffic dispute.

The car of the two men arrested contained bullet holes, but they told police they were received a month ago.

REPUBLICANS TRY TO PIN BRADLEY DOWN

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—Republican senators sought today to pin down Gen. Omar Bradley on what conditions might bring an end to the Korean War.

Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chief of Staff, resumes testifying (at 10 a.m. EDT) at the Senate inquiry into the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

There was a chance Bradley's testimony might be stalled again by a renewal of last week's demand for an account of confidential White House talks which led to MacArthur's recall.

After the committee voted 18 to 8 last week against ordering Bradley to tell about these confidential discussions, Sen. Alexander Wiley, R., Wis., formally proposed that President Truman be asked to let the participants tell what was said.

Committee chairman, Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., indicated he was ready to put Wiley's letter before the committee but did not do so yesterday because Wiley was then absent.

Some of the GOP committee members conferred about questions which they thought still should be put to Bradley to fill out his testimony which had lasted about five hours during two committee sessions.

Truman's Buddy May Get Nod
WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—Friends of Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D., Okla., said today they believe he would accept the vice-presidential nomination if the Democratic Convention would offer it to him next year.

Kerr himself has made no public statement on the matter. But his Senate Associates have been quietly plugging him for at least several places on the 1952 Democratic ticket.

They voted that Kerr was the first Democratic Senator to defend President Truman on the Senate floor after he ousted Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Far Eastern Command.

As one friend of Kerr's put it: "Bob came to the party's aid when it needed it the most. The party doesn't forget things like that."

Kerr, a wealthy oil man who has been a power in Democratic politics in the Southwest for years has always been mentioned among possible vice presidential nominees in the Senate. But since the MacArthur dismissal, his friends claim, his name has been brought up more and more in cloak room political parley.

Significantly, Kerr, a devastating debater, has been chosen to keynote the administration's counter attack against MacArthur's potential onslaughts at the opening tomorrow night of a meeting of party leaders from 24 Western States in Denver, Colo.

CHINESE TROOPS RETREAT AS AMERICANS ADVANCE
By Earnest Hoberecht
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 23 (UP)—The Chinese Communist retreat turned into a rout in Western Korea today. But in the east the Reds attacked with renewed fury 25 miles South of the 38th Parallel.

A dispatch from the Western Front said the Reds were abandoning ammunition and supplies North of Seoul in their haste to escape pursuing Allied tanks and infantry.

The Allied pursuit smashed to the Imjin River, 26 miles Northwest of Seoul and only five miles South of the 38th Parallel.

Censorship concealed virtually all hard facts about the fighting in Eastern Korea, but one dispatch said Communist troops attacking there ripped a wide gap in South Korean lines between Pungam and the East Coast.

This report said the Reds cut the lateral Kangnung-Wonju highway in the rugged mountain area East of Pungam. Allied Commanders threw reinforcements into the battle area in an effort to seal off the Red break through.

SWIMMING POOL OPENING WILL BE LEFT TO COMMISSIONER

Old man weather stepped in with 1.55 inches of rain to relieve a great deal of pressure from the shoulders of the City Council and to stave off the curtailment of water which was to go into effect tomorrow.

Water experts said today that the water in Hagaman's Lake was down to a 90 day supply prior to last night's rain. It was also reported this morning that 30 new inches of water were now in the lake. This gives Ranger an additional 30 day supply.

Ranger Mayor Price Crawley had said that beginning tomorrow there was to be no water for the watering of lawns, washing of cars, and other uses of water which were not absolutely necessary. Mayor Crawley said that due to the rain there was no immediate need to ration water now.

The swimming pool which was in doubt about opening will probably open the first of June. Water Commissioner Addie Williams will be the official to determine the exact date for the opening.

From the figures which are about to follow, Ranger residents can see that the town's water supply is in much favorable position at this time as compared to 1948 when the town also faced a water crisis. In that year the town was almost out of water, except for emergencies.

The lake level April 1st, 1948 was 15' - 2". It received several small rains in April and a good rain May 27 of that year which raised the lake level to 14'. Prior to last night's rain, the present lake level was 7' - 5" which had dropped from 9' - 4" since April 1st of this year. Today the lake level is 9' - 11".

After June 25, 1948 when a 18" rise in the lake level occurred, the level continued to drop until a low point of 0' - 0" at intake prevailed January 1, 1949. The intake had moved 1000 feet north of the pump house in December. In January of that year, the city completed a pipe line to the Sanderson well South of town and began supplementing water supplies from that source which averaged about 50,000 gallons daily. Beginning the last of January in 1949, Ranger began to receive rain which filled the lake almost to the capacity. It was full by May of 1949.

The rain last night was a God-send to the people of Ranger. However there is no telling when the town will receive another rain like that. Everyone should still attempt to conserve water in every capacity. No one is asked to do without water which is needed and people are free to water as many flowers or lawns as they please. One can be conservative without being stingy.

RAYTOWN, May 22 (UP)—A 24-year-old highlands tugboat worker was in a Raytown hospital unconscious today from critical head injuries after his automobile hit a guy-wire at a dead-end street and turned over several times.

Deputy sheriff Jimmy Scarborough identified the man as Harvey Galloway. The deputy said the car skidded for a long distance before continuing past the dead-end and into the wire.

Senator's Maiden Speech Only Eleven Words Long-Count 'Em

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The newest senator, Blair Moody of Michigan, acquitted himself in fine form in his maiden speech. Until his appointment to succeed the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, Senator Moody was a Washington newspaper correspondent himself. So the capital press corps was watching closely and critically for his first utterance on the floor. It was clear, direct, right to the point, delivered in fine voice, and was brief. In fact, it was only 11 words long.
It came after Senator Kerr of Oklahoma had answered a speech by Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan. Senator Kerr kept referring to him as just "the senator from Michigan."

That convention of cattlemen which met in Washington last week to protest against meat price controls had quite an argument over what to serve at the dinner they gave for congressmen, the press and radio correspondents. As loyal cattlemen, they thought they ought to serve beef. But the story they were trying to put over with the Congress was that the price control order would create a shortage of beef. So some thought they ought to serve pork or chicken. In the end they served beef.

Congress is in a funny kind of box on renewal of price control authority in the Defense Mobilization Act, which expires June 30. If Congress doesn't renew the authority, and prices go up, Congress gets the blame. On the other hand, if Congress renews the authority, and if price control regulations then don't stop price rises, congressmen can always put the blame on Office of Price Stabilization for writing regulations which didn't work. This reasoning is what made many congressmen shy away from the meat lobby's suggestion that price control authority be killed.

POLITICIANS have to be awfully careful on what they say. Some careless remark that would be regarded as just a wisecrack when uttered by an ordinary citizen can be picked up and used with damaging effect against a politician. Sen. William Benton of Connecticut ran into this at a recent Jackson Day dinner speech in New Haven. Like all the guests, Benton had to pay his $100 for a ticket to get in. "I hope you won't decide that every time I open my mouth you've got to charge me $100 to make me enjoy it and to make me realize that I'm a resident Democrat," said Benton in his opening remarks. Then he added: "But I'll be back next year—and the year after that—even if I have to get a loan from RFC to swing it."

One little-noticed aspect of meat price order is that it gives Office of Price Stabilization the power to license slaughterhouses. This is expected to be a great check against black market killers. There are now about 11,000 slaughterers eligible for licensing. Outfits that haven't been in the business since 1947 are beginning to apply for licenses. Slaughterers given are they want to help out in the emergency, for purely patriotic reasons, of course. They'll be given an awfully shiny eye by OPS.

THE SCOREBOARD

Robert's Experimenting Gives Phils More Early-Season Woe

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Phillies, some of the cockiness knocked out of their young heads, wish Robin Evan Roberts would start all over again, get back to where he was last year.
Roberts' experimenting with a change of pace has added to the Whiz Kids' early-season woes.
"Behind a hitter, he takes a little off that good fast ball, and someone swats it out of the lot," says one of them.
"He just thinks he is getting smart."
Jim Hearn could be the difference with the Giants.
The Polo Grounders need the big Georgian to go with Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie, the combination having made them the most formidable club in baseball the last half of the 1950 season.
The trouble is that the New York Nationals are beginning to wonder if Hearn really has the tremendous ability he showed coming from the Cardinals and out of nowhere last mid-season to win 10 games with the finest earned-run average in the league, 2.49.
Hearn's overhand curve has been hanging.

SAVE for the fact that the Boston Americans drop their right shoulder, and pull for a convenient left-field net, they recall Indian clubs built to pull the ball over and up against the extremely short right-field wall at Cleveland's old League Park.
As in the case of those Tribal editions, the Back Bay Millionaires' difficulty is that they can't take the beckoning wall with them on the road.
And the Sox evidently remain just where they have been the past four campaigns.
When they dropped their first two-game set in Cleveland's huge Municipal Stadium this spring, points out Ed Cahill of the Lynn, Mass., Daily Evening Item, it was their 19th and 20th defeats there in the last 24 engagements. Through the last two seasons, they were able to salvage only four victories in 22 starts there.
Tom Yawkey's highly paid peons felt one game short of taking it all in 1949, four last trip, so you easily can see where their pennant hopes were buried, and then some.
Yawkey Stadium hasn't been any help, either. When the Red Sox dropped their first two there this spring, the score was 17 of the last 24 on the wrong side.
Throughout the last three seasons, the Red Sox show an overall record in Cleveland and New York of 11 victories as against 38 defeats, for an almost unbelievably puny average of 208.

Sweet Dreams
Short Gowns for Summer Sleeping

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Short nightgowns, cut on the principle of the old-fashioned man's nightshirt, are exactly right for summer sleeping. Teen-agers, college and career girls from coast to coast have discovered them and turned them into a dependable, classic fashion by their insistence on clever design.
Crisp, cool blue cotton batiste (left) is cut along straight lines to make a knee-length nightgown with button-front closing. Designer Dora Gottlieb has allowed enough fullness to permit the gown to sway wide and loose for comfort. Yoke is all-over eyelet embroidery that swings into fly-away capelet sleeves.
Rayon bemberg sheer (right) in ecru has a yoke of delicate nylon net banded by imported French lace. The fabric of the gown makes a small bow tie at the neck. This gown has a fly-front closing.
The middy blouse provided inspiration for a third short gown by this same designer. In white multifilament crepe, it has the traditional middy collar edged in red-and-blue braid and tied with a red-satin bow. This gown, like the cotton, has a button-front closing.

Two-Way Radios In Police Cars Urged

Installation of two-way radios in county and city police patrol cars of Eastland county is being urged by police officers and other citizens.
Police officers point out that they could give quicker and more efficient law enforcement with the radios in every police auto so that law offenders may be cut off between cities more easily.
With the present situation, the police, if they are not able to overtake a speeding auto which may be breaking the speed limit, have an illegal load of liquor, or be a get-away car for burglars, must call to the next city by telephone in order to have officers alerted there to apprehend the persons in the car.
Many times the call gets through too late for the police there to act in time and the law offender is past the city before they can get on his trail.
This has happened here more than once, it is pointed out by lawmen.
With a radio hookup between cars of the city and county police a call could be sent to officers of another city and they could be on hand to stop the auto in a matter of seconds.
This would curb the number of "get-aways" made by illegal liquor transporters in "sooped-up" cars, or by speed violators and other lawbreakers.
One officer estimated that the radios would pay for themselves within a year by money saved in phone calls and gasoline, not to mention the higher standard of law enforcement.
In a proposed plan, city police radios would be hooked up with county car radios and the county officers' radios would be hooked up with the city and with state car radios, giving a connection for the three law enforcement groups by which they could work more closely together in their tasks of law enforcement.
Officers have pled in vain for this equipment. They are asking for the aid of individual citizens in their drive to secure radios.
Individuals are asked to urge the county commissioners to approve such a set-up for county law officials, so that those officials may do their job more efficiently.

East Coast Thug Changes His Plea

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 22 (UP)—Joe Adonis, Kefauver-Christened co-leader of the East Coast underworld, pleaded "no contest" yesterday to gambling conspiracy charges on which he could go to jail for the first time in his life.
He could get a maximum sentence of 18 years.
The 49-year-old gambler made the dramatic switch in plea at the opening of his trial on gambling conspiracy charges, apparently choosing jail rather than subject to courtroom embarrassment the prominent New Yorkers who were his customers.

All Ex-Convicts To Be Arrested

FORT WORTH, May 22 (UP)—Arrest of all jobless ex-convicts on sight was ordered today by Police Chief R. J. Howerton in a move to halt a wave of robberies that has started to sweep the city. Howerton said ex-convicts with jobs and who "have never given us any trouble" wouldn't be bothered. All others will be picked up for questioning and to give new officers a chance to recognize them, Howerton said.

BROOKLYN DODGER THREATENED—This is a copy of the letter received by Warren Giles, President of the Cincinnati Reds baseball club, threatening the life of Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodger ace. Robinson's answer on the playing field in a double header with the Reds, was to hit a homerun and a single in five official times at bat. (NEA Telephoto).

His order was prompted by two recent holdups in which the victims were tied and their lives threatened. Howerton said he believed the robberies were being staged by ex-convicts.

Retail Merchants Get Good News

GALVESTON, May 22 (UP)—Texas Merchants can expect a continuation of good business in the opinion of Dr. John R. Stockton, director of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

Usually reliable signs point to good business, Stockton told some 700 delegates to the 51st annual business conference and credit sales clinic of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas. He warned merchants, however, to watch those guideposts constantly.

Dr. Stockton said consumer income, consumer credit, public desire to buy, supply of goods and prices are the guideposts to watch. Upward or downward business trends will follow changes in any of these guideposts, he said.

"The merchants' most immediate problem is two-fold," Stockton said. "One is the determination of an inventory policy. The other is to carry a full and complete inventory, but avoid overloading."

CONTINUES TESTIMONY—Gen. Omar Bradley adjusts his glasses as he prepares to resume testimony before the Joint Senate Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committee in Washington. Bradley told the Committee that the Joint Chief's of Staff, which he heads, recommended dismissal of Gen. MacArthur because they felt his actions were jeopardizing the traditional civilian control over military authority. (NEA Telephoto).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Set thy house in order; for thou shalt die, and not live." (Isaiah 38:1) God sent this message to good king Hezekiah, one of the faithful rulers of the small kingdom of Judah about 800 years B. C. The King had ruled his people in righteousness. He led them in a nation-wide revival. The people destroyed their idols and turned again to worship the true and living God. Isaiah described their God as "the Holy One—the everlasting God, Jehovah—the Creator of the ends of the earth—the One who giveth power to the faith; and to him hath no might he increaseth strength." (Isaiah 40:26-29).

King Hezekiah was stricken with a dread disease. He was told that he must die. The king turned his face away from the affairs of his kingdom and prayed unto the Lord. He was able to approach God most intimately in his time of need because of his past faithfulness. He had been a true leader who "walked before the Lord in truth—and who did that which was good in the sight of God." God had delivered the kingdom of Judah from the powerful Assyrian armies in answer to the prayer of Hezekiah and of his people. The king was able to pray about his personal need when told he must die.

God answered his prayer and told the king that he would be granted fifteen years to live. How did he spend those fifteen years? That is an interesting question. I believe that he tried to serve God more faithfully than ever and continued to follow the commandments of the Lord. His nation walked in God's ways during Hezekiah's reign and national destruction was averted. Righteousness is the sure defence of a nation. Our own beloved America cannot stand against Communist Russia without the qualities of faith in God and obedience to his laws.

The Ranger Times has raised this most timely question of what we would do if we were told that we had only a few months or years in which to live or if we knew that we had only a short stay in this world. I have asked several people that question since reading it in the Times. A woman who faithfully attends church services on Sundays and also on week-days gave me this answer. She said: "Seventeen years ago, the doctors told me that I would soon die. I began reading my Bible and praying to the Lord." In my opinion she is living a happy life of Christian service today through the gracious providence of God.

Several things that I believe I would do with my allotted time on this earth are as follows:

1. I would make sure of my peace with God by accepting His freely offered mercy through true repentance and trust.
2. I would seek like king Hezekiah to obey the Lord in all that He has commanded me to do.
3. I would seek by divine help to live in peaceful relations with all of my fellow-men. If wrong relations existed I would seek earnestly to make them right and "be reconciled to my brother." (Matt. 5:24)
4. I would seek to "redeem or buy up the time" in well-doing." (Eph. 5:15-16.)
5. I would seek to live in self-forgetful, loving service to my neighbors, rendering every possible help and encouragement to them. "He that loveth his neighbor hath fulfilled the law." (Romans 13:8)
6. I would find genuine comfort and assurance by reading God's word. I would read 1 Corinthians 15 and pray for faith to accept wholly the promise of God's children. Death itself will be swallowed up in victory for God's people. With the Apostle Paul, I would seek to share the assurance that our labor is not in vain in the Lord. I would therefore seek "to always abound in the work of the Lord" and while working sing the triumphant song "Thanks be to God who giveth us the victor through our Lord Jesus Christ." (1 Corinthians 15:58)

Very Sincerely Yours,
Rev. Jasper Masseege, pastor

JET FIGHTER CRASH LANDS

CROWELL, May 22 (UP)—An F-80 jet fighter crash landed near Crowell yesterday when its auxiliary wing tanks failed to feed properly.

Second Lt. Eddie H. Mass, the pilot, was not hurt in setting the plane down on a farm three and a half miles east of Crowell. The jet was one of six F-80's being ferried to Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, from Williams Air Force Base, Ariz.

MARINE MP THINKS GI CHOW MIGHT KILL ALL THE CHINKS

By WILLIAM BURSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
ON THE CENTRAL FRONT, KOREA, May 22 (UP)—There isn't a GI anywhere who would relish going 10 miles inside enemy territory. But an Army kitchen truck did, and it was back in time to serve breakfast.

The truck, carrying stoves, rations and a 10 man mess staff, was making a routine move near Chunchon.

"I guess we'd either still be going or serving chow to the Chinese Army if a civilian hadn't waved us down," mess Sgt. Raymond Brown of (Route 7) Knoxville, Tenn., said. "When that fellow waved his arms and kept hollering 'Toksans Chinks,' we turned that truck around and high balled it."

The cooks didn't see any Reds and it wasn't until they arrived at their proper location at midnight that they learned how far in front of the lines they had been.

"I'm still shaking over it," Sgt. Frank Long of Paris, Texas said as he kneaded dough for biscuits. "The fellows in the battalion may not like my biscuits but I'd sure rather be cooking for them than the Chinks."

Cpl. Leonard Hancock of (2509 Texas Ave.) Houston, Texas, said the kitchen finished serving supper to the battalion at the old command post at "7 o'clock the night before and was on the road at 8.

Cpl. Richard Lackmann of Moorhead, Minn., added that the truck driver checked directions with a Marine Military Policeman before taking the turn which led them into the Chinese lines.

Investigation Is Ordered

FORT WORTH, May 22 (UP)—Fort Worth's regular grand jury was asked yesterday by Commissioner's Court to investigate all Tarrant County departments and their methods of handling money.

County Judge Gus Brown said the investigation was asked so that "we can get a clean bill of health for our county government."

Brown said the county was getting "a lot of unfair publicity" which he didn't think it deserved. Fort Worth's special grand jury which has been investigating gambling and other vice conditions, last week began a probe of methods in which one county commissioner has been using county equipment.

Another Great Value—

... in the field of many values is the abstract of title. Years ago when the records were few there was not so much need for an abstract in many cases. But today we have about 700 volumes of 600 pages each. The task of compiling your abstract from this mass of records is not only an undertaking of great responsibility but one which requires that it be fashioned by an institution with all the records and a long history of successful achievement behind it.

Americans Held By Red China

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—Communist China has arrested and imprisoned more than 30 Americans, mostly Catholic and Protestant missionaries, the State Department disclosed yesterday.

The department said the Americans, including some businessmen, have been held for "an extended period" and many had no chance to consult legal counsels.

It said this government is "extremely concerned" about the fate of the Americans. They have been picked up individually in widely-scattered parts of Communist China in what appears to be a studied campaign against Westerners.

Great Britain, which represents U. S. interests in Communist China protested April 30 against the arrest of the Americans, as well as the imprisonment of six Canadians, four Britons and three Australians.
 Officials said the most frequent charge against the Americans has been "cultural aggression" or "cultural sabotage." Some Americans have been jailed for saying that South Korea was being defended by United Nations troops, a number of other American businessmen in Shanghai have been unable to obtain exit permits to leave Communist China.

Simms Man Is Held For Murder

SIMMS, May 22 (UP)—James Elie Slider, 57, of Simms, was under a charge of murder yesterday for the fatal stabbing Friday of Hiram C. Tidwell, 39, resident of the Ward's Creek community.
 Tidwell, survived by his wife and three small daughters, was stabbed in the hip, chest and groin during a fight outside a rural grocery store southwest of here.
 County Attorney Hun Hutchinson said Tidwell was taken out of his car after having driven about 400 yards from the fight scene. The car had veered off the highway.
 Slider surrendered to Bowie County jailer Sam Raney at New Boston, Tex., where he learned of Tidwell's death.
 Hutchinson said the principals in the fight had been separated and Tidwell put in his car by spectators not aware that he had been stabbed.

Workers Attend Clinic Today

Plans are nearing completion for the Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist church. Rev. Ralph Perkins and workers are attending a clinic in Eastland today.

Two important features of the school are the Intermediate department and the Nursery department for three year old children. The Intermediate work is being stressed heavily for the first time in this church according to Mrs. Milly Williams and the Nursery department work is new in Baptist churches everywhere. She also states that thorough and efficient planning is being carried out that this Vacation Bible School may be the most successful that the First Baptist church has had.
