Aviation Cadet Applicants To Be Called Soon

Young men in this area who have previously made application for Aviation Cadet training with the United States Air Force will be called up for training in the near future, M-Sgt. Frank L. Lockman said here today.

Speedier calls will result from the completion of new training facilities, Sgt. Lockman stated. Previously, applicants waited from six to eight months for orders but this backlog is being rapidly cleared, according to word from Washington.

Those who apply now will be called in a very few months, he added. To be eligible for Aviation Cadet training, a man must have two or more years of college credits, be unmarried, between the ages of 20 and 26½ years, and be in good physical condition. All applicants are given a written examination at the recruiting station to determine their aptitude for flying military aircraft.

Graduates of cadet training serve as commissioned officers with the Air Force.

J. L. Cottingham Dies Today At Eastland Home

Then Cottingham went into business for himself working as public accountant.

At one time Cottingham wrote a newspaper column for an Eastland newspaper.

Active in civic affairs, Cottingham had volunteered to be treasurer and accountant of funds for Eastland's Memorial Hospital movement. He was active in the recent plans for the hospital.

Funeral services will be held at the Hamner Funeral Chapel in Eastland at 6 p. m. Thursday, with Rev. J. Morris Bailey, Methodist minister, to conduct the services. Burial will be in the Eastland cemetery with Hamner Funeral Directors in charge.

Survivors include his wife, one son, Irvan A. Cottingham, of Hobbs, New Mexico two daughters, Mrs. B. O. Ballentine, Houston, and Mrs. W. M. Mullings, Garland; three granddaughters; one brother, W. G. of Houston; five sisters, Miss Margaret Cottingham, Mrs. W. W. Edgehill, Mrs. Jack Weaver, Mrs. Martha Smith and Mrs. Joe Pennington, all of Houston.

Rep. Wishes Good Cheer

WASHINGTON, July 18 (UP)—The controls bill was being debated in the house when Rep. Usher L. Burdick, R.N.D., rose to make one of his rare speeches. After speaking briefly against the rollbacks, Burdick concluded: "It may be months before you see me in the well of the House again. I'd like to take this opportunity to wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Judge Grissom Given Seat On Judicial Council

AUSTIN, July 18 (UP)—Four appointments to the Texas Civil Judicial Council for six-year terms have been announced by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Named were Leon Jaworski, Houston, and Peyton B. Randolph Plainview, both reappointed; and Atwood McDonald, Fort Worth, and Clyde Grissom, Eastland, chief justice of the 11th Court of Civil Appeals.

Truman Back In Washington After Inspection

WASHINGTON, July 18 (UP)—President Truman said today the $25,000,000 in emergency relief voted by Congress would not be enough to relieve and rehabilitate flood-devastated areas of Missouri and Kansas.

"That was only a preliminary proposition to meet the immediate situation," Mr. Truman said after returning here from a quick inspection flight over the flooded areas.

"I am having a complete survey and report made to see how much it will take to completely restore normal conditions," he said.

He added with a chuckle to reporters:

"Don't use the word 'normalcy.' The $25,000,000 relief bill was expected to reach Truman's desk today and he said he would sign it "as soon as it gets to me."

Mr. Truman already has set aside a "down payment" emergency allocation of $275,000 from an $800,000 government disaster fund for relief work in Kansas.

The President returned to the capital at 1:11 a. m. EDT today, landing at National Airport from where he had taken off at 12:47 p. m. Tuesday for a flight in his plane Independence over the stricken flood area.

Mr. Truman was accompanied by Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson who got a first-hand look at the damage to industrial facilities in the ravaged area where the over-all cost of the flood is expected to amount to $1,000,000,000.

Mr. Truman described the flood disaster as "one of the worst this country has ever suffered from water." Wilson's aide, C. E. House remained at the scene to help in compiling information on the needs of industries to return to full production.

Various federal agencies were working together to speed relief and ease the suffering of citizens in the area. The Housing and Home Finance Agency is the coordinating agency for federal relief activities, and it received the $275,000 allocation for relief of Kansas victims.

Weather Bureau Brings Cheer

WASHINGTON, July 18 (UP)—The Weather Bureau had some cheering news today for the flood ravaged area of Kansas and Missouri: "Substantially drier weather" for the next month.

The bureau's regular 30-day forecast predicted rainfall not exceeding the seasonal norm for the flooded sections and the rest of the central plains area.

The Bureau predicted that drought conditions west of the continental divide would be relieved by abundant showers, and said there also would be above-normal rainfall in the northern third of the nation.

When the afternoon session opened, North Korean Gen. Nam Il, Chief of the Red Team, made a statement and then both sides made what was termed "a detailed exploration of the points of issue." After one hour and 13 minutes of discussion, the UN team called for a 15-minute recess.

The second approved agenda point was not adopted until the late afternoon.

Armistice talks will resume at Kaesong at 11 a. m. Thursday (9 P. M. Wednesday EDT).

While the Allied and Communist officers sat at the conference table, termed "a detailed exploration of the points of issue," U. S. troops who had not lost a man killed in action for 24 hours through Tuesday evening.

Today's meeting began with the UN and Communist teams apparently still on the question of when a cease-fire order shall come.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON TWO MAJOR POINTS IN CONFERENCE

By Ernest Hobrecht
United Press Staff Correspondent

UN ADVANCE BASE BELOW KAESONG, Korea, July 18 (UP)—A dispute over one unnamed "key issue" blocked completion of an agenda for Korean cease-fire negotiations at today's sixth armistice meeting at Kaesong.

The official UN report of today's conference said additional progress had been made, however, and solid agreement was reached on two major agenda points.

There was no explanation of the "key issue" which held up completion of the agenda but it had been believed earlier that the United Nations and Communist teams were at odds over Chinese demands for an immediate cease-fire with guarantees for keeping it to be worked out later.

"At least one major issue remained unresolved when the conference recessed for the day," the UN release said. "Agreement on the key point is essential to the successful completion of the first phase of the negotiations."

The release said the meeting "resulted in some additional progress being made" and the agreement on the two agenda points seemed to indicate that things were going satisfactorily.

The two agenda items were approved after Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior UN delegate, accepted two points on phrasing presented by the Reds. Joy first placed on the record, however, the UN team's understanding of the basic intent of the two points.

The meeting moved "rather ponderously," the UN team said, because of language difficulties. Three languages—Chinese, North Korean and English are being used in the talks and each statement for either side must be translated twice.

The Reds asked for two recesses during today's conference, the first being a two-hour halt in negotiations so the Chinese Communists and North Koreans could "study in detail" a revised agenda which Joy presented during the morning.

Later, the Red delegation took another 30-minute recess.

When the afternoon session opened, North Korean Gen. Nam Il, Chief of the Red Team, made a statement and then both sides made what was termed "a detailed exploration of the points of issue." After one hour and 13 minutes of discussion, the UN team called for a 15-minute recess.

The second approved agenda point was not adopted until the late afternoon.

Armistice talks will resume at Kaesong at 11 a. m. Thursday (9 P. M. Wednesday EDT).

Death's Holiday Ends in Korea

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS
Korea, July 18 (UP)—Stiffened Red resistance all along the Korean war front ended "death's holiday" for American fighting men today.

For a 24-hour period through 5 p. m. yesterday (4 a. m. Tuesday EDT) not a single American soldier fell in death on the battlefield for the first time since the U. S. entered the war and only a "very few" were wounded. But the 8th Army said that new casualties came today as U. S. troops and their United Nations Allies slammed into Red defenses while cease-fire talks dragged on.

B-29 Superforts were back over Korea today, hitting Red marshaling yards at Sinanju and Sarwon for the third straight day. They were striking against enemy supply trains which have been moving up to the front ever since the start of cease-fire talks brought a lull in the fighting.

Allied patrols jabbed more than 2½ miles into enemy territory on the central front Tuesday before hitting resistance. But as the day ended, small enemy groups were being encountered everywhere along the line.

A UN patrol crossing the Imjin River northeast of the neutral cease-fire conference city of Kaesong ran into two enemy platoons and pulled back after a short but sharp exchange of fire.

Some enemy units struck at UN outposts in the Kumbwa-Chorwon-Pyongyang Iron triangle zone wrested from the Communists but were beaten back. Other UN patrols in the same area fought three hours with Red units before withdrawing.

Dallas Names Special Jury

DALLAS, July 18 (UP)—The special grand jury to investigate the South Dallas Negro home bombings will include some of the city's most prominent men.

The 16-member panel of names from which 12 will be chosen was made public yesterday and subpoenas were issued for them to appear next Tuesday.

The list, which includes three Negroes, was chosen by a three-member panel composed of D. A. Hulcy, president of the Lone Star Gas Co., and head of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Charles T. Hansen, house mover and president of the South and East Dallas Chamber of Commerce; and Angus G. Wynne, Jr., builder and developer of the Wynnewood District in Oak Cliff.

Judge Henry King of Criminal District Court said the first 12 qualified will be sworn in to begin the inquiry.

Two Dallas newspapermen are on the jury list. They are James F. Chamber, Jr., managing editor of the Daily Times Herald, and Felix R. McKnight, managing editor of the Dallas News.

A Chamber of Commerce committee, requested the Grand Jury inquiry of the home bombings which have gone on periodically for 18 months damaging around a dozen residences. No one has been hurt.

Kansas Plant To Reopen

OTTUMWA, IA., July 18 (UP)—The firm of John Morrell and Company will reopen its flooded plant at Topeka, Kans., as soon as possible, an official said today.

J. M. Foster, the company's first vice-president, said "it will take us some time to get it back in operation and we'll know more definitely when we are able to get in there and see how things are."

The plant employs 1,000 persons.

JOINT LUNCHEON WILL BE KICKOFF FOR ROUNDUP

Eighty top cowhands put their names on the books before the final gun sounded to close the entrance office. Some of the top names of the cowboy world are entered here for this 6th Annual Jaycee Roundup. Some of the top cowboys include Latham Riley, Ft. Worth, Whit Keeny, Stephenville, Scotty Bagnell, Arice, Montana, Dan and Gene Montgomery, Ft. Worth, Karl Kinbough of Duncan, Okla., and many others known the world over.

The joint luncheon of the Lions, Rotary and Jaycees will be the kickoff signal for the start of the wild and woolly roundup.

The Ranger High School Band has been named the official band and will furnish the background for the show. Also appearing here in the parade will be the High School Band from Weatherford.

Adding color and spirit to the parade this afternoon at 4:00 will be the Parker and Palo Pinto Sheriff's Poses and the Graham Riding Club.

The two rodeo judges are Ray Calloway, Raymondville, who will work with G. K. Louallen, Littlefield. Both of these boys are top all-round cowboys; both are sporting casts and broken limbs suffered in previous rodeos this year.

Scotty Bagnell, rodeo clown and bull fighter, will be in the parade with his educated Shetland Pony, Jumbo.

The first performance of the rodeo is tonight at 8:00 p. m. The streets and rodeo grounds are decorated with colorful hunting and flags and everything begins to show the western spirit.

LONG AND SHORT OF THE RANGER ROUNDUP

James Ratliff and Miss Roundup of "51"

Although everyone was disappointed due to the Texas Rangers being unable to appear here at the Rodeo and Parade. There was a great deal of consolation in the fact that the reason for their not appearing was previous assignments. The following letter was received from the Rangers showing that they would be unable to appear.

Mr. Dan Costes
Gibson Hotel
Ranger, Texas
Dear Dan,

I received your letter of July 12, 1951 in which you requested myself and other Rangers to attend and take part in the Ranger Roundup.

I am sorry but I will be unable to attend due to previous assignment starting on July 17 and through the 20th.

I have called Captain Olson and he advised me that all the boys were busy and none would be able to attend.

Trusting that I can be of further assistance to you in the future, I remain,

Yours truly
Trenton Horton

The Jaycees were in hopes that the Rangers would be here to add color and spirit to the rodeo but they are all very appreciative of the effort made to try to appear by the Rangers.

"Tea Kettle" To Rescue of Deisel

AMARILLO, July 18 (UP)—Old Time Railroaders beamingly reminded their bosses today that the dated steam locomotive still has its place on railroads fast converting to sleek diesel power.

One of the noses "Tea Kettle" rescued the Fort Worth and Denver Railway's fast Texas Zephyr yesterday. The train left Denver behind a shined diesel locomotive which broke down at Walsenburg, Colo.

The old iron horse pulled the crippled engine and train here for repair. The steam train resumed its trip to Fort Worth then, 10 hours behind schedule.

Housing Authority Accepts Low Bid Of 2 1/8% On Bonds

The Housing Authority of Ranger at 1:00 p. m. today opened bids on the bond issue for the local housing units.

Two bids were received on the $397,000 in bonds that were to be sold.

The Chemical Bank and Trust Company was awarded the bonds on a low bid of 2 1-8 percent to mature serially in forty years. The bonds were issued in denominations of one thousand dollars each. The first six bonds will mature in 1952 and the number of bonds that will mature will increase over a period of years until the last payment will reach a total of 15 bonds or fifteen thousand dollars.

The Chemical Bank and Trust Company is a syndicate of Banks and corporations and represent the following: Chemical Bank and Trust Company; The Chase National Bank of the City of New York; Bankers Trust Company; Guaranty Trust Company of New York; The First National Bank of Chicago; Harris Trust and Savings Bank; The Northern Trust Company, Bank of America National and Savings Association; and C. J. Devine and Company and Associates.

The rejected bid was from Blyth and Company and was for 2 1-4 percent plus a $5673.50 premium.

By accepting the low bid of 2 1-8 percent the Housing Authority is saving approximately $4400 dollars in comparison with the high bid.

Rattlesnake Bite Fatal To Cultist

HUNTSVILLE, ALA., July 17 (UP)—Members of a snake cult in the New Hope community told today how a 50-year-old farm woman died in agony after being bitten by a rattlesnake while she was testing her faith.

Details of Mrs. Ruth Craig's death were brought out at a coroner's investigation by worshippers who gathered at her home Sunday to witness the rites.

They said Mrs. Craig exhibited a rattler several feet long in a glass jar and told the cultists: "I am going to handle the snake and anyone who doesn't believe had better leave."

With that, she broke the jar and grabbed the coiling reptile, which struck her four times about the upper body and left its fangs in her shoulder.

Witnesses who pulled the snake loose and watched it slither out the door said Mrs. Craig refused to let them call a doctor as she lay dying because it would have indicated her faith was weakening.

Committee Opens Investigation Of Orphan Home

CORSICANA, July 18 (UP)—A four member committee opens an investigation today into charges of mistreatment of children at the Corsicana State Orphan Home by Superintendent M. E. Dumas.

The inquiry was tough off at a July 10 meeting of the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools when several discharged employes leveled charges that Dumas "interfered" in the scholastic program and ordered punishments of children without cause.

Hospital Board Chairman Claud Gilmer heads the investigation group. Other members are Bishop John E. Hines of Austin, Mrs. Lawrence Tarlton of Fort Worth and James Marvin Windham of Livingston.

Four charges were made against Dumas by the employes at the Austin meeting of the hospital board last week.

Franklin King, former educational director serving as spokesman for the former employes, argued that Dumas would not let him operate the school's scholastic program.

He also charged that the superintendent ordered unprovoked punishment of students, emphasized a work program to the detriment of classroom studies, and restricted social privileges of students unreasonably.

Assistant Superintendent A. W. Laird at the Austin hearing appeared in complete defense of the administration and described unrest at the home mainly as a "clash of personalities."

SAN ANTONIO, July 18 (UP)—Match play in the Texas Junior Golf tournament opens at Brackett today with Texas amateur champion Joe Conrad the favorite for the finals Saturday.

Opinions Differ Toward Water

AUSTIN, July 17 (UP)—Use of fluoride as an anti-tooth decay agent in city water supplies brought sharply differing opinions today from experts of the state health department and university of Texas.

Dr. Alfred Taylor, University of Texas Research Biologist, warned that use of the chemical in municipal water should be withheld until completion of research on possible harmful effects.

However, state health officer George W. Cox said that his department would continue to recommend use of fluoride.

Dr. Edward Taylor, head of the health department's dental division, hailed use of fluoride as "the greatest measure in dental public health history."

However, the University scientist said that results of research thus far "have indicated there may be some adverse effects from the use of fluoride in drinking water."

The city of Austin held up use of the chemical last February in the following conferences with the university biologist. A number of Texas cities, it was pointed out, have instituted use of fluoride as an agent to combat tooth decay.

Head Named For Experiment

AUSTIN, July 17 (UP)—The Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission announced today that a veteran hatchery superintendent will take over supervision of an experimental game management program.

Executive secretary Howard Dodgen said that Joe Marks, veteran of 22 years service with the commission, will operate projects in Brewster, Kerr, Anderson and Hemphill Counties.

Marks, superintendent of the commission's 13 fish hatcheries, was credited as "a great factor in building up the chain of hatcheries to the point where we produce up to 25,000,000 bass every year."

Marion Toole, Chief Aquatic Biologist, will take over duties as superintendent of hatcheries.

The four experimental projects were established with Federal funds, and revenue from the tax on fishing equipment will be used to aid in promotion of fish life.

The commission said that emphasis on finding new water sources will be made in a 50,000-acre trans-Pecos tract in the Black Gap region. Water will be impounded in each of the four areas, the commission said, and "some fairly large lakes will be created."

Dodgen said the waters will be stocked and opened for public fishing when it is considered practicable.

Too Many Ifs and Buts In This Game

NEW YORK, July 18 (UP)—The toughest job Manager Marty Marion of the Cardinals faced this season was telling old friends and young kids they no longer were needed, but the guy who took it the hardest was Marty Marion, the veteran shortstop.

"My knee is just about all set after that operation in December," Marion said over the roar of his television set. "But Solly Hemus and Stan Rojek are doing just as well as I could at shortstop so I'm keeping myself on the bench."

And how is life as a dugout manager?
"It's funny," he said. "I just don't feel like I'm a part of the game when I'm on the bench, even if I'm running the club. But as I said all along, I'm not letting sentiment prejudice my judgment."

As he talked, the guy they used to call "Slats" nervously wiped perspiration from his forehead and crossed and uncrossed his spidery legs. Marion, always good natured, nevertheless is as thin as a mandolin string and nearly as fast.

He shys away from making any predictions or comments on the other clubs. Unlike some of his contemporaries, he only fidgeted and wiped his face some more when asked if he ever would overtake Brooklyn or if he could put his finger on the reason for the Braves' troubles.

"Don't come to me for that buddy," he said and the long legs were getting wound around themselves like a pretzel. "There are too many ifs and buts in this business. Of course, if we hadn't been hit by that virus here in the East—no sir, there's just too many variables in a pennant race to let a fellow say anything."

Marion is establishing himself as a ballplayer's manager just as he was a ballplayer's ballplayer. "They are the boys who make a team—and a manager," he said. "Don't think I'll ever start kidding myself about that."

Marty, who used to sweat out his share of lengthy clubhouse oratory, keeps the player meetings short and to the point.

"My idea is to say what has to be said and then go to work playing," Marion explained. "Brother, I really got bored when a manager started looking at the ceiling to think of something else to talk on."

Marion figures the best Cardinal club he ever was on was the 1942 aggregation that trimmed the Yankees in the series four games to one.

"And it was the biggest series I ever played in," he said, going over to turn down the television.

"We were much greater than the '46 club that beat the Red Sox."

Marty has heard plenty of boos come down from the grandstand but few of them ever landed on his blond head.

"Let's say I was pretty lucky there," he grinned.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE EVERY SUNDAY

"This is my Property—
... and I can prove it" was an announcement displayed on a signboard placed in front of a farm home which all motorists could see as they passed that way. As we read the words we wondered why it was necessary to have such a notice anyway. If this man really owned the place and could prove it, he had a good title, probably a title policy, both based on an abstract. No other proof or notice would be necessary.

Summer Timesavers

"Summertime and the livin' is easy" or at least we try to make it so—as far as food is concerned. Quickies that are cool and refreshing make meals more enjoyable—and make lazy summer days more pleasant.

Iced chocolate drinks are "tops" during this season; and for making these nourishing beverages in no time, use new instant sweet cocoa mix. The Chocolate Milk Shake pictured here is new and different, and if bananas are Junior's favorite fruit, he will really go for this combination. It consists of sweet cocoa mix, milk, and mashed bananas blended together for a mouth-watering drink!

Chocolate Banana Milk Shake
1 cup sweet cocoa mix
½ cup hot milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt
½ cup strained banana pulp

Combine cocoa mix and hot milk in bowl. Stir until cocoa mix is dissolved and mixture is smooth. Add vanilla, salt, and banana. Mix until blended. Chill. Add 3 tablespoons sauce to tall glass of milk and stir until blended. Makes 1½ cups sauce. Will keep for at least 4 days if stored, covered, in the refrigerator.

Spicy Chocolate Milk
3 heaping teaspoons sweet cocoa mix
1 cup milk
Dash of ground cloves
Dash of cinnamon
Put cocoa mix in shaker or glass jar with tight-fitting lid. Add milk and spices, cover, and shake about ½ minute, or until well mixed. Pour into glass. Makes 1 serving.

Or add cocoa mix to a little of the milk in tall glass and blend well. Add remaining milk and spices and stir vigorously.

Rogers Hornsby Talks To Veeck

SEATTLE, Wash., July 18 (UP)—Baseball Hall of Fame Rogers Hornsby says he has talked to Bill Veeck, owner of the St. Louis Browns, about managing the American League club.

Hornsby, presently managing the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League, declined to say if Veeck had made a definite offer. However, Veeck intimated in St. Louis recently that he would "go all out" to get Hornsby.

"We talked about the job, but that is all I can say," Hornsby said regarding an apparent offer from Veeck to manage the Browns. The all-time hitting star of the National League is under contract with the Seattle club for the remainder of the season, and his team currently is two games ahead of the field in the race for the PCL pennant.

Under those circumstances, Seattle owners might hold onto Hornsby if the Browns hold the door open for next season. Then again the local club might give him the go-ahead to St. Louis.

Neither Hornsby nor the Seattle officials would comment one way or the other.

Boy Found In Old Ice Box

SAN ANTONIO, July 18 (UP)—The all-night search for six-year-old Arturo Guerrero ended early today when an uncle found his body in an old, discarded ice box in the family's garage.

Homicide officers were investigating to determine if the boy's death was accidental or the work of an intruder.

The boy was reported missing at 6 p.m. yesterday by his father, Ezeiel Guerrero, 42, a former San Antonio butcher.
