FORMER TEXAS VA HEAD IS CALLED TO EXPLAIN ACTIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP)—A special House investigating committee recalled Lt. Col. Leon E. Howell today to explain, among other things, how he happened to win a sailfish contest while traveling as a Veterans Administration official.

The committee, headed by Rep. Olin E. Teague, D., Tex., has charged the former VA official at Austin and San Antonio, with using his job to enrich a friend and for his own "personal gain."

Some of the accusations were made yesterday. More were due for disclosure today (at 10 a. m. EDT).

The committee also was expected to investigate a charge that Howell falsified government travel vouchers. For one thing, the committee wanted to know how he happened to win a fishing contest while traveling at government expense on a trip recorded on VA records as taken to confer with vocational school officials.

Howell, now back on active duty with the Air Force at Omaha, resigned from the VA last February after the Teague investigation got underway. The alleged "irregularities" occurred while he was VA regional manager at Houston and San Antonio.

Howell denied yesterday that he engaged in any "improper" activities.

The committee accused Howell of using pressure to get VA favors for J. T. Hord, Rockport, Tex., owner of the Gulf Coast Business Schools.

The investigators said Howell helped Hord get a higher disability allowance, entitling him to greater retirement benefits. It said the former VA official also brought pressure to get higher government payments for veteran students in one of Hord's schools than were paid to other schools in the area.

The committee also said Howell used his "official position—in an irregular manner for personal gain" in making a $5,400 profit on a house he owned for one year.

The Band Hall is undergoing major changes and repairs and is not suitable to be used for rehearsals until the repairs and changes have been completed.

All band students are asked to watch this paper for announcement of the time and date that the rehearsals will again take place.

Mr. Truman said he had full confidence in Boyle and that he would remain as party chairman.

The president said in a statement that he would never condone any party chairman taking fees for using influence with federal agencies. He was confident, he said, that Boyle had nothing to do with arranging the "PT" loans.

Hoey declined to comment on the president's statement.

"The subcommittee is not proceeding under the assumption that anything is wrong," Hoey said. "We are merely trying to find out if there is anything that warrants an investigation."

Chairman John L. McClellan, D., Ark., said the senate executive expenditures committee, parent body of the Hoey group, probably would discuss the inquiry at its next meeting on Tuesday.

Reds Refuse To Compromise On Location Of Buffer Zone

EX-CON QUESTIONED IN DEATH OF GAMBLER HERBERT NOBLE

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (UP)—Police questioned an ex-convict today about his possible connection with the spectacular bomb slaying of gambler Herbert (The Cat) Noble.

Officers refused to disclose results of their questioning of Findlay Donica. They said they were checking some of Donica's statements, but they would not elaborate.

Donica was arrested yesterday at his West Dallas home. He was one of six men sought for questioning since Noble was blasted Tuesday.

A blue pickup truck was parked in the yard at Donica's home. A similar truck was reported to have sped from the scene of Noble's death at his ranch home northwest of Dallas.

Texas Ranger Capt. Bob Crowder spearheaded the operation. He said another of the six key suspects — Jack Nesbit, of Fort Worth—also was arrested but offered an airtight alibi.

Nesbit, once charged with assault to murder Noble but never tried, was released.

Noble died in the 12th attempt against his life in five years. His repeated escapes from gunmen and bombers earned him underworld nicknames of "The Clay Pigeon" and "The Cat."

The 41-year-old gambler was wounded five times and often told intimates that he expected his would-be assassins to eventually kill him. His wife died in a bomb blast in 1949.

Noble steadfastly refused to identify the men who attempted to kill him. The only public statement he ever made was to the Texas House Crime Investigating Committee when he said he had "heard" that gambler Benny Binion had offered $50,000 for his death.

Binion, however, stoutly denied any connection with the matter. Binion, former kingpin of Dallas gambling, now is living at Las Vegas, Nev.

Police records showed that Donica had been picked up many times for investigation, and served time for burglary.

Donica and two other men were charged last year with the slaying of an ex-convict. However, the grand jury failed to indict Donica on the charge.

Funeral services were held yesterday for Noble. He was buried beside his wife.

Sen. Hoey To Go Ahead With Boyle Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP)—Sen. Clyde R. Hoey, D., N. C., said today that the "preliminary inquiry" into the alleged RFC dealings of William M. Boyle, Jr. will be continued despite President Truman's clean bill of health for the Democratic National Chairman.

Hoey, chairman of the senate's permanent investigating subcommittee, said the inquiry should be furnished in a few days. The subcommittee then will decide whether a full investigation is needed, he said.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday that he had investigated and found that Boyle had nothing to do with Reconstruction Finance Corp. loans totaling $565,000 to the American Lithofold Corp., St. Louis.

Mr. Truman said he had full confidence in Boyle and that he would remain as party chairman.

The president said in a statement that he would never condone any party chairman taking fees for using influence with federal agencies. He was confident, he said, that Boyle had nothing to do with arranging the "PT" loans.

Hoey declined to comment on the president's statement.

"The subcommittee is not proceeding under the assumption that anything is wrong," Hoey said. "We are merely trying to find out if there is anything that warrants an investigation."

Chairman John L. McClellan, D., Ark., said the senate executive expenditures committee, parent body of the Hoey group, probably would discuss the inquiry at its next meeting on Tuesday.

UN Lines Crossed By Chinese Jets

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 10 (UP)—Communist ground troops attacked United Nations forces in two sectors of the Korean front today as cease-fire talks approached a new crisis.

Before bad weather set in, the Communists sent planes over North Korea for the first time since July 29.

Two Communist companies attacked at dawn, driving a small UN unit from a hill north of Yanggu. The UN troops counterattacked and retook the position. At least three pro-drawn jets at Allied positions below Kumsong, also were thrown back.

UN troops made limited gains in a dozen local attacks in east-central Korea. Eighth Army said, and two patrols near the Hwachon reservoir fought briefly with Communist outposts, then withdrew.

Clouds and low visibility allowed only 20 air-support missions for UN ground troops, but Fifth Air Force said planes stepped up strikes against targets in enemy-held Korea. F-84's raided a heavily defended marshalling yard at Pyongyang, claiming at least three gun positions destroyed.

Communist jet fighter planes challenged UN jets over North Korea Thursday for the first time since July 29, but fled north across the Yalu River into Manchuria after a few exchanges of gunfire.

Fifteen B-29 superfortresses dropped more than 2,000 100-lb. bombs on two important railway marshalling yards in western Korea. The bombers ran into considerable anti-aircraft fire and some were damaged, but all returned safely to their Okinawa bases.

Girls Needed In RHS Band Color Guard

Bob Gans, band director of the Ranger High School 1 Band, is calling for volunteers of girls, for the Color Guard for the unit for the coming school year.

The girls that are chosen will carry the flags and the weapons that accompany them at all the festivities in which band takes part.

Any young lady wishing to volunteer her services is asked to see Mr. Gans at the Ranger High Band Hall, Monday morning, between 9:00 and 10:00 a. m.

The girls to all the football games and other activities in which the band will participate for the school term starting in September.

Jimmy Crossley Improving Slowly

Mrs. Lester Crossley called here this morning to report that her son, Jimmy, was slightly improved. Jimmy has been in the City-County Hospital in Ft. Worth since Saturday, July 29, with polio.

Mr. and Mrs. Crossley expressed their appreciation to the people of Ranger for the kindness and consideration shown to Jimmy and the family while he has been at patient at Ft. Worth.

Leak In Main Leaves Some Without Water

A leak in a six inch main running to the east side of town caused some residents to be without water for a few hours this morning.

The water loss due to the break in the line was very small. The water men quickly shut off the water going to that main and started repair work in the line.

Commissioner Williams stated that there has been some loss of water in the standpipe since the water ban was lifted but not enough to cause alarm. The pump and booster at the plant are on a twenty-four hour operating schedule. Everything possible is being done to avert another shortage. It was stated by Williams that enough water should be supplied by the plant to hold a good level in the standpipe until the weather breaks.

The slight loss was accredited to the people trying to avert loss of their lawns during the ban. As soon as the watering returns to normal the supply should catch up with the demand.

Jerry Dobbs Attending Air Force School

Pfc. Jerry Dobbs a June volunteer in the Air Force has been transferred to Kessler Air Force Base, Boloxi, Mississippi, where he is attending radio school.

Jerry is a 1950 graduate of Ranger High School and was employed by the Ranger Frozen Food Lockers before entering the air force.

Jerry was first sent to Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, for his basic but was transferred to Sheppard Field at Wichita Falls to take his training.

Jerry is the son of Mrs. Joe Young of Highway 80 East, Ranger.

Douglas Cozart Has Leukemia; Blood Needed

Blood donations are needed for Douglas Cozart in the St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Worth III with leukemia.

Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cozart, Pyote, former residents of Ranger.

Douglas condition requires that he be given blood transfusions at close intervals in order to survive. Bill Niska at Fuller Motor Co. is taking a group to Fort Worth to give blood.

Any other person that can give blood that will be in Fort Worth are urged to go to the hospital. If you can give blood and will not be able to do so for lack of transportation, contact Bill Niska at the Fuller Motor Co.

Jimmy Crossley Improving Slowly

Mrs. Lester Crossley called here this morning to report that her son, Jimmy, was slightly improved. Jimmy has been in the City-County Hospital in Ft. Worth since Saturday, July 29, with polio.

Mr. and Mrs. Crossley expressed their appreciation to the people of Ranger for the kindness and consideration shown to Jimmy and the family while he has been at patient at Ft. Worth.

COMMUNIST REFUSE TALK ON ANY OTHER PROBLEMS

By Ernest Hoherecht United Press Staff Correspondent UN ADVANCE BASE BELOW KAESONG, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 11 (UP)—Communist negotiators refused flatly at cease-fire talks Friday to consider anything but the 38th Parallel as the demarcation line between United Nations and Communist Armies. They refused also to pass on to any other program item.

The entire armistice conference headed into a new crisis which all but shattered hope for an early cease-fire. Yesterday's meeting at Kaesong, held after a six-day halt because of Red violations of the neutrality of the conference area, lasted four hours and twelve minutes.

For two hours and eleven minutes of that time, Chief Communist Negotiator Gen. Nam Il sat in stony silence. Other negotiators talked in whispers.

Nam Il read from a piece of typewritten paper, his hand shaking, toyed with his cigarette lighter, looked at his watch, drummed on the table with his fingers and the lighter.

He broke his silence to refuse any suggestion made by the UN team to get going with negotiations.

The sole agreement reached, at the longest meeting held since the talks started June 10, was to meet again at 11 a. m. today (9 p. m. Friday EDT).

When the UN team returned last night to this base briefing officer Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls was asked:

"Is there any chance for agreement at Kaesong?" "Gentlemen, I am reluctant to make any prediction now," Nuckolls said.

A United Nations communique called Chief Communist delegate Gen. Nam Il's silence "historical and unprecedented."

He broke it, the communique said, only to refuse adamantly to discuss:

1. The battle line area as a possible location of the cease-fire line or buffer zone.

2. Any line other than the 38th Parallel as a possible line of military demarcation.

3. Any other item on the military armistice conference agenda.

Despite the seemingly hopeless deadlock, the negotiators agreed to meet for a 21st session at 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. today EDT).

The meeting was the first since the UN command broke off the negotiations last Sunday in protest against the presence of armed Red troops in Kaesong. It also was the longest since the conference began July 10, lasting for four hours and 12 minutes.

Chief UN negotiator Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy opened the 20th session at 1:30 p. m. (11:30 p. m. Thursday EDT) with a statement suggesting the possibility of a compromise on the buffer zone question.

The negotiators first took up the issue two weeks ago Friday and had driven for agreement at nine previous sessions.

Joy said he was "completely willing" to discuss a demilitarized zone "located generally in the area of the present battle line." This extends 20 to 30 miles north of the 38th Parallel in central and eastern Korea.

He also said he was willing to discuss "possible adjustments of the proposed zone, which thus far has been defined only in general terms."

"Admiral Joy completed this statement at 2:44 p. m. and from then until 4:55 p. m. there was utter silence on the part of the senior Communist delegate," the UN communique said.

Nam Il finally responded with his blanket refusal to consider any cease-fire line other than the 38th Parallel, pre-war frontier between South and Communist North Korea.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has said that the UN never will agree to withdraw south of the parallel because it would mean a retreat to indefensible positions.

Still in hope of finding possible areas of agreement, Joy then proposed that the conference temporarily drop the deadlock issue and go on to the next item on the agenda—concrete arrangements for "the realization of a military armistice and the resultant cease-fire."

Said the UN communique: "For the second time during the afternoon, Gen. Nam Il without equivocation refused to discuss any point other than the 38th Parallel and item No. 2 (the buffer zone)."

Green Light Given For New Plant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP)—The Interior Department has recommended that the Defense Production Administration give a green-light to construction of a new Aluminum Company of America plant in Milan County, Tex.

The plant would cost $103,000, and would turn out 85,000 tons of aluminum annually. Undersecretary of Interior Richard D. Searles, who asked DPA to certify the necessity of the plant, said it would be powered by lignite obtained from Sandow, Tex.

"Use of lignite for the generation of power brings into use a new important energy resource in the manufacture of aluminum," he said. The state has proven reserves of lignite and alcoa proposed to conduct extensive research in the use of the tar residue from the fuel.

Disclosures by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch first linked Boyle to the Lithofold Loans. Boyle said he represented Lithofold as legal counsel for a short time before becoming vice-chairman of the national committee, but not in connection with the RFC loans.

However, the St. Louis paper said Boyle got a total of $1,500 in "commissions" from the firm over a period of more than a year, part of it after becoming an official of the national committee.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., one of Boyle's loudest critics in the case, introduced legislation yesterday to ban employers of national political committees from "influencing" government agencies.

Firemen Walk Up To Fire

FORT WORTH, Aug. 10 (UP)—Fort Worth firemen had to walk straight up to reach a fire last night.

It was an open blaze 175 feet above downtown streets. It broke out in a pile of wooden scaffolding material in the steel skeleton of 15th floor of the O-I and Gas Building, now under construction.

Firemen had to climb a framework staircase to reach the blaze, which caused only minor damage.

Made Welcome Under Duress

KERMIT, Aug. 10 (UP)—Townpeople here like to make truck drivers feel welcome when they stop for refreshments.

In fact, Ardis Van Cleave, news editor of the Winkler County News, went with two drivers to get coffee the other day.

Van Cleave said they parked their trucks, loaded with sheep, in front of his office, and he had to go somewhere.

No Relief In Sight For One Of Worst Heat Waves Recored

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (UP)—Restrictions in water consumption were ordered as sun-baked Texas sweated today in one of the worst heat waves in weather bureau history. Already, 19 deaths were attributed to the heat.

The hot spell has gripped the Lone Star State for a month. And the past week has been the worst with temperatures soaring as high as 116 degrees.

The blazing sun dried up range-land water holes, forcing ranchers to ship their livestock to market. Farm experts said the crop loss would be in the millions.

Many cities enacted water conservation ordinances. The situation reached emergency proportions at Temple, in the central part of the state. Water reserves there were down to a 20 day supply and users of outdoor hydrants were subjected to fines.

Cooling devices were a scarce commodity. "Sold out" signs popped up on hardware and appliance counters. Dallas dealers reported few air conditioning units left after perspiring resident entered rush orders. Unusual odd measure to beat the heat were common.

Blocks of ice were placed in front of powerful fans to cool Southwest Bell Telephone Company operators. Doctors suggested that Texans take it easy. They warned that continued heat caused tension and that artery-popping anger might follow.

The mercury soared to 116 degrees at Henrietta, only four degrees below the all-time Texas high.

Ten persons died of heat in Houston, and Dallas recorded six heat deaths as the city suffered through its ninth consecutive day of 100-degree or higher temperatures.

One Dallas physician placed a lawn sprinkler on the roof of his house, but the cooling measure was frowned on by city officials because it used too much water.

Louis restricted lawn sprinkling to four hours daily.

Central and South Texas farm lands were hardest hit.

Farm and business leaders at Waco will confer today to see if the Central-Texas region can obtain federal disaster relief.

The Waco News-Tribune estimated crop losses at $1,000,000 a day in the area.

Dallas set a record for water consumption last Monday—112,000,000 gallons. A plea for voluntary conservation followed, and cut the average to 100,000,000 gallons.

Tyler, in East Texas, had a loudspeaker-equipped car cruising the streets. It warned residents to reduce water usage.

Electrical consumption also hit a new high as Texans sought to keep cool. An all-time record of 290,800 kilowatt-hours consumption in one hour was set in Dallas.

Soil experts at Marshall, in East Texas, announced the ground was dry to a depth of 12 inches in the usually lush region.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said no general relief was in sight. A weak mass of cool air moved into extreme northern Texas yesterday, on to fade away last night. It was expected to slowly push southward today.

Light showers accompanied the front, but temperatures generally dropped only into the 90's. Maximums of 100 degrees or higher were forecast for this afternoon over most of the state.

STATE DEPARTMENT CHARGES McCARTHY WITH "SMEARING"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R., Wis., and the State Department clashed today over McCarthy's disclosure of 26 department employees whom he claims have been charged with Communist activities.

The department accused McCarthy of a "callous" indifference to facts and of "indefensible smear tactics."

McCarthy retorted that the department did not answer his chief complaint: Why were the 26 persons allowed access to secret data while their loyalty was in question?

McCarthy's list included ambassador-at-large Phillip C. Jessup, diplomat John Carter Vincent, information specialist William T. Stone and policy planner John Paton Davies, Jr., who recently was cleared by the department's loyalty board.

The other 22 employees generally were consultants, economists or experts in the department's various information fields.

Several of the persons named by McCarthy issued statements categorically denying that they are disloyal.

McCarthy's Senate speech late yesterday stemmed from his recent correspondent with Deputy Undersecretary of State Carlisle H. Humelaine, in which the Senator demanded that 29 individuals formerly accused of being security risks be denied access to secret information.

THE SCOREBOARD

Walcott Is First Senior Champ; Juniors Await Seniority Rights

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Just as they do it in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the young bucks with heavyweight championship aspirations are going to have to wait their turn. When Jersey Joe Walcott, admittedly 37, wound up his potent left and belted out Ezzard Charles and Father Time with one punch, he took the big crown into virtual deep freeze as far as the kiddie group is concerned. If the Great Father of Camden never does another thing but erase Ezzard the Gizzard—and that was a tremendous favor—he will go down in history as the first senior champion of the prize ring. Now if all the Seniors get five shots at the top, you can readily see how hopeless is the quest of the Johnny-Come-Latelys—Matthews, Marciano, Murphy, the new slightly-tarnished Layne, Roland LaStarza and Pittsburgh's Bob Baker. Walcott and Charles are scheduled to poke each other around for the fourth time, of course. Naturally, Walcott will demand a first-chance return clause in the new contract. It's the champion's privilege, and the venerable south New Jersey geezer is Mr. Big now. It's anything but inconceivable that Charles, who twice whipped Walcott, will win. Then they'd fight again, when it would be Old Joe's turn. These two could be at it for years. And when they settle their good-business feud, there's still Joe Louis, at 37 the most celebrated Senior of them all.

THE ex-champ, who hadn't gained much prestige against the younger crop, really opened the International Boxing Club's eyes with a six-round knockout of stalwart Lee Savold. After all, Savold was a union man, too, at 35. Louis went to bed disgusted after watching Walcott put a lily in Charles' hand on television. "It puts Joe back at least six months in his plans to regain the title," said Manager Marshall Miles. What an optimist he is, but Louis is at least in the league. And what are six months or so in connection with the Senior Championship? Walcott has been around 21 years. Walcott clipping Charles best illustrates why Louis insisted on tackling the Cincinnati Negro once more. And now the Old Brown Bomber is sidetracked for an old pappy guy he knocked kicking three years ago. Getting back to the Juniors, none is likely to get a whack at the Senior champion for years to come, so they might just as well fight for their own championship.

Tri-Purpose Pans Are Time Savers

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. — The use of tri-purpose pans save time, energy and food. Eliminate the usual transferring of food from refrigerator container to cooking pan, and then to serving dish with utensils which can do triple duty, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, Home Management Specialist for the Extension Service. Square or rectangular utensils without handles or knobs save space in the refrigerator. Metal pans generally can take the sudden change in temperature in the move from the refrigerator to range. If you use glass, pottery or enamelware, it is safer to put such containers when cold into the oven, rather than on top of the stove because the oven heats them more evenly. Let the food and cold utensil heat up together. Mrs. Claytor says be sure the glassware is made to stand high heat if you are using it on top of the stove. Oven glassware isn't manufactured for this purpose.

If time permits, take the dish from the refrigerator long enough before cooking to take the chill off. Otherwise, slip an asbestos mat under it and use low heat until the utensil no longer feels cold. July 22-28 is National Safety Week and is a mighty good time to check your home and farm or ranch for accident hazards may save your life or that of a member of your family. Play it safe 52 weeks each year.

"Hopes Slim" For Price Cut

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP)—Price officials admitted today that their hopes of rolling back prices on everything from shoes to sofas had all but vanished.

One of the last government attempts to roll back factory prices floundered when the office of price stabilizations indefinitely postponed some $2,500,000,000 in rollbacks on manufacturers' prices.

The postponement late yesterday was made to give the government time to formulate a policy for price ceiling under the new controls law. But OPS officials admitted that chances for many future manufacturing price rollbacks were slim.

The rollbacks—and some increases—were due to go into effect next week on clothing, furniture, machinery, cotton and wool textiles and thousands of other products.

Manufacturers now may go ahead with increases provided by the regulations, but they do not have to comply with rollback provisions.

OPS had drawn up its rollback regulations under the old controls law which permitted only partly of manufacturer's direct cost increases to be added to his pre-Korean prices. The new law requires OPS to let ceiling prices reflect all "reasonable" cost increases through July 24.

— Joe Dick Slaughter, Hockley County farmer, was of the firm opinion today that W. J. Robertson, Texas Employment Commission field man, missed a good bet by not becoming a rain maker. Slaughter appeared at Robertson's office the other day to thank him for supplying enough hands to finish a cotton chopping job.

"But now I need rain bad," Slaughter added. "Where do you need it?" Robertson asked.

The farmer replied he needed it on some 3,000 acres, in cultivation north of Whiteface.

The TEC man took one of his labor forms and jokingly wrote: "one to four inches of rain." That night it rained, during the rest of the week, rain continued at intervals. The total was two and one-half inches.

Deacon Training Program To Close

The Reverend Jasper Masseege spoke to the deacons and the newly elected candidates last night at the First Baptist church. "Stewardship" was his subject; he pointed out that deacons and all Christians should be mindful that stewardship involved more than money, he said "it includes personality, time, talent, prayer and all of our lives." His address was well received by the 22 men present.

Tonight the Reverend Ralph Perkins will conclude the training period for the newly elected but not yet ordained deacons by giving instruction both to them and to the wives. Following the instruction period the older deacons and the new candidates will have fellowship together with an ice cream supper on the church lawn.

BOSTON BANKERS THRIFTIER THAN PHILADELPHIA LAWYERS

BOSTON, MASS., Aug. 9 (UP)—If thrifty old Ben Franklin were alive today he'd readily agree that when it comes to handling his money Boston bankers have it all over Philadelphia lawyers.

Franklin, who coined the phrase "time is money," left Boston and Philadelphia each $5,000 in his will. With an assist from father time, Boston has run Ben's request into more than a million dollars—nearly five times the present amount of Philadelphia's Franklin fund.

The man who ran away from his brother's Boston printing shop to win fame in Philadelphia originally set up the separate funds to aid struggling young tradesmen. He wanted "young married artificers" in both the city of his birth and his adopted town to borrow from the funds to start their own business.

But even while being young fellows get a start, a blink still had a weather eye peeled for an honest dollar. He stipulated that the money be loaned out at 5 per cent interest and predicted that the capital would grow to $655,000 in each city within 100 years after his death.

Boston came closest to fulfilling Franklin's expectations. By 1890, a century after his death, Ben's home town had nearly $400,000 on hand. Philadelphia lagged far behind, and is still lagging. At the last accounting, Boston had $1,043,980 to Philadelphia's $209,081.

According to one Boston banker who has supervised the Franklin fund here, the difference can be attributed to the fact that "Boston has kept the politicians out of it."

"They tried to get in on the fund once but we fought them to the Massachusetts Supreme Court and won," he said.

The politicians may have had a case at that because Franklin wanted his requests managed by the "selectmen" (now city councilmen) and protestant clergy of each city. In Philadelphia the board of city trust controls the fund, but in Boston it has remained under direction of the privately-operated Franklin Foundation.

However, city and state officials will ultimately decide how both funds will be spent when they terminate in 1990. The far-seeing philosopher-statesman-journalist-inventor fixed it so that the funds will be divided separately between the governments of Massachusetts and Boston and Pennsylvania and Philadelphia 200 years after his death.

Actually the value of Franklin's request to Boston is much more than the million dollars now in fund. About two-thirds of the capital on hand at the end of the first century was to be used for public works in each city. The present funds were started with what was left over.

Boston used its share to build the Franklin Technical Institute Building, a school for tradesmen. The present value of the building and equipment is about $1,000,000. Philadelphia gave its smaller first century share to the Franklin Institute, a museum and scientific foundation.

New President To Keep Old Cabinet

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 10 (UP)—Premier Antonio Salazar offered the resignation of his cabinet to newly elected President Gen. Francisco Craveiro Lopes, last night. But Lopes, who took the oath of office yesterday before the National Assembly, refused to accept the resignation.

One Sister Dead One Starving; $23,940 In Room

PERSEY CITY N. J., Aug. 10 (UP)—A dead raven stood guard in the room. An aged spinster lay dead and her sister starving. Within reach was $23,940 in gold coins and old bills.

It seemed a page out of Edgar Allan Poe when police broke in to the sisters' old-fashioned but richly furnished apartment yesterday.

The body of Clara Fafflock, 60, lay on a bed. She had died, apparently of cancer.

Her sister Marie, 64, who had refused to leave her sister even in death, sprawled at the foot of Clara's bed in a coma from lack of food. Next to her was the body of Clara's scrawny pet raven, where her condition was reported critical today.

A search of the neat, four-room apartment where the sisters had lived for 30 years revealed a green metal box containing the $23,940, seven bank books with deposits totaling $10,000 several thousand dollars worth of securities, and $40 tucked under Clara's pillow. Not a scrap of food was found.

Neighbors said the sisters seldom went out and refused to admit painters or window-washers in the apartment. They said Clara had handled the finances for the pair, and that Marie was the more light-hearted and cheerful. Marie seemed to depend on her sterner sister, they said.

He said he had full trust in Salazar and his cabinet, which will remain unchanged.

Neighbors told police the sisters once refused to pay an additional $2.50 a month to have an electric ice box, preferring to keep their food under cold water in the bathtub.

The superintendent of their apartment house said that a third sister had died four years ago, and the two survivors said nothing about the death for several days. He said they had inherited some $500,000 from their late father, a resident of Hoboken.

"Bulldogger" Gets 90 Days

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 10 (UP)—An impulsive Missoula horseman was serving 90 days in jail today for "bulldogging" a shapely blonde as she tripped through a secluded grove by the shores of a lake.

Justice of the Peace E. W. Ziesemer sentenced Clyde Bakker, 39, yesterday after finding him guilty of third degree assault.

Bakker was accused of leaping from his horse, throwing 18-year-old Juanita Anderson to the ground and then sitting on her. The feat, usually involving a calf, is called "bulldogging" in rodeo circles.

"I'm inclined to be lenient because your wife is in a family way," said the justice in passing sentence.

Bakker insisted that he was nowhere near the scene when the alleged offense took place July 21 on the shores of Lockwood Lake about seven miles from Missoula.

But Miss Anderson testified she and a friend, Astrid Gustafson, 35, were tripping through the woods looking for a place to swim when suddenly they heard the tramp of horse's hoofs. She said she was thrown to the ground "before I realized what was happening."
