Hand-To-Hand Fighting Sets Reds Running On Top Ridges

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS Korea, Oct. 6 (UP)—United Nations forces on the ground seized most of bloody "Heartbreak Ridge" today and in the air battle the biggest Communist jet formation ever encountered.

With negotiations over resumption of truce talks apparently hopelessly deadlocked, the Korean war flared with new fury on the ground, in the air and at sea. Late reports told of these developments:

1. U. S., French and Dutch infantry captured the central and highest peak of "Heartbreak Ridge" and a neighboring mountain on the east-central front above Yangju with bayonets, flame throwers and dynamite charges. They killed more than 1,000 Reds.

2. U. S. 3rd Division troops struck northward on the west-central front in pursuit of Red forces who abandoned their main winter defense line Friday.

3. A United Nations patrol stabbed in to the east coast city of Kosong, 45 miles north of the 38th Parallel, and captured an enemy soldier in a daring raid. It was the deepest UN ground penetration of North Korea since last December.

4. Thirty-three American Sabrejets ripped into the greatest single force of Soviet-built MIG-15 jets ever seen over Korea—more than 100 planes. One Sabrejet was shot down, one MIG probably destroyed and two other Communist jets damaged in the 15-minute battle. The downed American pilot was rescued.

5. A UN naval task force led by the 6,000-ton U. S. battleship New York sailed boldly into Hungnam Harbor, 125 miles north of the 38th Parallel, under fire of Communist shore guns Friday and blasted the Reds' important railway yards, bridges and warehouses. Despite intense Communist fire, the warships suffered neither casualties nor damage.

6. Gen James A. Van Fleet's 8th Army extended its autumn offensive to the east central front with a midnight attack on "Heartbreak Ridge" above Yangju.

All three regiments of the U. S. 2nd Division took part in the rare night attack.

Americans of the 23rd Regiment charged up one slope of the central peak and killed an estimated 100 Reds with their bayonets in close-quarter fighting.

As they neared the crest of the height, North Korean Reds rolled more than 150 hand grenades down the slope. The Americans trained two flame-throwers on the Communist positions and the Reds ran.

The G. I.'s found more than 150 log and dirt bunkers on the peak, some of them eight feet thick. They assaulted the bunkers with white phosphorous grenades, satchel charges and blocks of TNT placed in cracks in the walls.

French troops assaulting from the north met almost negligible resistance.

American artillery supporting the "Heartbreak Ridge" assault slaughtered at least 800 Reds.

The peak was declared secured at 6:10 a. m. (4:10 p. m. EST) and the Americans and French fanned out west to link up with the 38th Regiment.

The 38th, with a Dutch battalion, stormed a mountain on the east side of Mundung Valley and captured it just before noon (10 p. m. Friday EST).

Graham Film Be Shown, Abilene Next Thursday

ABILENE — Evangelist Billy Graham will present his motion picture "Mr. Texas" for the first time in West Texas on Thursday night, October 11. The picture, made in Fort Worth and Abilene, will be shown in Rose Field House on the Hardin-Simmons University campus. The film will be shown at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission charge.

Incorporated throughout the continuity of the film are scenes from the Fort Worth campaign, with an evangelistic message by Billy Graham, scenes from the counselling room, the prayer and preparation behind the campaign, and actual broadcast scenes of the "Hour of Decision" a weekly coast-to-coast broadcast of the Graham team.

Dr. James N. Morgan, Fort Worth pastor, has described the picture as "the most powerful gospel presentation I have ever seen in film. It brings alive the great Fort Worth campaign of Billy Graham and shows what the gospel can do in any life. As a Texan I can say there is a personal thrill in knowing that this film bears the title "Mr. Texas."

The picture tells the story of Jim Tyler, a Southwestern cowboy who wanted success above everything else, so that he might be known as "Mr. Texas." A serious rodeo accident sends him to the hospital and the resulting impact of the Christian message in his life has a strong appeal to the viewer.

The rodeo scenes are made on the Hardin-Simmons campus—in the rodeo arena and in the riding stables. Additional scenes are taken on ranches near Abilene. The Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy band is featured in the rodeo scenes. Students and Abilene citizens furnished the crowds for the picture.

The evening session opened at 8 p. m. and was open to the public. At that time the retiring march, memorial service, special drills and stunts were held.

The morning district convention will be held at a Mineral Wells, in April.

STALIN ADMITTED THAT THE SOVIET EXPLODED ATOM BOMB

MOSCOW, Oct. 6 (UP)—Premier Josef Stalin's announcement that the Soviet Union has exploded an atomic bomb and will test more "of different calibers" in the future electrified Moscow today.

Muscovites on their way to work clustered around public bulletin boards on the city's principal thoroughfares reading posted copies of newspapers containing Stalin's remarks.

The announcement was almost the sole topic of conversation at Moscow's Bykovo Airport, where western diplomats gathered to bid goodbye to U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk.

Kirk declined comment as he took off for Berlin on the first leg of his trip back to the U. S. on leave.

Stalin confirmed for the first time that Russia had exploded an atomic bomb in replying to a series of questions asked by the official Communist party newspaper Pravda.

(Stalin's statement followed by three days President Truman's announcement that the U. S. had information the Soviet Union recently exploded a second atomic bomb. Russia never directly confirmed the president's announcement in 1949 of evidence of the first atomic explosion in Russia. The only Soviet comment on that occasion was a claim that Russia had possessed "the secret of the atomic weapons—in 1947.")

The Soviet premier made his announcement in oblique fashion. He was answering a question as to what he thought of the "hulabaloo—in the foreign press in connection with the testing of an atomic bomb in the Soviet Union."

"Indeed, one of the types of atom bombs was recently tested in our country," Stalin said. "Tests of atom bombs of different calibers will be conducted in the future as well in accordance with the plan for the defense of our country from attack by the Anglo-American aggressive bloc."

(In Washington, Rep. Henry M. Jackson, D., Wash., said the reference to "various calibers" probably means that Russia is intent on developing weapons of "varying destructive capability." This, he said, could mean everything from the hydrogen bomb to smaller tactical weapons such as the U. S. is producing.)

Stalin said "there are no grounds whatever" for alarm in the U. S. over the testing of a Soviet atomic bomb. He said the Soviet Union has no intention of using the A-bomb unless this country is attacked.

"It is known that the Soviet Union has several times demanded the prohibition of the atomic weapons," he said, "but each time it has been refused by the Atlantic bloc powers."

Navy School Denies Rumor Of Moving

BAYONNE, N. J., Oct. 6 (UP)—The United States Navy Supply School here today denied reports that it will move to a Naval base at Newport, R. I., in the near future.

A spokesman for Rear Adm. C. A. Austin, commanding officer of the school, said that at the moment "we're planning to stay in Bayonne for quite some time."

However, the spokesman said it was no secret that the Navy was looking around for another location for officers' and enlisted men's supply schools, situated here since 1942.

He mentioned St. Petersburg, Fla., Galveston, Tex., and Newport as possible new locations.

Army Reserves May Be Home For Christmas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (UP)—All Army enlisted men who have been involuntarily re-called to duty will be civilians again by Christmas, but the first childless married draftees soon will be on the way to replace them.

The Army's new discharge plans, announced by Assistant Defense Secretary Anna M. Rosenberry in a letter to Rep. George H. Mahon, D., call for the release by Dec. 29 of all enlisted men recalled to duty from the inactive and volunteer reserves.

Mrs. Rosenberry said the previous discharge goal for these classes of reservists was Jan. 1. However, the Army had announced earlier that all but a few critically needed specialists would be out by Dec. 29.

Her letter apparently indicated that even the specialists will be released.

Meanwhile, selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey announced that local draft boards next week will start reclassifying some 500,000 childless married men of draft age for possible induction.

Previously, all married men were exempt from the draft, but under the new draft law married men with no children lost their draft-exempt status.

Hershey warned that married men who have become fathers—or are on their way to fatherhood—since they registered must notify their draft boards of their change in status.

Mrs. Rosenberry's letter was good news for several thousand Army enlisted reservists, but plans for releasing army officers and all reserves of other services were unchanged.

She said most Army officers from the volunteer and inactive reserves must serve their legal limit of 17 months because the Army could not simultaneously release both officers and non-coms.

The Air Force will release all enlisted men in the reserve classes after 12 months' duty, she said, and the Navy after an average 15 months, but most Air Force and Navy officers must serve 17 months.

The Marine Corps plans to release by next June both officers and enlisted men called to duty before last June 30.

A Word For The Newspaper Boys Of The Times

There are nine up and coming young business men in Ranger that go about their duties with very little fanfare, serving you with the best of their ability each day.

These young men, the newspaper boys of the Ranger Times, appear at your door, rain or shine with the latest copy of the paper.

The weekly or monthly transaction that they make with you on their paper routes fit them for bigger and better businesses later on in life. They are on the road to becoming the leaders of tomorrow, by working toward that goal today.

The nine young men that see that you have your regular copy of the Ranger Times are Jackie Neely, Jerry Don White, Don Deffenbach, Paul Hinds, Bill Cramer, Archie Robinson, Ronney Jumper, Clifford Estes, and James Williams. They are charged with many responsibilities from day to day in the deliverance of the paper.

First they must realize that their paper route is a job, not a plaything, and must appear at the regular time to get their papers to be delivered, second they must secure payment from you for that service. Sometimes that is not an easy job, you may not be at home when they call or many other reasons; still they must collect for their papers so that they may pay their paper bill. This teaches them responsibility, as well as giving them experience in meeting the public.

Give a little thought to the important part that these young business men play in your everyday life and show that appreciation on their day.

Girl Wrestler Loses One Arm

Miss Bolver said she drove three miles for help with her almost-severed arm in her lap after colliding with a coal truck.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (UP)—Senate - House tax conferees have given a break to pipe smokers—but not cigarette puffers.

House conferees accepted a Senate amendment providing a reduction from 18 to 10 cents a pound for smoking tobacco, chewing tobacco and snuff.

But the tax bills passed by both House and Senate provide a one-cent-a-pack boost for cigarettes.

Dr. G. C. Boswell, president of Ranger Junior College, has been appointed to the board of directors of Texas Southern University at Houston, by Governor Allan Shivers.

Dr. Boswell received his appointment as a director to the nine man board, October 5, from Governor Shivers in Austin. Dr. Boswell was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dr. M. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian University.

The board consists of nine members for the colored University made up of three professional, three business and four school men. The board is made up of both the Negro and white race, with the white members being in the majority.

JIM COMACHO SCORES THREE TIMES TO SPARK THE VICTORY

The Ranger High School Bulldogs put a "double whammy" on the Hamilton Bulldogs as they defeated them at Hamilton last night 27 to 6.

The "double whammy" sums up to the fact that the Ranger squad battered and banged the previously undefeated Hamilton team all over their own field, much to the humiliation of the Hamilton team and fans.

Hamilton elected to receive the ball on the opening kickoff and Ranger took the south goal with the wind to their back. Comacho put his toe into the ball on a long booming kick that carried nearly to the Hamilton goal line; then the mayhem started. J. L. Barnes drew the first blood when he popped Glenn Moore of Hamilton—and was trying to block him for the Hamilton runner, so hard that Moore retired from the game, that one attempted block being his total play.

John Rush, replacing Donald Varner at the center position, recovered a Hamilton fumble after Hamilton tried unsuccessfully to gain yardage for three downs, giving the Ranger Bulldogs the ball on Hamilton's 38 yard line.

From there Jimmy Comacho made two runs, gaining 6 and 18 yards, Billy Moreland carried twice gaining 9 and 4 yards, and Comacho took the ball over from the 10 yard line for the first Ranger tally. Cole held and Comacho kicked the extra point, putting Ranger ahead, 7 to nothing.

For the rest of the first quarter Ranger was content with romping all over the Hamilton team on ground gaining plays.

The Hamilton Bulldogs made their only score, and their only threat in the second quarter when the quarterback "Ike" Tensionn passed to end Leon Watson from Rangers twenty yard line for the six points, failing to convert the TD.

Play in the remainder of the second quarter was limited to good gains on superb ball handling by quarterback Jimmy Cole. Jimmy Comacho made the first of his twisting, turning long scoring runs in the third quarter when he climaxed a sixty yard drive with a 35 yard scoring ruckish beautiful blocking by the entire Bulldog team. Comacho's try for the extra point was good and Ranger took a larger lead in the third quarter of 14 to 6.

Again it was Comacho in the third quarter on a long seemingly impossible 75 yard sprint. Comacho crossed his own line of scrimmage on the twenty five yard line, cut around would be Hamilton tacklers, nearly got caught, reversed his field and went to the twenty, where he was tagged by two Hamilton tacklers, only to break away from them and go on to score and kick the extra point. That seventy five yard scoring run had the fans on both sides of the field on their feet and yelling. Ranger made that score after taking the ball after a Hamilton kick on their own five yard line.

Ranger kicked off to Hamilton who fumbled a few plays later on their 20 yard line to big Bob Smith of Ranger. Here Eddie Wallace came in to give Jimmy Comacho a much deserved breather, and he and Gerald Bagwell and Don Browning gained 18 yards on to carry each to put the ball on the Hamilton 2 yard line. There Jimmy Cole too the ball across for the tally. Comacho came back in the ball game to try for the extra point, his kick was high enough, but wide to the right. That ended all scoring for the night.

The Ranger line-up was somewhat different from that usually played by Coach Warden and Alis John Rush was in the center slot for Donald Varner, who moved to left tackle for the night. Replacing Charles Massague at the half back slot was Gerald Bagwell.

The entire Ranger line gave the highly touted Hamilton line more than they bargained for all

NO SURVIVORS BY WILL HENRY

Copyright 1950 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with the publisher, Random House, Inc.

DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Distasteful to the Army's Indian policy, John Clayton, civilian scout, leaves Fort Keener, only to discover Indians are planning an attack. He returns back to the fort, but despite his warning a detail is sent out for breakfast. Captain Fetterman is sent out to protect the trail. Clayton was sent to lead off Fetterman who is heading into an ambush.

VIII

A FIERCE cry echoed from 2000 red throats. The Indian horsemen surging like a flood up the ridge, engulfing the blue-coats on every front.

The Minnicjau, under Thunder Hawk, struck the mounted troops first, driving them back through the foot soldiers and up the ridge beyond them. Here the pony soldiers dug in. Below them, the walk-a-heaps took to a cluster of small rocks on the otherwise naked ridge. Their muzzle-loaders began a serrated, hopeless volley.

Arrows filled the air like swarming locusts. Suddenly a lone Minnicjau warrior drove his pony clear through the pitiful group burrowing out the far side of it, sliding his pony on its haunches, wheeling, spitting the air with the Sioux cry, "Hoo! Let's go!" His feet had breached the dam of soldier invincibility, his command loosed a flood of death through it. Directly into the muzzle of the 40 rifles, the Sioux charged their frantic ponies. There were moments then of furious action with knife and war club and ax. A scattering of the high screams of dying men.

And then an utter silence on the lower ridge.

The action could not have exceeded 15 minutes so far. Now the warriors released by the massacre of the infantry went whooping up the hill to join their allies. Apparently in command, every bluecoat in the ranks released his horse. The animals broke back for the fort with a rush. For a moment my heart leaped. If the Indians went after the horses the troops might reach the top of the ridge, where a circle of waist-high boulders offered some chance to stand off the attackers. The ruse worked and I cheered Fetterman, silently.

The whole pack of savages went yelling after the big, valuable horses of the white men. With the minutes of respite thus gained, Fetterman worked his command up into the boulders atop the ridge. At this point the Indians came racing back, the attack resuming, full fury.

If Fetterman had found a place to make a stand, he had also found one from which there was no escape. At this spot was no more than 30 feet wide, falling away in dizzy lee-patched slopes in three directions, with a gently rising slope behind. This slope was covered with savages, while at the bottoms of the other three declines waited the remainder of the horse. My own position was in the exact middle of the left-wing of the attackers.

One branch-crack or audible movement would have brought me swift and vicious death.

THE Indians, forced to hesitate by the breechloading carbines of the pony soldiers, contented themselves momentarily with firing showers of arrows into Fetterman's position. But all the while they were working up closer and closer under the rim of the ridge.

I now heard them calling back and forth to one another over the heads of Fetterman's men.

Like lightning then, a Minnicjau chief, Lone Fox, leaped from cover, exposing himself to the rifles of the soldiers, shouting exultantly, "Hoo! Let's go."

Go they went, like released red arrows, flying in among the boulders, stabbing, branding, unceremoniously their enemies at hand's length.

The last white man to die was an officer, whom I believed to be Fetterman, who broke clear of the slaughter, backing up the ridge, swinging his carbine and firing crazily, shouting aloud as he went. White Bull rode him down, driving a war arrow squarely through his chest.

Then there was no sound except that of the Indians quarreling over the trophies among the dead.

I buried my face in the frozen mud and snow where I lay.

I WAS aroused by the far-off claxon of an Army bugle. A few minutes and Captain Ten Eyck appeared at the top of a high hill overlooking the battlefield. He had taken over an hour to arrive. Fetterman did not need his relief.

I believe the lives of this new command were spared by one of those weather changes which scourge the northern plains. In 15 minutes the temperature plummeted 20 degrees; a bitter wind full of icy snow rode swiftly in to blanket the dead with a merciful sheet of white. The Indians picked up their own dead, departed for the war camp on the Tongue. Their medicine men had promised them 100 white men slain. They had slain 100. It was time to go.

Sickened by the carnage on the hill, frozen to the marrow by the intense cold, stiff from not moving for an hour, half a mile from my horse, surrounded by battle-drunk hostiles, I found myself in but temporarily better position than my dead fellows.

A single file of mounted warriors loomed out of the swirling snows on my left. In the lead came a dozen braves, then a string of led-ponies bearing the corpses of the fallen.

It would be hard to say which force was the more surprised but I got in my introductions first. The right-hand revolver opened for me. I missed one of them, but five were down before the fight started. Just as the others rushed me, I thought I saw a new figure join their ranks, a bolt upright chief in black wolf-skin, riding a black horse. My thought was, "Crazy Horse. Where did he come from...?" Then a stone ax crashed into the side of my skull and I knew no more.

Communion Service For First Christian

The Sunday morning service at the First Christian church of Ranger has been designated as World Wide Community Sunday with the pastor speaking on the theme: "A River from God" at the 11:00 a. m. worship service.

World Wide Communion Sunday is an international church event and is observed in thousands of churches around the world on the same date to emphasize the fact that Christian people are united everywhere in their recognition of Christ as Lord and man's need for communion with God through the Son.

This special day has grown in significance in recent years and it is urged that all the members and friends of the First Christian church will be present for the service of worship and communion this Sunday.

The Church School will meet prior to this service at 9:45 a. m. This Sunday, the beginning of the fall quarter, will see a new Church School class organized for those of primary age. This includes youths from grades 1-3 in the public schools.

The evening service at the First Christian church is held at 7 p. m. The pastor's topic this evening will be "The First Brass Band" and is taken from verses 5 and 6 of the tenth chapter of First Samuel. This service features fellowship singing and devotions along with the pastor's sermon and is designed to be informal and one in which you may share for a spiritual blessing.

The Christian Youth Fellowship will meet at 8 p. m. for their program and refreshments.

Presbyterian To Hold Centennial Of Snod In Austin This Week

AUSTIN, Oct. 7 — Members of 359 Presbyterian Churches U. S. in Texas were invited this week to select lay delegates in addition to ministers to attend the 100th meeting of Synod, which will be held in Austin October 9-11. The Rev. E. Matthew Lynn, moderator of Synod and pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Midland, issued the invitation. Synodical, the state organization of Presbyterian women, will meet at the same time.

Special emphasis is being placed on attendance at this meeting of Synod because it marks the centennial of the state organization of the Presbyterian Church in Texas. One hundred years ago this month, seven ministers representing the 36 Presbyterian churches then in existence in the state met in Austin to formulate Synod. This month the 81,077 members of the church in Texas will join in commemorating the anniversary.

Of this membership, 41.4 per cent live in cities of more than 100,000 population. Total membership figure for churches in Dallas is 11,954; Houston, 8,672; San Antonio, 5,652; Fort Worth, 2,999; and Austin, 2,665.

Research data gathered in an evaluation survey conducted as part of the centennial observance show that the church has made its greatest strides in Texas cities in the last 30 years.

From 1920 to 1950, total number of churches in cities over 100,000 increased from 17 to 53. Only one church was dissolved in a city of this size.

In cities with populations from 25,000 to 100,000, number of churches increased from 11 to 23, and in the 10,000 to 25,000 bracket, from 17 to 36. No churches were discontinued in those cities.

Rural and small-town churches, though, have not had the stability of city churches. Approximately one out of every three such churches was dissolved between 1920 and 1950.

Last year, more than 43 per cent of total contributions to the church in Texas came from members in cities over 100,000.

Synod's leaders have planned a critical appraisal of the Presbyterian Church in Texas as the theme of the meeting. A research committee, headed by John D. Moseley of Austin, spent four months conducting an intensive survey of church growth and the work of ministers and officers.

Seven Austin churches will be hosts for the three-day meeting. Dr. Malcolm L. Purcell of Bellaire is stated clerk of Synod, and E. A. Dean of Austin is executive secretary-treasurer.

Historical exhibits compiled for the meeting will depict the 100-year growth of Presbyterianism in Texas and contain pictures, histories, and records of each of Synod's churches and institutions.

The 20 Texas churches more than 100 years old will be specially honored at the meeting. They will be allotted display space in the historical exhibit, and their elders will assist at Synod's luncheon service.

The centennial churches recognized are the First Presbyterian Churches of Houston, Austin, San Antonio, and Dallas; First Southern Presbyterian Church of Austin; Methodist Church of San Augustine; the churches at Lufkin, Grange, Rusk, Henderson, Vicksburg, Cuero, Caldwell, Brownsville, Kilgore, Palestine, Cameron, Huntsville, and Lavaca.

Texas State Fair Opened Saturday

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (UP)—The 1951 edition of the State Fair of Texas opened here today and officials predicted some 2,300,000 persons would pass through the turnstiles before it is closed Oct. 21.

From all other aspects, the fair is being described as the "biggest ever" and if attendance reaches the predicted level, that too will establish a new high.

Probably the biggest day, from attendance standpoint, will come Oct. 13 when 290,000 persons are expected, a large segment of them drawn by the annual gridiron battle between the Universities of Texas and Oklahoma.

A total of nine football games are scheduled for the Cotton Bowl during the fair, the first coming tonight between Southern Methodist and Missouri. SMU will make another appearance Oct. 2 when it meets Rice Institute.

Attorney General Price Danie will head the procession of dignitaries on hand today for formal opening ceremonies.

Before the biggest of all state fairs in the United States closes, customers will spend some $20,000,000. At least that was the figure estimated by the Wall Street Journal as having been spent in the 187-acre show grounds last year.

Acid Bath Was Good Punishment For Burglar

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (UP)—An unfortunate burglar who stumbled into a vat of acid after breaking into a metal planting plant "probably has been sufficiently punished for his crime," sheriff's officers believed today.

The burglar went through a small window at the Lane Planting Works yesterday. He dragged an office safe to the rear of the building and opened it, but it was empty.

He then broke open a vending machine and took $1.05 in nickels.

Officers believed something then frightened the burglar, causing him to run to the rear of the building. Enroute he fell into a vat of muriatic acid used for cleaning metal.

A trail of acid showed the burglar, probably in great agony, frantically searched for a way out. He finally kicked a rear door down and escaped. Ironically a front door to the building was unlocked at the time.

Officers said burns from the acid probably would not be fatal "but he got plenty hot." The burglar never showed up for treatment at any Dallas hospital.

"Why Editors Get Rich"

(Hamilton Herald News)
You can call this "Why Editors Get Rich." A child is born. The attending physician gets $25 and more; the editor gets the young-ster and happy parents a send-off and gets $0. When it is christened the clergy gets $10. The editor gets $3.00 for his write-up. The editor publishes another long-winded article and may perhaps tell a dozen lies about the beautiful, accomplished bride. The clergyman gets another $10 and a piece of cake. The editor gets $3.00. In the course of time she dies. The doctor gets from $25 to $100 more. The undertaker from $200 to $500. The editor publishes the obituary, two columns long, lodge and society's resolutions and gets $3,000. No wonder he's rich.

Bless those veal and beef soup bones! And pamper them for best results. First brown in the oven with onion, carrots and celery leaves. Then simmer all slowly with peppercorns and other seasonings to make a superb stock.

Pin up your pockets, ladies! Big pockets are the highlight of many new dress this Fall and if the dress is plain you'll want to accent the pocket with a big, beautiful pin.

Set off your Fall fruit salads with this gorgeous tasting real mayonnaise dressing. Gently combine real mayonnaise and whipped cream. Add a speck of confectioners' sugar. Then fold in chopped grapes and nuts.

To make good grooming easier for the youngsters, devote two pockets of the shoe bag to "sprucing up" material, one to shoe polish equipment, such as black and brown shoe polishes, a cleaning cloth and brush. In the other pocket goes a clothes brush.

When fresh parsley or celery leaves get that "tired look"—put them in a pan in a warm oven and dry out. Then store in tightly covered jars for soups, stews and gravies.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

Man's ability to succeed in any right undertaking is not entirely dependent upon academics, but on his listening to and following the "still, small voice" of God, declares the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 7. The Golden Text points up this theme in this verse from Proverbs: "The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it."

Further emphasizing the fact that the blessings of God are intended for today is this Bible citation, included in the Lesson-Sermon: "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do" (John 14:12).

From the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read this correlative statement: "Science reveals the glorious possibilities of immortal man, forever unlimited by mortal senses" (p. 288).

Actor Bruce Cabot Shops for Tree

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF., Oct. 5 (UP)—Actor Bruce Cabot went shopping for a tree today—part of his obligation to the city on a plea of guilty to a charge of being drunk in an auto for which he was fined $100.

The film player, arrested Aug. 27 on a drunk driving charge when his car smashed into a tree, first pleaded innocent and asked for a court trial. But when he appeared in court yesterday he entered the guilty plea to the lesser charge of drunk in an auto.

With a 90 day suspended jail sentence, police Judge Charles Griffin placed Cabot on a year's

Publisher's Son OK's Annulment

EL PASO, Oct. 6 (UP)—Geo. R. Hearst, oldest son of the late publisher, said in Juarez, Mexico, yesterday that an annulment of his marriage to his fourth wife because of a technicality will be allowed to stand.

He had been separated from his fourth wife, Sandra Rambeau Spender, for three months. They were married March 12.

The two were married the same day Hearst obtained a divorce from his third wife, Sally Alvarez Kirkham Hearst.

Mexican law requires a 24-hour wait between a divorce and marriage. District Attorney Raymond Lugo said he discovered the "irregularity" during a routine check of records.

Hearst appeared in Juarez yesterday at an annulment suit filed by Lugo. Mrs. Hearst was not in court.

Old Man Loses His Life Savings Of $10,000

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6 (UP)—A bearded, 74-year-old veteran waited in a shelter for homeless men today while authorities sought to find his life savings of $10,000 he said he lost from his overall pocket.

Bernhart Levyson appeared at the booth run by the Traveler's Aid Society in Union Station here yesterday. He was penniless and clad in a pair of dirty blue-and-white striped overalls.

He told the director, Miss Mary Messerley, that he had withdrawn $700 in cash and $9,000 in government bonds from the People's Bank and Trust Co., at Van Buren, Ark., a few days ago.

He said he was carrying the money and bonds in the pocket of his overalls and believed that someone had stolen the bundle from him.

Miss Messerley checked with the Van Buren Bank and confirmed that a man named Levyson who fitted the description of the bearded oldster had withdrawn the cash and bonds from the bank.

Cashier Del Miller told her that Levyson came to Van Buren about two years ago. He was picked up for vagrancy, but police soon discovered his savings and they convinced him to put the funds in the bank.

Levyson appeared confused as he told his story. He was unable to explain the source of his savings except that he received a $90 monthly pension for service in the Navy during the Spanish-American War.

He said that soon after arriving in St. Louis he took a bus to a "very small town" nearby. There he found a bank and deposited the money with it, he said.

Several banks in Illinois and Missouri were checked, but none of them remembered the deposit Levyson said he made.

RANGER—

night. Barnes, Mendoza, Varner, Hargrave, Cantrell, Tune, Rush, Williams, Hill, and Wheeler, met the Hamilton team more than half way all night to show them that Ranger was not down there for their health.

Jimmy Cole directed the entire game at the quarterback slot for Ranger calling just the right plays at the right time, to set up all the Ranger scores. Cole displayed game winning precision with his quick hand-offs to Bagwell, Moreland, and Comacho.

Mendoza, Barnes and Varner, were very outstanding on defense for Ranger. Varner was in the linebacker position on defense and he would be at the right place at the right time to scuttle the works for the Hamilton Bulldogs. Barnes and Mendoza never let up all night on their fine aggressive, offensive and defensive playing.

The Ranger reserves came in to show that they can contribute much of the team. Seeing action for the first time this year was Billy Don Browning, who made some good gains at the half-back position, and Harlin in at the right tackle position for Barnes.

Eddie Wallace, Scott Forney, Jerry Simmons, Alfred Black, Jimmy Wheeler, Eddie Joe James and Bob Smith all saw a lot of action last night and turned in good work at their respective positions.

Playing just as hard, and working more, but still not on the field was Charles Masegee. Charles was unable to play after spending the last two weeks under the weather with a virus infection. Jack Allen has also been afflicted with an infection and was not able to suit out. Both of those boys saw the game, but Bobby Justice was unable to make the trip after his operation, and will have to listen to a recount.

Not a Ranger fan voiced disappointment on the spirited, fighting, smart ball game the Bulldogs played Friday night. Jimmy Comacho was in his best form of the year at Hamilton, gaining more than his share of the yardage.
