First A-Bomb Exploded In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. Oct. 22 (UP)—The initial explosion in the nation's first atomic combat maneuver was set off shortly after dawn today.

The blast of the seventh atomic explosion within the continental United States rocked the Frenchman Flat Atomic Proving Grounds at 6 a.m. PST, (9 a.m. EST), the Atomic Energy Commission announced.

Until the announcement, watchers in Las Vegas, 65 miles south of the firing site, were not aware that the explosion had gone off as scheduled this morning.

There was no blinding flash in the sky, perhaps because the sun had already lighted the sky to a light grey.

No "A" was there any rumbling, rolling series of bombs nor any shock waves such as had accompanied previous test detonations in the first series of A-bomb tests.

The five blasts during January and February of this year all were visible for hundreds of miles—lighting up the skies northwest of Los Angeles, nearly 300 miles away, like a giant flashbulb.

The short statement released by the AEC said:

"One of the nuclear detonations"

Community Chest Meeting Time Changed To Five

The meeting of the Community Chest Directors and the Committee chairman has been set at 5 o'clock instead of 4:00 Tuesday, October 23, as previously announced, according to Charlie Joe Owen, president.

The reason for the change is that there was a conflict with another organization meeting at the four o'clock hour, and the Chest meeting was considered of so much importance that it was thought best to eliminate any conflict.

President Owen stated that it is very urgent that all chairmen of the various committees be present at the meeting Tuesday afternoon and they will be given the list of their committees and asked to contact them and have them at the kick-off breakfast ready to work their lists.

This will be the last meeting of the directors and committee chairmen before the kick-off breakfast and the time for the breakfast will be set at the Tuesday afternoon meeting.

AUSTIN—A call for the condition of all state banks as of the close of business Oct. 10 was issued today by State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner.

TAIPEH, Formosa—The island of Formosa was rocked by 29 violent earthquakes in 16 hour today. Transport and communications were paralyzed along a 200-mile stretch of the east coast.

First reports said "several hundred" persons were killed in towns near Taipei. Government officials feared the final toll may exceed 1,000.

WASHINGTON—The Air Force estimated today that the Communists have built up their air strength in Manchuria to "well over 1200 aircraft," including about 600 jets.

WASHINGTON—The United States "must make certain" that Britain and Egypt "does not jeopardize the rest of the world," according to Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Acheson admitted he is "worried" about the conflict over Suez, but added that the trouble "goes back a long way" and did not pop up suddenly as some people think.

Editorial comment on the appointment by President Truman of an ambassador to the Vatican:

New York Times—President Truman has made a difficult and politically courageous decision.

Putting the whole problem in common-sense terms this is an experiment that is worth trying. It is a curiosity of our contemporary history that the assignment should go to an Army general, but since this was considered desirable one has to concede that Mark Clark is a promising choice.

New York Herald Tribune—A strong case can be made out for establishing regular diplomatic relations—the choice of General Clark, too, was an excellent one.

With all this to be said in favor of Mr. Truman's action, the fact remains that his manner of doing was extremely inept—he needlessly embittered a controversy that is all too divisive.

Texan Killed By Train In Kansas

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 22 (UP)—Richard Duncan, 29-year-old construction worker of Medicineville, Tex., was injured fatally one mile and northwest of Wichita yesterday in the collision of his truck and a Missouri Pacific freight train.

Authorities said Duncan, employed by the G. G. Griffin Construction Co. of Tulsa, Okla., died three hours after the accident of head injuries. He was alone in the two-ton truck, the cab and chassis of which was carried a half-mile down the railroad tracks.

M. E. Bolan, engineer, told Capt. Floyd Schroeder of the sheriff's office that the train was traveling at 60 miles per hour when the truck entered the grade crossing.

Tito Predicts Clash Between China-Russia

TOKYO, Oct. 22 (UP)—Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia was quoted today as predicting a possible "clash" between Russia and Communist China.

Shogo Nakamura, Belgrade correspondent for the Tokyo newspaper Asahi, said Tito made the statement during an interview.

"I can not make a definite prediction," Nakamura said Tito told him. "But from the way the Soviet Union has been acting toward nations weaker than herself and who have more or less been dependent on her, and from the fact that the U.S.S.R. has not taken a lesson from the alienation of Yugoslavia—I have a feeling that there is likely to be a clash between the U.S.S.R. and China." Tito said that there are Chinese Communists who think of China's interests rather than those of Russia, then "antagonism is inevitable."

McMurry Plans Big Homecoming

ABILENE, Oct. 22 — Homecoming for the McMurry College Indians this year will actually be held on a Reservation.

For the first time in the history of the school, the Indian theme will be carried out completely at homecoming activities, Nov. 10.

The Student Association, headed by Dick Richey, senior from Lebanon, Indiana, voted this week to construct an Indian village, on the west side of the campus this year for exes to assemble.

A large wigwag, constructed by the Association will be located in the center of the village, where all exes will be registered. Surrounding the "centerpiece" will be smaller teepees built by individual social clubs and other organizations for their exes to be registered.

A pep rally, followed by the lighting of the ceremonial council fire, will get activities underway Nov. 8. The fire, to be guarded continually by the "Indians" will burn until kick-off time for the Homecoming game, which is slated Nov. 10 with Howard Payne College.

The coronation of the Reservation Princess and Chief McMurry, which officially launches ex activities, will be held at the Student Association wigwag, Nov. 9. At this time also, the traditional beating of the tom-tom, which also continues until kick-off time, will begin.

Narcotic Cache Found In River By Lower Lineman

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Oct. 22 (UP)—Federal Narcotics Authorities sought today to learn if two trunks holding $3,000,000 worth of narcotics have been stolen from a Texas Air Force Base.

The trunks were fished out of the Mississippi River Saturday by a power company employee. Police believed they might have fallen or been pushed from a train passing over a trestle.

They called it the biggest narcotics haul in the northwest.

Deputy Inspector Robert Rydland of the Minneapolis Police Department estimated the narcotics were worth $3,000,000 or more.

One of the trunks, an army footlocker, contained narcotics and a post exchange pass issued by an Air Force Base in Texas, an Army Good-Conduct Medal, and a bar of soap from a Texas hotel.

They said that the name of the pass was the same as that stenciled on the baggage.

The authorities would not reveal the name of the person to whom the pass had been issued or the name of the Air Force Base. They also refused to reveal a full list of the contents of the trunks.

One, however, contained nearly 950 morphine syrettes, each containing a half-grain of morphine—syrrette is a miniature syringe issued to armed service medical personnel for emergency use in the field.

Some of the packages of narcotics were labeled "Property of the U.S."

H-SU Choir Will Be Directed By Euell Porter

When the Hardin Simmons university chapel choir makes its appearance at the Ranger High school auditorium for a concert at 2 p.m. Wednesday, it will be directed by Euell Porter, former president of the Texas Music Educators' association.

Porter has given the Southwest music which has emphasized the dark choral tones of singing, a quality which Porter teaches and believes to be particularly appealing to the listener and whose variety of use makes its application practical and necessary.

"Many musicians recognize the usefulness of the organ effects possible, as well as the beautiful symphonic qualities of voice obtainable only with the dark tone," Porter believes.

British Jets On 24 Hour Duty Over Suez Canal

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 22 (UP)—British jet fighters threw a 24-hour protective curtain over the Suez Canal Zone today and tanks supported troops moved to the edge of Suez city as reinforcements poured in by sea and air.

The British seized four railway stations outside Suez, southern gateway to the vital canal, loaded military equipment on special trains and then left the depots as the city waited for occupation.

British military authorities disclosed that an air lift has brought two squadrons of Royal Air Force reinforcements to the Suez Canal Zone directly from Britain. Additional planes were flown in as well.

The first battalion of the Cheshire Regiment landed at Port Said this morning from Cyprus and four light anti-aircraft squadrons also arrived to bolster British power in the Canal Zone.

TRUMAN IGNORES PROTESTS VOICED ALL OVER NATION

By Frank Eleazer

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (UP)—President Truman is ignoring protests of his nomination of Gen. Mark W. Clark to be the nation's first ambassador to the Vatican, White House sources said today.

The historic nomination, sent to an amazed Senate at the height of the adjournment rush Saturday, touched off a political-religious fight that promised to be the hottest since the late Al Smith—a Catholic—ran for president.

Even Mr. Truman's own Baptist minister here condemned the President's action and urged Americans to use "All honorable means" to get Senate rejection of Clark's nomination.

Some Non-Catholic Senators from southern and western states said they were shocked at the action—especially at its timing, with presidential and congressional election contests about to get under way.

One reaction was that Mr. Truman may not intend to run for reelection. This was based on the fact that Protestants outnumbered Catholics in this country by about 2 to 1, and on the presumption that Clark's appointment would lose more votes than it would gain.

Some senators held faint hope that Mr. Truman might change his mind and withdraw the nomination.

But White House sources said Mr. Truman, a devout Baptist, had steeled himself in advance against the Protestant outcries that echoed yesterday from church offices and pulpits.

They said the only question in Mr. Truman's mind now is whether the lanky four-star general can be named to the Vatican post at once under a recess appointment or whether the appointment must be delayed until Congress returns in January.

The decision on this possibly rooted with Clark. Under an 1870 law, Army officers cannot hold civil posts while on active duty. Congress quit Saturday without acting on a last-minute Pentagon request for legislation to exempt Clark from the restriction.

Congress frequently has waived the law.

In a telephone interview with the United Press from Ft. Monroe, Va., late yesterday, Clark said "it was perfectly understood that the nomination would not entail my retirement."

High Catholic sources uniformly praised Mr. Truman's decision to end the 83-year-old break between this country and Vatican City, a 109-acre estate within the city of Rome. They also lauded his choice of Clark, career soldier and commander of the Army Field Forces, who as commander of the 5th Army in World War II led the liberation of Italy. Clark is an Episcopalian.

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, hailed Clark's nomination as "a significant advance in the progress of international understanding . . . everyone who is generally interested in the attainment and maintenance of world peace will hail this action with enthusiasm."

Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, one of the nation's foremost Jewish leaders, said in Cleveland that he saw "no reason why the United States should not have a diplomatic representative there (in the Vatican)."

"The Vatican is an independent political state, whatever else it is and however small," Silver said.

However, one Protestant leader after another denounced the nomination as a disastrous departure from American tradition calling for separation of church and state.

Telegraphed protests also were flowing into the White House mail room, with a flood of letters sure to follow. The White House teleprinter was reported to have clattered all night.

Dr. Edward Hughes Pruden, pastor of Washington's First Baptist Church, which Mr. Truman frequently attended, strongly protested the President's action in a statement he read to his congregation yesterday. He revealed he had tried to head off the move.

"Perhaps our most unique contribution to the world has been the ideal of religious liberty," Pruden said, "and this ideal has found eloquent expression in America largely because we have kept church and state separate."

Dr. Glenn L. Archer, executive secretary of Protestants and other Americans united for separation of church and state, said his organization may go to court with a demand that all Catholic prelates in this country register as "foreign agents."

"If we are going to recognize the Vatican as a foreign power for the purpose of sending an ambassador," Archer said, "we should recognize it as a foreign power in all ways. It can't be a church one minute and a state the next."

Death Of Indians Will Be Probed

CASA GRANDE, Ariz., Oct. 22 (UP)—A coroner's inquest will be held today into the deaths of nine Indians who were killed when a bulldozer blade sliced through the truck on which they were riding like a giant scythe.

Eight women and one man were killed Saturday night as they were riding to a tribal celebration.

Two trucks were passing in opposite directions on a narrow bridge when the 3,600-pound tractor blade caught on the bed of a two-ton stake truck carrying 22 Indians to a celebration on the Papago Reservation.

The blade sliced through the truck, cutting one woman in half and hurling the bodies of the other victims from their truck.

Nine other Indians were injured, including a small boy who suffered a possible concussion.

The crash severed the drive shaft and hydraulic brake lines in the truck carrying the Indians, and truck driver David Henderson of Casa Grande said his vehicle rolled 350 feet before stopping.

Southwest Conference Teams Turn To Mixed Play This Week

Southwest Conference football teams, already acting like they never heard of a form chart, divide their attention between conference and inter-sectional action this week with the cash customers wondering what to expect next. Defending champion Texas and Texas A&M, which had their hopes of opening conference play on a victory note rudely jolted last week, try again against Rice and Baylor, respectively. Arkansas and Texas Christian, the clubs which joined the Longhorns and Aggies, turn to foreign foes. Arkansas plays Santa Clara at Little Rock in the lone night game on the card, while TCU meets Southern California with two title wins while Baylor and Rice had one each. The championship race is now more wide open than ever with every club but Arkansas, with two conference losses, still very much in the running. And, if last Saturday's play was typical of what lies ahead even the Razorbacks might win or share the championship.

This Ought to Smoke Out Something

Another defeat by Texas or the Aggies this week would all but eliminate them as contenders and a loss by either, or both, is far from unresolvable.

For, Baylor indicated it finally had hit its stride in bowling over a Tech Team that only a week earlier had stumped TCU 33-19, and Rice showed surprising strength in stopping SMU on the ground and in the air except for an early first quarter ground surge by the Methodists.

The Mustangs' rest this week-end will certainly be welcomed by Coach Rusty Russell since it will give passing artist Fred Beniers time to recover from a severe hip bruise suffered in the fading minutes of the Rice game.

Russell said yesterday Beniers' injury, suffered when he was swarmed by Rice tacklers and fell into a concrete drainage pipe, was not believed serious but would probably slow the aerial artist for several days.

In TCU, Coach Dutch Meyer's surprising frogs will bump into a club that knocked over the National No. 1 team, California 21-14, Saturday and it will be a rough assignment after the bruising battle against the Aggies.

Arkansas probably will be a slight favorite over Santa Clara, but the Broncos, beaten four times in five starts, showed they had plenty on the ball by forcing unbeaten-untied Stanford to come from behind in the final two minutes to win 21-14.

Ida Lupino And New Hubby On Their Honeymoon

GLENBROOK, Nev., Oct. 22 (UP)—Screen actress Ida Lupino and actor Howard Duff were honeymooning today after a simple wedding ceremony in a rustic Lake Tahoe setting here.

The couple left last night for a week's trip through northern California after the marriage ceremony and a country-style reception attended by residents of the exclusive Glenbrook resort.

Officiating at the exchange of marital vows was District Judge Clark J. Guild, who Saturday granted Miss Lupino a divorce from her previous husband, Collier Young.

The ceremony was performed amidst pine boughs in a picture window at the rented Lake Tahoe home where Miss Lupino had been establishing Nevada divorce residence.

The bride wore an amethyst colored taffeta dress with a hoop skirt. She also wore a diamond heirloom brooch and earrings.

The crew bobbed into New Orleans yesterday on their 12-by-20 foot raft with a successful conclusion to their "practical test of emotional reactions" that started them drifting down the Mississippi at Kensington, Pa.

"If Clark Gable or Tyrone Power had been along," said 24-year-old Geraldine Garcia, "it wouldn't have made any difference." The little strawberry blonde said she was surprised they were all "still speaking."

One of the detonations shook Las Vegas "like an earthquake" and broke four plate glass windows in the city.

Blonde Will Take Teasing For Sight

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (UP)—Blind Nanette Tyson, a pretty 21-year-old blonde, won't mind the teasing of her friends back in Dallas, if she can see them for the first time in her life.

"All my friends tease me and say I'll be completely illiterate after I get my vision," Nanette said yesterday after arriving here for a cerebral operation.

"I can't even read or write," she confessed. Nanette, an accomplished pianist, won an airplane trip to the city on a statewide television program, "Texans Have Talent," at Dallas.

"I have been so lucky, but when the program sponsor (Vitamin Corp. of America) learned Nanette had been saving money for the operation they brought her here."

The young pianist, who reads her score in braille, was accompanied to New York by her mother, Mrs. R. J. Taylor, and a Boxer seeing-eye dog named

THE STORY: Captured by Sioux after the Fortnum massacre, John Clayton, a former scout, falls in love with an Indian holy woman. But since he is prevented from marrying her by taboo, Clayton turns to a private war on whiskey runners. Clayton and some braves destroy some barges owned by an old enemy named Westmeyer, and they take some scalps and one prisoner.

"Yellow Bird!" "Aye, Cetan Man!" "Is my tongue straight?" This in English, of which Yellow Bird understood considerable and spoke a little.

"Aye," nodding soberly. "If I tell this dog I shall spare his life, will it be so?" "Aye."

"Now then my friend," I snapped, "you heard, didn't you? You can talk or have your hair lifted off at the neck. I don't much care which, but it's going to be one foot-eased forward, slipping a foot-long skinning knife out of its sheath as he came. 'Where's Slatemeyer?'"

The man talked. "Slatemeyer's gone north." The words tumbled all over each other now. "Left four days ago."

"Who was with him?" "Passell of Crow Injuns. 'Bout 30."

At this, my braves came alert, their jet eyes glinting in the firelight. "Crow!" snarled Yellow Bird contemptuously. The Crow were the most precious of the Sioux blood enemies.

Slate suddenly recollects who this white feller is. "I know him!" he yells, jumpin' up.

"Well, the Injun goes off. Slate keeps lacin' him with the jug. But now Slate don't seem to care 'bout anything' but this white feller. Don't say nothin' 'bout the wife."

"Finally he gets it outa this chief, that there's a gal in the deal. Some sort of a squaw medicine woman er somethin'."

"Slat of the North," I interjected, tonelessly. "Yup. That's the one. Well, anyway, Slate acts like he already knows all 'bout this here female but when he hears the white man has been grabbin' her he jumps up agin. He grabs this here puny little Sioux and yells at him some 'bout the sounds like 'Hopop' and him and the Injun departs in-stanter."

"Where did they go? Which direction?" My words sang like a strung bow.

"They went east. Then they come back a day later with this here bunch of Crow. This time they hit out north, the whole ka-boodle of 'em. There was 'bout five, six days ago. Slate said he'd be back in a week and when we asked him what if this here guy comes after the whiskey while he's gone, he says, 'Jest don't worry same 'bout that, I'll be back in plenty of time fer him.' Peers like this little Sioux done told him the feller wasn't aimin' to come down until the grass was up short."

"Well, there was one piece of good luck, anyway. The Mque had left before I changed my plan. 'Anything else?'"

"Well, no, 'ceptin' I never seen Slate so kicked-up 'bout anything'. He ain't peckerly what you'd call a happy-jack, ordinarily, but when him and his Injun pals set out to leave, he's grinnin' like a croakydile. He yells back to us, 'Take care of the liquor, boys. I'm bringin' me back a squaw and we'll need ev'ry drop for the wedding party.'"

Nodding, my lieutenant said quietly, "Let us put snow on the fire, Cetan Man!"

RAFT RIDERS END River Journey

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22 (UP)—Two single girls, who drifted 1,800 miles on the raft Lethargia with a pair of "responsible" bachelors, said their 97-day trip down the Mississippi River "was not conducive to romance."

"We were just too busy for any tender moments," said the pretty 24-year-old skipper, Mary Ellen McCurdy of Washington, D. C., "we were all inexperienced and had to be watchful on the river."

Film Of Holy Land To Be Shown Wed.

The First Christian church of Ranger is to have the pleasure of showing a film of the Holy Land on Wednesday night at 7:00 p.m. of presenting Prof. E. E. Stringfellow of Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa who will show a series of films taken on a trip to Egypt and the Holy Land last Spring.

Prof. Stringfellow is a visiting professor at Texas Christian University this year filling the vacancy of Dr. Reed, who is well known in Ranger. Mr. Stringfellow has been a member of the faculty of the graduate school at Drake since 1914 and is regarded as one of the outstanding New Testament scholars in the Christian church. His texts: "Gospels" and "Acts and Epistle" are standard textbooks for student preachers in all Christian church schools. Each of these books contain his own translations of the New Testament and original notes on the texts. Prof. Stringfellow is a graduate of Drake University and Princeton University Graduate School; and, prior to his teaching career at Drake was a member of the Princeton faculty.

The films to be shown Wednesday night will be those taken on a trip taken last spring to Egypt, where the Stringfellows visited with their daughter, who is in YWCA work in Cairo; and to Palestine where outstanding localities from the original New Testament record were filmed.

The public is extended a cordial welcome to come and share in this outstanding program. There will be no admission charged and it is anticipated that this will be one of the best programs in the new series of "Fun Nights" to be held at the First Christian church each month. Come and bring your friends for a good program and a fine evening's entertainment.

Path Cleared For Work On New Service Housing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (UP)—Housing officials said today that the "logjam has been broken" in the government's program to provide low-rent housing for servicemen and defense workers in overcrowded defense areas.

The big break in the housing program, which long has been stalled in the blueprint stage, came Saturday when Congress finally put up the necessary funds.
"We'll be moving fast from now on," said one official of the housing and Home Finance Agency.

Hit 'n miss

By DON NORRIS

Ranger and Comanche are presently riding at the top of the District 2A-10 totem pole. Comanche bumped Eastland Friday night in what was reported to be a free-for-all, with the Mavericks scoring only six of the forty-one points for the night.

The Bulldogs have a week off before bumping with Eastland a week from this Friday.

In other district games Eastland will meet Dublin at Dublin and Comanche and Cisco will tangle. If Eastland should overcome Dublin, which is doubtful, and Cisco Ranger will have a good night by not playing.

Our wishful thinking could give the Bulldogs a head start that they don't deserve.

The Bulldogs naturally play under a handicap against all their district opponents, in that they are the title defenders, and everyone wants to knock off the top dog. Being ranked as the number two team in AA for this region may place more desire on their opponents for a w.c.

When playing Ranger these other teams play just a little bit better than they usually would otherwise. That's the case in anything, it is always an honor to beat the best.

In holding the Del Mar eleven to forty points and coming in for fourteen of their own, the Ranger Junior College Rangers have shown that they are yet to be reckoned with in the title play in the Pioneer Conference. Del Mar was ranked as the number four junior college team in the nation.

After all that lightning last night what little rain fell would not show on the rain gauge here at the Times. It sure looked as if the bottom would drop out, but as usual nothing came of the "looks."

Pete Brasher, president of the junior college execs said that the homecoming this year will be different than it has been in recent years. The Execs will have a banquet at the Community Club-house for themselves only, and will conduct their business at the banquet. The homecoming this year should be bigger and better than previous ones. There are many more execs and better goings on are planned to arouse interest.

Lasso Is New Safety Device

CHICAGO, Oct. 22 (UP)—Policeman Harry Larson put his lasso back on the shelf today but it's handy in case an old friend of the patrolman gets loose on Chicago's streets.

Larson received a call Saturday to "hurry out to Canal and Taylor streets there's a mean horse running around wild like."

He took his rope along and from a safe distance looped a noose around the horse's neck and led it back to its stable.

Three months ago he tried to capture the same horse without a lasso and ended up with the horse's imprints on the seat of his blue uniform.

Church Collapses During Prayers For Eva Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 22 (UP)—At least nine persons were killed and 30 others injured, 16 seriously, when the dome of the 80-year-old church of St. John the Evangelist collapsed yesterday during prayers for the health of Eva Peron.

The lives of many of the 500 persons were saved when Father Pablo Tavani noticed bits of debris falling from the ancient dome and shouted a warning. The congregation rushed for the doors.

Shortly before the dome fell 800 children had been in the church at an earlier mass.

Corporal Fails At Extortion
AUSTIN, Oct. 22 (UP)—A 24-year-old Bergstrom Air Base corporal was questioned by police today after being trapped in an attempted extortion of $2,500 from an Austin business man.
No charges have been filed.

Church Collapses During Prayers For Eva Peron
The soldier was arrested last night by City Detective George Smith when he walked into a used-car lot and asked for an envelope supposed to contain the $2,500 extortion money.

Church Collapses During Prayers For Eva Peron
Ben Neuman, operator of an Austin and Georgetown clothing firm, called police after receiving an anonymous phone call Saturday threatening his two children, Sam 9, and Gay, 15.
Neuman was told to deliver the money to a car lot Sunday night after the caller asked, "are your children worth $2,500?"
A second, similar call, was received later at Neuman's home. The soldier protested his innocence and said he was acting for another person who sent him for the money.
Employees of the used car lot had cooperated with City Police and Texas Rangers in trapping the soldier.

Bucking the Line of Scrimmage—
... if we may borrow from football parlance, is the sort of exercise that toughens fibre and prepares the participant for heavy duty ahead. As in sports, so it is with those who attain success in life. The weak falter while the strong survive. Getting the job done is bucking the line, a sure demand of the public in business life. Some call it success, but we like to think of it as a lot of hard work. In a nutshell, that's it!
