

SEEN OR HEARD

Local golfers should be polishing up their clubs and heading for the fairways. The weather is right and they are planning a tournament to add interest to the regular Sunday afternoon play.

James Townsen was here this morning and told us about the one to be held this Sunday.

From what we gather the course is in top shape for this time of the year just waiting to be used.

There also may be a revival of the inter-city competition as conducted last year if enough interest is shown by the golfers of Ranger.

The club not only has the golfing, but offers to its members the fishing privileges of Lake Hagaman, a very nice clubhouse, and other activities staged by the members.

Each year the club stages an annual invitation tournament which has grown to be one of the best in this section of the state, if not the best. Top-notch golfers from all over come here each year to play in the Ranger Invitational.

This local handi-cap tournament gives each of the members playing an opportunity to win regardless of what score they shoot. Starting with par their score is figured on a ratio that gives them equalizing them with better golfers. Last week's cup was won by Charlie Joe.

We can vouch for one RJC football player's condition came football time last year. Dale Hatley is helping the program. Hack Berry, and by the time next fall rolls around if he is not broken, he will be made.

For the past few days our existence down here has been brightened with the enthusiasm of youth. Jo Ann Dennis, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis, has been staying with them while her mother is recuperating from an operation.

Jo Ann lives in Lubbock, but seems to have made herself right at home.

The other day we asked her if she had ever seen any "type lice," not having done so she went seeking them. She was put off that morning until the afternoon, we never did find out if she was ever shown the "lice."

Costly Statistics

Does a telegraphed questionnaire get better response than one sent by mail?

The National Production Authority apparently believes it does, for it has just telegraphed 11,000 business concerns for employment statistics at a cost to taxpayers of about $30,000. Had it decided to use the mails, the agency would have saved $28,000.

NPA says the bureau of Labor Statistics approved the telegraphic method. The Budget Bureau was said to have approved the idea, but reluctantly.

If that is what we are paying for each March 15, then someone has badly misled the public. This was released by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as an example of waste in our federal government.

GI, 69 Koreans Killed In POW Camp Rioting

PUSAN, Korea, Feb. 22 (UP)—An American soldier and 69 Korean civilians were killed and 28 Americans and 142 Koreans wounded in a Communist-led riot in a prisoner compound on Kojima Island off the south coast of Japan Monday, it was announced today.

"Severe fighting" resulted when some 1,500 civilian internees suddenly attacked U. S. security forces with sticks, clubs, tent pegs, horseshoes and other improvised weapons, the Army said. No prisoners of war were involved.

The Army announcement said that the remainder of the inmates totaling about 3,500 did not join the disturbance.

"The situation is quiet and under control and the unrest has not spread to other compounds," the Army said.

The attack began when guards entered the civilian internee compound to keep order while UN officials questioned civilians on whether they wanted to be repatriated to North Korea or released in South Korea.

The Army announcement said apparently the Communist leaders wanted to prevent the questioning and disrupt the screening.

Cattle Heiress Judged Able To Handle Money

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 22 (UP)—Oklahoma cattle heiress Mattie Anderson Knight last night was found mentally competent to handle her $1,000,000 fortune.

A superior court jury that deliberated for three hours ruled in favor of the 46-year-old heiress in a competency action brought against her by her daughter, Mrs. Lou Ann Zellers, 25, of Lake Success, N. Y.

Mrs. Zellers contended during the lengthy trial that Mrs. Knight was addicted to narcotics and drank excessively.

Mrs. Knight denied that she drank heavily and said she had used narcotics only when they were prescribed for her by a physician.

She testified that she believed the action was brought against her because "certain persons" wished to control the fortune she inherited from her father, Sherman Joines.

During the trial, Mrs. Knight filed a $100,000 false imprisonment suit against her daughter, charging that she was kept in a sanitarium for alcoholism against her will.

STORM TORN TANKER REACHES CALM WATERS OFF RHODE IS.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 22—The storm-torn stern of the tanker sheltered waters off the Rhode Island coast today and its 12 "stayput" seamen were expected to be removed from the hulk as soon as it is moored in Narragansett Bay.

The Coast Guard said as it is expected the two tugs puking the battered stern section to enter the bay shortly after 9 a. m. set and anchor the hulk off Jamestown R. I. for removal of the 13 men and the cargo of fuel oil.

At 8 a. m., the hulk was within five miles of the day's mouth and its volunteer crew of 13 neared the end of an ordeal that began Monday when the Fort Mercer and another tanker, the Pendleton, were broken in halves by a nor'easter off Cape Cod. They rode out a second nor'easter aboard the hulk yesterday.

Two barges were sent from New York to unload the machinery from the stern of the vessel and to take off what is left of its fuel oil cargo.

The 13 men of the Mercer stern were the last of 70 men who survived the break-up of the tankers. Fourteen men were lost, 32 were rescued from the drifting stern of the Pendleton and 25 were rescued from the broken pieces of the Mercer.

The men who rode the stern of the Mercer to safety were expected to be called Monday as witnesses at a Coast Guard inquiry which already has heard charges that there was "lack of leadership" in the after section following the break-up.

C. W. Hindley of Houston, a steward and Marine Veteran who was among 21 men taken from the stern, said "no one wanted to direct the handling of the men. There was confusion."

"One guy ran the colors upside down as a distress signal. Another ran around hollering. No one could read codes or even send an SOS," he said.

Hindley said that some of the men who volunteered to stay aboard the hulk of the ship did so "because they were skeptical of rescue attempts" and he thought the officers should have made them leave.

"We had no assurance we wouldn't be hit by another blow," he said, "the best thing to do was to get them off the ship."

Another witness, seaman Julio Molina of San Turce, Puerto Rico, charged that the Captain, Frederick C. C. Paetzl of Houston, refused to listen when he reported an eight-foot hole in the tanker hull.

Paetzl denied that from his hospital bed at Portland, Me. He said there wasn't a hole, only a "crack," and that he sent an SOS immediately.

Paroled Con Who Married Sec'y To Warden Returned

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 22 (UP)—A paroled convict who married the warden's secretary without the State Parole Board's consent has been returned to Oregon State Penitentiary.

The board revoked the parole of Jewel C. Close, 39, who married the secretary to Warden Virgil O'Malley on Jan. 29, just 18 days after he was released from H. M. Hasting, executive director of the parole board, expressed "deep sympathy" for the bride, the former Anne M. Carter.

Randall said Close not only was guilty of marrying "within 24 hours after being instructed not to do so," but also was cited for drinking intoxicating liquor on numerous occasions and driving an automobile without permission.

Mrs. Close, 38, accompanied her husband here late yesterday after the hearing in Portland. She has resigned her position at the prison effective March 1.

Four Navy Fliers Killed In Crash

KINGSVILLE, Feb. 22 (UP)—Four Navy fliers were killed and two other persons injured today when their twin-engine training plane crashed just after it cleared the runway of an auxiliary air station.

The JRB Beecher's trainer plunged into a thicket one and one-half miles from the end of the runway of the Kingsville Naval Auxiliary Air Station's north field.

Two pilots and four passengers were aboard the plane, which was on a routine training flight from the Kingsville station, its home base.

A board of investigation was appointed immediately. Naval authorities said.

The crash occurred at 12:10 a. m. (CST) in a brushy area on the King Ranch one and a half miles southeast of the north field.

Senator Calls For Stricter Revenue Laws

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (UP)—Sen. John J. Williams said today stricter laws may be needed to make sure that former Internal Revenue officials wait at least two years before representing defendants in tax cases.

"I thought we had a law to enforce that waiting period," the Delaware Republican said. "But it has been so loosely interpreted by the Internal Revenue Bureau that we may have to plug the loopholes."

Williams said he has asked the Senate's legal experts for an opinion on the "legality" of the hundreds of "waivers" which the Internal Revenue Bureau has granted in recent years to allow former employees to handle tax cases before the waiting period expires.

If the legal staff says the waivers were proper under present law, Williams said, he will introduce stricter legislation to "stop what's been going on."

Williams is particularly perturbed about the 102 waivers which have been granted to the New York law firm of former Internal Revenue Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan.

He told the Senate yesterday that the government has failed to collect "a dime" on a $2,000,000 tax debt owed by four clients of the Nunan firm.

He also asserted that the Revenue Bureau ignored recommendations of its own agents that three of the tax cases be sent to the Justice Department for criminal prosecution.

The four Nunan clients were identified as the Kueberg Brewing Co., Portage, Wis.; the Denmark Brewing Co., Denmark, Wis.; Alvin Barden, Racine, Wis., president of the two breweries, and Lawrence Bardin, Racine, general manager of the firms.

Government's Right To Suspend Airline Service Is Challenged

By Charles Corddry
United Press Aviation Writer
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (UP)—Can the government force an airline to quit serving a city or group of cities?

Its power to do so was under challenge today in San Francisco and Chicago Appeals Courts. Attorneys predict that the supreme court eventually will have to decide the question.

The outcome will have an important influence on past and future Civil Aeronautics Board decisions affecting major cities across the country. The board is "re-aligning" the nation's air route system through the device of suspending trunk airline services at various cities and substituting feeder, or local service, airlines.

The 9th Circuit Court at San Francisco stayed the board's latest suspension order on Tuesday and is expected to hand down a decision on the agency's powers within about 60 days. Western Air Lines appeared as "unconstitutional confiscation of property" a board order to suspend certain services through Southern California and Arizona, specifically at El Centro, Cal. and Yuma, Ariz.

When it suspended Western, the CAB handed Bonanza Airlines, a feeder line, an 856-mile route from Phoenix to San Diego and Los Angeles.

Island Only 150 Miles South Of Russian Border

United Press Staff Correspondent
8th Army Headquarters, Korea, Feb. 22—South Korean Marines have smashed an attempt by nearly 1,000 Communist troops to capture allied-held Yang Island off the Korean east coast, only 150 miles south of the Soviet border, it was announced today.

The South Koreans, commanded by a United States Marine officer sank 13 of the 20 Communist invasion sampans, downed 70 Reds, killed seven others and captured six in a 34-hour battle ending at 11 a. m. Thursday.

The Marine defenders numbered only about 200 men.

The Red battalion commander was among the prisoners. A Korean Naval Communique issued at Pusan said that the South Koreans also captured three rocket guns, 17 Russian-made sub-machine-guns and 41 rifles. It was not announced whether the attackers were Chinese or North Koreans.

The Communiqué said nine South Koreans were killed and six wounded in the battle.

Disclosure of the invasion attempt was the first indication the allies still held any terrain so far north. Yang Island lies off Seogjin, between the 40th and 41st parallels and nearly 150 miles north of the Korean battlefront.

An 8th Army communique reported only patrol action along the 40th-mile main front across the waist of Korea. No more than a platoon was involved in any single skirmish.

In the air, 35 American Sabrejets headed off 60 Communist MIG-15 jet fighters as they crossed the Yalu River Manchuria frontier into Northwest Korea and damaged one of them in a dog-fight at 40,000 feet.

Major William F. Shaeffer of Des Moines, Ia., said he hit an Mig's right wing, rudder and fuselage and saw the plane trailing smoke before he had to break off the attack.

Purina Feed Mill Blast Injures 2 Workers Thurs

FORT WORTH, Feb. 22 (UP)—Two explosions shattered a section of the huge Purina Feed Mill and two workmen were in critical condition today with third degree burns.

A spark from a feed grinder was blamed for the first blast. A second dust explosion quickly followed.

Flames shot from the windows in "solid sheets," witnesses said. The mill is 15 blocks east of downtown Fort Worth.

Steel and concrete were smashed to bits and fragments held in the palm of a hand, said R. E. Cowan, manager of the mill.

The explosions occurred late yesterday on the eighth floor of the mill. The combustible dust-laden air carried flames to other bins in the 11-story structure.

Cowan estimated damage at more than $25,000.

The injured men were Tom Harrison, 44, and L. B. Stroud, 26. Harrison received third degree burns on the upper part of his body, and was the most gravely injured. His clothing was blown off in the blast.

NATO Sets Goal For Pact Army

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 22 (UP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization will try to build a 50-division army and a 3,500-plane air force by the end of this year, it was learned today.

These twin goals for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's expanding armed forces were set by a three-man committee of experts headed by U. S. Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman and have been approved by NATO's Military Committee.

Other suspensions ordered by the CAB include American Airlines at Abilene and Big Spring, Texas, and Continental Airlines at Big Spring.

San Angelo-Arlington Only Two Contenders Left In Pioneer Race

24-2 inside Times and Tel Friday Arlington, Texas, February 19

The Pioneer Conference probably will be at stake Saturday night, when the San Angelo Rams and the Arlington State Rebels, now tied for the loop lead, clash in a conference game at Arlington.

Arlington State gained undisputed leadership of the league last Friday night, by trouncing San Angelo 60-50, but the Reds were upset Saturday, by a vastly improved Schreiner Mountaineer quintet, 61-55, to give San Angelo a tie for the lead.

There is a possibility that the championship will be in doubt until February 27, when the conference season closes. Arlington State can clinch the title by defeating San Angelo this week and Tarleton State next week. On the other hand, San Angelo can take the loop crown by trouncing ASC this weekend and Schreiner in San Angelo, February 27.

There is a possibility that the Schreiner Mountaineers could claim a slice of the title by defeating San Angelo, February 27. Schreiner's upset of Arlington State was the big surprise of Tarleton State 70-53 and their gallant scrap before bowing to Schreiner 78-74.

The Tarleton State Pioneers remain winless in league competition with only two games left on their schedule they could play a big part in determining the league crown if they are able to defeat their traditional rivals, the Arlington State Rebels, next week at Stephenville.

Glen Lewallen San Angelo's brilliant forward continues to lead all league scorers throughout the season with 412 points. He also leads in the conference scoring and 56 field goals and 44 free throws for a total of 152 points.

Fire Fighter Has Gas Well Half Stemmed

RENOVO, Pa., Feb. 22 (UP)—A fire-fighting expert from Texas, his battle apparently half-won today before attempting to cap the wild McGuire gas well in the rich, nearby Leidy field.

Paul (Red) Adair of Houston and his crew planned to await the hardening of concrete around a seven-inch pipeline in the shaft of the mammoth well.

Adair succeeded yesterday in slipping a four-inch "Christmas Tree" valve over the pipeline despite a blizzard which flattened the gas along the ground, increasing chances of fire. Once the pipeline is firmly imbedded in the concrete, Adair then will try to complete the capping operation.

He will run a pipe from the valve to a manufacturer's pipe line a short distance away in order to seal off the gas well completely.

The valve cost only 50 per cent of the pressure from the well, which blew in last Friday with such force it sent its caps flying against a steel derrick, causing a spark which ignited the gas into a flame 150-foot high.

The fire raged until Sunday, then suddenly died out. It flared again on Monday night and flickered out on Tuesday.

According to teenage contestants in the Grand National Bake-off, annual cooking contest held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, dishwashing is the second most important part in cookery. Some 195 winners believed in the "pile-up-and-wash-'em" technique, some the "do-them-as-you-go-along" method—and others just up 'n' told them for 'nother to do.

Ramsey Seeks Second Term

AUSTIN, Feb. 22 (UP)—Lt. Gov. Ilen Ramsey began his campaign for re-election today after announcing yesterday he wanted a second two-year term.

Ramsey, who was elected lieutenant-governor from a field of 12 candidates in 1950, is a native of San Augustine, a lawyer and former Representative and state Senator and Secretary of State of Texas.

Principal duties of the lieutenant-governor include acting as governor in the absence of the state's chief executive and serving as presiding officer of the senate. Because of his power and influence in the Senate, the lieutenant-governor is generally considered one of the state's most important if little-known office holders.

Ramsey outlined a seven-point re-election platform. He called for both economy and honesty in government; less, better and cheaper government; no new taxes; conservation of natural resources; rural telephones at reasonable rates; and a blacktop road to every Texas farm home.

Ramsey was appointed secretary of state by the late Gov. Beauford Jester in January, 1949, after serving as Representative and Senator from San Augustine. He left the appointive state office in February, 1950, to make the lieutenant-governor's race.

It's Tune-Up Time For Outboard Motors; Fishing Season Is Near

If you plan to do any early spring fishing from a boat, it's time right now to bring your outboard out of storage and get it tuned up. Don't wait too long to bring your motor in to your dealer for this service, or you may find him jammed up with last minute business. Possibly you will have to spend Opening Day waiting.

If for any reason you decide to, or have to, take care of the service tune-up yourself, here are the procedures which are normally followed by factory-trained service men:

"First," Olson says, "flush out the fuel system and clean the carburetor. Check the fuel lines carefully to see if any foreign matter has entered and may clog them.

"Clean and adjust the spark plugs. Or, if there is any question about them, buy new ones. Be sure, however, that you get the type specified by the manufacturer. Check your magnet points, too. If they are fouled, dress them, then wipe them clean. Be sure you readjust the gap setting to the manufacturer's specifications.

"Check the propeller for damage. File out or smooth off the small nicks, and note carefully if the blades have been bent to any extent. A damaged propeller may cause your motor to vibrate or run roughly; if the propeller can't be repaired, it should be replaced.

"Remove all the excess oil you left in the cylinders last fall as a corrosion preventative. To do this, ground the spark plug wires and crack the engine several times by pulling the starter cord.

"Drain and flush the lower unit, and refill the housing with whatever lubricant your motor calls for.

"At least once a year—and now is the time to do it—go over the motor and tighten all the nuts and screws. In particular, be sure the flywheel nut is tight."

Unless you enjoy tinkering with your motor, there is usually little need to involve yourself with service problems. Almost always, there is a dealer somewhere nearby who has been factory trained to handle your particular motor. But, while there is no particular shortage of dealers, there are far too many outboards in customers' hands (nearly 2 and one-

Marking Time in the March of Time

... is somewhat like fishing without luck—there's no thrill to it. But there is real thrill in moving forward, serving humbly and doing some one thing well. We never heard of an abstracter getting rich as such, but we have heard of those who have spent a life-time, as we have, building up little institutions that are assets to their communities. Yes, we get a thrill out of every order and a real joy in producing it into a quality product.
