

SEEN OR HEARD

Our rain gauge said that it hasn't rained for the past 24 hours, ending at 8:00 a.m. this morning, although something with a damp feeling was getting everything all wet.

Phil Bullock, educational director of the First Baptist church, denied all guilt of having stopped it from raining, and called this moist stuff "heavy dew."

The temperature averaged last night and yesterday to a low of 46 degrees, from the day's high of 75.

About the only trouble with the precipitation this morning was that there was not enough of it.

One of our local Boy Scout troops went on an outing to "Baby Hagaman" last night. And this morning one of the troop counselors, Dwaine Dennis, said no doubt they had a very enjoyable night communing with nature in a more damp form.

If the Scouts conducted their usual trick of knocking over each other's tents, we will bet they are all at home in bed catching up on their sleep today.

If you are planning to drive somewhere over the weekend please take heed of what happens on these highways in this vicinity and be careful.

We cannot say that rain causes the car wrecks, but we noticed that after a light rain in this vicinity there are usually reports of overturned cars and dead or injured persons.

Just Saturday morning with such a small amount of rain there were two and maybe more accidents on Highway 80 east of Ranger.

Why don't you join Mrs. Gus Lurania, Margie Maddocks, and Mrs. H. A. Cogburn who have filled out and turned into the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office the coupon on page one of the Ranger Times denoting their intention of giving blood.

The giving of one pint of blood for the Armed Forces seems such a small price to pay compared to what the GI's that are in Korea are doing for us. We would sure hate to see one of them go lacking for a pint of blood.

Fill that coupon in and RUN, don't walk, to the Chamber of Commerce office with it Monday.

Important Meet Firemen Monday

Volunteer Fire Chief Virge Johnson of the Ranger Volunteer Fire Department stated that there will be a meeting of the firemen Monday night.

Johnson stated that this meeting will be of a very important nature and that all volunteers are urgently requested to be present.

Marshall Newcomb's Washington Birthday Address Given Feb. 19

(Editors Note: This is an address made before the Masters' and Warden's Association of the 13rd Masonic District, Annual Washington Day Program, February 19, 1952 in Ranger, by Marshall Newcomb, who is the General Counsel for the Lone Star Gas Company of Dallas, and is Pentate of the Dallas Shrine Temple of that city.

"REMOVE NOT THE ANCIENT LANDMARK, WHICH THY FATHERS HAVE SET" (Proverbs 22:28)

It is good to be with you, You see—I know that I am in good company. I know, in short, that yours and mine is an oath-bound brotherhood of free men—under the All-Seeing Eye—of the Supreme Architect of the Universe.

On this basis I can reach out and give you my hand and call blessings down upon you from the God whom I worship and whom I serve. And I thank God tonight that our strong venerable order still stands—still flourishing—and still serves God and man. It is well that at this season we turn our thoughts to the yesterdays—to the days of George Washington, when our land was being settled and our nation was breathing the first breath of life. It is well to do this because at that time and under the conditions then existing certain fundamental and imperishable principles were enshrined in our basic philosophy of life and of government which need

Garrison Commends Cut In Truck Overloads; Self-Policing Plan Reduces Weight Violations 85%

AUSTIN, Feb. 18—Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., today expressed appreciation of an 85 per cent reduction in violations of the overloading law by Texas truck operators.

The Department of Public Safety director attributed greater law observance to co-operation on the part of Texas Motor Transportation Association, whose members last year set in motion an industry "self-policing" program.

"We appreciate the co-operation given by Mr. W. W. Callahan, chairman, and the other members of T.M.T.A. Policy Committee, in encouraging those in the trucking business to comply with the State's laws," Garrison said in a letter to Col. James E. Taylor, executive director of T.M.T.A., "and progress has been made."

Callan, a Waco truck operator, is chairman of the T.M.T.A. committee which is in charge of the self-policing program.

Taylor expressed gratification at the vast improvement in law observance on the part of truck operators. Speaking for the motor transportation industry, he pledged continued efforts, not only to promote compliance with the weight law, but to encourage good courtesy and safety practices on the highways, and generally to give Texans the best possible kind of truck service.

Reports of The Department of Public Safety were quoted by Garrison to show how the motor carriers were improving their law observance record. He noted that:

During the period September 1 through December 31, 1950 there were 4,309 trucks found to be guilty of overloading out of a total of 40,157 inspected. For the

Texas Firefighter Has Wild Gasser Under His Control

RENŌVO, Pa., Feb. 23 (UP)—One brief operation remained today to tame the man-made, unpredictable McGuire natural gas well, which flared into flame twice and defied experts for six days.

Workers had only to attach a final 20-foot section of pipeline to a four-ton valve at the mouth of the well to trap escaping gas and divert it 70 feet to the cross-country pipeline of the Pittsburgh Manufacturer's Gas Co.

Paul (Red) Adair, fire fighting expert from Houston, said he did not attempt to cap the well completely with the giant valve for fear the terrific pressure of the well would split the seven-inch pipeline in the shaft. The valve reduced the pressure of the gas, estimated to have a flow of 55,000,000 cubic feet a day, by two-thirds.

The well blew in with a roaring tongue of flame 150 feet high on Feb. 15. Adair flew here two days later for an almost week-long battle with the wild well. He plans to return home today.

Military Air Crashes Take Week's Toll 12

By United Press
Twelve men have died in military aircraft crashes in Texas this week, the latest an Air Force flyer killed Friday night north of Ft. Worth.

Four Naval men died Friday in the crash of a training plane near Kingsville, an Air National Guard pilot died in a second crash near Dallas Friday, and six Navy fliers were killed in the collision of two training planes in flight last Monday from Corpus Christi Naval Air Station. That crash occurred near a radio range station at Rockport.

An F-51 Mustang fighter plane, setting out on a navigational training flight to San Diego, Calif., crashed moments after take-off from Hensley Field, Dallas, killing the pilot.

Farmer Finds Body Of Third Drowned Youth

DENISON, Feb. 23 (UP)—The body of the third of four youths who drowned in Lake Texoma Dec. 8 was found yesterday by an Oklahoma farmer.

He was Harry Kirkin, 18, of Abilene, whose body was found by George Snell on the Oklahoma edge of the lake which borders his farm.

Only last Tuesday the body of Jerry Harrod of Lubbock was found three miles east of where yesterday's victim was discovered. The body of 17-year-old Robert Reed of Odessa has not been recovered.

The first body was found two days after the accident. He was Shirley Thomas of Odessa. The youths were on a boating trip to the lake when high winds caused their boat to capsize.

Percentage-wise, 10.7 per cent of the trucks inspected during the last quarter of 1950 were in violation of the load limit, while for the corresponding period last year (after T.M.T.A.'s "self-policing" program was initiated) the number of violators was only 1.6 per cent of all vehicles inspected. This is an 85 per cent reduction in the number of violations.

Reds Protest Koje Camp Riot Slaying Of 69

PANMUNJŌM, Korea, Feb. 23 (UP)—Communist negotiators yielded to the Allies on troop rotation today, but injected a new issue into the truce talks with a bitter protest against the "massacre" of 69 Reds in the Koje Internment Camp.

The break in the troop rotation deadlock came in staff officer talks on supervision of a truce. The Reds bowed to United Nations demands for rotation of at least 35,000 troops a month during a truce after refusing for more than a week to go above 30,000.

The agreement removed one more obstacle to an armistice, but the Communist "massacre" protest in staff officer talks on prisoners threatened new delays.

Communist Col. Tsai Chen Wen lodged what he called a "serious protest" against the killing of 69 Communist civilian internees and wounding of 142 others by American Security Forces in a riot in a camp on Koje Island Monday.

The Red internees, armed with clubs and knives, killed one American soldier and wounded 23 others before U. S. troops restored order.

So Called Rain Makers Do Not Make Rain, But Increase Fall, Is Statement Made By Hubbard

A group of farmers, ranchers and other interested parties, estimated at between 250 and 300, gathered in the high school auditorium Friday night to hear an address by Ford Hubbard, who discussed what might be termed "artificial" rain.

It seems that very few individuals know anything about this particular science, which is comparatively new in this section. In the North and East, it has gained considerable prominence.

Mr. Ford stated that at this time his company, in Houston has under contract the entire state of New Mexico, and large sections in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Contrary to the views held by most people, the company does not "make it rain." Only the Creator can do this. But after study and many experiments it has been found, he says, that rainfall may be increased.

Soviet General Reports Reds Are Testing A-Bombs

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (UP)—A Soviet major general reported today that the Soviet Union has built and tested "atom bombs of various calibers."

The article was one of many appearing in the Soviet Press on the occasion of the 34th anniversary of the founding of the Red Army. Maj. Gen. Peter Korkodinov discussed the atomic bomb in the newspaper Soviet Agriculture.

"Aware of the jungle customs of aggression," he wrote, "the Soviet government saw to it that our state would not be caught unprepared and that an aggressor will be met with all possible weapons."

"For this purpose, it organized and tested atom bombs of various calibers."

There was no further elaboration.

Olden Plans For Community Night

Olden Community night will be held Monday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m. A large crowd is expected to be in attendance, as a special program has been arranged.

WORLD'S LARGEST—San Francisco's busiest thoroughfare, Market Street, is regarded as the world's largest parking lot as motorists ignore police orders and park four and five abreast down the center of the street. This traffic jam occurred at the Kearney Street intersection. The confusion was brought about by the strike of transportation workers. The Mayor is seeking an injunction against the A. F. of L. car men, who the Mayor says, are rebelling against the public. (NEA Telephoto).

TWO CARS OVERTURN EAST OF RANGER ON SLICK HIGHWAY

A green 1951 Studebaker, driven by Mrs. Ruth Swinford, of Monteca, Calif., left the road and overturned east of Ranger on Highway 80, near the highway leading from Highway 80 to Strawn.

Highway Patrolmen Terry Barrett and Leslie Strawn investigated the accident. Barrett said that the Studebaker was demolished and was probably a total loss.

An ambulance from Morris Funeral Home answered a call to the scene of the accident this morning, and Mrs. Swinford was admitted to the West Texas Clinic for treatment of her injuries. It was not believed that she was seriously injured.

Her destination was believed to be Hot Springs, Ark. The car was facing north and south after the accident, but was heading in an easterly direction toward Ft. Worth before the mishap occurred.

Scouts Planning Monday Meeting

The regular monthly Scout leaders meeting for the North District of the Comanche Trail Council will be held Monday night at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Eastland. Scout leaders and committeemen, and district officers will be present from Eastland, Cisco, Ranger, and Breckenridge.

Homer Smith, the district chairman of the North District, will preside at the meeting. This program is key noted by the phrase of "Forward On Liberty's Team." The program aims at increasing the number of boys reached by the Scouting program and improving the quality of the program they receive.

Following the meal a short talk will be given the group by W. B. Fickens. The subject will be "Scouting Publicizing Other Programs." The group will then be divided into three separate sessions, the District Committee, the Scoutmaster, and the Cubmasters. Other men from Eastland that will be on the program include Bill Jessop who will give the Scoutmaster's instruction on building a fire by film and steel.

Each of the separate groups will have a prepared program. Among the things that the District Committee will discuss is the setting of a date and place for a big Scout camporee to be held in the North District during April.

Stassen Invited To Testify About Howard McGrath

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (UP)—A House Judiciary Subcommittee investigating the Justice Department today invited Harold E. Stassen to submit any "credible evidence" that Attorney General J. Howard McGrath has become a millionaire while in public office.

Chairman Frank L. Chelf (D-Ky.) and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), senior GOP members of the subcommittee, telegraphed the invitation to Stassen, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Cal.) another member of the group, also asked Stassen for what he information he has about McGrath's financial status.

Stassen told a Republican rally in Rochester, Minn., last night that the subcommittee should call McGrath, put him under oath, and thoroughly investigate his finances.

The former Minnesota governor, now on leave as president of the University of Pennsylvania, said that officers of many police departments, including those in New York, Philadelphia and other cities, are required to show their source of income.

U. S. Will Help France Fulfill Pact Armament

UNDER THE AGREEMENT U. S. WOULD UNFREEZE DOLLAR AID

Lisbon, Portugal, Feb. 23—(UP)—The United States agreed today to help France fulfill a rearmament program which calls for 12 army divisions by the end of this year.

Under the agreement, the United States will unfreeze sufficient dollar aid already allocated to France, it was understood.

The agreement, which came after three days of argument, cleared the way for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council to approve an experts' report calling for about 50 divisions and more than 3,500 tactical war planes in Western Europe by the year end.

France said that unless additional American aid was given it would have to scale down its rearmament goal to 10 divisions.

France originally intended to raise 15 divisions, and today's agreement constituted a compromise.

Sabrejet Crashes Near Ft. Worth; Pilot Killed

Fort Worth, Feb. 23—(UP)—An F-84 Sabrejet fighter crashed and disintegrated near here late last night, killing the pilot.

The pilot's name was withheld until next of kin were notified.

The Sabrejet smashed into bits in a plowed field less than 12 miles from the end of its 1,400 journey from Patrick Air Force Base at Coco, Florida, to Carswell Air Force Base Northwest of here.

The pilot's body was clear of the wreckage and an opened parachute, ripped loose from the body, was lying about 25 feet away.

The crash occurred just 200 yards from U. S. Highway 81, on the farm of W. R. Ross.

WTCC BLASTS FEDERAL FUND GIVING FOR TEXAS HIGHWAYS

ABILENE, Feb. 22 — With string attached, the Federal government "granted" Texas this financial year two-thirds of the road money they paid in taxes to the U. S. treasury, according to an article that appeared recently in the Austin American - Statesman that is reproduced in the last issue of West Texas Today, the magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"The Editor's Notebook" in the Austin newspaper contained the following:

"Several weeks ago the Texas Highway Department announced that the federal government has 'granted' Texas $26,581,000 for highway aid in the coming fiscal year.

"The state's program, including $15 million direct appropriation for federal roads, regular state gasoline-tax supported work, and federal matching, runs a little over $100 million a year.

"But the point is that the federal government takes a great deal more than any $26 million out of Texas in road-use and motor vehicle taxes every year, and thus the state gets back a lot less than it contributes in taxes designed to support the highway program.

"Texas fares well in the generous federal 'grants,' with only New York getting more refunds of the money collected from citizens of a state.

"But the federal money comes back with a lot of strings. For one thing, no matter what the state's needs, nor its local road financing program, it is limited to $14,895,046 for construction of primary highways. It is required by a federal fiat to limit secondary and feeder roads to $9,577,221; and it is graciously permitted to ask the government to apply $2,108,933 to expressways and urban projects.

"To get any item of the federal grants, Texas must prepare plans according to federal specifications, award contracts and maintain construction, all subject to federal approval.

"The allocation funds are made in proportion to population and area."

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

Copyright 1951 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Alma Conroy, designer in an exclusive jewelry store, goes to lunch with Joe Denton to tell him wonderful news of her husband Tommy's promotion. Tommy's promotion means more money, but at the same time, they see Tommy, who had told Alma he was going to be out of town, in company with another woman. Joe confesses his love for Alma and says that he wants to marry her if she will leave Tommy. Believing there must be another explanation for Tommy's conduct, Alma gives him a chance to explain and Tommy tells her that he was Myrtle Marchand, expensive business of Brighton, Missouri, son of the president of the firm for which the Conroys and Joe Denton work.

ALMA CONROY avoided the chance of meeting Joe Denton and went directly to her place at the long workbench under the high windows.

An air of unusual excitement pervaded the room, and with an effort Alma recalled the cause. The annual auction of the sweepings under the griddle floor had been held, and the winning bid had been $7000, an unusually large sum. The floor would be taken up that night and as always there was betting among the men as to what the assay of the sweepings would amount to.

"Higgins and Co. will be stuck and my $5 says so!" said a voice. "I've been powerful careful with my tray this season!"

"I haven't blown enough gold to fill a bird's tooth!" said another. Old Victor Blanchard chimed in. "It is really remarkable how very small is the amount we lose. Yet if someone were careless with a big stone today, Higgins might do well!"

"Funny thing, a new firm like Higgins getting in. First time in years that the Mammoth Gold-buying Company hasn't outbid them all." The comment ran on and on.

New work had been laid out for Alma. The pair of clips had been enlarged to what the journeymen called "a litter," a necklace of almost identical pieces which could be separated into clips, a breast pin and bracelets. The stones were mostly medium small diamonds with some sapphires "shavings"—thin stones to be worked off into a floral design. The jewels were not stock but the private accumulation of a customer who wanted them reset. It was a job carrying extra responsibility because the stones did not belong to The House.

Alma was grateful for an absorbing task and set about it with a sort of fury which she hoped would obliterate her personal problems. She did not intend to allow herself to think and she was not going to face Joe Denton.

At noon she refused to go to lunch, but had a sandwich and coffee brought to the bench. She drank the coffee but could not eat, and returned to her labors almost without stopping. From time to time throughout the afternoon, Old Victor watched her anxiously and when just before closing time he got ready to depart, he touched her lightly on the shoulder.

"Stop!" said he. "Everyone is leaving early because of the floor. Come, cherie, you have done enough for the day!" Alma turned heavy eyes on him.

"I'll stay a while," she said, trying to smile, "just long enough to finish this one clip. Please don't urge me, Papa Victor; I really want to do it."

He shrugged and left her, reluctantly, and when he had gone the big room seemed very silent and empty, but Alma was not conscious of the fact. It was only when she felt another presence close to her, that she looked up from her work. Then she saw Mrs. Denton, smiling at her from the wheelchair. "I hope I didn't startle you," said the older woman. "My chair runs very quietly and I sometimes forget it's like sneaking up behind someone on rubber soles."

"Oh hello, Mrs. Denton!" said Alma.

She wasn't surprised, now that the first shock was over, at seeing the cripple there. Mrs. Denton could maneuver her chair with ease and was a frequent visitor in all parts of The House.

Mrs. Denton took every advantage of her helpless condition, and her appearance was affected; somehow she contributed to remind one of Whistler's famous portrait of his mother, though Alma sensed that under the soft cooing and the mild air of sweetness, sad resignation, was a will of iron.

"Was there something special you wanted, Mrs. Denton?"

"No," the voice was at once both plaintive and bravely cheerful. "I just came up to say goodby. I leave on my vacation very soon."

"Oh yes! Joe's taking you to Mexico, I hear!"

"The doctor thought the sunshine might do me good. Well, I'm sorry to have missed the others. I'll be too busy to get back upstairs before I go. Not that I suppose they care whether they ever see an old wreck like me again."

MRS. DENTON dabbed at her eyes with a large cambric handkerchief, leaned back wearily, and dropped the handkerchief to the floor. Alma watched the witch-like face anxiously for a moment, until Mrs. Denton pulled herself together with an apologetic smile.

"Well, I must be going!" she said. "My handkerchief... would you mind, dear? I can't quite reach it."

Alma retrieved the handkerchief and received a too-grateful smile. "I hope you—and Joe—have a pleasant trip, Mrs. Denton."

"Thank you, my dear Goodby!" Alma watched the woman wheel herself off and then deliberately delayed putting away her work in order to avoid having to go down in the same elevator.

Liberty Gardens Now Vital To Home Defense Program

Liberty Garden Poster for 1952.

A national Liberty Garden campaign for 1952 was formally launched with government sanction in a statement by Acting Secretary of Agriculture Clarence J. McCormick, following a meeting of the National Garden and Food Preservation Committee in Washington, D. C.

Mr. McCormick called on all Department of Agriculture agencies to take all feasible steps to carry out a program recommended by the committee, which had met at the call of Secretary Charles F. Brannan. Civilian groups were urged to give full cooperation to the program. While total farm output this year is at a high level, he said food requirements were so high, it is essential that the nation make the best use of all sources of food.

A "blue print" for an expanded program in case of an all-out emergency was drawn up by the committee, and unanimously adopted. This calls for a widespread organization at national, state, county and community levels, to produce food in back yards and other available land areas, as insurance against shortages, to relieve transportation facilities, enlist voluntary labor in food production, and maintain health and morale values.

On the local level the all-out program provides for using all available means to arouse the whole population to the need for gardens, to teach novices how to make gardens, make suitable land available in city, town and suburban areas, give the land and insure the availability of seed, plant food and equipment.

The Extension service of the department of agriculture will be entrusted with leadership of both the preparedness program, and the all-out program which is to be put into effect without delay in the event of an all-out emergency.

A 1952 Liberty Garden program is needed, the advisory committee decided: "Because a state of National Emergency continues and experience has shown that a garden and home food preservation program is essential to the success of any home defense program."

The name "Liberty Garden Program" was unanimously recommended by the committee and approved by Secretary Brannan, who addressed the committee, and declared the program to be important in the present emergency.

"We do not all understand exactly what kind of an emergency this is," he said. "Nevertheless it is an emergency about which we cannot be complacent. There must be many forms of preparation which are comparable to almost full wartime operations. And though the scope and magnitude and total volume of this operation may not be equal to a full wartime program, nevertheless the program is exceedingly important and has already made contributions both in the nutritional field and certainly in the food supply field."

WOMEN'S SOCIETY

Committee Met Thursday To Discuss Plans For Opera

A committee of ladies from the 1920, 1947, New Era, Civic League, Columbia Study Club, and the AAUW met at 1 p.m. last Thursday to discuss plans for the presentation of the Gilbert and Sullivan Light Opera, "Patience". An organ is being secured to complete the setting of this presentation which the clubs are sponsoring as a benefit for the Drago School Scholarship Foundation of Ranger Junior College.

The details for sponsoring "Patience" are rapidly maturing, but the work has been under consideration for quite some length of time. Rehearsals were begun immediately following the Christmas holidays, the lighting is available, costumes are being completed, with no other details being overlooked in an effort to provide an adequate, entertaining show for the general public.

Arrangements have already been completed with the Lions Club of Mineral Wells for an appearance in that city. The Junior Class of Breckenridge High School is sponsoring the light opera in their city, Monday, March 31, as a benefit for their class. Other dates are pending for which announcements will be made.

New Color Tones Add Zest To Men's Spring Hat Styles

Color goes to your head this Spring in the most dashing array of shades you've ever seen. Brown, Cocoa, Mocha and toasty-toned straws are spiced with high-colored bands of paisley, shantung, India Madras, batik, tartan and Indo print.

There's no dearth of selection this Spring—for shapes are varied as the colors. It's for you to select the one that complements your style and manner. There are telescopic crowns with big pups, milans with center crease crowns, narrow brims and tapered crowns.

Never have men's hats been designed in a greater variety of styles, nor a more imaginative parade of colors! There's one that was just made for you.

Back in the fashion picture for men is the cap. Latest versions of this old favorite come in tweed, linen or cotton. The cap is light-wearing, stays on the head easily and packs neatly for vacation.

Round-crown caps with generous-length visors dot the benches as excellent sun protectors.

Even the popular kepi-styled caps have a new angle. For those who like the sun, there's the shallow, round crown with a short visor. For those who prefer the shade,

Russia has a frigid climate, but under government domination its shoe factories put out only 220 million pairs of shoes a year, as against 473 million pairs in America. In Russia that is 1.04 pair of shoes a year for each person; in the United States 3.05 pairs.

MARSHALL

laws were beyond the power of government to alter or override.

In the opening sentence of that passport to freedom—our forefathers fixed as the heart of their justification in declaring Independence "the laws of nature and nature's God must prevail." Listen again to these stirring words of the first two paragraphs of that great declaration of free men:

"When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect for the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness."

In the final paragraph, the signers appealed "to the Supreme Judge of the World for the rectitude" of their intentions. In its closing sentence, the signers' belief and faith in God was revealed in words which will ring through the corridors of time far as long as men cherish freedom and worship God. Let me repeat it; And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor". This sentence alone reveals the Masonic influence in the shaping of the Declaration.

In the summer of 1787, when our wise founding fathers were writing and debating the Constitution of the United States, they realized the need for divine guidance and therefore opened every session during the 55-days' conference by invoking the blessings of Almighty God. In one of the Montaigne, a great philosopher of long ago, teaches in unanswerable logic that virtue is the keystone of liberty and democracy; and he proves his logic by the historical example of Rome and Greece—how they lost their liberties and their greatness as they lost their virtue. More modern examples can now be cited, not the least of which is our own nation. As we have become engrossed in manufacture, commerce, finance, opulence, and luxury, we have become more and more dependent upon government that which is expedient to that which is good. We select our public administrators more on the basis of their morality and virtue. A modern thinker has recently said:

"Never before in the history of Christian civilization has the cause of God and man, of Christianity and democracy, been nearly identical as at this very moment. At least faintly, men of defeat of God is in every instance good will have realized that the defeat of man."

"Men of good will must unite! The tragedy of our times is that the moral forces are disunited while the antimoral forces are united. The State is becoming stronger, more centralized, and the spiritual forces are becoming more disparate."

There is not the slightest doubt but that the corruption in our government which is clogging to light more and more each day is due to the centralization of government at Washington and the placing at the disposal of this centralized government billions of dollars with which to buy men's critical moments, of the convention George Washington rose from the President's chair and exclaimed, "Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair; the event is in the hands of God".

In 1796, almost a decade later in his farewell address, Washington reminded his fellow countrymen that "religion and morality lead to political prosperity".

Yes, we are the possessors of a great spiritual heritage. That heritage, if it is to endure, must be "earned anew" by every generation.

Has our generation earned anew that which was bequeathed to us? Current events reveal appalling abuses and misuses of political power; a flagrant disregard of the constitutional limitation placed upon the centralized government at Washington and a whittling away of the rights and powers of the people to govern themselves through traditional local government; double dealing in the collection of income taxes; the sale of political patronage; a general acceptance of gifts from those whom the government regulates and controls as a reward for political and governmental favors; diversion of government property for their own private use by generals of the Armed Forces; connections between the underworld and governmental officials; and the presence in our government of people who subscribe to the Communist creed and who, occupying high places in its councils help to shape and mold its domestic and foreign policies.

Certainly these occurrences evidence none of the virtues which surrounded those who bequeathed to us the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and the Bill of Rights.

These great men and Masons knew that the philosophy of Masonry is in no sense negative in its approach to life. They believed and proved, rather, that it teaches the great art of living and getting along with our fellowmen; that it teaches morality by action; not by inaction; in private and public life; that it emphasizes virtue; not innocence; that the great purpose of Masonry is to discover truth and the means of applying it in the usual avocations of life; that Masonry prefers the true to the false because the one is right and the other is wrong. Above all else, these men rightly believed in the dignity of each individual man in whom God had breathed the breath of life and in his unalienable right to preserve that dignity upon Christian justice. It is certain that they did not believe in governments of men who enslave and corrupt and debase the people and disregard the God-given rights of each individual to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Surley, there was never a time in the history of our nation when men of good will were in greater need of the light of truth and a resolute determination to find that light and be guided by it regardless of material and political consequences.

If we look about us in this year of 1952, we are bound to see that omens of ill are on every hand. Dictatorship is on the march. The weak and the defenseless of the old world are at the mercy of a tyranny, the like of which has not been seen since the time of Ivan the Terrible—a Russian tyrant not unlike the Russian Stalin.

Everywhere there are indications that a day of decision is here. Yet how strange it is that nowhere outside of Russia today is there a national and international leadership which is firm in its policy and firm in its parliamentary position.

Call the roll of governments and see. France has practically no government at all. Britain is weak and tottering—having to borrow from others the means for its very existence. In Washington today, we have a weak government—uncertain of its own mind—willing to appease in the diplomatic halls and on the field of battle a foe which is forever to our destruction and to the obliteration of our way of life—willing to sacrifice on the altar of political expediency one of the great generals and heroes of all times—scared rights and honor are at stake. Our property is subject to loss and destruction from every side. The savings of a lifetime may mean nothing in a few months' or a few years. Material things begin to shrink as the great values of the human soul teeter in the balance. And so it was when our great Masonic forefathers, with the gullethead star upon their brows, with their lives and fortunes at stake, courageously and unswervingly made that great compact and sealed it with these words: "And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of a Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor".

In conclusion, let me repeat "Remove, not the ancient landmark, which thy fathers have set." And let us remember as I say "My son, that which thy father hath bequeathed, you must earn anew if you would keep."

Everything is at stake. All our liberties are at stake. All our most sacred rights and honor are at stake. Our property is subject to loss and destruction from every side. The savings of a lifetime may mean nothing in a few months' or a few years. Material things begin to shrink as the great values of the human soul teeter in the balance. And so it was when our great Masonic forefathers, with the gullethead star upon their brows, with their lives and fortunes at stake, courageously and unswervingly made that great compact and sealed it with these words: "And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of a Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor".

All this makes citizenship tremendously responsible, tremendously difficult, and tremendously consequential. If you and I have courage to maintain faith in our Masonic teachings and to put them into practical every-day application with the courage that characterized the Masonic faith and actions of our forefathers, the world will take heart again. If you and I make ourselves strong and respected and place ourselves affirmatively on the right, other men seeing our good works will do likewise, and look once more with hope upon honor and freedom and duty.

This new citizenship of 1952 is a demanding citizenship. It holds out to you and me no soft security for our present or for our future.

Christian Church Sermon Topics

Rev. A. Lynn Robbins, pastor of the Ranger First Christian church will preach on the theme: "Deliverance From This World," at the 11 a.m. Morning Worship and Communion Service. This sermon will be taken from the first chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Galatians and will deal with the age-old subject of whether a Christian can be actually separated from this world during life or whether this fact is a reality only after death.

This theological question has puzzled Christian people for years, and the local pastor will attempt to reach a conclusion taken from the Gospel writing and the words of St. Paul. The regular services of fellowship, meditations, and the Lords Supper will be observed during the morning hour.

At 7:00 p.m. the Evening Church Service will be held with the pastor's theme being: "The Habit of Worship." This topic will deal with a study of Christ's habit of attending his synagogue or church while engaged in all of his earthly ministry.

As always a welcome will await you at these and any of the services of the First Christian church in Ranger. We are a small friendly church where the congregation is not perfect, but we're trying to become better. Your worship with us will help you to be a better person too. See you at the service Sunday.

Layman's Day To Be Observed

Sunday, Feb. 24, has been set aside by Methodist congregations throughout the country as "Layman's Day", at which time Christian laymen will be speaking from church pulpits, interpreting the gospel of Christ as they see it. Ranger Methodists and their friends who are non-attendants at other churches will be privileged to hear an outstanding Christian layman in our pulpit on this day.

Rupert Ricker, oil man, rancher, attorney, churchman, will fill the Methodist church pulpit at both services. At the morning service, he will speak on the subject: "Standing on the Promises." The Chancel Choir will sing the anthem, "These Things Shall Be," by Rhea. At the evening service at 7 p.m., inspirational singing—songs you choose—will be one of the features. The youth choir will be in its place to lead the congregational singing. Our visiting layman will speak on the subject "Present Day Miracles", based upon his own life and experiences. Last Sunday evening, there were 141 present for the service of worship—let's make it 150 out on Sunday evening to hear this busy Christian layman who has time to give a Christian testimony.

The Church School activities will begin promptly at 9:45 with songs, prayer, and a short devotional in the sanctuary. All of the Children's Division will meet in the basement of the church, with Mrs. Edwina Deffebach in charge. There is a class and a well qualified teacher for every age group in our Church School. The Methodists cordially invite you to be in attendance at the services on this Lord's Day.

Special Meeting Set For Monday

A general meeting of the Board of Education and Workers Council of the First Methodist church has been called for on Monday evening, Feb. 25, at 7:30 according to H. C. Henderson, general superintendent of the Church School. Some of the very important things to be discussed are:

1. The Church School and our Spring revival.
2. Church School and church attendance.
3. Means of improving our total church program.

Our aim for this meeting is to have each officer and teacher of our Church School present, as well as others who are interested in any or all of the above mentioned goals, says Mr. Henderson.

TWO FASHIONS IN THE NEW SPRING MOOD—Left, Pale blue Honan silk in a Hannah Troy design with a fitted jacket that curves over the umbrella skirt of the underdress. Right, Navy mirlolien with plaid silk taffeta draped through neckline and belt. A Ben Reig design by Omar Kiam.

And this season promises to delight the feminine audience and reward their highest expectations! This Spring your dress will swirl and billow with all the captivating grace of a prima ballerina. It presents YOU at your loveliest, it dramatizes everything enchanting and utterly feminine about you.

There are many versions of this new full-skirted influence, the bell, standing out from a tiny waist, rippling all 'round pleats, the hip-yoke fullness, and the Dio-inspired back-fullness.

Fashion-wise women will be wearing them by the twos and threes! It's definitely a case of the more merrier.

Petticoats will rustle and whirl this Spring, wherever smart women gather.

And, of course, with wide, wide skirts playing such an important role, waistlines must look tiny in contrast.

This is achieved through the skimming princess line, with Spencer jackets and the highwaisted Empire line.

The Empire influence adds even more flattery to the feminine figure with its artfully placed tucks and gathers underscoring the bustline.

age and population of rural areas, population of urban areas and so on.

"Based on the state's collection of gasoline taxes, the federal government took more than $37 million out of the state in gasoline sales tax levies alone; besides which it collected a lot of taxes on motor vehicles, tires, tubes, automobile accessories and parts. Texas will get back probably two-thirds the amount it paid, and that with strings attached.

"This is a perfect example of the type of thing the voters of Texas and the United States ought to wipe out next year, and they ought to be mighty sure that the votes they cast will be effective in that direction.

"It is no generous boon and benevolent grant to give back to Texas half the money taken away from it in road-use taxes.

"It is no benefit to Texas to support a horde of federal bureaucrats out of the money taken away from motorists in the form of federal taxes.

"It is no compliment to the intelligence of Texas road-builders, highway planners and construction supervisors to require them to come into some federal agency for approval on every phase of projects in which the state puts up money, in order to get federal matching from the money turned back to the state.

"Texas has a highway commission and department which have spent more than a billion dollars. Except for one politically-animating administration, this program has been administered without criticism or complaint, and the Texas highway program now for many years has been the emblem of efficient, honest administration and supervision.

"The point now is why should Texas be taxed $13 million to $15 million this year for the doubtful privilege of federal "approval" of its highway work. Why should a 50 per cent tribute in the name of bureaucracy be imposed, and then Texas be called upon to acknowledge in humble appreciation the generous "grant" by the federal government of only a part of the money taken away from its citizens for the ostensible purposes of highway construction?

"Federal "grants" with similar strings attached, and in almost every instance with the same factor of giving back a whole lot less than taken away from Texas taxpayers, run into other phases of governmental projects and operation.

"No wonder state officials of Texas and many other states are vocal in their demands that the states be let alone to carry on their own improvement programs, and that their citizens be not penalized by the back-breaking load of federal taxes used in supporting hordes and hordes of non-productive federal red-tape drones."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

Christ Jesus understood that there is one Mind, who is God, and was thus enabled to do God's will, destroying evil of every nature, according to the Lesson-Sermon to be read at Christian Science services next Sunday. The Golden Text is from Romans (12:2): "Be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

The infinitude of Mind, God, is expressed in these words from the Bible (Romans 11:33, 34): "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! for who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?" Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says this: "There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown. We can have but one Mind, if that one is infinite. We bury the sense of infinitude, when we admit that, although God is infinite, evil has a place in this infinity, for evil can have no place, when all space is filled with God" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 469).

Finish gives a fuller body and soil-resistance to corduroy. Garments can be washed in rich lukewarm suds, rinsed three times, and hung to drip dry without affecting the finish.

200 TB Patients Face Eviction If Base Reopened

WESLACO, Feb. 23 (UP)—South Texans puzzled today over what to do with 200 state tuberculosis patients when Moore Air Force Base is reactivated and "evicts" them in the interest of national defense.

Civic and medical leaders met for a three-hour discussion of the problem yesterday, but came up with no more than suggestions, one of which was for construction of a new state hospital.

Weaver H. Baker Hospital, which now houses the patients, is located on the north section of Moore Field. It has been reported unofficially that the World War II installation will be reactivated to train jet pilots.

Rep. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. (D., Tex.) suggested that federal funds furnished the state for health services be used to establish a new hospital. He said the state has equipment worth about $300,000 which could be put in a new sanatorium.

Bentsen also said the federal government might reimburse the state for $500,000 worth of improvements at the base, and suggested a site be provided by Rio Grande Valley residents.

The executive director of the state board of hospitals and special schools, Larry O. Cox, declined direct comment on Bentsen's proposals. But he said most federal money allotted to Texas for health programs has gone to cities and counties, rather than to state medical services.

J. T. Ellis of Weslaco said in event the Air Force requires Moore Field, an interim hospital could be set up at the farm labor camp here until permanent provisions are made.

The session ended with a resolution asking the Valley Chamber of Commerce to pitch in and help find an answer.

Drilling For Oil Started On Duke Of Windsor Ranch

CALGARY, Alta, Feb. 23 (UP)—Agents of the Duke of Windsor today planned their second attempt to find oil on his ranch, eight miles south of Turner Valley, Alta.

The Duke, who occasionally visits the ranch and last year there briefly last year, owns the oil and gas rights on the property but the developments will be handled by a group of independent Canadian companies. Oil sources said he probably would get a percentage based on how much the new well, called "Anglo Socony Penisko No. 1", produces.
