PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 247

3RD YEAR

SEEN OR HEARD

Neither side in the question of raising the telephone rates here, the city or the telephone company, has made a move since the company entered suit against the city, and then Mayor Crawley denied some of their allegations and said the city would fight the request in court.

The telephone company owns two boxes of real estate in Ranger, a box near the Baptist Church and the site upon which their radio-telephone tower is located on Ranger Heights.

In Eastland and Cisco they own their exchanges, and Cisco has the manager of the Ranger exchange as a citizen of their town. By having a manager in the town where they are in operation of an exchange, should make for better relations between the telephone company and its subscribers.

Some people have questioned the efficiency of the service here, and efficiency there may be in the service we in Ranger are getting, could be to the rapid turnover of operators they have in this exchange. It seems that these women telephone operators have a habit of getting married, thereby causing them to quit and someone to be trained in their place. In any manually operated telephone exchange there is bound to be some miss cues in connections and the like that is the fault of no one.

We imagine that there was no disagreement when Shelby Parnell said in his answer in Tuesday's poll that the employee's of the telephone company were in need of a raise, not the company itself.

The telephone company has already gotten raises in some of the surrounding towns, but not quite as high as they are asking in Ranger, it might appear that they are trying to give us a spanking for being naughty little city, and not coming in line with their wish.

The telephone company may not be the only one losing money in this day and time, but those of you operating businesses here know that you are not guaranteed a fair return on the money you have invested in that concern. You have to meet competition or do otherwise, the telephone company has no competition in Ranger.

Bran Garner said a representative of the company came to him to get his reaction about their getting a raise here, and he told them that if the company was that bad off, he'd see if he couldn't form a company and buy them out—no deal. Bran went on to say that he was behind the commission in what ever they decided was best for the town.

Large Attendance Expected For RJC's "Patience" Friday Night

Indications point toward a goodly attendance for the presentation of "Patience" at the Recreation Building, Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Interest is being expressed in numerous circles that the people of Ranger are planning to see the production.

The vast majority of this interest has been created through the efforts and cooperation of the 1920, 1947, The New Era, The Civic League, Columbia Study Club, the A. A. U. W. and the Child Welfare clubs. The ladies in the respective organizations have assumed the responsibility of promoting and sponsoring the Gilbert and Sullivan opera. These women have done very good work. Calls to friends by telephone; personal visits to all the schools; contacting the various civic clubs in the community, and arranging for a matinee in order that the children might have the privilege of seeing the show. In addition to the local effort expended, some of the ladies even went so far as to visit other cities in an effort to interest them in attending the Ranger presentation. Promotional work and effort of this nature and extent is likely to create more than the average interest.

Authorities at the college are deeply grateful to the members of the above mentioned clubs, and to individual ladies, for their kind cooperation, and patient, willing work. Also, are they grateful to the student members of the class who so willingly assumed the extra burden of appearances before school and civic groups as their part in the campaign to arouse interest in the production and the worthwhile benefit for which the work is being given.

In these days of heavy subsidy it is a necessity to create and have a scholarship fund through which talented students can be interested inducted to consider a small school like Ranger Junior College as their Alma Mater. All colleges operate in this manner, and the competition for talent is most keen. Ranger should have, and can have its portion of these talented students. However, the talented students are not like the measles—they will not seek Ranger out. They must be contacted, shown the advantages of our school, and sold on the opportunities of matriculating at RJC. These are the basic principals behind the reasons for which the Women's Clubs are working in the sponsoring of "Patience." Most of us express a desire "to help a young person through college."

The ladies in the clubs are putting their expression into action—much action—by doing something tangible toward a realization of helping young folks. All the revenue realized from the Gilbert and Sullivan "Patience," will be turned over to the Fine Arts Committee from the College Board of Regents for use in the Drago Foundation.

Chicago Paper Of Belief General Ike Will Return

CHICAGO, March 27 (UP)—A Chicago newspaper, The Daily News, says it has a report that General Eisenhower will submit his resignation as chief of the North Atlantic Treaty organization "at any moment now." The paper says usually reliable sources have told it the general will explain that his political position makes it desirable that he leave his post before the Republican convention.

In Paris, Eisenhower conferred today with French Defense Minister Rene Pleven and discussed France's military problems with Army, Navy and Air Force officials. It is believed they reviewed the French rearmament program in the light of the new governments economic measures.

Many Pledge Support For Price Daniel

AUSTIN, March 27—The Price Daniel campaign for the United States Senate is "snowballing" with hundreds of new supporters signing up every day.

This was the announcement of Daniel's state campaign manager, Everett Hutchinson.

Hutchinson said a total of 45,039 Texans have sent in their written pledges of active support. "This is more than four times the original number of volunteer workers that Price Daniel called for in his opening speech January 21," Hutchinson said. "The letters, cards and pledge sheets continue to come in by the hundreds each day."

"It is truly a grass-roots movement and will be the biggest group of active campaigners Texas has ever seen in any political race," Hutchinson said.

Daniel, Texas' 41-year-old trust busting and crime-fighting attorney general is running against 74-year-old Tom Connally the State's senior senator. Daniel said his active campaign would begin late in May.

Until then, Daniel said, he is leaving his campaign strictly up to his volunteer workers and campaign managers.

Posse Hunting Vicious Killer In Nebraska

MERRIMAN, Neb., March 27 (UP)—A posse of ranchers and townsmen has joined state and county police officers in searching the Nebraska sandhills near Merriman for a vicious gunman.

The hunted man shot and killed three persons shortly before midnight last night. Two other persons, including an infant were wounded.

Victims of the gunman were Mr. and Mrs. George Mensinger and one of their neighbors, 50-year-old Dea Gardner. Wounded in the shootings were another neighbor and the baby son of the Mensingers.

Congress May Repeal Excess Peanuts Bill

Both the Senate and the House of Representatives moved last week to pass-with the rules suspended by unanimous consent—a bill to repeal the 1951 amendment to the Agricultural Act of 1938, which permitted peanut planting in excess of quotas to build up peanut oil stocks. The bill has been sent to the President for his signature.

The termination of the "Peanuts for Oil" program was supported by the American Farm Bureau Federation. Following a meeting of representatives of State Farm Bureaus in peanut growing states, American Farm Bureau Federation's Executive Committee voted in January to urge repeal of the provision for the excess oil peanut program and stated that "if possible, repeal should take effect with the 1952 crop."

In a letter to Frank K. Wooley, American Farm Bureau Federation legislative counsel, Representative W. M. Abbott of Virginia says that "I am sure you are aware of the fact that obtaining unanimous consent for the passage of this legislation is a rather rare procedure. The House of Representatives, recognized the urgency of taking action before the planting season."

"I want you to know how much I appreciate the fine work that the American Farm Bureau Federation did in spearheading the successful effort for speedy enactment of this legislation. It should go a long way toward straightening out the peanut program so that it will no longer be the subject of intense criticism. The producers are anxious to bring supplies into line with demand and now should be able to do so as a result of this constructive piece of legislation."

"The American Farm Bureau Federation is to be congratulated," wrote Congressman O. G. Fisher of Texas, "on pressing for prompt action by Congress to remove the peanut oil provisions. It looks like peanut farmers are getting their program on a more firm and secure basis. They have realized for some time that producing peanuts for oil is a losing business."

The success of repealing this amendment is the result of the continued efforts of the Farm Bureaus of the Nation of which Eastland and Comanche counties played a major part.

Service Pipeline To Sell Sinking Fund Debentures

TULSA Okla., March 27—Sale to the public of $90,000,000 Thirty Year Sinking Fund Debentures of Service Pipe Line Company through a nation-wide group of investment bankers headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., is planned, according to announcement here today by J. L. Burke, president of Service. The company expects to file a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission within the next few days.

Service operates one of the largest crude oil pipe line systems in the country. Its lines serve important producing areas of Texas, New Mexico Oklahoma, Kansas, and the Rocky Mountain states, and the refinery areas of Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and Houston. Service Pipe Line Company delivers almost half a million barrels of crude oil per day. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The next proceeds from the debentures will be used in part to retire $46,000,000 of bank loans. It is contemplated that the remainder together with other funds, will be used to carry out a proposed $70,000,000 expansion and modernization program.

The company recently started gathering operations in the Williston Basin area of North Dakota and plans, as part of its program, to construct truck line facilities for transporting crude oil to a refinery to be built in North Dakota.

With headquarters in Tulsa, it has about 2,700 employees. The company was organized in 1916, with less than 500 miles of line. Today it operates more than 12,000 miles of pipe line in eleven states. Formerly called Standard Pipe Line Company, its name was changed to Service Pipe Line Company in 1950. That year it moved into its new six-story office building in Tulsa.

The company's volume of traffic is larger, measured in barrel-miles, than that of any other crude oil pipe line in the United States. It also tops the list of oil pipe lines reporting to the Interstate Commerce Commission in investment and transportation revenue.

Water District Granted Hearing On Water Rights

Notice has been given that the Eastland County Water Supply District has been granted a hearing by the state Board of Water Engineers on its request for water rights connected with the proposed reservoir, which was filed on March 21, 1952.

A hearing has been set for May 12, 1952 at Austin at the office of the Board of Water Engineers at which time all interested parties may appear and be heard. The water district had applied for a permit to appropriate of the unappropriated waters of the State of Texas water not to exceed 12,000 acre feet per year, by impounding 28,000 acre feet of water, for municipal and industrial purposes.

At the hearing it will be decided whether the Eastland County Water Supply District is entitled to take water in the amount they have specified, from the place they have specified in the "Notice of Hearing" printed in this edition of the paper.

Another Plane Burns After Quick Landing

By United Press
The nation counted a heavy toll in the air today. Sixteen persons dead, in three crashes.

Another plane made an emergency landing and then burned on the ground. But no one was hurt.

The emergency set-down was made by a Braniff Air Lines DC4 at Hugoot, Kan. Pilot Jack Stanford landed on a small field after one engine caught fire. The plane, en route from Colorado Springs to Oklahoma City, crashed through a small fence.

The passengers fled the plane, leaving their baggage behind. Minutes later, flames enveloped the rest of the ship. It was destroyed, but all the passengers had made it to safety.

In some instances this secondary recovery may exceed that already taken from the field.

Guests were Mr. A. Worley, Grady Pipkin, Arthur Murrell, and Jack Frost of Eastland, W. H. McAnnally of Cisco, and one other visitor from Fort Worth.

Including visitors there were 33 present for the meeting. W. C. Whitte was welcomed as a new member of the Rotary Club.

QUESTION: How would you fill the hole in brickwork where the mason did a poor job of putting in the mortar?

—R. L. A., Salt Lake City, Utah

ANSWER: Mix mortar of 1 1/2 parts cement with one part sand, 3 parts sharp sand and clean water. Apply to the defective area with a trowel. Another way to apply the mortar is to use a trowel to apply the mortar to the brick. However, if you do stain the bricks, scrub down with muriatic acid, then rinse heavily with clear water.

QUESTION: I am planning to refinish my floor which seems to have been given a dark stain, then varnish. Which is the best and easiest way to get back to the original wood finish?

—R. L. G., Grand Island, Neb.

ANSWER: Easiest way is with a power sander. Other sand and various resins are used applications followed by scraping, liquid varnish removers used according to directions, never use-type paint and varnish removers. All the latter require scraping and light sanding for a new, smooth finish.

ANSWER: Opening the fireplace is a job for an experienced contractor. You'd need proper support for the chimney during the work, and until a permanent support over the new fireplace could be installed.

the room with quick, painful steps, keeping time unconsciously to the ticking of the clock.

Five minutes dragged by. Then ten, twelve, fifteen. Would Joe ever come back? What on earth could he be doing that took him so long? Finally, her patience at an end, her nerves tingling intolerably, she decided to go across the hall and ask Mrs. Denton if she knew where Joe was and when he would be likely to be back. Picking up a key from the mantelpiece she crossed the thickly carpeted public hallway to the opposite door.

WHY she did not knock or ring before using the key Alma never could remember afterwards. But she did nothing. The key worked noiselessly and in another instant the door swung open and the words of greeting she had been about to utter froze on Alma's lips.

For across the shallow, dark little foyer she could see into the living room where Mrs. Denton, standing erect and unsupported, was busily packing a suitcase like any normal person. Then, hearing some faint sound Alma must have made, the woman took three or four quick steps back to her wheelchair and when she was seated in it, called out sharply, "Who's that?"

Instead of answering Alma closed the door hastily and fled down the stairs in a panic. The dark, old-fashioned house had become stifling, filled with an undeniable menace which centered about the now more than ever sinister figure of Mrs. Denton. It was a relief to get out into the street and Alma did not slow her pace until she reached the corner. For the moment the errand on which Alma had come was forgotten in the shock of what she had just seen.

So Mrs. Denton wasn't a cripple. She was as active as Alma herself! How long had she been cured, and why had she concealed the fact? Small, apparently disconnected incidents began to piece themselves together, forming a pattern in Alma's mind which grew momentarily more clear.

Close Watch Of Dairy Products To Up Production

COLLEGE STATION, March 26 (AP) —Closer supervision of dairy products manufacturing by management in order to assure up-quality production was stressed by at least four speakers at the Dairy Manufacturers' conference held at Texas A.M. College recently.

Supervisors should not assume that plant workers do exactly as they are told, but should check to be sure, if they want products to maintain maximum quality ratings, the speakers said.

Closer supervision by management in processing milk and dairy products would result in improving such products, generally, they said.

Another phase of the same problem was discussed by George M. Clarke, of Austin, vice-president of the Dairy Products Institute of Texas, in his address, "Whose Job Is It?"

Clarke said managers of such plants are responsible to employees for keeping them informed about different phases of the business which will make them more valuable and give them increased interest in doing the job properly.

Dr. A. V. Moore, chairman of the conference, said "This was the best meeting of its kind ever held on the campus."

Samples of ice cream representing a good cross-section of all ice cream manufactured in the state were judged at the close of the meeting. Results will be mailed to manufacturers who submitted the samples.

G. M. Trout, professor dairy manufacturing at Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich., F. G. Warren, associate professor of dairy manufacturing at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C., and Burdett Heinemann, of Springfield, Mo., were initiated into the Brazos Bottom Wild Cow Milk Association by Joe H. Motheral, associate professor of agricultural economics at Texas A. & M. College.

C. A. Able, director of public health research for a Chicago corporation, who joined the association two years ago, assisted Motheral with the initiations.

What Will Become Of Your Property After Youth Death

COLLEGE STATION, March 26.—Too few people know what would happen to their property in case of death. Florence Low, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says confusion can be avoided by thinking through plans for settlement of the property and disposing of it by a will.

The owner of any kind of real or personal property has three choices under Texas laws for transfer of property to heirs. He may let the estate be distributed to those specified by law, make a will or arrange for joint or single ownership of real or personal property.

One procedure is to let property pass to heirs without making a will. This is called intestacy. Four things can happen to community property when no will is made.

If a man or woman dies leaving no children, all the property goes to the spouse. If a man or woman dies leaving a spouse and children, one half goes to the spouse and the remainder to the children. The law provides that the homestead shall not be divided among the heirs during the lifetime of the surviving husband or wife so long as the survivor elects to use or occupy it as a homestead. If a widow or widower is survived by children, the property is divided equally between the parents. If only one parent is alive one half goes to him one half goes to brothers and sisters, and so on down to the next of kin.

Another choice offered by law in the transfer of property to heirs is by a will. A will, to be valid in Texas, must be written and witnessed. To prevent possible delays and expenses in the settlement of estates, Mrs. Low says an attorney should be consulted before a will is made. The attorney can assist in the wording of the will so that it states plainly what disposition the testator desires for the property.

A third option in disposing of property is through joint ownership. There are three methods of owning property jointly. Joint tenancy is when two or more persons own any kind of property as "joint tenants" on the deed or bill of sale transferring property. Secondly there is "tenancy by the entirety" which is possible only for a wife and husband and applies only to real property. Then there is tenancy in common where two or more persons hold any kind of property as "tenants in common." The deed or bill of sale carries all the names and makes no reference to survivorship. Each of the three joint ownership of property options carries its own methods of disposing of the property which should be thoroughly understood.

Each property owner has a choice of any of the three methods of disposing of property.

SPECIFIC AGREEMENTS HELP

A well drawn contract is designed to avoid the unfortunate disputes which are usually based on honest misunderstanding, and not to let one person take advantage of another. THESE RANGER JUNIOR COLLEGE "hands" were getting that last "shot" of hot coffee before saddling their steeds and hitting the long dusty trail back to the campus for the rest of their Ranch Day events. These and other members of the student body and faculty had officially opened Ranch Day with this breakfast in the wee hours of the morning at little Hagaman, north of Ranger. From left to right the camera found Johnny Plunkett, Richard Hodges, Rex Holland, Dickie Smith, Dale Hatley, Bobby Dodd, Jackie Poyner, Billy Harper, and "Rusty" Talbot holding the horse, or is the horse holding Talbot? In the background Gene Ready and Kenneth Williams are puzzled over the mysteries that confront them with getting the "seat" back on the horse.

making agreements with our fellow citizens. We base our plans and decisions on the faith that such agreements will be carried out. The grocer delivers food to us, relying on our promise to pay at a later date. We go to work each day on the faith of our employer's agreement to pay at the end of the week or month. Our whole system of free enterprise and trade is based, to a large extent, upon mutual agreements or promises to do something in the future.

Oral or written, such agreements are usually contracts. Probably the great majority of contracts that we enter into are never put into written form. Generally speaking, you can enter into a verbal agreement that is just as binding as a written contract. The important thing for each party to remember is to make the agreement or understanding perfectly clear whether it is oral or written. Usually you will find that the best way to do this is to put it into a written contract. Exact terms of an oral contract may be difficult to establish if a disagreement arises.

It is easy enough to define a contract as an agreement between two or more people where each of the parties does something or promises to do something in return for the act or promise of the other. The real problem is to be actually certain what each party has agreed to do.

Suppose Mr. Householder has a piece of paper on which is written the heading "proposal" and which thereafter reads as follows:

"We will build a garage for you on your lot for the estimated price of $800, work to be done in a workmanlike manner. All of our work is guaranteed to your satisfaction. Subject to the conditions printed on the reverse side."

This is signed by the XYZ Company. Under this signature is the word "Accepted" followed by a line for the signature of Mr. Householder. His question is, should he sign it?

Before he signs it there are some things he should consider. He should first remember that once he and the XYZ Company have both signed the agreement, no matter how informal it may appear, they have bound themselves to the terms as written and cannot later escape the obligations they have assumed.

With this in mind, here are some of the misunderstandings that might arise from such an agreement.

ment: The company has agreed to build a garage—yet nothing is said about the size or type of construction. It has not even been stated whether it is to be a single or double garage. There is no indication in the agreement as to where on the lot the garage will be built. If says nothing about when the work is to be finished. There is no agreement as to whether Mr. Householder is to pay in advance, in installments, or not until it is completed.

Further, they have not actually agreed upon a price. The agreement refers to an estimated price of $800. They should be specific and make either a fixed price contract or an agreement whereby the builder is reimbursed for his expenses plus a definite profit percentage. Perhaps the XYZ Company feels that if their expenses are higher than anticipated, they will be able to charge more than the estimated $800. On the other hand, Mr. Householder probably feels that $800 is the maximum price he will have to pay.

The most important thing in a contract is to determine the essential elements of performance. This is not as difficult as it might seem. Here is a good rule to follow: As to the acts of every party determine, what is to be done, when, where and by whom. See that these essential parts are included in your agreement. In addition, remember that if a contract is worth signing, it is worth reading and understanding—all of it.

FLASHBACK

Sometimes it's a fleeting moment, sometimes weeks, months and years in the headlines.

Then they drop from sight.

For instance, whatever happened to Alfred De Marigny?

Marigny was constantly in the news in 1943 when he was charged with the murder of his father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes, in Nassau, the Bahamas. In a sensational trial De Marigny was acquitted. Afterwards, his marriage to Nancy Oakes, daughter of the American born Sir Harry, was annulled on her petition.

Where is De Marigny now?

He is now living in Stamford, the former home of Mark Twain, in Redding, Connecticut. He recently filed a petition with the naturalization office to become a United States citizen.

Flashback: A United Press spot-check on the people who made yesterday's headlines. Tomorrow—Burton K. Wheeler.

Model Dresses

By United Press
Government wives turf models in Washington to show the nation what happens when a seamstress gets her needle into an old feedbag.

Feminine fashions, designed and created from feed and fertilizer bags, are being shown at the Congressional Club. And among the models are Mrs. Charles Prannan, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, and several wives and daughters of Congressmen—most of them from the Deep South, where the cotton grows.

The fashions show what can be done with the ordinary cotton feedbag, now that agriculture experts and the National Cotton Council have improved the material used. With a chemical process recently developed, the feedbag materials are smooth, color fast and capable of the wear and tear of linen.

To demonstrate the "re-use" value of the feedbags, the National Cotton Council specially designed a complete wardrobe made of the fabric. And it will be a delight to the ladies of the land, especially the farmers' wives who rely on their own nimble fingers instead of Dior or Dache to keep well dressed.

The wife of the Agriculture Secretary, a tall beautiful brunette who wears her hair up, is modeling a strapless yellow evening gown with a yellow ruffled cape bordered with black velvet ribbon.

Annie Laurie Rankin, the daughter of Congressman John Rankin of Mississippi is wearing a short strapless gown in a bright print with a matching stole. Mrs. Joe Evans, the wife of a Congressman from Tennessee, will wear a lavender sleeveless daytime frock.
