Rotarians Hear Talk On Housing Project At Lunch

Morris Newnam was in charge of the program for the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday. Morris introduced Joe Nussale to the Rotarians as the guest speaker for the meeting. Before Nussale presented his talk to the Rotarians, Newnam told the members of his meeting with the Rotarians in Mexico City.

Morris told the other Rotary members how the Rotary Club is strengthening the ties between the United States and other foreign countries. He used Mexico as an example of this, and said that Mexico is only one of the many countries in the world that have Rotary Clubs. Ever country in the world has member clubs in Rotary International, other than the Soviet satellites behind the Iron Curtain.

The guest speaker, Joe Nussale told the Rotarians of the development of the Ranger Housing Project. He gave a short but complete history of the project, how it was formed, what led to the formation, and to the work and progress that had been done on the actual construction.

Three new members were introduced at the meeting, they were, Mike Alexander, James Croom, and R. R. Phillips. Visitors were Rotarians Jones and Anderson of Stephenville; and Horton of Eastland.

Including the guests there were 29 persons present at the lunch and Rotary meeting.

Bill Brazda Makes Trip To Ft. Worth

Bill Brazda who suffered a broken leg in football practice Sept. 11, was carried to Fort Worth Wednesday, because the bones had slipped somehow and had to be reset.

He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. A. W. Brazda, and sister, Elaine, and returned to the Ranger General Hospital here.

It was reported this morning that he was resting after the strain of the trip.

He is on the sunporch at the hospital and likes for people to come by and see him, especially those of his age.

Volunteer Fire Dept. Will Park Cars Tonite

The Ranger Volunteer Fire Department will handle the parking of the cars at the two football games here this week.

Members of the department are urged to report to the football field by 7:00 Thursday and Friday nights.

Bulldogs Will Seek Revenge From Brady For Last Year

When the Ranger Bulldogs take the field tomorrow night, they will be seeking revenge from the Brady Bulldogs for their 62 to 20 defeat at the hands of Brady last year.

CAPITAL FOR ITALY—The United States and Italy have signed an agreement encouraging private investment in Italy by providing for transfer of capital, earnings, and other funds. Rangers Meet Allen Academy In Last Game Here For Month

The Ranger Junior College Rangers will take to the gridiron trail here tonight at 8:00 for the last time until November, when they meet visiting Allen Academy for the first time since 1948.

The Junior College team came out of the tilt with the big boys from Midwestern slightly the worse for wear. But barring unforeseen complications they will be in top shape for the game tonight.

The visiting squad from the military school at Bryan is coached by Nick Furnace and L. W. Webster, and will take the field in gold uniforms with blue numerals. The junior dogfaces from Allen Academy will be just about right in size for the Rangers with their starting line-up average about the same as ours.

The Rangers have been lucky in not being plagued with too many injuries this fall in their pre-conference games. One boy was hurt in the game with Decatur Baptist, but he was back out on the field for the game the following week.

The Rangers will be trying to take the sting out of the loss to Midwestern Indians last week and ahead in the win and lost department. Right now they are battling a 500.

Probable starting line-ups:
RANGERS

No.	Name	Pos.	Wt.
25	Wilson, T.	E	175
28	Jones, I.	E	178

Ridgway Calls For New Site For Conferences

IRAN OIL SITUATION COULD TOUCH OFF THIRD WORLD WAR

LONDON, Sept. 27 (UP)—A personal message from President Truman to Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee, giving American recommendations in the Iranian oil crisis, was considered by the cabinet today at a tense three-hour meeting.

It was indicated, but not confirmed, that the president repeated his advice to the government not to use armed force to keep the Iranians from carrying out their threat to throw British oil technicians out of the great Abadan refinery and oil port.

The cabinet faced one of its most momentous decisions since World War II—at a moment when King George VI was desperately ill and a general parliamentary election on which the life of the Labor government depended was set for Oct. 25.

Developments included: 1. Sixteen cabinet members emerged grim and silent after a meeting at No. 10 Downing St., after considering whether to use British warships and British troops, including paratroops, stationed at key middle east spots near Abadan.

2. In Tehran Premier Mohammed Mossadegh told a crowd outside parliament that his government will struggle against Britain "with all our strength" to preserve the country's "rights." The crowd shouted "let us kill—let us shed blood—death to the British!" Mossadegh and the crowd wept, and the premier fainting when somebody threw a bouquet of flowers at him.

3. Hossain Makki, chairman of the Iranian oil commission, shouted for the expulsion of British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd.

Iran had given 300 British oil technicians until next Wednesday midnight to get out of Abadan or be thrown out.

The cabinet today was faced with the decision of giving into the Iranian ultimatum or using force to prevent the expulsion of its oil men.

A decision to use troops in Iran would mean running the risk of an east-west explosion. Russia is entitled by a 1921 treaty to send troops into Iran if it is threatened by an outside power. If Russian troops poured over Iran's northern frontier, it might prove the spark.

Ranger Airmen On USS Valley Forge, Carrier

Peter A. Michel, airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brewer of 917 Vitalious St., Ranger, and husband of the former Miss Gladys E. Hunter of 1495 Malory Rd., Memphis, Tenn., is serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Valley Forge now operating in the San Diego, Calif. area.

The Valley Forge was the first carrier to launch air strikes against the North Koreans when they crossed the 38th parallel. The carrier operated in the combat zone 10 months before returning to the United States for overhaul.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27 (UP)—Joseph Pretto, alleged racing news service operator, today was under a six month jail sentence under a six month jail sentence. The rotund head of the Southern News Service was given the sentence and a $500 fine for refusing to answer 26 questions before the Kefauver Crime Committee hearings in New Orleans last winter.

Negroes And Whites Split By University

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Sept. 27 (UP)—The University of North Carolina refused today to allow any of its first six Negro students to sit in cheering sections at football games.

One of the students, James R. Walker, turned in the ticket issued him for a special Negro section at the end zone in protest against being segregated.

Chancellor Robert B. House said the Negroes, admitted to the graduate school under federal court order last summer, are entitled to all University's educational facilities but that does not include football games.

Attorney O. O. Pearson, of Durham, said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People definitely would enter the case. He planned to confer the NAACP's special counsel in New York.

Eastland County Gains Two New Operations

J. J. Lynn, Wichita Falls, spotted a 4,200 foot test two miles west of Eastland, as his No. 1 C. E. Pippin, 1,402 feet from the north and 1,403 feet from the east lines of section 8170, TE&L survey.

E. M. Shirley has staked No. 1 C. V. Fox as a 1,200 foot cable tool test, five miles south of Ranger. It will be 1,320 feet from north and 825 from east lines of lot 28, league 2, McClanahan County School lands.

Oil was recovered on two drill stem tests of the Caddo at the Texas Company No. 1-B W. H. Groves Estate, section 473, S1 survey, wildcat six and one-half miles north of Cisco, and seven inch casing has been set at 5,447 feet for completion attempt in open hole to 3,469 feet.

One hour test from 3,453 to 3,459 feet showed gas at the surface in three minutes. Recovery was 75 feet of heavily oil-out mud.

Subsequent one-hour test from 3,458 to 3,469 feet recovered 20 feet of free oil and 90 feet of oil and gas cut mud.

Fire Department Answers Call To 500 Cleaners

The Ranger Fire Department was called to the 500 Tailors about 4:00 a.m. this morning to fight a fire there.

The blaze did considerable damage to the cleaning shop, equipment, and the clothes that were in the shop for cleaning.

The Volunteer Fire Department was well represented at the fire, giving assistance to the regular firemen.

PROPOSED SITE WOULD BE IN NO-MANS-LAND NEAR KAESONG

By EARNEST HOBerecht United Press Staff Correspondent TOKYO, Sept. 27 (UP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway proposed today that the Korean armistice talks be resumed "as early as possible" at a tiny village in the middle of no-man's-land.

The supreme United Nations commander interviewed directly in an attempt to get the truce talks going again after UN and Communist liaison officers found themselves deadlocked.

Ridgway addressed his proposals to Gen. Kim Il Sung, North Korean Premier and commander-in-chief, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, Chinese commander in Korea.

"I believe this proposal provides for arrangements that can be mutually satisfactory to both sides," Ridgway told the Red commanders.

The Communist generals already have rejected one earlier Ridgway proposal to shift the talks from Kaesong. However, Ridgway on that occasion did not specify any particular alternative site.

The UN commander's new note specifically suggested that: 1. The truce talks be resumed "as early as possible" in the vicinity of Songhyon, eight miles southeast of Kaesong and approximately midway between the battle lines on the western front northwest of Seoul.

2. Both sides agree to keep their armed troops away from the meeting place and "abstain from any hostile acts or exercise of authority over members of the other side" while en route to or from or during meetings.

3. The truce delegations first discuss any necessary "physical and security arrangements", then return to the problem of fixing a cease-fire and buffer zone across Korea.

4. Liaison officers confer to "discuss immediate erection of the necessary physical facilities."

Ridgway's proposal was in the nature of a compromise. For the UN, it would get the cease-fire talks away from Kaesong, which is behind the Communist lines.

At the same time, however, it would grant Communist demands that liaison officers discuss only the time and place for resumption of the truce talks and that security arrangements be made the first business of the full armistice delegations.

Songhyon lies about midway on the highway between Kaesong and Munsan, the UN advance truce camp on the south bank of the Injin River. It is some eight miles southeast of Kaesong and a mile and a half southeast of the Communist check point at Pan Mun Jon.

The village is on a flat area. There are four or five hatched roof houses on the south side of the road, but only heaps of masonry on the other.

Ridgway communicated directly with the Communist commanders after liaison officers of the two sides failed in three successive meetings this week to reach agreement on arrangements for resumption of the truce talks.

Teen Canteen Will Be Open Friday Night

The Teen Canteen will be open Friday night after the Ranger-Brady football game.

Jimmy Cole, reporter for the senior class, said that there will be refreshments available for everyone and that everyone is invited out after the game.

June Ann Morton To Play In The Texas Tech Band

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Morton have received word that their daughter, June Ann is going to play in the Texas Tech Band at Lubbock.

She is a graduate of the Ranger High School and of the Ranger Junior College. While a student here she was active in the bands.

June Ann will make the trip to Dallas Saturday when the Red Raiders play A&M College.

Pvt. Jerry Beck Writes From Germany

Pvt. Jerry Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Beck, who is now stationed at Rhein Main, Germany Air Force base writes to his parents that he is enjoying his work there and gets to go horse back riding through the mountains.

He writes about the huge rooms that the building have, some of them have walls seventy-five to eight feet high.

Jerry reports that he is receiving his Ranger Daily Times and enjoys keeping up with the folks back home.

Dope Makes His Canaries Happier

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (UP)—William M. Munch, 68, was held on narcotic charges today for growing marijuana in his back yard.

However, Munch angrily denied he knew the plants were marijuana and said he grew them to feed his 280 canaries, who were "stimulated" by the diet.

"It made them sing much better and more lustily," he said.

Author's Death Ruled Suicide First Girl Pilot

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Sept. 27 (UP)—The death of author Louis Adamic was listed officially as a suicide today by county prosecutor Herbert Heiser.

Adamic's body was found in his burning farmhouse near Milford Sept. 4. There were two bullet wounds in his head and a rifle across his knees.

County authorities had prolonged their investigation of the death of the anti-Stalin author when the possibility was raised that he had been murdered by Soviet agents.

The 1951 waterfowl season dates in Texas are from November 9 through December 28.

When the hat is at rest, its wings wrap around the body like a clock.

County Trappers Meet In Ranger

The Eastland County Trappers Association met at the Ratliff Feed Store in Ranger, last night to work on the problem of getting another trapper for Eastland County.

Most of the fifteen goat raisers that were present were from the northeastern section of Eastland County.

President of the association is Nick Gailey, he and the other members agreed to go before the Eastland County Commissioners Court to see about getting the county to contribute to the support of a trapper.

Stanley Webb Head Of County X-Ray Survey

Stanley Webb was elected County Chairman of the proposed mass X-ray survey Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of about twenty people in the annex of the First Christian Church, representing Eastland, Cisco and Ranger.

Charles H. Hoover of the state health department and Dr. L. C. Brown county health officer were in charge. Mr. Hoover appointed a nominating committee composed of J. L. Sifton of Cisco, Mrs. Fred Macey and Homer Smith of Eastland, who chose Webb. He was unanimously elected as chairman.

Dates of the X-ray were set as November 3rd to 5th in Cisco and November 7th, and 8th in Eastland.

The Eastland survey will be sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Webb stated.

What are we doing toward planning a year round grazing program?

It only costs 50c for each 100 pounds of Total Digestible Nutrients on a improved pasture, compared with $1.70 for silage, $2.25 for Johnson Grass hay, $2.60 for alfalfa, and $6.00 for a commercial mix which will supply the same amount of T.D.N.

With a state average of 25 per cent less milk production than the United States average, we have great possibility in bringing our state average to equal that of the U. S. if we can set up a year round grazing program.

It takes two tons of forage to furnish the nutrient requirements of a dairy cow for one year; and the cheaper this forage can be furnished, the more money the farmer will have in his pocket.

Let's bring our milk production record up to the U. S. average—this is possible with a better planned grazing program.

Did You Know:
Under normal conditions it costs a poultry man $1.84 to put a pullet in the laying house last year? Here's what went into that cost: 36c for the sexed pullet, 34c labor, 80c feed, and 24c for fuel, litter, etc.

This was twice the cost in 1940!

2 More Charges Filed in Beer Death Of Infant

DALLAS, Sept. 27 (UP)—Two more charges have resulted from the Saturday night "experiment" which cost the life of a 12-month-old baby given beer and orange soda pop.

Thomas Trammell, manager of a drive-in grocery, was charged on two counts of selling beer to minors. Richard Harold Tucker, 17, who admitted giving the beer to the baby to "see how he would react," previously was charged with murder without malice.

Trammell was accused of selling two cans of beer to Tucker and his juvenile companion "well knowing" they were under 21.

A South Dakota preacher got his buck deer with a bow and arrow for the seventh consecutive year.

We are blushing

We're embarrassed. We'd like to tell you how smart we think we are about insurance. But it might sound like bragging.

But we can say this: We provide insurance for lots of people for various purposes. We keep up on all the new kinds of policies. We're right in the middle of insurance all the time.

So, we think we can qualify as insurance experts. And insurance is a complex subject, these days.

We can make it simple for you, if you'll come in to discuss the protections that you may need—and ask us what they'll cost.

MUSKOGEE BRAIN SURGEON IS SENT TO STATE MENTAL WARD

MUSKOGEE, OKLA., Sept. 27 (UP)—A prominent Muskogee brain specialist, who three weeks ago was cleared of manslaughter charges in the death of a woman "headache" patient, yesterday was forcibly committed to the state mental hospital at Norman.

Four deputy sheriffs handcuffed Dr. F. Hewitt and led him from his downtown office after his wife requested he be sent to the mental institution.

"If my wife has done this to me, I'll kill her," the doctor shouted at deputies as they removed him from his office.

Sheriff R. T. Syper said it "took four big men to handle him." Two deputies who originally were sent to the office had to call for reinforcements to get the doctor handcuffed and his arms strapped to his sides, Syper said.

Several years ago Hewitt had himself committed to a hospital to cure a drug addiction but resumed his medical practice when he felt he was cured.

County Judge James Powell, who signed the commitment papers said that Hewitt's wife asked for a sanity hearing which was conducted by Powell and two physicians.

Powell said they found that Hewitt was brooding, badly run down physically and in deep state of depression.

Hewitt's wife said she could no longer provide her husband with proper care at home, Powell said.

"The doctors and all concerned agreed that he be required physical and mental treatment," Powell said.

The judge said Hewitt would be taken to the veteran's hospital at Topeka, Kan., in about a month.

The doctor, whose practice grossed some $40,000 annually, was charged with manslaughter after the death of Mrs. Allen Shuler of Borger, Tex., a teacher who had gone to Hewitt's office for treatment of a severe headache.

Mrs. Shuler collapsed after the doctor gave her an injection of intracaine and died without regaining consciousness. Mrs. Shuler's husband and other witnesses, including a dentist in a nearby office, testified that Hewitt was drunk at the time.

Hewitt denied that he had been drinking. He said he had given Mrs. Shuler "approximately a dram" of gin in an effort to revive her.

Dentist Paul Whitman said he rode down in the elevator with Dr. Hewitt after Mrs. Shuler was taken to a hospital and quoted the specialist as saying "I'm drunker'n hell." Whitman said "his eyes seemed to have a glassy look."

Five doctors, though, testified that the case of Mrs. Shuler's death could not be determined. In releasing the doctor, city judge J.F. Beavers said he believed the physician "got scared and extremely nervous when he couldn't revive the woman, and started drinking, and not before."

Hints On Credit Buying Given By Credit President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (UP)—With everything going up, including onions, rents, and automobiles, a credit man gave me a few broad hints on how to buy things on time.

My authority is William J. Cheney, executive vice president of the National Foundation of Consumer Credit. He once was a professor at Rider College, Trenton, N. J.

Right here is an honest credit man. In fact, his advice is not to buy more than the budget can handle.

Cheyney has another dictum he would like to impress on the gullible buying public which too often swims into deep water:

"Buy wisely. There are no laws and never have been any, which protect boobies."

For one thing, he says, always read everything in a sales contract before you sign in. Everybody read the big type, but they also should make sure to read the small type, because there may be some clinkers among the ashes.

Here's some more Cheney advice:

1. Never "run away from your bills." If the kids get the miserics and it is necessary to give the doctor the ten-spot you planned to use as a payment on mama's girdle, explain it to the store and something probably will be worked out.

2. Always pay something each month on a charge account—even if it's only $5. Your contract may call for more, but the token payment will keep the collector off your back and may even discourage him from writing those nasty letters.

This business of consumer creeps now is being taught to our young. Some 409 high schools already have completed their courses.

The Retail Credit Institute, perhaps with an eye on new business has been furnishing the textbooks. The kids are taught how to get up a budget. They learn to discount the cost of food, clothing, rent, doctor bills and fun before they can consider what to spend for other things. They also are taught to "shop around" for the best buy—and the best credit terms.

The Story Behind World's Largest Hippopotamus

Wallace & Clark Wild Animal Circus prides itself upon presenting an outstanding feature attraction each year to the American public. The elephant herd of Wallace & Clark Circus was contracted last winter by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios to work in a picture entitled "Soldiers Three," and at that time, the manager of the circus had the opportunity to meet Mr. Emerson, head animal trainer of MGM studio. During the course of conversation, Mr. Wallace mentioned that he was looking for a feature for 1951 and Mr. Emerson informed him that on one of his trips to the Upper Nile River in Africa for his studio he had seen an enormous bloodsweating hippopotamus, too large and too vicious to be used in picture work, and through Mr. Emerson's cooperation, contact was made with Mr. Henry Trefflich, wild animal dealer, who sent a special expedition to Africa to bring this giant beast to America.

Shivers Will Speak To Texas Baptists

DALLAS, Sept. — Governor Allan Shivers will be the guest speaker when Texas Baptists dedicate their first home for unfortunate boys near Burnet October 16.

The new institution is Buckner Ranch for Boys, the second of three new units to be operated by Buckner Orphans Home in Dallas. Already in operation is Bethesda, a maternity home, San Antonio. Property has been purchased for a Haven for the Aged in Houston.

Including a plant of five ranch style Austin stone buildings, the Buckner Ranch is located in Burnet county about the same distance from Burnet, Marble Falls, and Llano. The buildings include a chapel-school, dining room-kitchen, general service building and two residence halls.

Forty-eight boys can be accommodated at the Ranch now. The capacity can be increased to 125 with the addition of more residence buildings.

Dr. J. Howard Williams, Dallas, executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will introduce Governor Shivers for the dedicatory address. In charge of the program is Robert Cooke Buckner, Dallas, general manager of Buckner Orphans Home.

Juvenile judges, probation officials of the State Department of Public Welfare, pastors, and the heads of institutions for children all over the Southwest have been invited to attend the Ranch dedication.

A ranch style luncheon and tour of the home will follow the ceremony.

The opening of the boys' ranch, the girls' home, and the home for the aged called Buckner Benevolences was approved by the Baptist General Convention in 1948.

Mailman Caught Storing Letters To Lighten Slack

TEXARKANA, Sept. 27 (UP)—A Texarkana mailman who used his apartment as a "dead letter office" to lighten his daily load was held under $500 bond here today charged with "detaining and delaying mail deliveries."

James V. McGuire, 34, a postman since 1943, waived preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Lois Griffin yesterday after postal inspectors found three bushel baskets filled with letters in his apartment.

Postal Inspector R. O. Estes quoted McGuire as saying he left letters at home over a period of several months when he thought his mail bag was too heavy.

Some of the letters found in the beer-bottle clustered apartment dated back to November, 1950.

PIONEER CONFERENCE FACE TOUGH WEEK OF PLAY

Pioneer Conference teams, winners of five of six games thus far this season, are due to encounter tough sailing this week as all member elevens play non-conference foes.

The 1950 conference champions, the San Angelo Rams, will open their season in what promises to be one of their hardest games of the year by playing Wharton Junior College, rated No. 1 in the nation last year. Coach Max Baumgardner's Rams have 15 returning lettermen and several outstanding freshmen recruits to throw at Wharton, which defeated the Cameron Aggies, 13-0, last week. The game will be played Saturday night at 8 a. m. in Angelo.

Three games are scheduled for Thursday night. Schreiner takes on Victoria Junior College at Kerrville; Ranger entertains Allen Academy at Ranger; and the Arlington State Rebels journey to Kilgore for a game with the Kilgore Rangers.

Coach Claude Gilstrap's Schreiner Mountaineers, 52-0 victors over Southwest Texas Junior College of Uvalde last week, should have a stern bout with Victoria Junior College, which drubbed Allen Academy 26-0, in the season opener. The Mountaineers last week uncorked a dazzling passer in Bobby Browner, who completed 13 of 24 aerials for a net gain of 283 yards. In addition, the Kerrville eleven also displayed two powerful runners in Leon Sefton and Rogers Douglas.

Ranger, after losing a heart-breaker, 14-12, to Midwestern University "B" team last week, should get back on the victory trail against Allen Academy, although the Bryan team is not to be considered too lightly. In Caddo Sanders and Buddy Hamrick the Rangers have two of the best running backs in the conference.

The rejuvenated Arlington State College Rebel, 40-0 victors over Decatur Baptist this week, with a wealth of backfield material in such runners as Charles Marshall, Sammy Carney, Don Bloom and Ronald Bond, together with the passing of Dee Windsor and Ken Dowd, should provide stiff competition for the perennially powerful Kilgore Junior College Rangers. But Kilgore, with a lop-sided victory over Navarro and a 14-7 victory over Del Mar of Corpus Christi last week, is favored over ASC.

Winding up the week's schedule Saturday night at Stephenville, the Tarleton State College Plowboys will play the powerful Paris Junior College Dragons. Paris rolled to an 18-0 victory over a better than average Henderson County Junior College team last week.

The Plowboys, with consecutive victories over Cisco and Blinn, are greatly improved this season, with the passing of Tommy Hudspeth and the running of such backs as Gene Harden, G. U. Wilson, and Edsal January, but they will probably be extended to the limit of keep their season's victory record against the Dragons.

Daughter Spurns Large Income

SAN JOSE, CALIF., Sept. 27 (UP)—Miss Gertrude Hoover, 68, has an income from a $250,000 legacy awaiting her, but she refuses to touch it, the Bank of America reported yesterday.

Her father, Henry Hoover, a pioneer traction man, left her his estate on his death in 1931, explaining he distrusted her "for business judgment." Miss Hoover tried unsuccessfully to break the

When she failed, he decided to spend the income from her inheritance. This year the income amounted to $17,631.

Ft. Worth Police Are Looking For "Cinderella"
FORT WORTH, Sept. 27 (UP)—Like Prince Charming, Fort Worth Police today looked for a "Cinderella" whose feet would fit the decisive slippers.
The slippers in this case were a pair left at the rear door of a home by a prowler. The intruder was flushed from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Overby when Mrs. Overby awakened to find their baby.
In his haste, the prowler failed to pick up his shoes which he had left at the rear door. Police late yesterday released a 17-year-old suspect — wrong size feet.

NO SURVIVORS

BY WILL HENRY

Copyright 1950 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with the publisher, Random House, Inc.

THE STORY: John Clayton, ex-Confederate colonel, goes West after the Civil War. As Fort Kearney he witnesses the carnage of the Army in marching troops onto the scene where negotiations for a treaty with Indians are in progress.

BY the middle of July, Carrington had garrisoned Fort Reno, just south of the Powder. Then, with attention to orders but little to sanity, he began building his new post, Fort Phil Kearney, 70 miles further north.

I had long since parted company with Ed Geary, he going on up the Bozeman Trail with our train, I staying on as a scout and most hunter for Carrington's command at Fort Kearney.

I was lounging in quarters, having been in the field the entire night previous, scouting a rumor of a giant war camp on the Tongue, when word came the captain wanted to see me.

I was immediately apprehensive. Fetterman was the one who had told Geary, "With 50 good men I could ride through the whole Sioux Nation." Earlier in the same day, one of the young officers had shown me a notebook kept by a private of his company, in which the latter had filed a list of game taken in the vicinity of the fort.

Scattered carelessly among the elk, bear, antelope, and buffalo, were "five common Indians."

It was with these thoughts I reported to Captain Fetterman, quickly learning my fears had been conservative.

"Clayton, we've got a wood train stuck over on the Tongue. Ambushed and surrounded. Care to scout the action for me?"

You're a gay blade, I thought to myself. Not every man would be so delighted at the prospect of having his brains pierced by a tomahawk. Aloud, I said, "I'll go. How many men are we taking?"

This was not presumptuous of me. I was a civilian scout. It was understood I had the right to refuse service, to question tactics. Of course such an attitude persevered in was not conducive to long enjoyment.

"Forty," he went on, in reply to my question. "Colonel Carrington insisted. Taking no chances, you know."

TWO hours hard riding brought us within sound of firing. Lieutenant Wanda and I went in ahead, scouting. We brought Fetterman back what appeared to be good news. The train, which I now knew had a guard of 20 soldiers, was in excellent defensive position, the five wagons half-circled up against an overhanging bluff, 200 yards from the river on their front. There was a steady rifle fire pouring from the wagons. Twelve men were visible, on their feet and fighting.

On Fetterman's command we went crowbaying down into the river valley, our troops yelling, brandishing sabers, recklessly discharging side arms.

Our appearance heartened the defenders of the wood wagons and apparently demoralized the hostiles, for with echoing whoops they scattered off up the valley. In the van of their gallant pursuers galloped the eager Hussein, fat from six months of Army oats, while in his rocking saddle went Civilian Scout J. B. Clayton, for that moment and action quite as fat as his name, notably in certain regions bounded by the hair and ears.

Past the wagons we went, pell-mell, on up the valley after the "cowardly redskins." No sooner had the last of our troops cleared rifle-range of the wagons than the hills on both sides of the shallow Tongue disgorged such a lively number of interested friends and relatives of our intended victims as shortly to put in our rear, and between us and the wagons, no less than 100 Sioux and Cheyennes. It was a beautiful trap. Fetterman actually gave a shout of pleasure when he saw our predicament. Splitting his command, he sent Lieutenant Wanda and 30 men in a pistol-charge back at the Indians in our rear. Then with a joyous yell he led the remaining eight troopers on a wild dash toward the 150 savages above us.

The ranks in front of us opened up like a great scarlet maw, swallowing Fetterman and his eight troopers whole. By some miracle I got through, breaking out behind the sixth-hundred warriors into the clear. By the time I could check Hussein, I beheld an equal miracle. Fetterman was still mounted, though the length of his torso at that minute could have been counted in seconds on the fingers of one hand. The futures of his eight men were behind them.

THE Indians checked momentarily, by my unexpected return and kept from slaughtering us with arrow-fire by the fact they couldn't shoot without hitting each other, now swept forward to finish us off with lances. As they came, I fired.

At such close quarters the effect was devastating. A path literally did open in the direction of my fire, the Indians pulling their charging ponies aside to get out of the way.

Behind us the Indians reformed, streaming after us in a wave. Their bows were busy now, the air around us was hissing with arrows.

Before us lay no apparent escape. I had thought to try and join the survivors of the 30 troopers, should there be any, but on all the field not one showed, while between us and the wagons lay a sea of red warriors. At least 100 rode at us from the front, the remaining scores closing in on the wagons for the kill. I can remember, an instant before we hit them, hearing a great cheer go up from the wagons. Our men had seen us.

A foolish phrase flashed through my mind. "Well, Eyes-and-Beak-of-the-Hawk, you will never have a better audience for your Magic-with-the-little-guns performance." Then the pistols were in my hands.

"heartbreak ridge" a few miles away.

Fifty MIGs intercepted 34 American F-86 Sabrejets in the latest large-scale dogfight in "MIG Alley" just south of the Yalu River, Manchurian border shortly before noon (11 p.m. Wednesday EDT).

The mass dogfight raged all the way from 10,000 up to 30,000 feet. It ended with two Communist jets damaged and the rest in flight toward their Manchurian sanctuary. All Sabrejets returned safely to base.

The victory topped the three-day tally of UN air fleets to six MIG jets shot down, one probably destroyed and 19 damaged. One American Sabrejet was shot down Wednesday and an Australian Meteor jet damaged, while another American jet was damaged Tuesday.

All the air clashes occurred in "MIG Alley" stretching from Sinaju on the Yalu River border to Sinaju, 75 miles to the south-east.

In each case, the Red aimed to break up American jet formations screening fighter-bombers which attacked enemy reinforcement and supply convoys and facilities on the route from Manchuria.

On the east-central ground front UN infantrymen drove the Communists from a second hill in as many days Wednesday north-west of Yanggu.

Duke Of Windsor Visits London

LONDON, Sept. 27 (UP) — King George VI's doctors today issued most encouraging bulletin since his lung operation and the Duke of Windsor called at Buckingham Palace to pay his respects.

The doctors said the king is stronger, his appetite is improving and his progress continued. Part or all of one of the King's lungs, and one or more ribs were removed Sunday.

The Duke of Windsor whose abdication as King Edward VIII for "the woman I love" in 1936 put his younger brother on the throne, drove through the palace gates in a black limousine at noon (7 a.m. EDT).

The Duke remained in the palace 55 minutes. He talked to King George's private secretary, Sir Alan Lascelles, but did not see the King. It is understood that not even a member of the royal family except Queen Elizabeth has been permitted into the sick room.

Ironically, Windsor is in London to participate in the publication today of his memoirs, "A King's Story," in which he tells his version of the abdication and his romance with his American-born duchess, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson.

The two brothers who played major roles in the greatest royal romance in modern history shared space in the British press today. Almost every London newspaper devoted many columns to reviews of the Duke's book. They generally were favorable.

The memoirs disclosed Windsor's deep affection for his brother and his confidence in his ability to carry on.

"He would make a fine King; I was confident of that," the Duke wrote.

There was a murmur of excitement throughout the crowd of several hundred at the palace gates when the Duke arrived. He was wearing a gray lounge suit and waved as his car passed through the big forecourt.

No Sparking!

Wind-blown sparks from smoldering bonfires often cause destructive fires, so safety officials recommend keeping a galvanized steel pail filled with water near all bonfires. The safe way to douse fires with water is to stand at a safe distance from their flames.

KOREAN WAR BRIDE — The first war bride of the Korean war, Mrs. Insook Choi Mosher, is seen aboard the U. S. Army's rotation ship, "Red Ball Express." Just before sailing from Korea to Japan, she married M/Sgt. Maurice W. Mosher, of Glen Lyon, Pa., of the 24th Infantry Division, at Taegu, Korea. The couple will live in Hawaii.

Despite the optimistic morning medical bulletin, the frail 55-year-old king still was not out of danger. Buckingham Palace said last night that "there will inevitably be a period of some anxiety for the next week or ten days."

New, Faster Red Jets In Battles

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS Korea, Sept. 27 (UP) — New, faster Communist jets challenged American Sabrejets over northwest Korea for the third straight day today, but were driven back into Manchuria with two damaged.

The 84-plane battle raged in the United Nations zone in three days of heavy aerial fighting in 26 Soviet-built MIG jets destroyed or damaged.

The Red pilots were becoming increasingly aggressive in their challenge to American air superiority over the northwest corner of Korea.

An Air Force spokesman said the Communists appeared to be using a modified, faster version of their MIG-15.

However, they have not begun using Russia's new MIG-19 jets yet, he said.

Communist pilots also have improved, the spokesman said. It was believed that European supervisors—German, Russian or both—were giving the Chinese and North Korean pilots intensive training in combat tactics.

On the ground, 8th Army troops threw the Communists off another vital hill northwest of Yanggu on the east-central front, but the Reds still clung to vital

Actor Sued For $180,000

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27 (UP) — Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd, champion of law and order on movie and TV screens, was having legal troubles today with his former press agent.

John A. Daley went to court yesterday to demand a $180,000 judgment of $40,000, he said he helped the cowboy star earn last year.

Daley said he helped Boyd and his general manager, Bob Stabler, form two corporations last Dec. 31, Daley said, and still owes him the $180,000.

Gertie Galloway Honored With Gift Tea In Arterburn Home

Miss Gertie Galloway, bride-elect of Cpl. John Slaughter of Cisco and now stationed at Carswell Air Base in Fort Worth, was honored with a gift tea Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Walter Arterburn.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Arterburn, Miss Galloway, Mrs. V. A. Galloway, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. M. Slaughter of Cisco, mother of the bridegroom-to-be.

Mrs. J. B. Houghton, Sr., and Mrs. Earl Blackwell, Jr., showed the lovely gifts displayed in the bedroom.

The refreshment table was laid with an arrangement of white asters in a crystal bowl. The table appointments were crystal and silver. Mrs. D. A. Faucett presided at the punch bowl. Punch and attractive white cake squares centered with a "S" in orchid icing was served.

A host of friends called during the afternoon, among whom were the grandmother of the bridegroom-to-be, Mrs. J. R. Slaughter of Cisco, also an aunt, Mrs. R. L. Slaughter and his mother, Mrs. M. Slaughter.

Hostesses for the tea were Meses J. B. Houghton, Sr., Earl Blackwell, Jr., Ralph Perkins, W. A. Faucett and Walter Arterburn. The wedding will be solemnized Tuesday, October 2 at the First Baptist Church of Ranger.

Medical Society And Auxiliary Met Tuesday

The five counties, Eastland, Callahan, Stephen, Shackelford, and Throckmorton Medical Society, met at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, September 25, at the Connelley Hotel Roof Garden for a joint dinner with the Auxiliary.

After the dinner the doctors entered into a business meeting presided over by the president, Dr. Robert Evans of Clyde. The secretary-treasurer is Dr. W. P. Watkins of Ranger.

W. E. Syers, public relations counselor for the State Medical Association spoke to the group and Phillip R. Overton, attorney for the State Medical Association also spoke to the doctors on "Recent Advances by the State Medical Association."

While the doctors were having the business meeting, the Auxiliary was taken on a tour of the Horton Ceramics Plant.

After the tour, the women met in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jim Whittington for a business meeting presided over by Mrs. E. L. Graham of Cisco.

Those attending from Ranger were Dr. and Mrs. John White, Dr. and Mrs. Kuykendall, Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Harris, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Watkins, Dr. A. W. Brazda and Dr. Jack H. Booth.

Shivers Meeting With Democrats In Snyder

SNYDER, Sept. 27 (UP)—A "social" meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee here today possessed all the explosive potential of a volcano but party bigwigs were determined that any "eruption" would come in the future.

Whether any fireworks occur depended upon the strength with which Gov. Allan Shivers controls the party and there was little doubt that he would allow the committee to get out of control.

About the only business certain to come up at the social gathering was the naming of three and possibly four new members. These would succeed Charles G. Gibson of Amarillo, Mrs. Guy C. Blount of Nacogdoches, the late Mrs. Eva Ruth Sewell of Decatur and possibly Mrs. Bernice Newman of Bonham who recently submitted her resignation to committee chairman J. E. Wheat of Woodville.

But all other business matters, controversial or not, were expected to need approval of the resolutions committee before being discussed and Gov. Shivers had almost certain control of the committee.

The new election laws sparked with controversy. One committee member, Mrs. Lillian Collier of Mumford, last week circulated a letter among committee members expressing her regret that Gov. Shivers signed the election bill. She said his action would undermine the Democratic Party in Texas.

Mrs. Collier was considered likely to seek debate on the new election code.

In the same vein was a resolution by Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd which he forward-

Little Pamela Jeane Dennis was honored on her second birthday Wednesday, September 26, from 3 until 4:30 p.m. by her mother, Mrs. Dwayne Dennis, at her home, 1102 Young Street, in Ranger.

Pamela greeted the guests as they arrived and escorted them to the lawn where they played games and pictures in color film were made.

After a number of games, the guests gathered in the dining room to view the beautiful white birthday cake trimmed in tiny pink rose buds and centered with the name "Pamela." The cake graced a reflector surrounded frilly lace.

A refreshment plate of ice cream and birthday cake with favors of story books were served to the following: Lynn, Gene and Wayne Dye, Kenny Cogburn, Randy Beskow, Jimmy Bullock, all of Eastland.

David, Randy and Cherrye Mahaffey, Judy and Randall Paul Herring, Dorothy Ann Oliver and Leland White of Ranger.

Democrats greater power at the National meeting.

The governor, though, has indicated he plans to go all the way as a loyal Democrat, even to the point of voting for President Truman if the president should win the nomination.

Such a delegation would give the governor greater bargaining power in the struggle for restoration of the two-thirds rule—a move which would give Southern ed to Wheat. In it Shepperd proposed that a resolution be adopted tightening requirements on the party loyalty pledge. Shepperd believed that signing the party pledge should be a first order of business at precinct and county conventions and that violations of the pledge should result in purge, from the party.

The governor, though, said the new laws would strengthen the party's policing its own ranks.

The governor was expected to make the Snyder meeting occasion for laying the groundwork for an unconstructed delegation to the National Convention in 1952.

Service Pipe Promotes Former Bowie Man

LUBBOCK, Sept. 27 — Wilfred A. Colvin, formerly of Bowie, has been appointed industrial relations supervisor for the West Texas division of Service Pipe Line Co., C. E. Wilson, division manager, announced today.

A native of Kansas, Colvin joined the pipe line company as a laborer in 1941. Promoted to division clerk in 1947, he was transferred to Bowie. Prior to his appointment as an industrial relations supervisor, he studied industrial relations in the company's general office at Tulsa.

The Service Pipe Line Co., a transporter of crude oil, maintains a division office in Lubbock and gathers approximately 150,000 barrels of crude oil per day from West Texas and New Mexico fields. This is transported by the company's Slaughter station-Drumright, Okla. 16-inch pipe line to refining centers in the vicinity of Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago. About 200 persons are employed in the West Texas division.

Mounting Red Air Power May Be Sign Of Big Push

The most reliable signpost to what the Communists are planning to do in Korea is the amount of air power they use. For three days they have been using more than usual.

There have been a series of dog fights in what the United Nations pilots call "Mig Alley," 75 miles of territory stretching southward from the Chinese Communist border. The UN Air Force has been winning, not because its jet planes are better but because most of the pilots are superior to the Reds in aerial tactics.

The situation shakes down to this:

1. The Communists cannot defeat the UN army unless they go in for unrestricted aerial warfare, and they know it.
2. If they go all out in the air, it means that Russia will have to take a more active role in the fighting. She will have to supply all of the planes and most of the pilots.
3. If and when she does that, she is looking into the abyss of World War III.

What has been going on in "Mig Alley" for three days would appear to be the Communists testing their wings. They have about 1,000 planes on or near the Manchurian border, but have been committing them to the fighting in comparatively small batches—60 at the most and more often 20.

The U. S. Air Force has testified that the Communist planes are excellent. The Mig-15, a Russian built jet fighter, has a power plant that is superior in some respects to the best thing America can put into the air. And here are reports of even faster enemy jets in action. Obviously, what the Reds are doing is letting their pilots learn the hard way by sending them into battle just as a child is pitched into the water to learn how to swim.

The U. S. Air Force saved the war in the separate days of the Pusan Beach head and—with the Allied navy—has provided the UN Army with superior striking power. Jellied gasoline dropped from UN planes is the thing the Communist foot soldier dreads most of all.

It is a safe assumption that one reason the Reds have been stalling on the cease-fire talks is that they want to decide what to do about air power. That is a decision that no Chinese or North Korean general can make because the planes don't belong to either one of them. They belong to Josef Stalin. What he probably wants is iron-clad assurance that if 1,000 Russian-built planes are thrown into a general offensive, the United Nations army will be driven into the sea. Any field commander who gives that assurance realizes he has a dim future if he doesn't make good.

If the tempo of the Red aerial activity increases, it may mean

Senator Wants AEC To Go Dry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (UP)—Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D., Okla., said today that the Atomic Energy Commission replied with two pages of "bureaucratic verbiage" to his demand that it suspend liquor stores at its projects.

Kerr noted in a letter to his constituents in dry Oklahoma that he had complained that such liquor stores invite workers to violate AEC rules against drinking on the job.

The Senator said AEC chairman Gordon Dean did not "make any real case for his liquor business," although the official explained that the stores would make it more convenient for workers at the isolated projects to drink nearer home.

"Just because (he says) drinking has been an 'intrinsic problem' that the Communists have decided to try one more big battle. If it dwindles, there yet may be a chance for arranging a cease-fire, in the past," Kerr said, "is no real assurance that the future will not be affected by the new availability."

OPS Announces New Amendment

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27—The Fort Worth Office of Price Stabilization announced Thursday an amendment to its beef regulation to permit the keeping and handling of ungraded and ungraded beef which has been certified to be for home consumption by resident farm operators or livestock raisers.

The amendments, effective Oct. 1, 1951, are No. 4 to Distribution Regulation 2, and No. 1 to CPR 26, Revised, Kasher Beef Sold at Retail. The retail beef Ceiling Price Regulation, CPR 25, Revised, contains a similar provision as the amendment to CPR 26, Revised.

Under these regulations every person who slaughtered livestock or had livestock custom slaughtered for him was required to grade and grademark all beef produced. OPS explained this placed a burden on resident farm operators and livestock raisers who were permitted to slaughter or have slaughtered, cattle for home consumption.

Although all of the meat was to be used for home consumption and none of it would enter commercial channels, they were required to grade and grademark all the meat they produced.

The amendment to DR 2 eliminates a requirement that meat produced by resident farm operators and livestock raisers for home consumption be graded and grademarked.

The revision of CPR 25, and the amendment to CPR 26, Revised, permit retailers to store and keep this ungraded and ungraded beef in locker plants and other places of storage for home consumers. The amendments and revision also provide that the retailer who keeps this meat must identify by wrapping and marking these meats placed in his establishment.

The grading exemptions provided for in today's amendments are in no event applicable to beef resulting from livestock slaughter up to 6,000 pounds of beef terminated by or for Class 3 slaughterers who are permitted to sell. READ THE CLASSIFIEDS
