34TH YEAR

RANGER TIMES, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1953

PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 132

This was an official report as published in a Los Angeles newspaper the other day: "Police can find no reason for suicide. The man was unmarried."

The other day Joe Dennis, publisher of The Times, got a letter. Every day Joe gets mail. And lots of it.

But the letter we're speaking of was something—well, sort of special. It was from overseas. From Korea, to be exact.

Penned by Chaplain Jasper C. Massee, former pastor of Ranger's Second Baptist Church, the letter will probably be interesting and informative to most of our audience.

The epistle was datelined Masan, Korea, on April 12. Here it is: Dear Joe: It is good to have friends like you—especially when several thousand miles separate you from home. I was thinking of you, your family, and the whole editorial staff—thought I'd write a few lines.

The work is increasingly challenging and inspiring. Our contacts with people, both military and civilian, increases the belief that a brotherhood is possible among all men. Understanding and goodwill can and must prevail.

Republic of Korea. Chaplains now number a hundred and forty. A Chaplain, Yoon, has been my interpreter on several occasions of speaking in churches in Masan. You will find it located on the map near Pusan, the largest refugee city in the world, having over a million refugees. I will speak at one of the churches again Sunday in addition to my three scheduled services for our soldiers. I spoke to a group of Korean medical students, and at a veteran hospital with many Korean amputees, last week. The privilege of working with an oriental people gives me a realization of a desire of several years to become a missionary to these people.

I have opportunities to distribute clothing where it is needed most—a large section on a hillside of Masan has refugees. Until a few months ago, many of these were living in holes and caves along the hillside. Through United Nations Relief, they have houses, churches, schools. Perhaps relief to refugees, orphanages, old folks' homes, is being given on the biggest scale in history.

All of our chapel offerings go into channels of relief and missionary activity. I wonder if the ministerial alliance and the churches of Ranger would like to direct any portion of clothing for Koreans through my work. I would be personally happy to distribute to the most needy persons any clothing sent to me. Those sending clothes through organizations or individually will be abundantly repaid in blessing and personal satisfaction.

It was an interesting experience to preach for the Masan Methodists, in my stocking feet, leaving my boots at the door. The women, outnumbering the men, sat on one side, and the men on the other. One mother stood in the back of the church rocking her baby tied with a blanket on her back. The baby was quite contented. The hymns were beautifully sung to our familiar tunes.

I am enclosing a bulletin with an order of service. Maybe you can read my name in line No. 8, in Korean. I speak for the Presbyterians next Sunday. They were first to do missionary work here.

SILAGE MEET THURSDAY AT RANGER C OF C

E. R. Eudaly of the livestock division of Universal Mills and formerly of the extension staff of Texas A&M College, College Station, will be the featured speaker during a special meeting of farmers and stockmen to be held at the office of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

The Thursday night session, according to Charlie Joe Owen, president of the local C of C group, has been called for the purpose of further discussion of the chamber's silage program to aid and benefit farmers and livestock raisers in the Ranger area.

During his Thursday night address, Eudaly will stress the importance — and the profit — of silage.

All dairymen and ranchmen and others interested in the program are cordially invited to attend, says Morris Newham, chairman of the Ranger C of C's agricultural and livestock committee which is sponsoring the proposed silage program.

Coffee and cookies will be served. The program, as planned by the local chamber, would be aided in the Ranger area through the C of C's purchase of a silage cutter which would be loaned to farmers and ranchmen interested in the plan. General purpose of the program, Newham points out, is to encourage the building of silos — trench and upright — for feed storage purposes.

A bulldozer also will be made available to cooperating stockmen and dairymen to be used in digging the trench silos.

In addition to Newham, other members of the chamber's agricultural and livestock committee are E. T. Smith, Lee Everhart, James W. Ratliff, L. H. Hagaman, T. C. Wylie, H. G. Adams, J. D. Johnson and John Tibbles.

County Officials Switch Offices; Space Is Gained

Several changes have been noted at the courthouse during the past few days.

The county treasurer's office has been moved to the room formerly occupied by the Child Welfare Department, on the second floor, and Mr. Moore, District Head of the Welfare office is now located on the third floor at the rear of the 91st District courtroom.

The room formerly occupied by the county treasurer, has been taken over as a work and stock room by the county auditor.

Retail Sales Hit New High During March

Retail sales in Texas are still booming, the Bureau of Business Research said today.

After an unusually high January, followed by a somewhat quieter February, sales bounded back to high levels in March, the University of Texas research agency reported.

Allowing for the fact that Easter came a week earlier, sales at mid-April were still well ahead of last year's. Cut-price promotions of pre-Easter merchandising a year ago were not so prevalent this year.

Sales of durable goods, that usually slump around Easter, held up well this year.

Welcome Moisture Tuesday—

Rains Drench County Area

Welcome spring downpours, ranging from less than a half up to an inch, soaked the Eastland County area late Tuesday.

Main-threatening, overcast skies which had been giving promise of moisture since earlier Tuesday morning, finally pelted off with downpours which began over the area between 4 and 8 p.m.

Only traces of rainfall were registered in the section last night following the late afternoon showers.

And this morning a bright sun and clear skies dispelled the hope of more moisture for the vicinity in the near future.

In Dallas the U. S. Weather Bureau today issued this five-day forecast for the West Texas area for the April 18-May 3 period:

West Texas: Temperatures about two degrees above normal. Normal minimum 42-54 in north and 54-65 in south, normal maximum 42-54 in north and 54-65 in south normal maximum 72-88. Cool Wednesday, followed by a warming trend until Friday, when it will become cooler.

Today's forecast for Eastland County and vicinity called for "partly cloudy and slightly cooler" today, clearing Thursday. Today's high—about 75—and the night's low will be between 55 and 60 degrees.

It'll be fair and slightly warmer Thursday, according to the weatherman. The Thursday afternoon top mercury reading is due to be between 80 and 85 degrees. The North Central Texas outlook: "Partly cloudy today and tonight; Thursday, partly cloudy and mild.

For West Texas: "Partly cloudy today and Thursday. Cooler and windy Wednesday."

CHANCEL GROUP TO PRESENT 'GOOD SAMARITAN' SUNDAY

Mr. Harvey Faust, Minister of Music at the Methodist Church in LaMarque, Tex., will be the baritone soloist for the presentation of the Sacred Cantata "The Good Samaritan" (Runkle). Mr. Faust, the guest of the Chancel Choir of Ranger Methodist Church, will be in Ranger for the service Sunday evening. His wife and two children will accompany him on the trip.

The Chancel Choir of the Methodist Church, extends a cordial invitation to the public to hear this great work Sunday morning, May 3rd at 10:50 o'clock. Rev. Garland Lavender, pastor of the church, has graciously approved the presentation of this musical service which will be given during the time of the regular worship hour. The cantata, with text chosen largely from the scriptures, will be an integral portion of the morning worship service, with the pastor presiding.

The soprano solos will be sung by Miss Nella Faye Colvin, student at Ranger Junior College. The Contralto solo will be sung by Mrs. Gene Massengale of Ranger. Both of these ladies are members of the Chancel Choir. Mr. Jack McClure and Mr. Lambeth Crabb, both of Breckenridge, and Miss Colvin and Mrs. Massengale will comprise the quartet which sing a portion of the cantata.

Mr. Faust will sing the role of Jesus; Miss Colvin will portray the part of the Narrator; and Mr. McClure will sing the part of the Seribe. Incidental baritone solos will be sung by Mr. Crabb, and the incidental contralto solo by Mrs. Massengale.

Miss Mildred Balch, church organist, will be at the console for the entire service.

HOUSE OKAYS BILL TO KILL LOCAL COURT

The statewide court redistricting bill which would abolish Eastland County's 21st District Court was passed by the Texas House of Representatives in Austin Tuesday by an overwhelming vote of 118 to 24.

Now it goes to the Senate for a final vote. It appears probable that the measure also will win a top-heavy vote by members of the upper chamber.

After that, following the final signature of Gov. Allan Shivers, it will become law.

Redistricting the courts to adjust to population growth and shifts was suggested to the legislature by Gov. Shivers when the session began last fall.

Under terms of the statewide bill, the two districts would be added, 19 changed in some manner and 10 left unchanged. One district would be discontinued.

That district would be the 91st at Eastland.

It would be combined, under terms of the legislative proposal, with the 90th District Court composed of Stephens and Young Counties.

Prior to the introduction of the statewide redistricting bill several weeks ago, Rep. Omar Burkett of Eastland had offered a local bill which also would combine the 91st and 90th districts.

Following House passage of the measure, Rep. Burkett delayed further action on his bill pending final disposition of the statewide bill which now goes to the Senate.

Mr. Coalson, 76, was buried in a Dallas cemetery last Thursday following funeral services held that afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Ed C. Smith Bros. Chapel in that city.

Mr. Coalson succumbed in a Dallas hospital following an illness of several weeks.

Friends here recall that Coalson owned and operated a drug store in Strawn for 16 years, was engaged in the drug business in Threeforkton for a period of 6 years and had worked as a pharmacist at drug stores in Olney, Eastland, Ranger, Weatherford, Dallas and Liberty.

Mr. Coalson, born in Erath County on June 3, 1876, is survived by his widow, Willie L. Coalson, of Dallas; one daughter, Ida Faye Gunn of Dallas; two sons, W. H. Coalson of Liberty and Norman R. Coalson of Dallas; two sisters, six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Denies State's Overwhelming Evidence—

Brown's Testimony Is Heard in Slaying Trial

Defendant Says He Flew Dallas To Dodge Payments; Victim's Father Testifies

Donald Hawkins Brown, 24-year-old fiery-thatched ex-Dallas bus driver charged with the brutal New Year's Eve slaying of Joe Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Campbell of Ranger, was on the stand for two grueling hours Tuesday in Judge Henry King's Criminal District Court in Dallas.

Brown's testimony highlighted the second day of the sensational trial which opened Monday.

District Attorney Henry Wade, demanding that Brown be found guilty of the fiendish guntorch slaying of the 25-year-old Dallas finance company collector and sentenced to death in the electric chair at Huntsville, was relentless in his questioning of the defendant.

Prior to the beginning of the defense testimony yesterday, District Attorney Wade and his aides had wound up the bulk of the prosecution's case with an overwhelming avalanche of circumstantial evidence.

During Tuesday's action in dramatic trial, the defendant and his counsel desperately sought to shake the state's strong case.

The father of the victim, Charles A. Campbell of Ranger, testified during Tuesday's session.

The elder Campbell's testimony related to one of the state's chief exhibits—a key case which was found in the bathroom of the South Dallas apartment house where Brown and his wife and two children were making their home at the time of the brutal slaying.

Embossed on the key case were these words: "Leveille Motor Company, Box 4, Phone 217, Ranger, Texas, Since 1919."

Campbell, one of the owners of the local motor firm, testified that he had given his son a key case of exactly that kind on Dec. 26 or 27.

Dr. Morton F. Mason, Parkland Hospital toxicologist, testified that the blood on Brown's discarded trousers, found in the attic of Brown's former home, was type O — the same type as Campbell's.

And so was some blood Detective M. E. Tucker found in Brown's driveway, the doctor said.

Further, Dr. Mason testified, he had analyzed a red leather chargeplate case which Detective T. O. Pope said he had found under a pile of clothes in the bathroom of that home. The case, he said, bore this imprint:

MR. E. J. CAM BELL, 220 LAW DA DR, DALLAS TEXAS

There had been testimony Monday that Campbell had lived at 2240 Lansdale Drive until a few weeks before he was pulled from a flaming, gasoline-soaked automobile on New Year's Eve, a block and a half away from Brown's apartment at 3302 Elihu. He had been shot three times in the head with a .25 caliber automatic pistol.

Brown was calm and soft spoken on the witness stand under questioning by Defense Atty. Harvey Lindsay. His demeanor changed only slightly when Dist. Atty. Henry Wade bared into his story on cross-examination.

He admitted buying a .25-caliber automatic pistol from Aaron Wald's store on Deep Elm last summer, "for my wife." He said he did not have the gun by the time he moved to Elihu Street. "I missed the gun about a month or so after I bought it," he told Lindsay.

Brown admitted that Campbell had come and seen him on the afternoon of Dec. 31, about car payments that were nearly four months in arrears. They talked, he said, and they went together in Campbell's car to Brown's mother's home on Dieman Drive, beyond White Rock Lake.

There, said Brown, although his mother was not at home, he went into the house and got $50 in bills of various denominations from a cedar chest, where his mother often kept money which he knew he was free to take if he needed.

He paid Campbell the $50, said Brown, and they drove back to Elihu Street, where they sat at the car and talked for about half an hour.

"He (Campbell) was to come the next day and get the balance of the three payments I owed. He said he would try to be back about noon the next day. He left after 5 o'clock, driving east toward Second Avenue. He was alone."

Brown said he went inside, ate supper, spent the evening with his wife and two small children driving around White Rock Lake, came home and went to bed.

The next day, he admitted, he left Dallas and drove to Fort Worth, where they took an apartment, as "Jewel and Herbert Gross" and family.

"I did that," he said, "in order to keep the finance company from Breckenridge this afternoon at 2 o'clock for J. H. Brown, 80-year-old pioneer Stephens County man who died there Monday night following an illness of several weeks."

Mr. Brown, who was born Dec. 6, 1872 in Kaufman County, had been a resident of Breckenridge since 1878. He was united in marriage with Rosa Lee Kinchen in 1896. His late wife preceded him in death in 1931.

Mr. Brown was a retired stock farmer and real estate man. Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Ola Mae Cole of Breckenridge and Frank Brown of Dallas; four grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Ella Dasher of Los Angeles.

Tommy Higdon, 25-year-old World War II veteran and former Ranger resident, died this morning in the Veteran's Hospital at Dallas.

Mr. Higdon, who was born and raised in Ranger, is the son of Mrs. Gladys Higdon of Ranger. His father, Joe Higdon, preceded him in death several years ago.

The veteran had been in serious condition since last July and had been receiving hospital treatment for many weeks. Prior to his ill health, he had been residing in Lubbock where he was in the employ of Sears-Roebuck & Co.

Mr. Higdon, a graduate of Ranger High School, served in the U. S. Army and the U. S. Air Force during World War II.

In addition to his mother of Ranger, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ruth Higdon of Lubbock, and an aunt, Mrs. James Higdon of Ranger.

Funeral arrangements were pending at noon today.

PROSECUTOR HENRY WADE Dallas DA Hammering Away To Send Brown To Electric Chair

finding me until I could catch up with my payments."

He said he didn't even know Campbell was dead until he himself was arrested on Jan. 14 in Fort Worth.

The bloodstained trousers found in the attic, he said, "look like mine." He said he had left them in the attic with some other things that he could not get into the car at the time he moved his family to Fort Worth.

He explained the bloodstains this way: "Two or three weeks before Christmas I was wearing the pants and changing the tire of my car with a lug wrench when it slipped and hit my face and broke a tooth and cut my lip. Blood got on my clothes. I changed clothes and threw the pants aside."

Lindsay tried to get Brown to testify what his own blood type was, but prosecutors objected. Finally, Lindsay asked, "Would you be willing to have your blood typed now?"

"Yes, I would."

Assistant District Attorneys James K. Allen and Ray Stokes immediately said they would join in asking for Brown's blood to be typed.

"All right," said Lindsay, "but we're not going to have Dr. Mason do it. He works for the city and the county."

Brown said he had never placed Campbell's briefcase on a rafter in the garage of the Elihu Street apartment, and never stuffed Pacific Finance Company ledger cards under the garage's plank floor, where detectives testified they

Five New Tests Staked

Oil interest in the Eastland County area was spurred considerably early today with the announcements of five new tests.

The projects were staked near Carbon, Ranger, Rising Star and Cisco.

Spotted as a wildcat three miles northeast of Carbon was the No. 1 V. S. Day of H. L. Millington & Lewis Mayfield, et al, of Rising Star. The new venture is a 1,500-foot rotary test 150 feet from north and 1,050 feet from west lines of the 150-acre lease in the southeast quarter of Section 44, Block 2, H&TC Survey.

S. C. Thompson of Ranger has announced location for the No. 1 E. A. Thompson, a wildcat seven miles southwest of Ranger on an 85-acre lease.

Thompson's test has been contracted for 1,500 feet with cable tools. The project has been staked 700 feet from the south and 230 feet from the east lines of Section 49, League 3-4, McLennan CSL Survey.

Jack Halley of Cisco spotted his No. 3 Robert A. Sene 2 and a half mile northwest of Rising Star in the Sandford Blake Field.

Five miles northeast of Cisco, Johnson & Waters of Cisco have spotted a 1,995-foot test—the No. 1 Honey Hole.

Alinsky's test is scheduled to be down to 1,700 feet with cable tools and the site is 735 feet north and 635 feet from the east line of Section 25, ET Survey. It is on a 120-acre lease.

Also in the Rising Star area is a 3,200-foot wildcat, to be put down by J. J. Rogers and L. B. Thomas of Waco. Their newest venture, announced Tuesday, is the No. 1 W. C. Hammitt two miles west of Rising Star. The test is located 3,300 feet from east and 2,000 feet from south lines of section 1, block 2, I&GN Survey.

Five miles northeast of Cisco, Johnson & Waters of Cisco have spotted a 1,995-foot test—the No. 1 Honey Hole.

The project is located 150 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of Section 39, Block 4, H&TC Survey.

Also announced is completion of the Don H. Peaker No. 1 Viola Cenozoic, located eight miles northwest of Cisco in Section 39, Block 14, H&TC Survey.

The well, according to a report, has been completed for a daily gauge of 18 barrels of 39 gravity oil and 40 per cent water, flowing through 34-64 choke with pocket on casing and 100 pounds on tubing from 40 perforations at 1,700-65 feet. Casing was set on bottom at 1,71 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 900-1.

Texas Cancer Crusade Shows Great Growth

Vigorous local Cancer Crusades over the state have helped Texas score a new record this year for passing the half-way point of the Crusade financial goal.

As of that date, a total of $325,750.72 was either pledged or in the bank. This figure is 54.29 per cent of the 1933 state goal of $600,000.

The total represents funds reported by Crusade Chairmen, memorial contributions and other gifts received at state headquarters during the year (to be credited to county Crusades) and funds either pledged or received from federated "one-fund" drives.

Outlook Encouraging
All in all the outlook is encouraging for the Texas Division to reach its goal this year, according to Division President Travis T. Wallace of Dallas.

However, he cautioned against over-optimism.

"At this point in the Crusade,

Ordinary Citizens Must Be Alert, Else Fishing and Camping Rights On Lakes and Streams May Vanish

A dangerous threat to the right of ordinary Texas citizens to fish, camp and picnic on lakes around dams to be constructed on public streams, is seen in an apparently developed trend of the present Legislature to eliminate the right of eminent domain in all new legislation creating new Water Districts.

Sounding the alarm for the "pole fishermen and the city fathers and mothers who want to take the kids to the lake for weekend outings" is Judge J. E. Starrock, General Manager of the Texas Water Conservation Association.

"Eliminating the right of eminent domain for those charged with running the affairs of a Water District, is in effect making it impossible for the rank and file of Texans to use the recreation facilities much of our total is due to funds pledged by county units which participated in united fund drives last fall. That money was pledged before we began our April Crusade," he said.

Second Half Harder
"This simply means that the second half of the Texas goal will come harder than the first half did."

Mr. Wallace emphasized that getting the "cancer story" to the public, "in order that lives may be saved by early diagnosis and prompt medical treatment" was the primary aim of the American Cancer Society.

He added, "every possible dollar is needed if we are to continue fighting cancer through our expanding programs of research, public education and service."

"There can be no let-up if Texas is to reach its goal!"

Mrs. Mansfield Is Hostess At Breakfast Honoring Babs Long

Mrs. C. R. Mansfield was hostess at a breakfast given in her home Tuesday, April 28, in honor of Miss Barbara Long, bride-elect of Bill Baker, of Coleman, Tex.

Franciscan pottery in apple design was used on a green cloth; the centerpiece an arrangement of red roses. The plate favors were napkins in wedding rings with this poem by Mrs. Mansfield attached:

BILL and BABS
When true love comes about
A wedding soon must be, no doubt;
May 30th has been set aside
For a ceremony for the bride.

The preacher there to do his part,
Then the wedding music starts;
To join as God would will it so,
Two loving hearts that are all aglow.

A loving father and mother sit so near,
With loving hearts and thoughts
Of care;
A beautiful union soon to be;
For Bill and Babs, a family tree.

Those attending were: Mrs. Raymond Long, Misses Barbara Long, Peggy Russell, Bethany

Revival of Family Dinner Hour Brings Relaxation After Busy Day

NEW 1947 Rogers Bros. pattern, "Heritage," now being introduced is "at home" on either the formal or informal table. Its sculptured beauty complements the fine china, crystal and linen of the formal table setting shown above.

MORE AND MORE families are learning the enjoyment that comes from making the dinner hour "a special occasion." No one denies that in today's accelerated pace of living there is need for serving the family dinner in an atmosphere that is conducive to relaxation and enjoyment. Not far from just one member of the family—but for everyone. One of the best ways to gain this feeling of relaxation is through an attractive table set with beautiful silverware, linen, china, glassware, and other accessories. This is what one nationally known authority describes as giving a table "eye appeal."

In line with this trend towards making the family dinner hour "a special occasion," 1947 Rogers Bros. is introducing a new silverware pattern, "Heritage." It is a richly ornate traditional design. It blends perfectly with traditional and is smart with modern. Through this new pattern, a family is assured of beautiful silverware that can be used to enhance the appeal of every kind of family dinner. It is equally "at home" when the family has a formal dinner that calls for an elaborate table setting or an informal supper using modern, or casual-type, table accessories. It should be remembered that casual living does not mean careless living. That's why the revival of interest in the family dinner hour is so important. Making the dinner hour "a special occasion" means members of a family will treat themselves just as they would a guest.

TOP-SECRET FLIGHT ENDS IN TRAGEDY—This armed Air Force guard keeps a lonely vigil over the remains of an F-84 Thunderjet which exploded and crashed after collision with a B-29 Superfort near Southampton, N.Y. The planes were making a secret experimental flight over Peconic Bay, off Long Island. Pilot of the jet was killed as were the five men aboard the bomber, which plunged into the bay. The B-29 was on a special assignment from Wright Development Center, Dayton, Ohio.

BROWN'S—

(Continued from Page 1) found them. He denied any knowledge of the Charge-Plate case, or of the partly charred wallet—which was found in the back yard of the apartment rented by the Browns in Fort Worth. He said he and his family had decided to move to Fort Worth several days before Jan. 1 and had begun packing before that date.

Wade asked Brown what he had been doing on Dec. 31 before Campbell's case. Brown said he had been in an employment office looking for work.

"I thought you'd already decided to move to Fort Worth," said Wade. "You were packed and almost ready, you said."

Brown hesitated a little. "I was looking for a job, and if I found one good enough I would have remained in Dallas," he replied.

He said under questioning by Wade that he had not told his mother, his wife's mother or his landlady where he could be reached in Fort Worth, or what name he was living under.

"You got up that morning, Brown, and looked at the morning paper and when you discovered the body wasn't burned, that was the first time it entered your mind to go to Fort Worth—that was when you became Herbert Gross," Wade accused.

"No, sir," said Brown. He admitted he had read a Fort Worth newspaper on at least three days in Fort Worth, but said he read nothing about being wanted for Campbell's murder. Brown was charged early in January.

"Those are good trousers—why didn't you have them cleaned?" Wade asked, returning to the blood-spotted business' trousers. "They were wearable, I suppose," Brown conceded.

"Put you threw them in the attic and left them there, under a baby bed?" "Yes."

"You know that your (Pacific Finance account card) is the only one that never was found in your garage," Wade pursued.

King Siavang Vong, of Laos, has been persuaded to flee Luang Prabang, and evacuation plans for Vientiane, the kingdom's administrative capital, call for civilians to cross the Mekong River into Thailand, a U.S. government official to flee by air, should the city fall.

Between Us...

(Continued from Page 1) beginning in 1885. Through mutual agreement, they began working in Korea, Methodist in Japan, I believe, and Baptists in Burma. So there are many Presbyterians in Korea. I have made the acquaintance of a number of Catholics among Koreans. A priest, Rev. Kim, civilian pastor in Masan conducts Mass since Catholic Chaplains are too few for coverage of military personnel. Their choir sings beautifully at 9:00 o'clock every Sunday, while I'm in the office of the chapel making final preparation for our services at 10:00. The choir members are civilians. I have asked the Methodists to provide special music Sunday with their fine choir of young people.
