

A visitor at the gold course teed up for the first hole, made a wild swing and completely missed the ball.

"It's a good thing I found out about this at the start," he alibied to his host. "This course is at least two inches lower than the course I usually play."

The papers these years more than frequently carry stories about assaults and attacks upon a weaker sex. Of course, these crimes occur mostly in our metropolitan cities.

And the other day up in Chicago, police dished out a few tips to the feminine members of the population.

A long scream or a high-heeled shoe is a woman's best defense against any would-be molester, according to the cops.

"In my estimation, a woman's best weapon is a loud scream," said Lt. Joseph Healy, head of the police department's sex bureau.

"If a woman can get a high-heeled shoe off when she's accosted, she's boss," said Detective James Traut, aide to Healy.

John Reibert, another detective in the bureau, said women leaving buses, street cars or trains at night should take a good look at a people who get off at the same time.

"If it looks like you're being followed, get back on," Reibert suggested.

The bureau said some women have devised their own weapons—such as one who carries a packet of pepper in her purse so she can throw it in the face of any man trying to accost her.

Two small boys had just ambled out of the Tower after having seen a romantic movie. "Wasn't it terrible?" asked one in disgust.

"I didn't think it was too bad," said the other. "During the kissing scenes I just closed my eyes and made believe he was choking her!"

Thanks to Mrs. John Love of the Eastland County Red Cross Chapter for the "Award of Merit" citation which The Ranger Daily Times received this week in recognition of loyal service in the 1953 Red Cross Fund.

And thanks to Mrs. Love, too, for her accompanying note:

"Your fine cooperation during our recent campaign for funds was greatly appreciated. You were most generous in giving so much space for Red Cross news stories. Your help was invaluable in making our campaign a success."

Shucks, 'twasn't nothin' at all, ma'am. Just our job.

But your note did make us feel mighty good!

You know, those Hollywood marriages are really something. One producer liked his wife so much, he held her over for a second week!

Last week's very welcome but very inclement weather was a shade rough on Ranger's diamond aggregation — our ball-playin' Eagles who hope to have a busy and they hope — successful summer in horsehide competition. J. A. Estes, ardent Oil City baseball fan, is sponsor and manager of the youthful nine. Here's his crew: Around the infield — Paul Hinds at first, Larry Pruitt at second, Bill Herrington, short, and Howard Neeley, third, out in the orchard — Scott Forney, left, Jerry Wharton, center, and Jerry Simmons, right. James Pruitt is catcher. The Eagles' pitching staff is composed of Eddie Morris, Paul Mendoza and Jack Allen, all right-handers, and Jerry Wharton, a southpaw. Wharton, incidentally, is the Ranger club's top hitter. Red Cantrell is a sub for the first sack seat, and auxiliary outfielders are Ed Horton, Angel Renteria and Jim Littlefield. Clifford Estes, son of the mgr., is batboy.

A Ranger GI writes from over Japan "way": "... and love at first sight is a big help on a three-day furlough." ... Nice return on investment: Two of the original Ford Motor Co. stockholders — John and Horace Dodge — bought a $10,000 share of the firm in 1902 and sold it to Henry Ford 16 years later for $25,000,000. ... There's a piano salesman on 57th Street up in NY City tagged Harry Truman. ... Definition of bifocals: Falsehood. ... Note aside to a portion of our audience: You folks in the Burns, Riddle, Lackland and Melvin additions (northeast Ranger) are reminded that your water will probably be cut off an hour or two or three tonight when the City of Ranger cleans the water lines from the pump station to the depot. The operation will begin around 10 p.m. so be sure you have the water you may need during.

34TH YEAR

RANGER, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1953

PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 149

Gov. Shivers Won't Sign Rep. Burkett's Bill

Hope Bright For Eastland's Court

Eastland County may not lose its 91st District Court, after all. Perhaps, not for another year or two, at least.

That bright hope loomed brighter today as the end of the current 1953 session of the State Legislature drew nearer.

Because—at this moment there exists a possibility that the solons may bid adieu to Austin and trek homeward without final action on the statewide general redistricting court bill.

And—if the Senate fails to consider and pass the measure—it'll be a dead duck, so to speak, until future legislative sessions.

Abolishment of Eastland County's pioneer 91st District Court is stipulated in the statewide bill.

And—it's also subject to be killed according to the terms of a local measure—Rep. Omar Burkett's highly controversial House Bill 269 which has been spurred through the house and into Senate committee by the Eastland state legislator.

Both bills would combine the 91st and 90th District Court of Stephens and Young Counties. Sen. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa said early Tuesday that "prospects were that the general statewide redistricting bill would come out on the floor of the Senate this week."

The bill has been in the Senate committee on judicial districts and has had public hearings there.

Unless that bill is passed, the Eastland Court issue will be shelved for many months, even years.

Because Gov. Allan Shivers has been quoted as stating that he would sign no "single-shot" court bill.

In other words, unless the Senate passes the statewide bill, Rep. Burkett's measure—House Bill No. 269—won't stand a chance of becoming law, because Gov. Shivers will not sign it, even should it be voted approval of the Senate.

The 53rd legislature still had seven days to go but its work was dragging to a virtual standstill today.

A teacher pay raise—the issue over which the Legislature has struggled hardest without reaching agreement on affirmative action—was still being talked. But not hopefully.

A bill which would grant teachers raises ranging from $558 to $171 a year was endorsed by the House appropriations committee Monday. All other pay boost plans have been dealt virtual death blows.

A Senate-approved constitutional amendment to raise the ceiling on public welfare spending from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 a year was killed by a House committee Monday. A similar proposal sponsored by House members had been approved previously by the committee but had not been acted on by the House.

The committee recommended House passage of a constitutional amendment indorsed by the Senate to raise the governor's salary from $12,000 to $25,000 a year; the attorney general from $10,000 to $15,000 and the comptroller, treasurer, land commissioner and secretary of state from $6,000 to $12,000.

A House-passed bill to increase workmen's compensation from a maximum of $25 to $30 a week was sent to a Senate subcommittee for one week. That was practically the same as killing the bill as the session will end May 27.

It's Sure Bet—Texan May Win Colonial Meet

Betting on a Texan to win the $25,000 Eighth Annual Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament, which opens Wednesday and runs through Sunday at Fort Worth, would appear to be about the surest gamble for which anyone could ask.

Seventeen of the 48 entries—or more than one-third of Colonial's exclusive field, which constitutes a veritable "who's who of golf"—the Texans.

What is more, more than one-third of the current championships of officials PGA or other PGA tour medal play events—14 of 37—are already in the possession of six of these 17 Texans.

Texans in the 1953 Colonial field are: Tommy Bolt, Jack Burke Jr., Don Cherry (amateur), Joe Conrad (amateur), Jimmy Deane, Billy Ehrlich (amateur), Raymond Gafford, Jack Harjen, Fred Hawkins, Ben Hogan, Tony Holgan, Lloyd Mangrum, Shelley Mayfield, Dick Metz, Byron Nelson, Earl Stewart, Jr., and Harry Todd.

All but Bolt, Hawkins and Metz were born in Illinois, now lives in El Paso, and Bolt, a native of Oklahoma, and Metz, a native of Arkansas, formerly resided in the state long enough to bear the Lone Star stamp.

Current PGA tour tournament champions in the group are Bolt (San Diego and Tucson), Burke (Miami), Demaret (National Celebrity), Hogan (Colonial, Masters and Pan-American), Holgan (Texas), Mangrum (Western, Los Angeles, Bing Crosby and Phoenix), and Stewart (Greensboro and Ardmore).

The current Texas PGA and amateur champions are also among the 17, being Harden and Ehrlich, respectively.

Providing further evidence of the Southwest's domination of the national scene in golf, the only other state with as many as four native sons in Colonial's field is Oklahoma. In addition to Bolt, other National Invitation entries born in the neighboring state north of the Red River are Charles Cox (amateur), Jack Shields and Francis (Bo) Wisinger.

Too, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, an Arkansas native, and Robert (Mike) Riegel, a Pennsylvania native of the Colonial field, now live in Oklahoma, at Ardmore and Tulsa, respectively, so the Sooner claim can claim six as the Texans claim 17 in the select line-up—and together the neighboring states "own" nearly half of the field.

Four Okayed By Commission—Hospital Board Is Appointed

LAST RACE RUN—Chet Miller, 50, dean of 500-mile racing drivers, was killed at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, when his Novi V-8 smashed into the racecourse wall as he was making a practice run at 138 m.p.h. Dean was a veteran of 16 participations of the Memorial Day classic of motorsport.

Four appointments to the official governing board of the Ranger General Hospital were okayed by members of the Ranger City Commission during its regular session at the City Hall Tuesday night, according to City Manager Lester Crossley.

All members of the commission, headed by Mayor Calvin W. Harris, were present for the Tuesday night session. They included L. T. Rushing, police and fire commissioner; Frank Penn, streets and parks; A. G. Koenig, finance; and Lee Cantrell, water commissioner.

A total of seven members comprise the board of the Ranger hospital.

Three of them are appointed by the City of Ranger, three by the Eastland County Commissioners' Court, and one member is appointed jointly by both groups.

The Ranger City Commission's appointments include:

Dr. W. P. Watkins, who'll serve a six-year term — from May 1, 1953 through April 30, 1959.

Morris George, a four-year term — from May 1, 1953 through April 30, 1957.

Charlie Joe Owen, two years — from May 1, 1953 through April 30, 1955.

The joint appointee of both the city commission and county commissioners' court is Floyd Killingsworth, Ranger hardware merchant and funeral director. He has been named to a six-year term—May 1, 1953 through April 30, 1959.

DR. GASTON FOOTE, pastor First Methodist Church, Fort Worth, international religious leader, writer and world traveler, will deliver the principal address during the baccalaureate and commencement rites for Ranger Junior College at the First Baptist Church in Ranger Sunday evening, May 31, at 8 o'clock.

Ranger Eagles Battle Wells 9 On Thursday

The Ranger Eagles baseball club will battle a nine from Mineral Wells here Thursday night at 8 p.m. J. A. Estes, team manager, announced today.

There'll be no admission fee, admission is free, and the public is cordially invited to witness the diamond duel, Estes said.

The Eagles' manager also announced that the Ranger diamond crew will tangle with Cisco here next Tuesday night. It'll be the third meeting of the two teams. In their initial encounter, the Eagles hammered out a close 5 to 4 verdict over the Rangerites, and in a return encounter, the Ranger nine won 7 to 3.

Everyone interested is invited to come and bring tools to work with, says H. C. Thompson, secretary of the Acker cemetery association.

There will be a picnic lunch at noon, and visitation will be enjoyed in the afternoon.

Passion plays of the 16th century were so well attended that armed bands of citizens were required to patrol deserted streets during performances in order to protect the property of theatergoers.

Directors of Fort Griffin Fandangle, Albany, Tex., are now well underway with their plans for the 1953 Fandangle.

This show is just a little different from anything else to be seen, and each year hundreds and thousands of people are in attendance. It has gained statewide attention, and many of the larger papers are now giving free advertising. The Dallas Morning News says "The stiffness of pageantry is not to be found in the Fandangle."

The Abilene Reporter had this to say: "Frontier History served up with genuine earthiness, spiced for rare humor." Both the Press and the Star-Telegram in Fort Worth spoke very highly of the Fandangle.

Fandangle is the show that the people of Albany present on three nights of the year. This year it will be on June 25, 26 and 27.

History in Fandangle interpretation, is handled in playful lively sharpened with satire set to music.

The performers are all Albany people. So are the people backstage. It is a home-town achievement. It is amateur in one sense, as nobody is paid for being in it.

Banker Says U. S. Finances Handled Better

In a statement keyed to optimism over Eisenhower administration policies, W. Harold Brenton, president of the American Bankers Association, declared today: "We are entering an age alive with expanding possibilities."

Brenton said in the talk prepared for delivery before the annual convention of the California Bankers Association that the national administration "has begun to allow the operation of free markets and more individual decisions."

He added that there was an improvement in handling of government finances and that "more realistic foreign policies are in the making."

These and other factors, such as harnessing of atomic energy, the Des Moines, Iowa, banker declared, would revitalize America's free enterprise drive.

"We have not attained our ultimate in living standards at home," he continued, "and, with low living standards in so many parts of the world, the possibilities for markets and world trade are almost inexhaustible."

He expressed confidence that the "new leadership is working to steer a courageous course toward peace, and at the same time maintain adequate and efficient defense measures at greater dollar value."

Col. Harrell Is With Armys 1st Armored Div.

Shortly after the explosion, he clambered out to take part in a mock attack on the devastated area.

It was the next to last test for which thousands of troops from all parts of the U. S. had gathered at Camp Desert Rock to study atomic warfare, its potential damage and the defenses against it.

Colonel Reagan, whose wife, Harriet, is with him at Fort Hood, Tex., is assigned to the 1st Armored Division.

He entered the Army in September 1920 and holds the Army of Occupation Medal for service in Japan and the Korean Service Ribbon.

Stone Handled Like Eggs

Believe it or not it is just as important to handle those big pieces of stone used for building construction gently as it is in handling an egg shipment. In many ways the chances of expensive damage are greater in the case of stone. It is imperative that every piece of stone arrive in perfect condition since the damage of one small piece can delay construction in the section of the building in which it is going to be used. This is the way Ingalls Stone Company does the job. It employs the trailer illustrated here which is a Fruehauf unit 30 feet long with a gentle gravity torsion tandem suspension. To date the gentle riding of the load due to the easy riding suspension has given a 100-percent perfect delivery of this costly material. The distance over which the stone is hauled is great, the run being from the quarry in Texas to the finishing plant in Bedford, Indiana.

Grass of Former Days Destroyed By Over-Grazing, Opinion Of Many

Old timers tell of an abundance of grass in Central Texas when they first settled here. They usually state that the grass reached their stirrups on the hills and would hide a man on a horse in the bottoms. R. B. Marcy, a captain in the 5th Infantry, U. S. Army, traveling eastward in this vicinity stated in his diary on October 29, 1849, "We have been passing near the borders of the 'Upper Cross Timbers' all day, and gradually approaching them until we are within a mile. We have seen but little mesquite and grama grasses have almost entirely disappeared; but we find the other kinds of prairie grass in abundance." Here he was referring to the transition of the short grasses west of this area to the tall bunch grasses then in this vicinity. Numerous accounts of early settlers state that the worst drought of memory occurred in 1886 and 1887. They recall that during this drought period cattle from western short grass areas were driven into this region to feast on the large coarse grass in the bottoms and medium-height grasses so abundant on the slopes and ridges. Both, they say, were replaced by other short grasses and weeds in 1886 and 1887 and have never been common since. They usually attribute the disappearance of the taller grasses to drought but admit that ranges were overgrazed at that time and have continued to

10-Cent Bus Ride Becoming Extinct

The ten-cent bus fare, like the ten-cent beer, is becoming a thing of the past, according to Bus Transportation, McGraw-Hill publication. A magazine survey of the first quarter of this year shows that the nation is moving closer to 15 cents as a major straight cash rate in the transit industry. While 233 cities had a ten-cent fare and 162 cities had a 15-cent fare at the end of 1952, there are now only 200 cities with a ten-cent rate and 175 where a bus ride costs 15 cents. Others of the 33 cities leaving the ten-cent category in 1953 moved into varying higher brackets. Fares are still rising, according to the magazine. Two years ago a 20-cent tab caused plenty of level, an increase of three during comment, but it's old hat now.

HEALEY filled out the story when he arrived at High Hill late the next morning. When Healey's men arrived at Torchy's place in the woods, about 12:30 a. m., all they found was the cook and two stuffed ducks for the morning's dinner. Just about the same time a wounded man was being delivered at the county hospital by three strangers, who drove away before anybody could get their names. The patient was suffering from a gunshot wound of the chest, and was in serious, though not critical, condition. He identified himself before going into the operating room as one Harry Evans, New York address. A check revealed he had a record of arrests on assorted charges. Healey had also got a line on Torchy. His real name was Frank Covalla, and he had served a six-month sentence for receiving stolen goods back in 1941. Torchy was still protesting that all he knew about the death of Lo-y Silone was that some of the other guys, unidentified, had ganged up on him. When he was told the cops planned to question Harry Evans about it, Torchy wanted them to

"WHAT'S this all about, anyway?" Torchy exploded. "I'm not giving you a fight because I know you're crazy with a trigger, but talk up, boy. Just what do you think you're going to do when you get me across the lake?" "Introduce you to some cops, kid." "You'll put the bulls on me?" "Them's my plans, Torchy, old sock." He was quiet a moment. "I get it," he moaned. "They caught you with the stuff and now you think you'll play stogie and square the rap." "What's he talking about?" Midge broke in. "I'm trying to get in good with the cops so they won't prosecute me." "I explained." "I run a legitimate business." "Vacation resort for gifters?" "So what? Don't they need a vacation, same as anybody else? A number-writer can get uicars a lot quicker than a stockbroker." "I never thought about it." "One thing," Torchy added hurriedly. "I don't allow no business on my place. They're here for a vacation. They got to leave their business at home." "I see," I said. "And Rocky broke the house rules." "Yeh, but shoving the queer," Torchy said plaintively. "Of all the sorry things." "What on earth is he talking about?" Midge exclaimed. "I had a feeling those words were going to clear up a lot of things. That means passing counterfeit money, Midge, that's what it means." "Say! That must have been what that fellow tried to get Eddie and me to do, that time we were out canoeing." "That's probably it, kid, that's probably it," I said avidly. The little hoodlum had evidently been a hard worker; when Eddie and Midge turned him down, Rocky conscripted somebody else.

Driving Through Water is Not the Time to Make a "Big Splash"

Although today's automobile has progressed far beyond the point where a severe spring rain will stall the engine, it still is not an amphibious vehicle.

Failure of the engine to bring you through normal flood waters, which might cover highways, can be attributed mostly to water on the ignition system caused by splashing. Today's engines are better equipped to combat excessive moisture and driving through water, by the use of such things as improved rubber housings on the spark plug terminals.

These pictures show the splash effect when a car "plows" into a seven-inch depth on a flooded highway.

At 20 m.p.h., the water shoots high, completely drenching the underneath part of the car. At 3 m.p.h., the forward motion of the car creates a small wave running ahead of the front bumper, with control of the vehicle greatly improved.

When you encounter an inundated highway, slow your car down and approach with caution. As a safety tip, on driving through flooded areas, remember to try out your brakes at slow speed immediately after reaching dry ground. When wet brakes do not respond to pedal action, hold brake-pedal down moderately with left foot, while right foot feeds enough power to carry car forward and dry out brakes. This action, over a few hundred yards, should restore your brakes to safe driving condition.

West Texas Still Suffering From Arid Conditions

While rains sent most streams in East Texas over their banks in April, West Texas and the Panhandle remained dry, the State Water Board said today.

The board said West Texas remained in a drought condition. The survey showed no flood runoff in the Pecos River basin and very little in the Upper Colorado River.

Sufficient rain occurred in the North Concho River basin to start a seep flow at the gauging station near Carlsbad, the first since July.

The Canadian River near Amarillo flowed at only 3 per cent of the average April flow. The Red River and Upper Brazos Rivers were far below normal in April.

Handle With Care

Have you a baby in your home? What a joy... and what a problem, too! Of course, your particular problem is those diapers! There they are, and they've got to be done, because your chief aim is the baby's comfort. To make it easier for you, and to get the best results, here are a few rules to follow:

Scheduling is a must in caring for baby, and the diaper duty will fit right in, if you plan it as a daily chore. You'll find this best. Soiled diapers should be immediately dunked in the toilet bowl, holding them by one corner. Then, into a special soaking solution they go, in a 2-gallon enamel pail with a cover. Fill it half full of cold water and 2 tablespoons borax.

To wash them, use HOT water—the hotter the better. After wringing out the soaking solution, wash them in a good, steady water and add a half cup of head-bluing, and a good water conditioner, if necessary. Putting the detergent-base head-bluing right in the washing water is much better than the old-fashioned way of putting it in the rinse water. There's no chance of over-bluing, and every bit of the soap and detergent is rinsed away. You'll find your washing machine your best friend for laundering baby's things. You need run the machine only 5 minutes if these instructions are followed.

After rinsing, shake them well and dry, then smooth and fold. Never iron. They'll be softer and more comfortable, and why work when you don't have to.

First Baptist Mid-Week Bible Study Tonight

The mid-week Bible study being conducted each Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the lower auditorium of the First Baptist Church, will begin with the 8 chapter of Romans and the 15th verse. Those who desire to follow the verse by verse interpretation will bring their Bibles. The Bible study follows the prayer services and song service.

Officers and teachers of the Sunday school meet at 8:30 with Mr. Wilson Guest presiding. After an informational period the group meets by departments for lesson study and organizational activities.

A special appeal is being made for an increased attendance during summer months. Last year the attendance remained at a high mark and an extra effort will be made to increase the attendance during the hot months. With an air conditioned building and all Sunday school rooms with special cooling systems the temperature at the church will be most pleasing.

The Church Choir will meet at 8:30 for their regular practice session. The mid-week choir practice always increases the spiritual program on Sunday and congregational singing is always better. All members of the choir are urged to be present.

Church's Candle Stubs To Korea

Candles that once burned on the altar of an Episcopal church at Atlanta, Ga. are now lighting fox-holes of Korea.

The Church of the Epiphany began sending stubs of its altar candles to the battlefield after PFC James Parker wrote an Atlanta newspaper from Korea:

"The men up front need candles. Our life is cold and miserable and we hate to sit in our bunker without a light."

Church candles are replaced when they are three or four inches long because when they get shorter the melting wax soils the linen of the altar.

Church members felt soldiers in Korea would appreciate the altar candles because they are not large enough to give off a light visible for a great distance and also because they receive a special blessing before they are used.
