Heavy: "Yes, doc, you remember when you cured my rheumatism a couple of years ago, and you told me to avoid dampness?"
Doc: "Sure, I remember, Heavy."
Heavy: "Well, doc, I've come to ask you if I can take a bath."

Strawn's Ritz Theatre, destroyed Thursday night at a loss of $35,000, will be rebuilt, according to Mrs. F. T. Whitaker, owner and manager. . . Every day this year 2,700 Americans, on the average, are reaching the age of 65—and still have an expectancy of 13 or more years of life. . . Several Ranger "regular" Democrats and probably many other old party liners from over Eastland County will trek out to Abilene Monday afternoon to meet and confer with Stephen A. Mitchell, current national boss of the Democratic Party. Mitchell will hold an afternoon and evening confab with area Democrats at the Windsor Hotel. . . Prices are going up so fast that a friend of ours reports that he bought a new car and it depreciated $300 just waiting for a trip to the light to change. . . Links addicts will be interested to know that the city's newly revamped miniature golf course—a tricky 18-hole out near the Ranger municipal swimming pool—is now open. Hours 4 to 10 p.m. Price: Only two-bits for a round of the course. It's sure to draw plenty of customers—including many teenagers. . . Famous remark: "I never get less than 20 miles to the gas" or "I'll send you a check tomorrow" . . . Business firms in the U. S. are now giving an estimated $250,000,000 a year to charities of all kinds, according to latest figures of the Commission on Financing Higher Education or the Association of American Universities. . .

"Miss," said the insurance agent, "You'd better take this insurance policy for your old age. Remember, at the age of 75 there are 18 percent more men than women."
"At 75," answered the girl wryly, "who cares?"

The new priest at St. John's Catholic Church, Strawn, is Rev. Fr. Francis Loos, a native of Belgium and, incidentally, a buddy of eight years standing of Eastland County's Catholic pastor—Rev. Fr. Camille Boemans. Both served as missionaries over in North China, now dominated by the Communies. Rev. Fr. Loos will pastor both St. John's and St. Boniface Church out on Dodson Prairie. . . In case you've wondered: Thirty out of every 100 people over the age of 12 drink tea with summer lunches and dinners. Another 30 drink milk, and 27 take coffee. Twenty-two of the tea drinkers take it cold. . . June down at Oil City Pharmacy reports that Shelby Parrnell, the one-armed bandit, whose monicker has been absent from this corner for some time, scoots into Crawford's cool emporium and swigs down "at least 12 cups of coffee a day" . . . On the subject of drinking, Americans are just pickers when it comes to elbow-bending. Overseas, Frenchmen spent $2,540,000,000 a year on alcoholic beverages, or enough do-re-mi to build 75,000 housing units. Adult Frenchmen drink the equivalent of 51 liters of pure alcohol yearly—compared to only 7 1/2 liters for Americans! . . . With poodle cuts and horse-tail bobs, a woman's hair has become her clowning glory. . .

They're talking a brand new language out in Hollywood. Eccentricities in the filmtown lingo used to be limited to movie talk like "Kill that baby" (turn off a small spotlight) and "Light the broad" (turn on a wide light). But now you hear strange new uses for old words. Part of this is due to the advent of 3D, which is developing a lexicon all its own. But I find that they also talk a totally different language in television. My lexicographer is Joe Bigelow, who is producing the new NBC show "Saturday Night Revue," starring (Continued on Page Four)

1,141 Texans Die In 3-Year Korea Conflict

At least 1,141 Texans have died in the three-year Korean war—more than twice the number killed in the state's historic revolution against Mexico.
Another 4,572 Texans have been wounded in the distant war now entering a fourth bitter year.
The figures are not complete. They represent a newspaper tabulation of casualty lists, which lag behind battle action.
The breakdown of Texas casualties:
Killed in action, 1,074.
Died of wounds, 65.
Died of injuries, 2.
Past available figures in the uprising against Mexico rule more than a century ago gave 546 Texans killed. The Korea toll is more than twice that number.
It is almost half the 2,722 Texans killed in World War I, yet far below the 13,810 who died in World War II.
Sons, husbands and fathers from Texas homes fall almost daily in Korea's bleak hills.
Thus far in June nine have been reported killed, 38 wounded.

Last year the American Cancer Society allocated $4,100,000 for cancer research. Support this effort by giving to the 1953 ACS crusade.

2 More Days, At Least!

Area Due More Sizzling Heat

At least two more days of sweltering weather is in prospect for the Eastland County vicinity today.
The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast generally fair and continued hot for the area today and Saturday.
The mercury again will hit 100 degrees—and possibly more—this afternoon. And it's scheduled to repeat its high climb Saturday.
Friday night's lowest reading will be in the top 70s.
Weather men saw no hope for rain for the parched area which has endured a sizzling heat attack, marked with daytime tops of 100 degrees and above, for nearly three solid weeks.
Generally fair weather was forecast for Friday and Saturday in the North Central Texas sector with little change in temperature due.

And for West Texas: Generally fair Friday and Saturday except for local thunderstorms. Upper Pecos Valley late today. Not much change in temperature.

TEXAS YOUTH DELINQUENCY ON INCREASE

A sharp upturn in juvenile delinquency in Texas—based on reports from 14 representative counties—was disclosed by the State Youth Development Council.
The council said delinquency cases in the 14 counties are running 33 per cent higher than originally expected. Reports covered the first half of 1953.
If the number of referrals for delinquency continues at the same rate for the remainder of the year, the council said 20 of every 1,000 children, 10 to 17 years of age, may be brought before juvenile authorities in the 14 counties.
Twenty per 1,000 is a much higher delinquency referral rate than predicted last year by the council.
This rate—if it could be applied accurately to the entire state—would mean that 21,190 children would be brought to court in 1953. This would be a substantial increase over an estimated 15,130 cases last year, and far above the national rate of 12 referrals per 1,000 population.
Counties participating in the report program are Cameron, El Paso, Howard, Hutchinson, Lubbock, McLennan, Midland, Mitchell, Nueces, Potter, Smith, Tarrant, Travis and Winkler. Two others, Bexar and Dallas, also participated but reports from these counties are incomplete.
The 14 counties reported 1,986 delinquency referrals. Of these, 1,910 were new cases and 76 involved children referred previously.

Many local church nurseries will be opened to help care for the overflow of children from the area. The Nursery at the Cotton Bowl is set up in the Electric Building just opposite the main entrance.
Musicians George Beverly Shea, soloist, Paul Mickelson, organist, Tedd Smith, pianist and Cliff Barrows, song leader will be heard in addition to the 1500 voice choir, which is made up of members from local church choirs.

Gov. Shivers Is Talked Timber For Presidency

Forty-five-year-old Allen Shivers, who has served as Governor longer than any other man in Texas history, is the subject of an illustrated personality feature in the June 27 issue of The Saturday Evening Post.
George Sessions Perry, author of the story—"He's Got Texas In the Palm of His Hand"—describes Shivers as the man who handles the people of the state more skillfully than anyone since Sam Houston.
Perry speculates that this "man who doesn't look or act like a Texan" may become the state's first Governor to move to the White House.
He leaves open four other steps for the future, too, in case a Presidential bid might seem a bit premature:
1. Filling the next Supreme Court vacancy.
2. Becoming an ambassador to a Latin-American country.
3. Running for the United States Senate.
4. Seeking a third term as Governor.
Perry traces Shivers' political life from the time he was a day laborer, magazine and shoe salesman to the day he became the youngest member ever elected to the Texas Senate.
Then the author follows the State Senator's climb to the post of titular head of the Democratic party in Texas.
He stresses, too, that Shivers—more than any other person—delivered Texas' twenty-four electoral votes to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.
In more intimate peeks at the Governor, Perry tells how Shivers teaches a Baptist Sunday School class while his wife, Marjorie, and his children attend Catholic services.
To describe the Governor's present standing, Perry says:
"He has gained a position of political power . . . almost unrivaled since the time when Stephen Austin . . . was the government in person and carried the state's archives in his saddle bags."

CROPS ARE SOUGHT FOR STORAGE IN SILOS

A group of several farmers and dairymen in the Ranger area are interested in purchasing corn and other crops which have been damaged by the intense heat wave.
The purchasers are going to store the crops as silage in their newly built silos, according to R. V. (Rip) Galloway, secretary-manager of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.
Raisers having heat-damaged crops which they'd like to sell to the group are urged to contact Galloway at the Chamber of Commerce in downtown Ranger.

COLONY FARMER RAISES GRAIN ON SANDY PEANUT LAND; PRODUCTION IS HIGH

Other farmers in this area said it couldn't be done.
But O. C. Bowen, Colony community farmer and stockman whose farm is located about five miles northwest of Ranger, has amazed scores of skeptics.
And—in addition, his talents as a scientific tiller of the soil have won him an enviable reputation in area agriculture.
Recently, out on wind-blown sandy land which had been classed only as "fair" by A&M soil technicians, Bowen harvested grain crops—wheat, oats and rye.
His wheat averaged 27 bushels to the acre.
His oats ran 45 bushels per acre. And his rye netted 17 to 18 bushels to the acre.
To many farmers, growing grain on peanut land is fantastic. But Bowen, who's been farming out in the Colony area for 20 years and who is an experienced authority on the use of fertilizer, has proved—time and again, and this year, too—that it can be done.
To show just how much his efforts have paid off, his wheat production this year was far above the area average. Wheat growers in this section get a skimpy 8 to 10 bushels per acre. Bowen nearly tripled the average maximum.
And oats—yes—they average about 15 to 20 bushels. Bowen likewise tripled that figure.
How does Bowen accomplish this unusual production?
It's simple. Proper fertilization.
The Colony farmer plants cover crops in the fall, fertilizes heavily in the spring. He turns his cover crops under as green manure. Then he plants his spring crops and fertilizes them with between 200 and 300 pounds of fertilizer to the acre.
Last fall when he sowed his wheat crop, Bowen fertilized the land with 100 pounds of 16-20-0. Then this spring he top-dressed the land with another shot of fertilizer—100 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre.
Bowen's acreage is primarily peanut land.
But he has proved beyond a doubt now that grain can profitably be grown on sandy land—with the aid of fertilization.
He's building his soil. During winter and spring every acre of Bowen's land is planted in some kind of cover crop — oats and vetch, vetch and rye, etc.
Yes, "he raises peanuts, too. And like his production of other crops, his goober crop every year is far above average—in both quantity and quality.
How about the cost of fertilizer?
Well, it does cost a few bucks. True, but—
Bowen says the additional grazing his stock gets off his fertilizer-treated land has paid for every pound of fertilizer!
This progressive Colony agriculturalist is a diversified farmer—producing beef cattle, hogs, angora goats, grains, etc. In addition, he has a nice orchard, raises chickens and has several milk cows.

Kings and Queens Entertain

The hostess who is casting about for something original for an after-bridge buffet might well take her cue from the June coronation of Elizabeth II, creating a simple, but dramatic setting such as this, with Coronation the basic theme. Sprightly tulips, in a mug designed by Josiah Wedgwood in honor of the Coronation, form the centerpiece and, of course, Coronation silverware, so appropriate with its sculptured tulip motif, carried out in fluted lines and pierced detail. There are kings and queens at this table, as there will be at Elizabeth's; in this case, ordinary playing cards, effectively spread against the nubby texture of the cloth. Creamy white Wedgwood coffee cups complete the service.

FEAR TALK

From Country Gentleman June, 1953

You have probably wondered how much truth there is in the "fear" talk that is going around. It is causing some uneasiness about the kind of times that may be ahead.

One reads predictions that business will slump in the next year or so as the stimulus of inflation plays out. And when prospects brightened for a truce in Korea we began to hear about the dangers of peace and how it would pull the prop of defense spending out from under the economy.

Knowing how this talk concerns farmers, Country Gentleman has sought to find out what basis there is for it.

The facts show little grounds for these fears. You can expect readjustments but no depression. Peace, if happily it does come, should be regarded as a door to opportunity and not a calamity.

First of all, what has happened so far in Korea and elsewhere does not assure peace. So you can look for the defense program to go on. Savings will be made in it, but the outlays for this year will run as large as in 1952 and will continue high as far ahead as anybody can see now.

Neither can inflation be halted abruptly. Instead the Administration is taking steps to taper it off gradually, thus averting any boom bust cycle. What it is aiming at is a reasonably balanced condition, with wages, earnings and prices high enough to provide the buying power needed to absorb production. Monetary, tax and other policies will be applied when and if needed to bring this about.

A better-balanced condition of HEARSE AND HOME—Serving as a modern covered wagon for three Cleveland, Ohio, men is this 1937 hearse which they are driving to Alaska. Students at Harvard and Cornell, they purchased the hearse in Syracuse, N. Y., for $350. They said the vehicle was roomy and had only 28,000 miles on the speedometer. Standing beside their "home" are Ted Phipps, left, Charles Pope, and Dick Gasley. They're holding a sleeping bag, part of the equipment they packed before starting out from Cleveland on their 1354-mile drive. They plan to get jobs in Alaska and return at the end of the summer.

that kind would certainly work to the long-run benefit of farmers. If peace should eventually be achieved it will not find us unprepared. It would bring the opportunity to do a number of things that need to be done and to open up some new frontiers. The Administration has been quietly weighing measures that would serve as useful offsets and putting them on the shelf for the time when they may be needed.

One is the modernizing of our highway system, now years behind the requirements. It is estimated that 60 billion dollars could be well spent for this purpose over a five to ten-year time. Bringing our schools up to the needs of the increased birth rate since 1940 would take at least 6 billion, hospital facilities, now badly lacking in many areas, would call for a billion or so more.

But this is only a catching-up process. The resources of our river basins comprise our last great natural frontier. Their conservation and development would open up new opportunities for both agriculture and industry. This is also on the shelf.

There are other waiting frontiers also. As one well-informed man remarked: "We have been giving so much of our energy and attention to war since 1941 that we don't know the peacetime limits of the world we're now living in. The laboratories have revealed dozens of secrets that we might draw upon. We have little idea, for instance, of what atomic

Ankle Fashions Sock Collar for Teen Clothes Fun

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Teen-age sock fashions for spring are literally putting on the dog. From Fido they've taken the dog collar and turned it into what's now known as the sock collar.

This sock collar, as interpreted by Bonnie Doon, is in sturdy plastic, is adjustable and has a simple name plate that can take a teenager's name or her initials, those of her beau or of her sorority.

Producer Bigelow also discovered that TV workers have a term for anybody who is a producer. It's "The Monster."

POLIO HITS 65 IN WEEK; STILL UNDER '52 RECORD

Polio struck 65 new victims in Texas last week but the State Health Department again noted that the outbreak is "much lighter" than last year's record epidemic.

So far this year, 347 cases have been recorded by health officials. This compares with 917 at this time in 1952.

Harris County has been hardest hit in 1953 with 52 cases, followed by Cameron with 51, Nueces with 39 and Dallas with 33. These are the only counties with more than 20 cases for the year.

Twenty-eight counties reported polio last week, 12 of them for the first time this year. Kendall County, reporting for

Warns Against Summer Threat Of Common Ill

Commenting on the unusually high incidence of dysentery in Texas at the present time, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer described dysentery as being an infectious disease characterized by diarrhea, pain in the abdomen, and toxemia. It is caused by a specific bacteria or germ. These germs cause inflammation of the lining of the intestinal tract which produces pain throughout the abdomen and the discharge of many loose stools that frequently contain blood and mucus. Toxemia results from absorption of the poisonous substances produced by the germs.

"The germs gain entrance to the body through the mouth," Dr. Cox said, "and then make their way to the intestines in the same manner in which food does. When they reach the intestines they find conditions favorable to their growth, and there they establish themselves at the expense of the person infected and produce their harmful effects."

Dr. Cox warned that dysentery affects young children more often and more seriously than adults, frequently resulting fatally; however, he said it may occur at any age. It is usually more prevalent during the summer season and the great number of cases now being reported are unusual for spring.

"The germ is always expelled with the feces of persons sick with dysentery and may continue to be expelled for some time after the patient recovers from the disease. These persons who still discharge the germs after they recover are called carriers, and they occur more frequently in this disease than in the majority of other infectious diseases.

"Food protection and adequate sanitary measures are more urgently needed now than ever before if we control the potential possibilities of epidemic dysentery in this State."

Here's 14-Day Reducing Diet

Tillie Lewis, most famous woman in foods, has spent more than ten years in intensive research in the field of sweetened low calorie dietetic foods.

LENGTHEN YOUR LIFELINE

If you are overweight, your Doctor will tell you that one sure way to lengthen your lifeline is to reduce your waistline. Overweight is America's number one health problem—yet a recent national survey showed that only 25% of the people who should lose weight ever go on a diet. Furthermore, more than half of these few people that do go on a diet regain any weight they lose immediately after they go off their diet. In my opinion, the answer is obvious. Most diets change your regular eating habits. Your body isn't satisfied, and cravings soon overtake your will power. Why not lose weight the sure way? Use the sweet-tasting low-calorie foods that are now in your markets. Be human... eat what others eat... but cut down on the calories the easy way! You will be happier... yes, and much healthier!
