Your kitchen will stay cool and you'll enjoy greater comfort while preparing meals when you cook electrically. Heat from your electric range goes directly into the pan and into the food. There's little heat given off into the kitchen to make you more uncomfortable on hot summer days. You'll enjoy more leisure time, too, when you cook electrically, because the automatic controls on your electric range do your "pot watching" for you.

You'll find electric cooking a new adventure in better living . . . better meals . . . and summer comfort.

Visit your favorite electric range dealer now. He'll be glad to show you an electric range to fit your cooking needs and your budget. Enjoy kitchen comfort during these hot days.
