PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 62

Ardent Male: "I'd love to be married to you some day."
Screen Beauty: "Okay, I'll put you on my wedding list."

Don't quote Heavy, the walking meat shortage, but —
Our most recent — and highly appreciated by all — rains have put Eastland County as well as Eastland Counties in fine fettle.
According to confabs of this reporter with many folk in and around Ranger Wednesday p.m. and early this Thursday a.m., the peanut crop for 1953 is assured. And — now it should be a dilly.
And that reminds that Monday morning it was when we were talking with a goober raiser and he was feeling mighty low. "If it don't rain today or tomorrow," he lamented, "I'm gonna forget about making a peanut crop and just sell some hay."

Irony of that was that the price of peanut hay this season is far different — decreasingly so — from last season.
But today we're happy with the cheering thought that our peanut-raising friend, like scores of others, must be a jubilant gentleman on this fourth day later.

Which should remind us that the Good Lord is mighty good to all of us!

Friend: "Say, Heavy, has your wife changed much since you married her?"

Heavy: "Yep — my friends, my clothes, my hours and my habits!"

The treasury of the Ranger Quarterback Club reports Art Arterburn, treasurer, and M. P. Myers secy., is about 300 bucks shy at this writing. ## ARC ACTIVE IN KOREAN POW MOVES

Representatives of the American Red Cross are playing a major role in the exchange of prisoners of war now under way over in Korea, Mrs. E. E. Freyschlag of Eastland, county chairman of the Eastland County chapter of the American Red Cross, announced early today.

In accordance with the true terms, a team of 70 representatives from Red Cross societies in nine United Nations countries, headed by an American Red Cross staff member, is working with military and with counterpart Red Cross teams from North Korea and communist China, repatriating prisoners from both sides. Eighteen American Red Cross members including team coordinator L. W. Neatherlin of Dallas, Texas, are among UN Red Cross workers. Red Cross representatives visiting communist prison camps are taking a variety of items for the comfort of American and other UN prisoners. These include famous Red Cross ditty bags containing toilet articles, writing materials, cigarettes, and reading matter. As in "Operation Little Switch" — sick and wounded prisoners exchange three months ago — ARC will pay the cost of 50-watt radiogram home for each American repatriate. Messages are taken to Korea reception areas then flown to Tokyo for transmission to the States. No commercial radio facilities are available in Korea. Personal radiograms take about 3 days to reach families after prisoner of war crosses Panmunjom demarcation line. For sick and injured prisoners hospitalized in Japan, Red Cross is also providing

Telephone Strike Is On!

Eastland Area Workers Walkout Today At 6 a.m.

Fifty-three thousand Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. workers in six states, including Texas, went on strike this morning at 6 a.m.

The strike has paralyzed telephone service over the Southwest including the Eastland County vicinity.

Workers at Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge, Mineral Wells and Weatherford—all manually operated exchanges—joined the big walkout, and only employees on duty to handle emergency calls are supervisory personnel.

In this area the only exchanges not affected by the strike are Southwestern Bell's dial-operated units at Strawn and Gordon. Local service at these communities continued today. However, the strike has cut off long distance calls.

Only emergency messages are being accepted.

Manager Is Surprised—

STRIKE MAY BE LONG
AFFAIR, SAYS McANALLY

"I just didn't think this strike would happen."

That's the comment of W. H. McAnally of Cisco, district manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., to a reporter of this newspaper at noon today.

"We'll do our best, however," McAnally said, "to keep our exchanges operating on an emergency call basis."

In Eastland this morning, an official of the company said, "We are sorry that our workers have seen fit to leave their posts. We have been working for a fair settlement and have offered an annual five and one-half million dollar salary increase. The union rejected this. It has been rejected."

"The contract is still in force," the Southwestern Bell spokesman said, "and they have not given us notice of termination."

"Federal authorities," he explained, "have been working with us in an effort to reach an agreement."

The official declared that service which cannot be furnished. Only supervisors are on duty at switchboards to handle only emergency calls in the Eastland County vicinity contact physicians and hospitals and other emergencies.

"Cooperation by the public," stated the Southwestern Bell official, "will greatly aid in handling emergency calls."

Late Wednesday, Communications Workers of America (CWA) and company negotiators had failed to reach agreement in St. Louis on a new contract, although a Southwestern Bell spokesman reported the company had modified its position to "meet some of the union demands on wages and other money issues."

Reports said Southwestern Bell offered wage boosts ranging from $1 to $2.50 weekly. But union officials, calling the proposal "close to insult," said the 3½ cent hourly boost was not enough. Wages of Southwestern Bell employes range from a $35 weekly starting salary for operators in smaller towns to a top of $95 a week for skilled plant craftsmen.

Southwestern Bell operates in Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Illinois.

It employs 24,000 non-management workers in Texas. It has dial systems in 122 Texas cities and manually operates exchanges in 137.

In Fort Worth, a company spokesman stated five general wage increases have been granted employes of the Southwestern Bell system since World War II, representing an increase in wage rates of 78 per cent, boosting the company's total payroll costs in excess of $100,000,000 a year.

Southwestern wages compare favorably with wages paid employes in other industries in the communities served for similar skills and responsibilities, the company spokesman said.

"If telephone people were paid less than the going rate, workers would not accept and keep telephone jobs," the spokesman declared. "If higher rates were paid, telephone customers would have to pay, through telephone rates, for larger employe rates."

122,731 GIs Die in Korea—

FINAL CASUALTY SUMMARY LISTS 142,277 AMERICANS

The Defense Department in Washington announced a preliminary battle casualty total of 142,277 Americans killed, wounded and missing for the whole Korean war.

The tentative total was given in what the Pentagon said would be the last weekly summary of battle casualties. It showed a net decrease of 17 from last week, reflecting the addition of 19 killed, a decrease of 23 missing and transfer of 19 wounded to a non-battle classification.

Auditing of casualty figures will continue for months, possibly years, before a final figure can be reached to tell the full story of the cost of the Korean conflict in terms of dead, wounded and missing.

The revision process inevitably will raise the tentative death toll of 25,604, as confirmation is obtained on American deaths in action.

First Baptists Preparing For Revival Meet

The Evangelistic Committee of the First Baptist Church is moving towards the two-week period of pre-revival events prior to the meeting that begins September 6 through the 13th. This committee is being assisted by the officers and Circle Chairmen in making final arrangements. The entire church membership will be asked to cooperate in this "Revival for Ranger and Christ."

Mr. Joe Dennis is chairman of the evangelistic committee and is assisted by O. C. Warden, W. A. Lewis, Carl Faye, and Mrs. J. B. Houghton, Sr. This committee has divided the city into four districts with each district divided into as many as 16 zones. There will be a captain over each district and some 30 to 40 census takers in each district.

Census cards will be filled out for non-resident Baptist citizens who have no church affiliation. Members of other faiths will be invited to the prayer meetings and to the revival. They will not be asked to fill out a census card. Members of the First and Second Baptist churches will not be asked to fill out a census card.

Men and women of all faiths will be and "are invited" to attend the Zone Prayer Meetings in your zone or any where in the city you want to attend," according to Chairman Dennis.

Those who are converted and make professions of faith during this revival and desire to unite with another faith will be assisted by the individuals of choice, according to the Evangelistic Committee. Plans should be made now by the membership of First Baptist Church to set aside Sunday the 23rd, for census day for Ranger.

Fresh Peach Pie

A treat for pie lovers is a juicy fresh peach pie. The golden fruit, picked generously into a flaky crust and partly covered with a pastry lattice, makes a queen of pies. Because peaches are juicy, a little flour is mixed with the sweetening sugar. As the pie bakes, the flour traps most of the juice and makes it jelly. Even the best peaches usually need something to "point up" their flavor. Lemon juice does a fine job. It doesn't take much lemon juice, but what is used should reach all parts of the fruit. An easy way to make sure that it does so is to mix the lemon juice with melted margarine. Then drizzle the combination evenly over the fruit.

(makes 1 9-inch pie)

|  |                                |
|--|--------------------------------|
| 1 recipe plain pastry                  | 2 tablespoons melted margarine |
| 1/2 cup sugar                          | 1 tablespoon lemon juice       |
| 2 tablespoons salt                     | 1 teaspoon flour               |
| 4 cups sliced peaches (6 to 8 peaches) | grated lemon rind              |

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry, leaving a 1-inch overhang. Put trimmings aside to make lattice strips. Mix sugar, salt and flour. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons of this mixture over bottom of pastry. Arrange half the peaches in pastry shell. Sprinkle with half the remaining sugar-flour mixture. Arrange remaining peaches, then sprinkle with rest of sugar-flour mixture. Combine melted margarine, lemon juice and rind. Drizzle evenly over peaches in shell. Cut remaining pastry in strips 1/2 inch wide and arrange criss-cross on top of fruit. Moisten edge of lower pastry and press down ends of strips to seal them to edge of crust. Turn edges of pastry under and crimp or flute as desired. Bake in moderately hot oven (425° F.) 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 375° F. and continue baking 30 minutes.

The little trick of flavoring peach pie with lemon juice and melted margarine works equally well with other fruit and berry pies.

Wheat Lands Should Be Given Rest, Is Merrill's Opinion; Rotation of Crops Will Prove Quite Beneficial

FORT WORTH — Southwest wheat farmers, facing the prospect of a reduction in 1953-54 planting, can help themselves and their land by using the government's acreage allotment program as an opportunity for improving land use and installing needed conservation treatment.

This is the opinion of Regional Director Louis F. Merrill of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Based on information from the Amarillo Experiment Station, Merrill's recommendations for farmers who must cut wheat acreages are mainly these:

1. Use a diversified farming system to include wheat, sorghum, grass and livestock. (Merrill pointed out that in such a system, it would be beneficial to return any cropland west of the 20-inch rainfall line to grass for at least six years).

2. Where feasible, practice a flexible wheat-sorghum-fallow rotation.

3. Use cover crops and stubble mulch farming to help prevent wind and water erosion.

4. Put all land not suitable for cultivation into range or pasture. In humid areas, Merrill pointed out, crop rotations may be lengthened to include more grasses and legumes for livestock feed.

By all means, the SCS regional director said, the capabilities of the land should be used in deciding which acres should remain in wheat production. Land capability guides have been worked out for all wheat farming areas of the region and are in the hands of soil conservation district boards.

Switching a part of the wheat farmer's acreage to another crop such as grain sorghum, which is more suited to some soils of the area, may actually mean greater net return to the farmer, Merrill explained. In addition, many thousands of acres of wheat lands year after year are producing scarcely enough to pay for harvesting. Many more thousands of acres are being farmed at a loss. These acreages could very likely produce profitably in grass.

Above all, Merrill cautioned, steps should be taken to keep lands taken out of wheat from undergoing erosion damage. If stubble is sufficient, it should be carefully managed, he said. If the stubble has been destroyed, effort should be made to get a winter growing crop other than wheat on the land or, if time permits, a crop of grain sorghum. Even planted in August, grain sorghum normally can make sufficient growth to keep the land from blowing. Sandier lands of the wheat growing areas would be better off if they were farmed usually to grain sorghums, he said.

Emergency tillage to prevent wind erosion damage is just that—an emergency step to be taken as a last resort, Merrill explained. Conservation measures are designed to avoid the need for this costly and labor-consuming practice, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lowe, of Brownwood, are visiting in the home of Mrs. E. L. McMillan.

Mrs. Molly Townsend has returned home after visiting friends and relatives in Strawn for the past week.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TELLS ABOUT OFFICIAL RULINGS

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd has released a list of all opinions written by his office during the month of July.

Opinions of general interest include the following: A real estate dealer may offer premiums to a property owner who lists his property with the dealer but may not offer premiums to persons who submitted a "lead" which results in the dealer's getting a listing.

A County Judge may place defendants convicted of drunk driving on probation for not less than six months in lieu of a mandatory jail sentence.

The minimum amount of the bond required of the tax assessor-collector of an independent school district is twice the amount of taxes collected in the largest single collection period of the preceding year.

Justices of the Peace who get a regular salary may keep fees collected for performing marriage ceremonies and for acting as Ex-officio Notaries Public.

Fees may not be paid to a sheriff in advance for serving citations on delinquent taxpayers who are non-residents of a county.

A County Commissioners' court may make county tax levies even if one of the Commissioners is absent from the meeting because of duties in one of the reserve branches in the armed forces.

A County Commissioner serving in a military reserve capacity is entitled to his salary during his absence on military duty.

A contract to purchase stationery and printing for the legislature, which was not let on competitive bids and approved by the Governor, Secretary of State, and Comptroller is not valid.

A County Judge acting as Ex-office County Superintendent is entitled to keep the additional money paid him for such office.

Shepperd said that his office is continuing to win approximately 98 per cent of all cases tried since the first of July, 94 cases were won out of 104 tried or appealed.

Your kitchen will stay cool and you'll enjoy greater comfort while preparing meals when you cook electrically. Heat from your electric range goes directly into the pan and into the food. There's little heat given off into the kitchen to make you more uncomfortable on hot summer days. You'll enjoy more leisure time, too, when you cook electrically, because the automatic controls on your electric range do your "pot watching" for you.

You'll find electric cooking a new adventure in better living... better meals... and summer comfort.

Visit your favorite electric range dealer now. He'll be glad to show you an electric range to fit your cooking needs and your budget. Enjoy kitchen comfort during these hot days.

Folks Talked About Heat In Old Days, Too

Efforts to beat the heat are as old as American summertime, according to records in the Colonial Williamsburg research files.

For example, there were the 18th century versions of air conditioning units advertised by an enterprising merchant in the July 25, 1776, Virginia Gazette. These devices called "ventilators" and inserted in windows, actually were boxes enclosing bellows which drew air in and blew it out again. They provided a reasonable degree of comfort except, of course, for the able-bodied men needed to push the bellows.

Not everyone approved of letting in the summer breeze, especially at night. In his journal the 18th century tutor Philip Vickers Fithian said he kept his windows shut on summer nights "so long as I can breathe without fainting," to keep out "dangerous dew."

The 18th century rules of decorum limited the amount of clothing people could shed for hot weather comfort, but a 1721 atlas reports that in Virginia ladies' gowns and gentlemen's jackets were fashioned of light weight materials in the summertime.

There was difference of opinion as to just how hot these early American summers were. In 1705 the Virginia historian, Robert Beverly, wrote that complaints about the heat were unfair propaganda circulated by merchants from England who "go sweltering about in their thick cloaths all the summer."

Some years later plantation owner William Byrd confessed to an English earl that "we have about three months that impatient people call warm." He added, however, that his lordship would find them cool enough for a pair of blankets and perhaps a comfortable counterpane into the bargain.

On the other hand, there was the English gentleman who warned that in the colonies "the heat is beyond your conception."

Colonial summers never got hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk—but only because there were no paved sidewalks. The Virginia Gazette reports that on August 9, 1766, "Colonial Taylor's garden" by way of experiment put an egg on a stone pedestal in the garden and ate it four hours later "sufficiently roasted."

Every year an estimated 100,000 American children suffer eye injuries while playing unsupervised games, reveals Dr. Franklin M. Foote, executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

KNOW YOUR INDORSERS

"Let's see the check," said Joe, the service station operator. The stranger handed him a check made out to Ray Gar, for $68.10 and signed by John Jones.

"Sure, I know John Jones," said Joe. "Do business with him all the time—good as gold. I'll be glad to cash it for you. Just scribble your name on it."

Two weeks later the bank returned the check. The stranger who had signed the name "Ray Gar" on the back of the check was not Ray Gar. Joe had failed to identify the indorser of the check, and had no idea where the stranger could be found. As a result, he was out one tire and $38.10.

The next week a taxi driver friend, Rex Fenders, came in, ordered $3.00 worth of gas, and handed Joe a $50.00 check payable to Pete Smith, and signed, "Miller Aluminum Company,

No Room for a Garden? Then Build a Window Box

Here is a message for those who live in city apartments, but dream of the country. Buy the garden magazines and read the green section of the newspaper. Your interest in gardening is deep seated, and you will be happy if it can be satisfied. Have you thought about the possibilities of a window box?

Here is the type of garden which everyone can grow, urban or he lives in a square or a city. It will serve two purposes, first to beautify the home you live in, and second to give you a garden. It will satisfy a surprising degree your desire to grow things.

To get this satisfaction, you must give serious attention to location, soil, drainage, sun, and if possible growing your own plants. It will be an excellent beginning to make your own window box, which can easily be done from the magazine or book.

A window box should decorate the house.

Working drawing of Window Box

Rich soil, of the type which florists call potting soil, must be used for window boxes. Because there is so little of it to feed the flowers, it should be well fertilized. A tablespoonful of chemical plant food for each square foot of soil should be used.

For the annual flowers, at least six hours of sun a day is necessary and this requires a south window. The best subjects are those of dwarf or trailing habit, the latter drooping festoons of bloom from the boxes. Petunias of the balcony type are excellent, as are the tall nasturtiums, the giant morning glories. Dwarf petunias, marigolds, ageratum, cal-liopsis, annual pinks, lobelia, dwarf morning glories, phlox, and zinnias can be grown.

Boxes which spend most of the day in shade offer a special problem. If the shade is that of a building, perhaps only foliage plants can be grown, such as ferns, fancy leaved caladiums, crotons, rubber plants and other florists' subjects.

If there is some sun, begonias will probably do well. Impatiens, the Zinnia, balsam, bearing flowers of salmon or rose on bushy plants 18 inches tall, are excellent in semi-shaded places. Violas thrive in partial shade, and the list of flowers which will do well increases as the amount of sun is enlarged.

Inc., James P. Pope, president. On the back, across the top, were the signatures: "Pete Smith, Rex Fenders"

Having completely forgotten his recent unfortunate experience, Joe shelved out $47.00 change. The check turned out to be worthless, there being no Miller Aluminum Company, Inc., in existence.

But this time, Joe was protected. He collected the $50 back from Rex Fenders.

An ordinary check, legally known as one form of negotiable instrument, is merely an order by its signer to the bank upon which it is drawn, to pay the specified amount to the person named on the check, or to the order of that person. The bank must pay only as directed by the signer of the check, or stand the loss itself.

What is meant when it is said that a check is a "negotiable instrument?" The ordinary check—that is, one payable to a designated person or order, or bearer—is negotiable, and by that is meant that any good faith or bona fide holder for value takes the check free from any defenses that may exist against it in the hands of the named payee.

When is the holder of a check an "innocent, good faith, or bona fide" holder? When anyone receives a check from a person other than the drawer of such check, for value and without knowledge of any defenses which such drawer may have against the payee named in the check, he is said to be an innocent, good faith or bona fide holder.

For instance, if the drawer should find after delivering the check, that the consideration received by him had been misrepresented to him, this would be a good defense against payment of the check, but a third party receiving the check without knowledge of the defense would be an innocent, good faith or bona fide holder.

Anyone who indorses a check thereby warrants that the check is good and that all signatures thereon are genuine. Where it turns out that a check is worthless or where the signature of the maker or one of the indorsers has been forged, the person holding the check may collect back the amount of the check from the last indorser. But obviously, if the holder doesn't know the last indorser, or where he is, his chances of collecting are very poor.

Know your indorser.

do not carry a single passenger. These figures were taken from the first four months of operation this year and reflect an annual loss of $10,130 per year.

Two American Red Cross staff members are aboard each repatriation ship returning to this country to provide traditional hospital recreation services.

Operation of 5000 teams is providing the first opportunity for Red Cross services to UN prisoners held by communists.

International Committee of Red Cross, responsible under the Geneva Convention for visiting prisoners-of-war camps, has not been permitted by the communists to enter prison camps in North Korea. However, it has visited UN controlled camps regularly throughout the war.

It is now thought that with the cessation of fighting the Red Cross program in Korea will change—perhaps expansion of supplemental recreation facilities for able-bodied military personnel. This program was suspended on June 30, 1952.

Mrs. Freyschlag was anxious to share the above information as the citizens of Eastland County have helped make Red Cross services available in Korea due to their contribution of funds this past year. A percentage of all funds collected goes to defray the cost of national and international Red Cross services.
