He was being interviewed for a job. After the first remark the employer explained: "Everything in this establishment is run by electricity." "Yes, I quite believe you," said the applicant. "The salary offered has already given me a shock."

They were parked in the woods near the lake. Let me kiss those tears away, darling," he said. She fell to his arms but the tears flowed on. "Will nothing stop them?" he asked. "No," she said softly. "It's hay fever, but go on with the treatment."

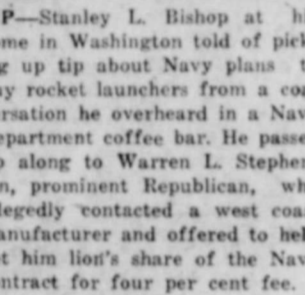

tie this one: In a classified ad in today's edition of The Eastland Daily Telegram, Linkenhogor & Son, Lincoln & Mercury and IH dealers over in the county seat, offer "one 1946 model Lincoln at 3 cents per pound." One of the deepest tests in the Eastland County area in recent weeks is a 5,200-footer scheduled to be staked down one mile southwest of Mangum in the west central part of the county. There's no nearby production and all men will be watching this one with anticipation. It'll be the No. 1 Ethel Hittson Coats. Furnishing the long green for the hole is Clark F. Chandler et al of San Angelo. Location is 350 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 9, block 3, H&TC survey. . . . And that reminds: Hello, Tommy T. A. long time no see. . . . B. H. King, Jr., of Mr. and Mrs. (Brownie) King, of King's Cafe, has been a busy gent of late — and he'll continue to be well occupied for many weeks to come.

B.H. a classy round-baller for Ranger High last hardwoods season, is manager of the 1953 Ranger High Bulldogs club — and that spells work. . . . Judge J. E. Hickman, chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, is scheduled to speak in Breckenridge on Sept. 13. His address will be the highlight of a homecoming of the First Christian church of that city, Rev. J. F. Montgomery, pastor. . . . Two members of Cisco Masonic Lodge — Dr. W. P. Lee of Cisco and Avner L. Mayhew of Dallas — were presented with the Texas Grand Lodge 50-year Anniversary medals in ceremonies Sept. 8.

Eastlanders Lose Emergency Feed

The State Drought Disaster Committee at College Station Wednesday lopped all but 48 West Texas counties off the list of those eligible for more emergency feed orders. The list of those eligible for the 104 counties removed from Eastland County is one of the 104 counties removed from the state group's new listing. The committee's action means no more orders for emergency feed will be taken from 104 of the 152 counties originally declared a drought disaster area last July. Twelve counties added to the list Aug. 18 already had been suspended.

TIP—Stanley L. Bishop at his home in Washington told of picking up tip about Navy plans to buy rocket launchers from a conversation he overheard in a Navy Department coffee bar. He passed tip along to Warren L. Stephenson, prominent Republican, who allegedly contacted a west coast manufacturer and offered to help get him lion's share of the Navy contract for four per cent fee.

Ralph Berry Is Winner of $50 Electric Award

Ralph Berry, Cisco 4-H Club boy, has been named winner of the $50.00 award in the Texas 4-H Club electric contest, according to Assistant County Agent Bob Williams. Ralph submitted a record of his electric activities in the district judging and scored 93 of a possible 100 points. Ralph, 15, has completed 4 years of club work and has been an outstanding member of the Cisco Jr. High Club. He was named County Gold Star Winner in 1952 and was a delegate to the 4-H Club Roundup at A&M that same year. He and his sister Mary Carolyn were district winners in the electric demonstration contest this year. They were delegates to the 4-H electric camp at Trinidad and also to the State Contests at A&M. Ralph's 4-H activities have been varied throughout his membership. He has been on the County dairy judging team twice, the livestock judging team and he has won medals in Achievement, Dairy Achievement, leadership and safety. He has had projects in Swine, Beef Cattle, and Dairy Cattle. Also he served as Club president in 1951 and 1952.

Currently Ralph is enrolled in the FFA organization in the Cisco High School and is feeding a steer for the Houston Fat Stock Show. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Berry of Route 2, Cisco.

Held In County Jail

NEGRO, CHARGED WITH AUTO THEFT, SPINS WEIRD YARNS

Members of the Eastland County sheriff's department arrested a Negro man on the streets of Eastland just before noon Wednesday, and he is being held in the county jail awaiting information from Falls County authorities. While he was arrested on a technical charge of car theft, officers are of the opinion that he may have recently escaped from some mental institution. However, the truck he was driving, when arrested, was stolen in Marlin early Wednesday morning. He was very peaceable and quite talkative. Among other things he insists that he knows President Eisenhower, and that the president has been working for him as a 27,977 tons of corn, 28,999 tons of oat, and 1,912 tons of wheat. And as of Sept. 4, 239 tons of cottonseed pellets and meal were on the road and these will be distributed to the counties that ordered them in the first place. Committee members who attended the closed meeting said from McCan were L. J. Cappelman, Dallas, regional director of the Farmers Home Administration; and Governor C. Carothers, Jr., Stamford rancher and farmer; Nolan Williamson, assistant director of the Texas A&M College Extension Service; attended the meeting as representative for G. G. (Hoot) Gibson, Extension Service director who is a committee member but did not attend. Other members who did not attend were William L. McGill of Austin, state co-ordinator of civil defense and disaster relief; and J. Autrey Walker, vice-president of the Del Rio National Bank.

ELIGIBLE COUNTIES The 48 counties still eligible for drought disaster emergency feed after 104 counties were suspended include: Andrews, Borden, Brewster, Coke, Concho, Crane, Crockett, Crosby, Culberson, Dawson, Dickens, Ector, Edwards, El Paso, Fisher, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Howard, Hudspeth, Irion, Jeff Davis, Kent, Kimble, Kinney, Loving, Lynn, Martin, Menard, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Pecos, Presidio, Reagan, Reeves, Schleicher, Scurry, Sterling, Sutton, Terrell, Terry, Tom Green, Upton, Val Verde, Ward, Winkler, Yoakum.

Sam Rayburn Added To List Demo Speakers

Two Southern Democratic leaders, House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas and Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, were added to the speakers' list for the party's 2,000-member conference next week. Additions of the two Southerners gave indications National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell was trying to mollify some Southern Democrats, angered by the loyalty pledge adopted prior to the 1952 national convention. He required delegates to pledge support to the party nominees before taking their seats. Both will speak at a $100 a plate dinner Monday night along with former President Harry S. Truman, Senators Douglas of Illinois and Gillette of Iowa and India Edwards, vice chairman of the National Committee.

Aljal Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, will speak Tuesday night. A national committee spokesman said today Stevenson then may disclose whether he is going to assume active party leadership with a view toward the presidential race in 1956. Others on the committee, however, expressed doubts Stevenson would do any such thing, at least now.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb. — The Plattsmouth Journal announced it will have a new column on "law and order." The author will be Cass County Sheriff Tom Solomon.

Last Rites For Miss Frasier, 46, This Afternoon

Funeral rites for Miss Reva Elizabeth Frasier, 46-year-old long time resident of the Acker community north of Ranger, will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Killingsworth Funeral Home Chapel in Ranger. Interment will be in the Acker community cemetery, 16 miles north of Ranger, with Killingsworth Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. Rev. Troy Frasier, nephew of the deceased, will officiate. Rev. Frasier is pastor of the Assembly of God Church at Brownwood. Miss Frasier was killed in an automobile accident at Luray, Va., Sunday. Her body arrived in Ranger this morning. C., where she was employed as a civil service worker at the time of her death. Miss Frasier is survived by her mother, Mary E. Frasier of Cisco; three sisters, Vada Mae Frasier of Post, Otis Frasier of Olney and Ola Frasier Stuart of Throckmorton; two brothers, Terrance Frasier of Eureka, Calif., and Bari Frasier of Cisco; and a number of nieces and nephews.

GERALD BAGWELL Former Ranger High Star Is Member of 1953 RJC Squad

INTRODUCING... THE 1953 RANGERS

(This is another in a series of pre-season newspaper sketches of members of the promising 1953 football squad of Ranger Junior College.)

Gerald Bagwell

Another outstanding Ranger High Bulldog star who has joined the Purple & White clad ranks of Ranger Junior College's 1953 Ranger squad is Gerald H. Bagwell, 18-year-old quarterback on Coach O. C. (Stubby) Warden's 1952 Bulldog crew. Bagwell, born at Pampa, moved to Ranger with his parents while a ward schooler. He attend Ranger Junior High and then entered Ranger High school where he enjoyed an impressive athletic career. He starred in football—lettered three seasons—and also played some basketball and some tennis. His athletic honors during his RHS career included all-district awards for his grid ability in 1952 and 1953. The blue-eyed, blond-thatched backfielder is an inch under 6-feet in height and tips the scales at 155 pounds. In addition to his outstanding athletic achievements at Ranger High School, the new Ranger Junior College squadman was president of the RHS student council during the 1952-53 year. He also served as president of the junior class during the 1951-52 session. Young Bagwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Holman Bagwell, 212 Lulu Street. He has one brother, no sisters. During the summer he kept himself in top physical trim while in the employ of the Lone Star Gas Co. He is a member of the First Baptist Church.

PARENTS TO SEE ARTERBURN OPEN '53 CAMPAIGN WITH GREAT LAKES '11' SATURDAY

Junior Arterburn, former Ranger High, Ranger Junior College and Texas Tech grid star, goes into action for the powerful Blue Jacket pigskin machine of the Navy's Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Chicago, next Saturday, Sept. 12. And among the thousands of spectators in the stadium to witness the Jackets' opening football battle of the year will be the quarterback's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Arterburn, Sr., and another Ranger couple, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lumms. The hep field general of the Jackets' promising 1953 team is due to have a great season this fall. He won a trophy for outstanding sportsmanship and team leadership last year following his first season of play with the Great Lakes squad. He quarterbacked the Jackets through an impressive autumn campaign. The Arterburns and the Lumms will see the Ranger star in action twice during their current vacation northward. The foursome left Ranger early Wednesday bound for Illinois. They'll see the Great Lakes-Egal Institute duel at the Jackets' home stadium Saturday afternoon. Then a week later on Saturday, Sept. 19, they'll follow the Blue Jackets to Detroit where they are expected to tangle with Wayne University in the Motor City. While in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Arterburn and Mr. and Mrs. Lumms will be guests in the studio during broadcast of the popular network show, "Welcome Traveler," on Monday, Sept. 14.

Dry Heat Wave Keeps Mercury Up In Mid-90s

A new siege of dry and hot weather—nothing new to Eastlanders—has gripped the county vicinity. There's one welcome note of relief, however—the nights are fairly cool. For today and Friday the U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts maximum daily mercury readings in the mid-90s. The low for Thursday night—in the middle 60s.

Elites over the Eastland County area are due to be generally fair both days and no rain is in prospect. For North Central and West Texas—generally fair today and Friday. Not much change in temperatures.

At right smiling broadly and happily is Ranger's finchy E. F. (Junior) Arterburn, former Ranger High, Ranger Junior College and Texas Tech grid star, as he received a coveted trophy for "Outstanding Sportsmanship and Team Leadership in Football at Great Lakes—1952." The trophy, awarded the Ranger athlete at the close of last season, is now proudly displayed in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Arterburn Sr. in Ranger.

"Was she shy when you asked her age?"
"Yeah—about 8 years!"

Today's guest star — but briefly — one of our contemporaries, Boob Cooke of "The Waggin' Tongue" (clever col'm title) of the Abilene Reporter-News, who writes:

"Farmers and ranchers living in Baylor, Knox, Haskell, Callahan, and Eastland and parts of Jones, Taylor, Runnels, and Coleman Counties cannot realize how fortunate they are unless they travel in several West Texas counties which have not been as fortunate in getting summer rainfall.

"Over the week end we traveled to Fort Worth, north to Gainesville, and back by way of Wichita Falls, Seymour, Munday, Haskell, Stamford, Anson and to Abilene.

Beyond Eastland County toward Fort Worth the country is still dry. There has not been too much rainfall north to Gainesville.

"The ranch country between Gainesville and Henrietta in Clay County is still dry. From Wichita Falls west pastures and crops begin to show improvement.

"Reports from Callahan, Eastland, Throckmorton, and Shackelford Counties are that pastures are in the best shape in many seasons. "Ranchers in and around Seymour report that they are going into the fall with the best range prospects they have had in more than a decade.

"And its exhilarating to drive along the highways and see the fine cotton and feed prospects in a tier of counties where many of the farmers, back during those hot days in June, had written 1953 off as another year of crop failure."

Conditions In Navy Improved

From wooden ships and hammocks to destroyers with foam rubber mattresses, marks the latest change from the "Old" to the "New" Navy.

When the 2200-ton destroyer USS Meredith puts to sea from Norfolk, Va. on her shakedown cruise, the crew will have more room, sleep on foam rubber mattresses, read by the light of fluorescent fixtures, and eat their meals—which will be lowered to them in a dumbwaiter—in comfortable messing accommodations equipped with small tables and benches or chairs with backs. The cruise of the Meredith stems from a two-year Navy study.

With the increasing complexity of modern warfare at sea, more and more gadgets have been screwed on, bolted to, or squeezed into

Navy ships—with the result that crews have been crowded into smaller and less comfortable spaces with each new encroachment. The little ships, with many assignments have suffered the most, but crews of all Navy vessels have felt the oppression of a jungle of gadgets. But all this is being changed. About two years ago, Navy planners decided that the situation had gone beyond the point of diminishing returns, and launched a determined effort to do something about it. Manpower was being slighted to make way for gadget-power, but men, after all, were the ones who made the gadgets work. The blunder of a listless man, the Navy discovered, could nullify the benefits of the world's best electronic equipment. Some of the nation's top industrial designers were called in for advice and they, together with the best qualified Navy minds, undertook the problem of making ships more livable.

America's approximately 2,070 freight cars average about 2.5 hours a day on the road in moving trains, and spend the other 21.5 hours in terminals loading or unloading, switching or standing. The United States needs 10 to 12 thousand new freight cars a month to replace worn-out rolling stock and build up to defense requirements.

EARTH ABIDES

THE STORY: With nearly all the human beings dead from deadly new disease, the world is thrown suddenly out of balance. Ish Williams, one of the few human survivors, sees dogs running like wolves in parks. There he is beset by a plague of ants. Above all, Ish is lonely.

ONE evening shortly afterward, he sat reading, and after a while began to feel hungry. He went to the kitchen, and rummaged in the refrigerator for some cheese. Happening to glance at the electric clock, he was surprised to see that the time was only 9:37. He had thought it was later. On his way back to the living room he took a bite of the cheese, and glanced at his wrist-watch. The watch hands stood at 10:09. With a gasp that he had set the watch by the clock within 24 hours.

He sat down to read again. A high wind from the north with the heavy smell of smoke in it blew so hard that it rattled the windows occasionally. By now he was used to the smell of smoke, and did not think about it. At many times he could not even get a good view because of the smoke of the burning forests. After a while he blinked his eyes a little, and stared more intently at the page where the letters seemed to have grown strangely indistinct. "This smoke must be making my eyes water," he thought. "I don't seem to see so well." But as he looked closer, it seemed that not only the page before him but the whole room had grown dimmer. With a gasp he looked at the electric light bulb in the bridge lamp beside him. Then with a jumping heart, he was out of his chair and standing on the front porch looking out at the city below him. The lights were still burning, and chains of yellow beads showed on the great bridge, but they looked a little dimmer.

"Well," he thought, "it had to come." He returned to the kitchen. His watch now showed 10:52 and the clock was at 10:14. The clock was run, he knew, by electrical impulses which were timed. Now they must be coming less often. An electrical engineer would doubtless have found it an elementary matter to calculate just how much less often. Ish could even have made an attempt at the calculation himself, but he saw no use in it, and he felt suddenly downcast.

"The lights are going out! The lights of the world!" he thought, and he felt like a child going along into the dark. Princess lay dozing on the floor. The fading of the lights could mean nothing to her, but she sensed his nervousness and came up restlessly sniffing, whining a little.

AFTER breakfast he stood on the front porch to drink in the view. As always after one of these storms, the air was clear. The wind had died down. The red towers of the Golden Gate Bridge, miles away, stood against the blue sky, as if close enough to touch. He turned a little toward the north to look at the peak of Tamalpais, and suddenly started. Between him and the mountain, on this side of the Bay, a thin column of smoke rose straight up through the calm air, a slight wisp, the kind of smoke column that should come from a small fire, particularly from one burning in a fireplace and ascending through a chimney. It might, he realized, have been rising there a hundred times before when he had looked out, but in the smoky and misty atmosphere he would not have noticed it. Now it was like a signpost. His first thought was to jump into the station-wagon and investigate. But something stopped him. His attempts to establish human contacts had not been rewarding. Basically, perhaps, he feared human entanglements. Of course, he might see the smoke again the next morning, but then again he might not. Perhaps that human being, whoever it was, had merely been passing through that way, and could never be found again. He spent most of the day wandering through the hills. He had adjusted himself by running away. He felt a quick rebound of excitement, at opportunity regrabbed, when he looked out in the early darkness after supper, and suddenly saw a faint but unmistakable light. He hesitated no longer. Now, instead of temporizing, he called "Princess," got into the car, and drove in that direction.

HIS seeing the light must mean merely that the windows of that house happened to face his porch. He drove back and forth along the streets for half an hour, finally relocated it, drove slowly down the right street and past the proper house. The shades had been pulled, but there was light shining through, probably from a gasoline lamp. He brought the car to a stop on the opposite side of the street, and waited a moment. Princess leaped by him, and ran toward the house with a fury of barking. She must have scented whoever was there. She had tipped his hand, this time, for certain. He hesitated, suddenly realizing he was unarmed. Yet to advance against the house carrying a gun was not a good opening. Without much thought he grabbed his old hammer. Holding it in his hand, he advanced after the dog. In the window of the house he saw a shadow move. When he had gained the sidewalk, the house-door opened a few inches, and suddenly the beam of a flashlight caught him. There was a long pause. He stood waiting for the sharply barked question—the inevitable, if slightly ridiculous, "Who are you?" or else for that curt order, "Put up your hands." That was why he had a sudden gasp of surprise when a woman's voice came with an affirmation: "That's a beautiful dog!"

THEY WANT TEACHERS AND WE DON'T MEAN MAYBE; SET-UP ARRANGED FOR MAN AND WIFE

Word gets around about the quality of Texas teachers, Dr. Hob Gray, director of the University of Texas Teacher Placement Service, reports. He received a telephone call from Denver, Colo., requesting 50 elementary school teachers and 25 secondary teachers. Salary for beginners with a bachelor's degree is $3,000. Dr. Gray, also had a call from an oil company requesting a husband and wife elementary principal and teacher for an assignment in Peru. The principal's job pays $500 and the teaching job is $400 per month. The couple would work nine months a year and receive 13 months' salary.

"Extras" that go along with the jobs include a two-bedroom brick house at $25 per month (utilities furnished), free transportation to Peru for the couple, their automobile and any household furnishings they desire to take. The assignment is in the mountains, where temperatures never go too high or too low, but if the lucky pair wants to return to Texas during the summer, they may do so, with the company paying the transportation. "Now, let's go over that again," Dr. Gray cautiously told the company representative who telephoned him about the jobs.

State Fair Now Offers Round Trip To Moon

The 1953 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 10-25, will offer an out-of-this-world holiday for fairgoers who want to take a Trip To The Moon, Round Trip, that is. The trip, a daily fair attraction, will only be simulated, but the illusory sensation is as thrilling as a ride in a space ship. To take the trip, you enter a brand new planetarium in the auditorium of the Museum of Fine Arts.

The show begins in pitch darkness. Mood music. Pilot announces take-off. Zooming sound effects as the rocket blasts away. Dallas skyline appears as moon brightens. On a video screen, glimpses of earth as it disappears. The pilot becomes a painless-lesson on astronomy. Triptakers are handed space sickness pills. Powerful optical equipment of the new portable planetarium projects Saturn on a huge sky dome.

A little movie, makes the moon on the video screen grow larger & larger. Sound effects of the spaceship speeding toward the moon, then the landing. Explanation now of the airless, dead planet that is the moon. More sound music for the return trip. Sound effects of the take-off and landing again on earth. The boys in space helmets will hand each visitor a button saying, "I have been to the Moon."

There will be five daily shows on Saturdays and Sundays, three

Anti-Racket Brave

Hunting with bow and arrow pretty much went out with the birch bark canoe, but this brave has found a modern counterpart of the latter in a revolutionary "truly quiet" outboard motor.

Just introduced after years of research, the 5 1/2 horsepower unit seems destined to replace its predecessor, the Sea-Horse "5," as the world's most popular outboard.

Intake mufflers and underwater exhaust systems had already reduced power unit racket, but motor vibration when amplified by the hull of the boat acting as a sounding board provided a major headache to users and non-users alike.

Now Johnson engineers have developed a suspension system that "floats" the motor independent of the boat, and the culprit vibrations are dissipated into thin (and quiet) air.

At a recent New York press demonstration, it was agreed that conversation in normal tones and completely satisfactory portable radio reception were possible over the purr of the "5 1/2" at full throttle.

The new motor contains many other features previously found only on larger units.

Miss Anita Carlin of Cleco was a Ranger visitor Wednesday.

Mrs. E. R. Green, Dr. Marie DuMouchel and children spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Fort Worth visiting Dr. Ernest Green and family and Mrs. Boone Daniels.

CHILDREN'S TRAFFIC HABITS SHOULD BE WATCHED; TEACH CHILD TO BE ON THE ALERT

"Children's traffic habits, more often than not, are the result of the example their parents have set."

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation, made that statement today in appealing to motorists to cooperate with the Texas Safety Association in their September traffic program for child safety.

"Good traffic habits and attitudes of parents will do a lot to keep children safe in traffic," he said. "Also important is the extent to which parents try to teach children safe traffic practices."

Parents can best cooperate with the program of the Texas Safety Association and the National Safety Council by following five simple rules, according to Col. Tilley.

He listed the five rules as follows:

1. As pedestrians, always set a good example to children. This includes crossing streets only at intersections, waiting for the signal, and looking both ways before crossing.

2. Learn what the school are teaching and, in cooperation with schools and traffic officials, help children develop safe traffic habits and attitudes.

3. See that children play only in approved play areas — never in the street or near moving traffic.

4. Teach children safe use of outdoor toys such as roller skates, tricycles, bicycles, scooters and wagons.

5. Instill in children the attitude that safety rules must be given the same respect and obedience as other rules of conduct learned at home and in school.

Payment Due Next Tuesday On U. S. Taxes

Quarterly payments of estimated income tax must be made not later than midnight next Tuesday, Internal Revenue District Director Ellis Campbell Jr. reminded today. Penalties are provided if either declarations or payments are late, or if the tax has been substantially underestimated, he pointed out. Persons receiving only wages subject to withholding need not file declarations if they expect to receive less than $98.98 per week or $425 per month, if they are single and without dependents. The same applies to married couples without dependents with income of less than $196.15 per week or $850 per month.

Other returns which must be filed by the Sept. 15 deadline include those of employers withholding over $100 during either of the first two months of the quarter; returns of shareholders and officers and directors of foreign corporations which are foreign personal holding companies; statements and records of depositors on stamp sales; and quarterly payments on corporation income and excess profits taxes.

Few Antelope To Be Killed

A drawing will be necessary to determine the persons to be granted permits for the limited antelope harvest in Texas this fall, according to the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

He said upwards of 500 permits will be issued for the separate antelope hunts in the Big Bend and Panhandle areas, and added that the persons who are awarded permits in the drawing will be notified by Sept. 15, and maybe earlier.

With the permits will go detailed information as to where the recipient will hunt and so forth.

The fall antelope harvest will be conducted west of the Pecos from October 1 through October 9 and in the Panhandle in two periods, October 20-24 and October 27-31.

Trucks May Haul More U. S. Mail

More mail soon may be hauled by trucks because the railroads have asked for a 45 per cent boost in their price for this service, Fleet Owner, McGraw-Hill publication, reports.

The need for paring costs may force the Post Office to turn more and more to highway haulers and there is some indication that steps already have been taken toward this end, the magazine says.

Trucks now haul mail on 271 routes, covering 27 million miles annually, but none of the routes is over 250 miles long. The post office turned to trucks first in February, 1951, when post-war rail rate boosts made them cheaper for short distance work.

The request for a boost for the railroads comes on top of a move by Postmaster General Summerfield to cut down the $650 million annual deficit of the department. A boost in parcel post rates, already okayed by the ICC, and a request for raises in first, second, and third class mail, would bring the department within shooting distance of that goal. An increase in the railroads' rates, however, would kill any hope. Summerfield has of eliminating the deficit, the magazine explains.

There seems to be a generally awakened interest in reevaluating the Post Office department's methods of operation in hauling mail judging from a statement made by Summerfield, the magazine pointed out. He said, "The time is long overdue for a complete study of the methods used to transport the mail. The development of our highway system offers, potentially, many improvements in mail service through the more intelligent utilization of motor trucks and buses."

Law Digests Being Mailed Texas Hunters

AUSTIN, Sept. 10.—Three hundred and fifty thousand copies of the Game and Fish Law Digest are being mailed out for the benefit of Texas hunters and fishermen.

The Chief Clerk of the Game and Fish Commission said these official guides to all hunting and fishing regulations are consigned to Game Wardens, County Clerks and Licensed Deputies.

He said a limited supply of a best supplement, covering migratory game birds such as waterfowl and doves, has been sent to each of the individuals and agencies handling hunting and fishing licenses. The supplement was necessary since the regulations for migratory game were set after the printing deadline for the regular Digest.

The information in the combined pamphlets, according to the Chief Clerk, is designed to advise Texans as to the what, when, and how on hunting and fishing. He suggested that persons finding the material inadequate should contact their local game warden.
