Moore... ABOUT RANGER

We like it.

Those three words will sum up what we have to say about Ranger, but since we have a full column to fill up, and since it's getting near press time we'll add more words of praise.

Ranger, our new home, is a well-thought-of place, even if you don't know it. We came here from Linnburg, and even there—some 600 miles away—the town is well known. When we found out we were leaving the Rio Grande Valley city for Ranger, we immediately told all of our friends. To our amazement most of them knew right where Ranger was and even knew at least one or two people here.

"Look up old Joe Jones when you get down there and tell him hello," at least a half dozen different people told us. Half the ex-GIs there served at old Camp Bowie in Brownwood and all of them knew men from Eastland county.

Yes, it's a nice place and we are already proud of it.

Is there anyone in Ranger who doesn't eat, sleep and talk football?

That's the $64 question. Seems that if you want to find out anything around here you have to wait until Monday when the football game is over. Everytime we opened our mouth here Friday to ask a question someone beat us to the punch and popped some new tid-bit at us, about the football team.

Like we said before, we like Ranger. That goes for football.

This is our first "Moore About Ranger." We remind you of the fact that some of you will be asking "When did this guy get here?" When we write the column for the thousand time we will mention it again. Until then we hope you do.

We are not laying down any laws about The Ranger Times, but we would like to explain something now. Our newspapering is not done in a routine manner. We haven't reached the point where you can't teach us something new about it.

We have been in the business long enough to know that news MUST be written in an unbiased way. By that we mean what you read in The Times will be written as fairly and honestly as possible. We will not form opinions—good or bad—in our news columns. Moore About Ranger will be different. It is the one place in the paper we will give our opinion. Take what we say in MAR as you care. We may be wrong in some of our "words of wisdom," but they will be honest mistakes.

You know, these old brick streets sure do look good. Our home town—still has a million relatives there—is Corsicana and almost every street there is brick. Guts bricks are on the way out in street construction, but they were hold a warm spot in our hearts.

We know many of you will miss the column written by Grover Lee. Grover has done a fine job here and we personally want to thank him for his help in giving us a word picture of Ranger. It is seldom that you find a man with as many abilities as Lee has. We wish him luck in his new business.

By the way, that Ranger Junior College game Saturday was right down our alley. Navarro Junior College is in Corsicana and we got our first two years of college training there. NJC proved to us that junior colleges do have a place. We're sure Ranger Junior College will make us realize that fact even more before too long.

Before we pound out thirty on the old Royal we would like to ask you a favor. Stay as friendly as you have, will you? And when you know of something that belongs in the paper give us a ring, will you. This is one paper boy who will really appreciate it.

We really like Ranger.

CHAS. MASSEEGE

Seventeen-year-old Chas. Masseege, son of Capt. and Mrs. Jasper Masseege of Ranger, was ordained Sunday as a Baptist minister at services held at the New Hope Baptist Church.

Charles, who will graduate from Ranger High School at mid-term, is well known as the Bulldogs' smooth football player on the high school football eleven.

The youthful preacher will attend Howard Payne College or Baylor University when he graduates from High School.

Services Held For Former Rangerite

Funeral services were held Friday at the Killingsworth Chapel in Ranger for John Ray Coghlan, 48, who died Sept. 29 in an Austin hospital. Rev. Finis Crutchfield of the First Methodist Church officiated.

Coghlan was born in San Angelo and moved to Ranger in 1917 where he attended Bullock school and did oil field work in and around Ranger.

He moved to Austin in 1938. Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Leah Davis of Lincoln, England and Miss Linna Mae Coghlan of Bowling Green, Ohio. Miss Coghlan formally made her home in Ranger where she was on the nursing staff at Ranger General Hospital.

Coghlan was a member of the Bullock Methodist Church. Pallbearers were J. S. Hatton, Leonard M. Bounds, V. V. Cooper, Jr., Lloyd Bruce and Reed Campbell.

Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery with Killingsworth Funeral home in charge.

It's Going To Warm Up, The Man Says

It's going to warm up. The weatherman gave cold-natured West Texans a blessing Tuesday. His forecast called for warmer weather, although summer heat is not expected.

Tuesday and Wednesday were expected to see the mercury climb out of the 70s back into the 80s. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the recent front cooled the area off and the air is beginning to warm up again.

Clear skies are on order for today and Wednesday with the low Tuesday night due to be 55 degrees.

Don't Forget--It's Time to Pay Taxes

It's time to pay those taxes again. Eastland county's first tax collections were made early Thursday and collections were going at a steady pace Tuesday morning.

Collections are now underway on payment of state, county and school taxes at the Assessor-Collector's office in Eastland.

Assessor-Collector Stanley Webb was eyeing the 1952 record collection of 93.7 per cent as he prepared his office for 1953 payments. Webb said he was proud of '52 collections and "hopes to do as well this year."

Large payments, such as oil companies, utility companies, and railroads have not come in yet, Webb said. He said collections were going "very good," however. Mail collections were the big mark in early collections. Webb's office mailed out more than 7,500 noti-

Haskell Field Opens

No new discoveries have been reported in this week's oil news in Eastland county, but fields were opened in Haskell and Shackelford counties.

The Haskell field opener is the Birdwell Oil Co. No. 1-A T. G. Hendrick Estate, Section 103, Indianola RR Survey, 15 miles southeast of Haskell, a Canyon Sand discovery.

It was completed for 146.39 barrels of 38 gravity oil per day, flowing through 13-64 choke with packer on casing and 150 pounds from open hole at 3,115-35 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 300-1.

The well was drilled to 3,135 feet in April 1951 by Birdwell and abandoned at that time. It was re-entered in September.

The Shackelford County discovery is the Edgar Davis Drilling Co. No. 2-81 J. D. Windham, Section 81, Block 13, T&P Survey, seven miles north of Clyde, a Lower Gardner discovery.

It was completed for 167.81 barrels of 39.4 gravity oil per day, flowing through 1-4 choke. Production was through 1-4 choke with packer on casing and 780 pounds on tubing from open hole at 3,583-91 feet. Top of the gas was picked at 3,994 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 1,100-1.

P&D Oil Co., Dallas, announced location for a 3,125-foot well at 10 miles north of Baird. It will be No. 2-A S. J. Loras, 330 feet from the north and 1,263 feet from the east lines of the southeast quarter of Section 64, Block 11, T&P Survey.

C. E. Brownfield, Albany, will drill No. 3 Ethel Simpson as a 1,000-foot cable tool test two miles east of Albany.

It will be 150 feet from the north and 300 feet from the east lines of the southeast quarter of Section 14, Block 11, T&P Survey.

Cub Scouts To Meet Thursday Night At 7:30

There will be a meeting of the Cub Scouts Thursday evening in the basement of the First Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m.

That quite a few peanut farmers have not been cultivated this year. Farmers who had their land prepared for planting and got seeds in the ground after the first big rains are to make splendid returns. Those who planted later will make some peanuts, but nothing like a good crop.

Many farmers who have gone through recent droughty years just didn't have the heart to take chances this spring when conditions were unfavorable. It takes considerable work and cash to plant peanuts, and some of them didn't have this cash. Yet those who made arrangements and planted are to receive an ample reward. And barring unforeseen calamities, the acreage next year will be considerably more than that of 1953.

On our 70 mile drive, much of it on country roads, we saw most every kind of peanut harvesting machinery. On many of the farms we saw these machines in operation. We saw stacks of peanuts piled 10 feet high on many farms—all sacked and ready for market. We saw hay baling, and thousands of bales of bright, clean peanut hay, and this crop alone will run into high figures when it is sold.

Fresh peanut hay may be envisioned as a kind of by-product, but it is an important and very popular

JOHN OSBORNE

John Osborne Funeral Held Monday, Dallas

Funeral services were conducted at four p.m. Monday in the George A. Brewer Funeral Chapel in Dallas for John Osborne Sr., 57, who died Saturday following a heart attack in his Dallas home.

Mr. Osborne was formerly owner of the Osborne Motor Co., in Eastland, handling Oldsmobile and Cadillac cars, before selling his business in May to Don Pierson.

Entombment was in Hillcrest Mausoleum in Dallas.

Osborne was a native of Ma-bank. He had been in the auto business for a number of years and was well known to West Texas car dealers. He was a Mason and a Shriner. He served overseas with the Navy during World War I.

He was past president of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife; a son, John Osborne Jr.; a daughter, Jane Osborne, all of Dallas; two brothers, Cecil of Pecos and T. P. Osborne, of Houston; and a sister, Mrs. F. A. Cooper of St. Louis.

The family lived at 1201 South Seaman, Eastland, before returning to Dallas.

PEANUT, COTTON AND FEED CROPS IN THIS COUNTY ARE CONSIDERED ABOVE AVERAGE

Harvest season is here and most residents in Eastland county's rural communities are covered with work, and granting that good weather continues for a few days more fortunes in the shape of peanuts, cotton and feed will be harvested.

Considerably more than a half million pounds of shelled peanuts are being marketed each day, with buyers located in Eastland, Ranger, Gorman, Cisco, Garbon, Rising Star and Desdemona, and all of them are enjoying a good business.

Prices are about the same all over the county, 70 basic peanuts are bringing $22.30 per ton. A few have sold just a little higher than that figure.

Most of the crop this year is good and the average load will meet 70 basic requirements. A few have tested as low as 65, while some have tested out 74 which is extremely good.

On this county tour we noted that quite a few peanut farmers have not been cultivated this year. Farmers who had their land prepared for planting and got seeds in the ground after the first big rains are to make splendid returns. Those who planted later will make some peanuts, but nothing like a good crop.

Many farmers who have gone through recent droughty years just didn't have the heart to take chances this spring when conditions were unfavorable. ## Eastland County Gets Drouth Breaking Rain

Cool Front Pushes In Rain On State

Eastland county, as well as most of West Texas, received soaking rains over the week-end as a strong cool front blew into the state, dropping temperatures sharply in many sections.

Up to five inches of rain fell in the county. That figure was reported in Doodemona, while Eastland got 3.40 inches, Ranger 2.50, Cleoney four and Olien 3.

Farmers in the area were thankful for the rain although it will slow the peanut and cotton deals. Little damage was expected to both crops.

The rain fell throughout West Texas. Big Spring got almost three inches, the most the city has had in three years. San Angelo had over two inches.

The rain extended as far north as Wellington, west to Snyder, south to Sonora and east to Brownwood.

A sandstorm whirled in a hard rain at Midland Saturday. Memphis got high rain. Vernon had a reading of 1.50 with heavy rains reported over Wilbarger county.

Paducah had .56 with east and south sections of the county reporting up to two inches. Guthrie got 4.50 inches and Seymour had 2.32.

Temperatures fell rapidly as the cool front moved in early Saturday.

At Childress, the thermometer dropped from 73 degrees to 55 in a few hours time.

At Stanton, 1.25 inches fell and the precipitation appeared general over the county.

Equal conditions stirred up dust in western points Saturday. Visibility was cut at Lubbock and one, and adds many dollars to the producer's bank account.

On this journey we visited the cotton producing area, and for the first time in several years saw

Amarillo by the dust when the front moved in.

At most points, the report was the same; a steady drizzle that appeared general over the area.

One of the chief sectors affected was the Big Spring-Coleman-City-Snyder region. A half inch of rain was gauged at Snyder and a steady drizzle was general over Nolan, Fisher and Howard counties.

Rains in the Big Spring area will benefit small grains and winter cover crops.

Electra had a slow drizzle Saturday measuring .30 inch.

Services Held Sunday For
Mrs. L. Davis

Services were held Sunday at Morton Valley for Mrs. Laura P. Davis, 73, pioneer citizen of Eastland county, who died of the home of her daughter in Odessa Thursday night.

Mrs. Davis' body was shipped overland to Morton Valley and services were held from the Harmony Baptist Church. Burial was made according to T. B. Lauderdale, gin manager.

Survivors include four sons, S. A. Jr. and Tommy Davis of Eastland, Paul Davis and W. W. Davis of Cisco; five daughters, Mrs. Chas. Lutz of Olney, Mrs. Clarence Lutz of Allenville, Ill., Mrs. Harry Smith of Odessa, Mrs. H. A. Williams of Austin and Mrs. Jack G. Thackston of Corpus Christi.

Cotton Selling For 30-31 Cents At Ranger Gin

Cotton prices ranged from 30 to 31 cents at the Ranger Gin this week, according to T. B. Lauderdale, gin manager.

Lauderdale said the gin had ginned over 100 bales this far this season and had purchased about 75 of them. He said a Frownswood buyer was expected to set a single point of about 80 cents a pound on cotton soon.

McCrea Trial Is Scheduled

Eleven persons entered pleas of guilty in Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's U. S. District Court Monday in Abilene including three Abilene trucking contractors.

Assessed fines for violation of Interstate Commerce Commission regulations were E. M. Little and his son, Roy B. Little, who operate under the firm name of E. M. Little and Sons, and L. P. Alexander.

A Latin-American was fined $250 on a charge of harboring and concealing an alien and four defendants who pleaded guilty to charges were sentenced to terms in federal school of correction.

Other criminal cases to be heard this term of court were set for Oct. 25. Included in the case of former Cisco Postmaster Luther H. McCrea, charged with interfering with duties and functions of a post office inspector. His case is set for 9 a.m.

Judge Davidson set Alexander's punishment at a $400 fine and 90 days in jail, the sentence to be probated if the fine is paid within 10 days. Alexander faces a charge including six counts alleging that he engaged in interstate commerce with a certificate of public convenience and necessity. Davis Scarborough, attorney for Alexander, explained to the court that an involuntary petition of bankruptcy has been filed against Alexander and that any fine assessed against him would cause a sacrifice.

E. M. Little and Roy B. Little, named in the same charge, each pleaded guilty and drew a $500 fine each. The charge against them contained six counts of interstate commerce without a certificate of convenience and necessity, one count of failure to have one of their drivers to keep a daily log and one count of failure to have one of their drivers submit to a physical examination.

Creeger said the 1953 Chest drive fell just short of its quota. He urged businessmen and others to be planning their donation to the Chest drive.

Creeger explained that the Community Chest is a non-profit organization set up to unify all money drives in Ranger.

Creeger explained that the Community Chest is a non-profit organization set up to unify all money drives in Ranger.

Rangerite in Copenhagen— LT. COL. SANFORD D. PRESLAR AIDS DENMARK IN BUILDING NEW MILITARY AIR POWER

COPENHAGEN — Ranger's Lt. Col. Sanford D. Preslar is helping Denmark write a saga-to-riches story of air power that reads like a fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen.

An "Ugly Duckling" in the NATO air picture three years ago, the Royal Danish Air Force today has shed its ugly adolescence, thanks to men like Preslar, and matured into a hard-hitting jet element.

It goes on review today before the Danish people and their NATO partners in "Exercise Heads Up."

The five-day Allied Air Forces Northern Europe maneuver involves hundreds of Danish and Norwegian jets in a two-way test of their air defense and tactical striking ability.

In a way, Preslar's work goes on review too. The Texan is one of 17 U. S. Air Force men here who together have played a major role in building the 1953 Danish air force.

Preslar, whose mother, Mrs. Cora Preslar, who lives at Eastland Hill, is chief of logistics for the CCAF section of the joint U. S. Military Assistance and Advisory Group (MAAG) here.

"When the MAAG got started in the middle of 1950," he recalls, "the Danes didn't have any concept of jet air power, much less any of the tools."

Denmark had few trained military pilots and fewer qualified technicians. Those they had were schooled in conventional engine craft, instead of the vastly more complex jets that are the muscle of a modern air force.

Their facilities to train the needed men were limited. Being a small country, Denmark had no aircraft industry to build its own planes. Uppermost, its budget had little room for the astronomical cost of creating a standing jet air arm.

"But they did have one thing," Preslar points out. "That was the belief that they would need a strong air defense if the cold war turned hot. Like all their European neighbors in NATO, they saw in the last war how air attacks could cripple a defenseless nation overnight."

"Most of them have been taught to teach others," Preslar says. "When they come back to Denmark they go into technical schools to instruct others in what they've learned. That way, the training load is gradually passing into Danish hands—where it should be. The MAAG wasn't meant to be a permanent training shop. Our aim was to set the Danish air force up in business, get it running smoothly, then retire to the sidelines."

"In fact," Preslar laughs, "this is the only business I know of where you can consider yourself a success if you close down."

From all appearances, the MAAG still is far from closing down. Stateside training is declining, but on-the-job assistance and special instruction at USAF bases in Europe continues at a brisk clip.

Like most USAF men here, Preslar thinks the Copenhagen MAAG is a pleasant assignment. The MAAG headquarters is located in a well-kept office building within the walls of a Danish military casern on the outskirts of town. It officially is under the wing of the American embassy and in keeping with embassy policy Preslar wears civilian clothes except on special occasions and when he visits Danish air bases.

He finds Copenhagen one of the most modern and comfortable cities in Europe, although the cost of living has gone up in the past year and housing today is hard to find and expensive.

"But it's that way in every country," he adds.

That attitude pushes Preslar and his fellow MAAG men, welcomed as guests in this commercial capital—at least as welcomed as a foreigner they may ever be in a sovereign nation—front and progressive as Denmark.

As for himself, Preslar feels almost at home.

"Sometimes," he concludes, "when I see neon signs downtown spelling out familiar names like Andersen and Petersen, I feel like I'm right back in Ranger."

Some 28,850,000 passengers traveled 18,560,000,000 passenger-miles on U. S. domestic and intercontinental routes during 1952, a newspaper survey shows.

Brass Beds Are Staging A Comeback

"Something old, something new" is a broad custom that frequently of necessity is carried over from the wedding ceremony into furnishing for the first "home," be it a small apartment or a house. The family attic or storeroom often is raided in quest of "something old" which can be made to do into the budget allow replacing.

Brass Beds Popular
One can now highly fashionable to resurrect in grandeur brass or enameled iron bed, for with the use of more and more metal in home furnishings, the old bed-making while it's fashionable to use Grandpa's old bed, it's neither fashionable nor even "something new" is a necessity. At a cost of only a few cents a night, people can have quality sleep equipment that will make the bed comfortable as well as attractive.

Of course, the brass bed can't be taken right out of storage and plopped into the bedroom with any degree of desired decorative effect. A little work must be done. A good metal polish, followed by a coat of non-tarnish lacquer, will do wonders for an old brass bed. High color used
An old iron bed with cracked enamel can be renovated by removing the shabby paint and giving it a new coat. High color such as shocking pink, is popular today. White suggests femininity while dull black against charcoal or red, with colorful accents in spread and draperies, may appear for a master bedroom.

Plans Made To Care For All Disaster Victims; Public Being Urged To Cooperate

In 1953, a year of tornadoes in the United States, the need for disaster planning has been re-emphasized. Among others, hospital workers from administrators on "brown" the ranks have been impressed with this need.

From the reports of several hospitals in tornado-hit areas (one in Waco and two in Worcester, Mass.) it is evident that certain problems were common to all: these dealt with providing first-aid care for all emergency cases through such measures as the sorting and routing of patients, keeping simple but accurate records on all patients, maintaining uninterrupted communications, and setting up information and press bureaus.

Directing the over-all program in each hospital were physicians and other key personnel who were familiar with the many things that needed to be done. In no instance was it necessary to ask for volunteers, either trained or untrained. As soon as hospital workers and other persons (such as doctors' wives and secretaries) learned of the disaster, they reported to the hospital or stood by "on call."

One hospital, hearing of the news an hour or so in advance of the first patient, was prepared. Another was aware a major disaster had occurred only when patients continued to arrive at an alarming rate. Within a matter of several hours, however, patients in every hospital had been given emergency treatment, many of them sent home or to the homes of friends, and the rest admitted to the hospital. One institution had a division just finished that had not yet been opened for patients, and it was pressed into service. Another set up arm cots in all available space. Still another, not knowing how many casualties it might receive, prepared if it became necessary to discharge patients who were up and about and who could leave the hospital so their beds would be available for the tornado victims.

The conclusion reached by all hospitals was of the need for a complete disaster plan, which they thought should be reviewed periodically and brought up to date.

READ THIS ABOUT THE GREAT GULF TIRE

This Gulf Tire can stand up to rough roads and take real punishment. Here's why:
The Gulf Tire has a considerably stronger carcass. It's built with a new-type cord and has more cord per inch in every ply. Then vulcanizing welds all plies together. They work as a unit to resist bruises. And they're interlocked around high-tensile steel wire beads.

LOOKS LIKE A MILLION

Stop In - See It for Yourself!

LOW PRICED

- Less chance of blowouts and carcass failures with this tire because a double breaker strip cushions shocks.
- The tire lasts longer - wears more evenly, edge to edge, for its flatter tread design spreads the wear over a wider contact area.
- The 7 zigzag ribs of the Gulf Tire fight skids. Their flexing action breaks up water film on wet roads.
- The 7 ribs mean there's a "riding bar" down the center of the tire. Right at the point of greatest pressure, the load rides on rubber, not on a groove!
- At high speeds, the tire runs cooler (and safer) because of a special ingredient in the rubber.

RANGER DOGS BLAST MAVERICKS 27 TO 0

Ranger's powerful Bulldogs struck with lightning like speed in Eastland Friday night before an overflow crowd of 3,500 to smash the Eastland Mavericks 27-0 in a game that had been pre-billed as the top game of the season in rugged district 7-A.

The game, which was expected to be a close affair although the Bulldogs were slightly favored, was almost nailed down by Ranger when the clock showed the game was less than two minutes deep in the initial period of play. The Dogs alert left end, Tommy Hinds, took a short punt from the toe of J. D. Hanson and raced 45 yards for the score.

Ranger pushed across two more TDs in the second quarter. The first came on a pass play from quarterback Scott Forney to half-back, Chas. Massegee. Forney ran into trouble on a jump pass play eight yards out, came down with the ball and decided to run when he could find no receiver in the open, and then spotted Massegee in the end zone.

The third counter came on a nine yard scamper by Forney after a brilliant pass play put the Dogs in scoring range. The TD was set up by Hinds' great catch on the ten. The alert end reached far out to pull in Forney's pass. He was in the open all by himself but lost his balance and fell, in making the catch.

Ranger's final touchdown came in the third quarter on a quarter-back sneak. Forney sneaked across from the two after a series of plays, highlighted by a 26 yard scamper by Jim Littlefield and a 35 yard run by Massegee, carried the ball from Ranger's 25 yard line.

The game was the Bulldog's all the way. Paced by Forney and Massegee, the Ranger backs proved a credit to Coach O. C. Ward. Although downfield blocking was weak at points, the Dog line was almost a steel wall. The Mavericks were forced to depend mostly on passes and end runs for yardage. Jamie Jessop and J. D. Hanson played a great game for the losers.

Jaimes' kick-offs always kept Eastland backed up to their goal line, but Jessop and Hanson repeatedly turned in sparkling runs back to nullify much of the yardage gained from the toe of the crafty Diggsman.

The outcome of the game may have handed the Ranger eleven another district crown. The Dogs still must face several worthy foes before actually claiming the title, but the Eastland game was rated "the" game of the year in district play.

Hurt by bad breaks early in the game, the Eastland eleven could not get their offense to working smoothly. In the fourth quarter the Mavs drove to the Ranger 26 yard line but had to punt on fourth down when the Bulldog defense threw them back to the 29.

Line play might actually be credited with the difference between the two teams. Dog backs often found big holes in the Mav defense but the Eastland backs found going particularly rough through the line, particularly the middle.

RANGER JC RANGERS TIE NAVARRO 20-20

Ranger Junior College's Rangers fought from 14 points behind to tie the powerful Navarro Junior College Bulldogs 20-20 in a non-conference tilt played Saturday in Corsicana.

Ranger fell behind 14-0 in the first quarter as the Bulldog eleven went to the air for two quick markers. By halftime RJC had tied up the score, however as Ray Gilstrap scored on a pass from Tommy Wood and John Wilson added another marker. Wood kicked both extra points.

In the third quarter Navarro scored again but their try from placement was wide and the score read 20-14. Ranger kept possession of the ball most of the final stanza and pushed across the tying touchdown midway in the period. Wood's extra point try failed.

Wood was the standout for the Rangers. His passing and smooth field generalship kept Ranger a constant threat to the Bulldogs.

Next Saturday the Rangers take on San Angelo Junior College in the first Pioneer Conference game of the season.

RJC will be after their second win. They lost to Wharton 20-0, beat Allen Academy 26-6, and fell to Cisco 20-6.

FARM FIRES CUT INCOME

Eastland County and Texas farmers and ranchmen got some tips today on how to add $5,000,000 to their yearly gross income by reducing fire losses.

Fires in 1952 destroyed at least $5,000,000 worth of farm buildings and crops, said Norris W. Parker, manager of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, a trade group that compiles statistics on fire losses. Parker said the 1953 loss would be higher unless something is done to reduce farm fires.

Across the nation, the farm fire loss was $100,000,000, he said. Three safeguards were suggested by Parker to help reduce farm fires:

1. Use care and forethought in the construction, maintenance and use of all farm property with a view to eliminating all needless fire danger.
  2. Equip farm homes and buildings with simple fire-extinguishing equipment to enable individuals to stop fires before they reach the serious stage.
  3. Organize farm community fire-fighting brigades equipped with more effective equipment than an individual farmer can afford to combat larger fires.
- Farmers are being urged to check their fire defense as a part of the national observance of fire prevention week Oct. 4 to 10.

Sad News—Cost Of Mailing Your Packages Up

Mailing packages by parcel post costs approximately 37 per cent more today than it did one week ago.

The new rate raise went into effect Thursday, Postmaster A. E. Crawley said. It was made under a Congressional Act passed in September, 1950.

Rates for air parcel post do not change, Crawley pointed out, but rates in eight postal zones go up as much as eight cents on the first pound.

AS THE TWIG IS BENT

A little girl with shining eyes, Her little face aglow, Said, "Daddy, it is almost time For Sunday School. Let's go. They teach us here of Jesus' love, Of how He died for all Upon the cruel cross to save Those who on Him will call."

"Oh, no," said Daddy, "not today. I've worked hard all the week, And I must have one day of rest you know, I'm going to the creek. For there I can relax and rest, And fishing's fine, they say. So run along. Don't bother me, We'll go to church, some day."

Months and years have passed away But Daddy hears the plea no more.

"Let's go to Sunday School!" Those childhood days are o'er. And now that Daddy's growing old He finds the time to go to church, But what does daughter do?

She says, "Oh, Daddy, not today. I stayed up all last night, you know, And I've just got to have some sleep. Besides I look a fright."

Then Daddy lifts a trembling hand To brush away the tears, As again he hears the pleading voice Distinctly through the years. He sees a small girl's shining face, Upturned with eyes aglow, As she says, "It's time for Sunday School."

Please, Daddy, won't you go? —Author unknown.

(Editor's note—This poem was given us at our request by Rev. D. D. Brian, pastor of Ranger's Second Baptist Church, who comments, "Our responsibility as parents is to go and take our children to Sunday School and church. They deserve the best Christian example that we can set before them, and now is the time to set that example—while their hearts are young and tender. Now they'll listen to the word of God with receptive minds and hearts. When they grow older, they'll be like so many adults we know—hard-hearted, cruel and cynical toward God and the church.")

Well, we've been gone for quite a while, but we're back now and ready to see what we can see. Charlie Isabel was in front of the Fire Station Monday afternoon—how unusual... a man meticulously trimming the hedge at the side of the First Methodist Church... noticed the Walter Arterburn home has been re-modeled... the gray shingles and leader stone sure look snazzy... Delores Cox in a pretty yellow sweater, headed toward First Baptist, where she works so diligently... Homer Gay galloping up the Post Office steps... noticed that construction has started on the Brazda hospital... Lou Williams in his white apron going into the City Hall... Willis Clarke entering the front door of the establishment known as Clarke Motor Co... employees of the Telephone Co. perched up in the air working on the telephone lines at the West Texas Clinic... Cecil Robinson and two other high school girls sauntering to school... they weren't in much of a hurry to get there... S. Dudley walking along the street in front of Ben Franklins... Mrs. Lowell Rainwater and son, Johnny, coming out of Greer's Boot Shop... and then there was M. L. King cruising up Main Street in his Buick... Gorman Morton in front of the service station he operates... horse trading maybe?... Mrs. Roscoe Hopper zooming into town in her Cadillac... Jimmy Bullock and the H. H. Vaughns.

and little friend playing on his front porch... recess at Young School with all the kids whooping it up—oh, to be a carefree kid again... saw Joe Tullos working in his flower bed... Mrs. Wells walking into town... noticed the Brann Garners of Breckenridge driving down the street in the green Cadillac—they used to operate the local horse-opy... O. M. Franklin gallantly carrying the mail through rain, hail, sleet, and storms—well, he was carrying it down main street anyway... saw Mrs. Jackie Wright and mother-in-law, Mrs. Ethel Wright hoofing it to town... Lee Cantrell and son, Jimmy, hard at work at the station... Jerry Page grabbing for his lid in front of Crawford's drug store... Virge Johnson digging a ditch—What??... Homer Wiesen's boy carefully carrying an ice cream cone out of Crawford's... C. E. May and Pat Thomas discussing serious matters... Wyatt Jacobs scurrying around the corner by Martin's—must have been urgent business... Billy Bordeaux crossing the street by the post office, climbing into his two-tone Ford... So long, for now—see you next press day.

'53 TURKEY CROP STARTS MOVING; INDUSTRY GROWS

The production of turkeys in Eastland and adjoining counties is gradually forging ahead and today it may be listed as one of the major cash crops.

It has been only a few years since turkey growers, in this area, were few in number, and most of them operated on a very small scale. Today there are hundreds of growers and some of them are producing and growing from ten to twenty-five thousand birds annually.

The Tidwell farm near Deedemona is most likely the largest in this county and their annual crop runs in the neighborhood of 25,000 finished birds. However, there are several individuals in the 5,000-10,000 class, and you can find scores of farms where you may see from 1,000 on down.

Near Eastland will be several flock. W. T. Arther and his father have raised almost 4,000 this year, and some of these birds have already been dressed and shipped to Eastern markets.

Mr. Arther also operated a feed store and dressing plant, and very recently several pieces of new equipment have been added.

Mrs. John Thurman has been quite successful in the growing of turkeys and has about one thousand ready for market at this time. The Kincaid farms will have some 10,000 birds for market in the near future. Also Norman Richardson has about 2,000 birds, and Ray Bullock of near Chico, is finding his turkey crop quite profitable.

There are several varieties of turkeys grown in Eastland county, though the Bellville Whites is one of the most popular breeds. This is a small bird, and is very popular with buyers who do not need a larger bird. The Baby Beef Bronze is also very popular, as well as the regular bronze and reds.

Central Texas Turkey Growers Association is a rapidly growing institution, and the Eastland association is keeping in step. On the 29th of September a group of interested individuals visited several turkey farms in Eastland and Brown counties, and saw some 35,000 very fine birds.

As a cash crop and a moderately sure crop, turkeys are hard to beat it is said.

PEANUT

cotton picking crews gathering the fleecy staple. In one field we counted 14 adult cotton pickers, and it looked as though they were gathering about a bale an hour. (Our guess. Cotton in this area will make about one bale to the acre, which is considered good. In other fields the yield will be from one half to three-quarters, and in a few instances we saw cotton that isn't worth gathering and would not be, only the fact that it is so valuable farmers just don't want to waste it. They can earn several dollars a day, even in the "poor picking" area.

After talking with several farmers we are lead to believe that the cotton average will be more than a half bale to the acre, with some making as much as a bale.

Milo maize, hogari, kaffin and other feed crops are ready to be harvested, and most of these crops are good. Even an occasional crop of corn was found, and some of it was good.

Taken as a whole Eastland county is to harvest a pretty fair crop this year, regardless of what the crop may be. Farmers are happy and encouraged and are looking forward to "another year" with fondest hopes and anticipation.

NEWS FROM CHEANEY

Mrs. Bill Tucker

We think it fitting at this time to pay tribute to an Eastland citizen, one who is gracious, kind and friendly, one who inspires us to higher planes in life, one who at all times is a shining example of American Womanhood. She is Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins.

She was guest speaker at the opening session, on Wednesday morning, September 30, of the Texas Home Demonstration Association, in Galveston.

She spoke to 800 delegates and visitors attending the 27th annual convention, and her theme, "Home, the Cornerstone of Freedom, a challenge to every homemaker, rural and urban, and to all women in every walk of life. Our Nation, much like an arch, could never be strong, were it not for its home—the keys to its future."

As in a building, a cornerstone is the most important stone in the foundation. So today, the Freedom of our Nation is based on a chief cornerstone, the American home.

Eastland County Home Demonstration club women who attended the meeting were Mrs. Bulah Turner, Flatwood, Mrs. Buck Matles, Union Center, Mrs. M.P. Farnsworth, Word, and Mrs. Bill Tucker Chesney club.

The rain gauge at six o'clock Sunday registered 4 inches, and peanuts which have been plowed up will need several days of sunshine for drying out. Some crops are already sold and good bright rays in the barn, but the greater percent of the crops in this neighborhood is yet to be harvested.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Revel and David of Gorman visited Sunday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Revel.

Mrs. John Love was in Abilene on Thursday, attending a conference of Insurance Agents of Farm Bureau, under the supervision of Austin Crownover TFBF Sales Director. Mrs. Love has office days, Tuesday in Eastland, Friday in Cisco each week.

Mrs. Lissa Miller, who has been here with her Aunt Ellen Tucker, for the past four weeks, returned Sunday to her home in Muleshoe, Texas. Her husband, Charlie Miller, came for her Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Perrin of Ranger were visiting with the Henry Perrin family Saturday afternoon.

Eisenhower To Dedicate Dam At Port Isabel

President Eisenhower's itinerary will not permit him to attend an invitation to go fishing this month off the southern tip of Padre Island.

But he has made it clear he appreciated the suggestion.

The President's message was conveyed in a letter from Republican National Committeeman Jack Porter of Houston to John L. Tompkins of Corpus Christi.

The invitation was extended by Tompkins, who is carrying out a multi-million dollar resort development on South Padre, and city officials of Port Isabel.

Mr. Porter's letter read: "When I was in Denver recently, I talked with the President about a possible fishing trip at Port Isabel."
