34TH YEAR

RANGER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MAY 9, 1954

Homespun

By UNCLE BOB

Today we celebrate the day of all the year that is dear to us. This is the day that we set aside for mother.

On Mother's Day every home in this country will celebrate with gifts bestowed upon mother to show her the appreciation for all of the love, kindness and hours of worry she gives to us.

Those that wear a white rose tomorrow and have no mother to celebrate the day with, for those the thoughts and memories of mother remain as an everlasting remembrance as a monument for unselfishness, kindness and patience. The memories of a mother never die.

Great leaders have said, "The backbone of this great nation is its mothers."

Bobby Roberson of Ranger wrote a poem and asked that it be published in our paper for Mother's Day. It is a wonderful poem and I extend by congratulations.

ON MOTHER'S DAY

One Mother's Day a big red rose, Spread forth its petals gay, The way it stood there blooming, These words it seemed to say:

"Mothers were made for loving, Their hearts are as pure as gold, Let us try to impart a message, For the love their dear hearts hold.

They unfold their love in beauty As the big red rose in May, Unfolds its beautiful red petals To welcome them on Mother's Day.

God bless the loving mothers In our land in those afar, They sacrifice soul and body, She deserves a golden star.

Why not? Today! Dry the dishes for mother, Make her day as easy as you can for her. While we have Mother's Day let's not let it die. Let's make every day Mother's Day because she deserves it.

BIRDMAN—Inventor Pietro Gullini, known to his Perugia, Italy, townsmen as the "Flying Madman," shows part of his wing-like flying machine with which he hopes to fly by imitating the birds. Halted by police once, Gullini hopes to get their permission after he's made some improvements on his flying machine.

Ranger Junior College Presents Musical Program For 1920 Club

One of the most outstanding programs of the year was presented by the Ranger Junior College on Thursday, May 6, at the Music Hall for the 1920 Club members and guests. The program "Trends in Musical Literature" and "The Music of the Opera," under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baumgardner proved to be a most interesting. Mrs. R. L. Hamrick was program chairman.

Mr. Baumgardner presented trends in musical literature. The trends was traced, briefly, from the period of church music, reorganized under the name of Gregorian Chant, through the early classical school of Bach to the post romantic period.

The lush, complex choral structure of this era was contrasted with the dissonance of contemporary writers. Examples of pure chords of early writers, were contrasted with types of mystic chords created by Scriabine. From this sketchy background, pupils were presented the "Play" of the smaller examples of trends current in composition.

Two Russian composers were represented in Kabalevsky and Scriabine—the use of sixth and ninth chords of American writers were represented by Hanson and a D. Thompson. Two Texas composers, David Guion and Bernard Fitzgerald, comprised the most dissonant group presented. Examples of American realism in music included one number by Eugene Goossens, and concluded with the inevitable Boogie Woogie, which is probably more of a passing fancy, than a true musical trend. Students presenting these selections included:

"Toccatina" by Kabalevsky, Sue Williams.

"Revolutionary Prelude" by Scriabine, Lynda Ferguson.

"Enchantment" by Hanson, Rilley Fox.

"Prelude" by John Thompson Jr. Gary Bradshaw.

"Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat" by Guion, Norma Gayle Emfinger.

"The Hardy—Gurdy Man" Op. 18, No. 3 by Goossens, Mary Ellen Deffebach.

Cornet solo, "Call" from Modern Suite" by Fitzgerald, Mrs. Fred Steffy.

"Maggie Boogie" arrangement by Schuman, Ann Robinson.

Mrs. Baumgardner, in presenting Rudolph Bing and the Opera, contrasted the type of singers and productions which were prevalent prior to the advent of Mr. Bing, with the reforms he has supervised. Newer, realistic staging in both costumes and scenery, with Broadway show talent in charge of productions; fewer vocal instruments and better singers; catering to the average music lover instead of the socialite audience; effect of recordings, radio and television on opera, and the translation of opera into the English language. All of these items are pertinent factors in the changes inaugurated in the greatest opera house in the world, since Mr. Rudolph Bing became manager a few years ago. Probably the most outstanding contribution remains to the credit of The Texas Company, who sponsor the weekly broadcasts during the opera season.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses: Mrs. G. B. Rush, Mrs. Hugh Smith, and Mrs. R. L. Hamrick. Mrs. H. L. Coody is president. About 50 members and guests were present.

McComas Family To Make Pampa Their New Home

W. G. McComas, who for the past two and one-half years has been manager of the local Montgomery Ward Store, assumed similar duties of the Montgomery Ward Store in Pampa Friday, according to M. P. Myres, Montgomery Ward employee and co-worker of McComas.

Mr. McComas came to Ranger from Leavenworth, Kans., where he was also manager of a Montgomery Ward Store.

Mrs. McComas and their children, Mary Jane, seven, and Mike, three, will join their husband and father as soon as school closes, she stated.

"We hate to leave our many friends in Ranger, but it is a promotion of which we are proud," she said.

That fire signal heard here Friday morning confused Ranger citizens, since there was no clouds and the fire truck made no run.

A call to Fire Chief Isbell found the fireboys just as confused. There was no fire reported they said and a check was being made to see if a short in the circuit caused the alarm to sound, Chief Isbell said.

Modern Homes Reported To Be Much Safer Now

NEW YORK, N.Y.—More than 22,000 women at ages 15 and over lost their lives each year in the United States as a result of accidents, a larger number than from any other cause of death except the cardiovascular diseases and cancer, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's statisticians report.

In the experience among the company's industrial policy-holders, more than half of all accidental deaths among women at ages 15 to 64 are the result of motor vehicle mishaps. Four out of every five women killed in such accidents were passengers or drivers; the others were pedestrians.

Falls ranked second as a cause of fatal injury among these insured women, accounting for about one-seventh of all the deaths from accidents. Conflagrations and burns by other means were responsible for about one tenth of the fatalities. Drowning and poisoning—in the latter case, mainly by the barbiturates or the absorption of gas—also contributed measurably to the toll.

In view of the large proportion of time that women spend in and about the home, the fact that only one quarter of the fatal accidents among women under age 65 occur on the home premises is considered of particular interest.

"Modern equipment and appliances, among other improvements, have made the American home a much safer place in which to live," the statisticians comment.

High Winds Cause Little Loss Throughout Area

MAY 9

How many buttons are missing today?
Nobody knows but Mother.
How many playthings are strewn in her way?
Nobody knows but Mother.
How many thimbles and spools has she missed?
How many burns on each fat little fist?
How many bumps to be cuddled and kissed?
Nobody knows but Mother.

How many hats has she hunted today?
Nobody knows but Mother.
Carelessly hiding themselves in the hay—
Nobody knows but Mother.
How many handkerchiefs wilfully strayed?
How many ribbons for each little maid?
How for her care can a mother be paid?
Nobody knows but Mother.

How many muddy shoes all in a row?
Nobody knows but Mother.
How many stockings to darn, do you know?
Nobody knows but Mother.

How many cares does a mother's heart know?
Nobody knows but Mother.
How many joys from her mother love flow?
Nobody knows but Mother.
How many prayers for each little white bed?
How many tears for her babes has she shed?
How many kisses for each curly head?
Nobody knows but Mother.

College Sets Commencement Date, Names Local Degree Candidates

R. L. Willis, dean of Ranger Junior College, has listed the following students from Ranger who will be candidates for degrees at the spring commencement of the college. They are: Jimmy Cole, Jackie Heath, Alys Langley, Dorothy Steffy, Joe Duskevich and Leroy Farr.

Jack Tyrone of Oden is also a candidate for the degree.

Commencement exercises will be held on the night of May 30th, the dean announced and stated that Dr. Gladys Maddox, faculty member of Texas State College for Women, will be the speaker.

Dr. Maddox was one of three in the first graduating class of Ranger Junior College, Dean Willis said.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at the Pentecostal Church, with Mrs. J. E. Blackwell, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Liberty Hill Cemetery near Pioneer. Thomas Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Webb was born in Daleville, Mo., Feb. 4, 1869. When she first came to Texas she moved to the Cross Plains area and in 1890 moved to Eastland County.

When she was 14 she was married to C. P. Holder. Following his death she was married to S. B. Webb in 1892.

Survivors include five sons, Rich Holder of San Antonio, John Holder of Stanton, Chris Webb and Clois Webb, both of Cisco, and Chis Webb of Stratmore, Calif.

David Carothers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carothers of Athens and formerly of Eastland, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. White of Eastland, was over Jimmy Graham in the finals of the Junior Division of the Athens Intramural Tennis Tournament.

Platypus Species May Be Increasing

SYDNEY, Australia—The world's queerest mammal, the platypus, is thought to be increasing in numbers in Australia, its only natural home.

F. J. Griffiths, chief guardian of fauna, ordered a survey of the platypus population after casual observations reported to him indicated the little creature is being seen in locales from which it has been missing for years. Rangers in Griffiths' department are being asked to give exact localities where platypuses live and when they last were seen there.

SCHOOL GYM IS MARKED BY LIGHTNING

High winds and heavy rain hit the Eastland county area late Thursday night, causing minor damage in at least one city.

Lightning kept citizens worried much of the night and several persons spent the night, or much of it, in storm cellars.

In Eastland, lightning struck wiring leading into the High School gym and left a black smudge on the side of the brick structure. Witnesses said that building would have "burned to the ground" if the building had been made of wood.

Eastland got .39 hundredths of an inch of rain, while Ranger and Oden each got .30.

The forecast for the week-end calls for clear to partly cloudy skies with mild temperatures.

Clean-up Time Is Extended

The date for the first hauling of trash in the cleanup campaign has been changed from Monday, May 10 to Friday, May 14, according to C. E. May, general chairman of the steering committee for the cleanup drive. This was done to give the citizens more time to do a thorough job, he stated. Circulars have been ordered printed by the committee and will be applied in every house in town before Friday, the day of the first hauling, asking the cooperation of the citizens in this important civic effort.

The committee to secure trucks for the hauling is composed of Alvin Wood, J. E. Matthews and Lester Crossley, and they urge anyone who will donate trucks for the hauling, to call Alvin Wood, Phone 49 or one of the members of the committee.

C. E. May states that the committee decided at their meeting Wednesday to give four prizes for the largest piles of trash, a new one of those who intend to compete for these prizes must register at the office of the Chamber of Commerce in order that the judging committee will know whose premises to inspect. First prize will be $10, second $7.50, third $5.00 and fourth $2.50.

Other members of the steering committee in addition to May are L. I. Bruce, Buck Wallace, Mrs. H. L. Coody and Mrs. Joe Nuesel.

Ranger Eagles Score Easy Win Over Brownwood

Ranger's Eagles snapped the Brownwood Latin's ten game win streak Thursday night with a 11-3 victory that pushed the locals' victory string to five out of six.

Ranger's big bats proved too much for the well regarded Brownwood team. The Eagles got to Alonzo Pena, Brownwood's ace southpaw, for 14 hits. Two Ranger hurlers held the Latins to just 8 hits, three of them going for extra bases, however.

Pena gave up just three extra base hits, wily Angel Renteria getting two doubles. The locals used two big innings, the third and the seventh to get all but one of their runs. Ranger exploded for four runs in the third frame and then added one in the sixth and six in seventh.

Brownwood went scoreless until the fifth inning when they pushed across a lone run. Then they added two more counters in the sixth.

J. A. Estes, manager said he would send his charges back into action May 14 against the Brownwood Bees and then would play a return match with the Latins May 21. Both games will be played here.

Estes said his team was still in need of financial help, and urged anyone interested in helping to contact him.

UNBALANCED EARRINGS LATEST JEWELRY FAD

The newest trend in jewelry design is the "unbalanced" look. Judith McCann, who invented the earring which hangs from the inside of the ear instead of the lobe, is out with earrings which match in design but mis-match in size. One is small, the other large. Her "unbalanced earrings" for summer feature flowers and pearls combined. One set includes a large earring, looking like a miniature bouquet about four inches long and a smaller one, of smaller flowers, only about one inch long. She is making the same unbalanced earrings in pearls for fall and winter wear.

Plan Three Kinds Of Vegetables In Daily Diet

"Vegetables can be different," states Mrs. Mildred Crow, county extension agent to the Morton Valley Home Demonstration Club, as she opened her program on "Three Vegetables a Day," Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Robert Kincaid. She pointed out that vegetables give variety in texture, shape, flavor and color. She gave the nutritional value of numerous vegetables. Mrs. Crow then prepared a one-dish meal composed of sausage, three vegetables with cornbread as topping which could be served with fruit salad with poppy seed dressing and milk and cookies which were sampled by the club members. During the business meeting, which preceded the demonstration, Mrs. Kincaid, president, gave the council report and asked that the members help sell the council cook books which she distributed. Dear Mom,

Mother's Day is your day. The world voted it and Heaven was glad. Only wish I could have wrapped my heart in the card you are reading. Mother, there's something special, something extra, that comes only from you. And of course, I am much concerned about your health and happiness.

Mom, I know death will not conquer your love. You are the soaring cloud that lifts me to new attempts, and the strength I need to see me through.

*Mom, how's this? - "God could not be everywhere, so He made Mothers."
May God bless you always,
Bill*

The Jacaranda Tree

By Helen Topping Miller

THE STORY: Aged Dr. Bentley, an invalid, has married the 20-year-old orphaned daughter of his first wife, Dr. Tuck Bentley, the son of the aged physician, is shocked to find his stepmother, Frankie, younger than himself, and he senses further complications when he learns that Dr. Bentley Mitchell, his father's young partner, is in love with Frankie. Tuck and Dr. Mitchell have just been called on Mrs. Macomber, the mother of Virginia (Ginty) Macomber, one of Tuck's old friends.

GINTY MACOMBER followed us out to the gate. "I'll do what I can to persuade her," she said, her chin quivering, "but you saw how it is. She opposes me on principle."

"Without surgery," Mitchell said bluntly, "I'll give her six months."

Ginty did not flinch. She had always, I remembered, stood up to the truth, even when it hurt. Her face stiffened into a kind of mask, and her eyes evaded us.

"There ought to be a law compelling people to submit to necessary surgery," I remarked. "There's a law about inoculations for infectious diseases."

"Diseases spread and hurt other people. Something like this hurts only the patient," returned Mitchell. "And the family, of course," he added.

Ginty twisted her fingers together. There were still freckles on her nose, I saw, they stood out now starkly and her lips were colorless.

"I'll try to talk to her," she said again. "She hates having my children around, but I do have to earn money and I'm not trained to do anything else. I don't even know how I can pay you, Tuck—either of you."

"We aren't talking about that," Ginty. The important thing is to stop this thing before it becomes ineradicable."

"We do have to face the possibility that she has delayed too long already," Mitchell said.

gold on black: "BRADLEY C. MITCHELL, INTERNAL MEDICINE."

Up there in two ratty big rooms lighted by a misused skylight was the little infirmary my father had equipped long ago to meet the community need. A Mrs. Pullen had officiated there, white-haired, plump, and brisk, proud of her Johns Hopkins cap. She had been old then, older than my father. Probably she was dead now.

There was little traffic on the three blocks. I met no one that I remembered except Duddy Jones, the town policeman who still leaned against the same sunny wall. Duddy looked at me indifferently without recognition. I remembered a Halloween when Duddy had chased me out of a bridge and dared me to come out. Ginty had hidden there with me, snick in black mud to her knees, giggling and frightened, not at Duddy but because of what would happen when her mother saw her ruined shoes.

I WENT UP and beat old Duddy on the back. "Hello, Duddy. Remember Tuck Bentley?" Duddy blinked crossed eyelids, dry as an old alligator's. "Remember? Think I could forget a devil like you? Well, you've grown. Don't know if you've improved any. How's your pappy?"

"A little better today, Duddy. How's yours?"

"Oh, I'm sticking together. Sort of loose in a few spots. Hope the old Doc gets on his feet pretty soon. That young feller, he knows enough. I reckon, but he ain't got a way with folks like the old Doc. Tries too hard, seems to me."

"Take care of yourself, Duddy. This town wouldn't be none without you."

I turned toward home. The trees were in bloom in the yards. The flaming poincianas, orange trees fragrantly white, clumps of blazing flame vine, and at the corner of our home yard a shower of purple petals drifted down over me. I looked up into the richly fragrant heart of Dad's Jacaranda tree.

DOWN LIFE'S ROAD

By Rev. Ralph E. Perkins

"Honour thy . . . Mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

"A foolish man despiseth his mother."

"Despise not thy mother when she is old."
"My son . . . forsake not the law of thy mother."

"The hand that rocks the cradle, rules the nation."
The greatest need in America today is, "Christian Mothers."

Humanity is in essence the substance of it's Motherhood. A mother's love plus the Power of God will give any child the advantage.

"Mother's Day" is to the merchant profit; to the poet a day of beauty; to the orphan a desire; to the one who wears the "white Corset" a memory; to the obedient child, "every day is Mother's Day."

"Who ran to help me when I fell,
And would some pretty story tell,
Or kiss the place to make it well?
My mother."
—Jane Taylor—

A christian mother is God's gift for the welfare of the race.

We invite the citizens of this area to bring their families and their mothers if they are in this area to our services this Lord's day. Mother's day ought to be family day for all who worship.

The membership of the church will find much comfort and happiness in this service and special recognition will be given the Mothers.

The Sunday school department has made adequate preparation for an increase in attendance and each department will begin at 9:45 a.m. with special programs. The pastor will bring a message with the theme: "A Debt of Interest Paid for With the Right Principle." This message will bring the reality of man's obligation right back to the one who gave him life.

First Baptist Deacon Meeting 7 P. M. Monday

The Deacons of the First Baptist Church will meet Monday night at 7:30 in the library, and according to Carl Page, chairman, "this meeting is of utmost importance." Each deacon will find it to his advantage to sit in on this history making program.

The deacons merely take the desires of the church and develop them into feasible plans to be carried out according to the wishes of the church in conference.

The deacons are divided into various subcommittees and function according to the vote of the church. Laymen are selected to serve with the deacons on these committees. Deacons are chosen by the church according to the scriptural plan given by Paul in the 3 chapters of 1 Timothy. At the present time there are 26 men serving as deacons.
