Had you thought what tomorrow will be?

Of course, it is Friday the 13th. Is it lucky, and are there any foundations to the unlucky aspects we have heard all our lives? Some folks say that people are superstitious because they are ignorant. As ignorant as this old country boy thinks he is some of the time, and as ignorant as a lot of folks think he is all the time, you can expect him to be superstitious.

Maybe not exactly superstitious, just a little cautious.

There are a lot of people, as a trade or profession, who are reported to be extremely superstitious. Some are superstitious of one thing and some another. According to stories which have come our way, it would seem that two groups who are most superstitious, or at least inclined in that direction, are actors of all types and professional sportsmen.

In digging around for things to be superstitious about I have come up with a few, and frankly some are new to me. They may be old to you, but did you know—for example:

In Scotland if the fish won't bite, you must toss one of the fishermen into the water, but be sure and pull him out quickly, or it might be his unlucky day.

A young car driver is in trouble if he sees someone munching peanuts.

A hunter is bound to have bad luck if he loads his gun before he reaches the hunting ground.

A ball player is asking for nothing but trouble if he steps on the foul line coming on or off the field. (We have seen some teams in our time that must have done that trick for a pastime.)

It's bad luck, not bad luck for the cooler who fails to unwrap his golf ball before going out to the course.

No priestfighter allows 13 loops on his bandages.

It seems that this could go on and on. Of course there are folks who can dispense, with facts, some or all of these superstitions. There is a new magazine coming out, "Sports Illustrated" and it has the newstands on Friday the 13th. Looks like they will be waving black cats at the jinx day.

Friday the 13th may be an unlucky day in Ranger for some folks but for one person it is bound to be a lucky day. Down at the Texas Electric Service Company office they are going to present someone with an electric frying pan, skillet or something like that. Whoever gets it should feel that it is not their unlucky day.

Went down to the Texas Electric office to check into this freezing demonstration they have been having all week. About all I know about freezing is the fact that when cold weather comes and I find I have spent my summer wages and my clothes are threadbare in spots, then I freeze. But I found out by asking that they were giving a different kind of freezing demonstration.

Miss Mary Frances McNair, the home service advisor for Texas Electric, who has been here on a number of electrical appliance demonstrations, surely gives an enthusiastic review of many of the things you can do if you have an electric freezer. If you don't have one her discussion will make you want to get one.

This young lady surely has some excellent ideas of feeding people. All you do is cook up a lot of stuff, and put it in the freezer, and when the husband or

Civic Affairs Group Maps New Program

A meeting is scheduled at the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office for 7 p.m. Friday at which time a group of officials from various clubs and organizations will discuss with the Ranger Civic Affairs Committee a broad program of civic development.

It is indicated that the program will include a series of projects for the betterment of Ranger.

The Civic Affairs group has had a number of these matters under consideration, and at a meeting Wednesday afternoon it was decided to invite representatives of clubs and civic organizations to a discussion of the program.

Carl White Car Located Tuesday On Country Road

The automobile of Carl White which was stolen Sunday night while parked near the Second Baptist Church was recovered shortly before noon Tuesday.

The 1947 model Chevrolet was found parked on a country highway in the vicinity of Gordon. It was discovered by an employee of the Lone Star Gas Company, and as it appeared similar to the missing car he notified White.

During the time the car was stolen one of the tires had been badly damaged and the thieves had changed tires on the car. No other damage was immediately determined, and tools which White had earlier feared lost were found intact in the car. The keys to the car were missing.

City employees are in the process of completing the paving of Sinclair Street in Ranger from Blackwell Road to Cooper Street. City Manager Les Crossley, said Wednesday. The completion of the project for this street was delayed due to a car of premix being misrouted over rail lines. It arrived Monday and work was resumed on the street job.

Postal receipts at the Ranger post office continue to show an increase over receipts of a year ago, Postmaster A. E. Crawley said today.

The receipts for July, 1954 amounted to $3,205.79 as compared to $3,082.96 in July, 1953, Crawley reported.

Receipts at the Ranger post office have been running ahead of those of last year for several months.

Since March of this year the post office records are being kept on a month to month basis instead of the old custom of many years when business over a three month period was combined into a quarterly report.

The entire postal system is in a process of undergoing many changes, Crawley said. These changes are intended to reduce expenses and improve services.

Some of the more cumbersome and centralized procedures are being eliminated under the process of streamlining the postal service.

One of the more recent moves has been to de-centralize many of the operations from Washington, D.C., with the establishment of various regional and district offices for the direction of the internal affairs of the Post Office Department.

A regional accounting office has been established in recent months in Dallas, and a District Headquarters Office has been opened in Fort Worth to cover matters of personnel, operations and equipment of local post offices. Before this, Crawley said, all these matters were handled direct with Washington.

Oil News

One Completion, Three Proposed Wells In County

Three new locations, and one completion in Eastland County and one location and one completion in Stephens County, has highlighted past few days.

The Victor Cornelius No. 5 M. W. Grieger, has been completed with a daily potential of 51.64 barrels of 38 gravity oil. This is a regular field location about four miles south of Eastland in Sec. 29, T. 2 N., R. 2 E., H&TC Survey. The well is on pump. Hole was bottomed at 1,307, casing set at 1,304 with production from 1,282 to 85 through 18 perforations.

The latest announced location is in the regular field about three miles south of Eastland. It is the Bruce L. Hoover No. 1 C. C. Harris, with a proposed depth of 1,999 feet using cable tools. It is staked 330 feet from the south and east lines of Sec. 28, Bk. 2, H&TC Survey.

The Carl Lummus No. 1 Oliver Canal, three and a half miles southeast of Olden has been staked. It is to be drilled by cable tools to a depth of 1,999 feet, and is located 1,180 feet from the north and 525 feet from the east lines of Lot 53, League 3, and 4, McLennan County School Land Survey.

In Stephens County, the Lone Star Producing Company has a daily potential of 239.29 barrels of 42.2 gravity oil in the No. 5 Frankie Lykes in the northeast 1/4 of a field. This well is four miles (Continued On Page Two)

Texas Electric To End Freezer Program Friday

The electric deep freeze demonstration conducted this week at the Texas Electric Service Company office in Ranger will end at 3 p. m. Friday.

Miss Mary Frances McNair, home service advisor of the company is in charge of the program. She has been explaining to housewives how they can find many times and money saving advantages in the use of a deep freeze unit. Also, she is telling them of many newer methods in the preparation of foods for deep freeze, both raw and processed.

Plan of World Government Is Seen By Lerche

A prediction that we would in future years live under a world government was made Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Charles O. Lerche, Jr., in the closing session of a series of four meetings conducted on world affairs and sponsored by the Service Pipe Line Company for its employees and the public.

Originally scheduled for four days, the meetings were grouped together, with two being held on Tuesday and two on Wednesday.

Dr. Lerche, is associate professor of Political Science at Emory University of Atlanta, Ga.

Subjects reviewed in the serious open-forum type meetings included "Why the U.S. Has Foreign Relations," "Power Politics," "How U.S. Foreign Policy is Made," and "What We Can Do About Our Foreign Policy."

By an analytical process, Dr. Lerche presented a related series of thought provoking questions in his meetings.

World problems of aggression and non-aggression, and the conflicting views of this nation's foreign policy, present and past gradually moved into a discussion of the uncertain future.

The foreseeable future he said led to two alternatives. One would be to start and fight an all out atomic war, which could quickly backfire on the United States, or to surrender some of our own independence and freedom and unite under a world government.

Rotarians Told Facts On Traffic Problems

Ranger Rotarians at noon Wednesday heard a discussion of traffic problems and the business of attempting to keep lives from being needlessly slaughtered on the highways of Texas. The speaker was Patrolman J. Ross Kemp, District Safety Officer of the Abilene headquarters for the Texas Highway Patrol.

D. Joseph, president of the Rotary Club presided at the regular club meeting in the Gholson Hotel. Frank Deaton was program chairman and introduced the speaker.

Patrolman Kemp declared that traffic accident problems and the prevention of costly, killing automobile accidents present a challenge to the youth of Texas.

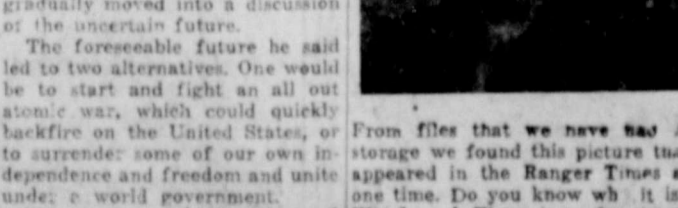

In Eastland County alone, during the first seven months of 1954, there have been 60 serious accidents. While only one has been killed, 25 have been injured, and the property damage loss is almost $37,000. This amount of financial loss figure does not represent medical, funeral, loss of time, or other expenses which may have been incurred by the individuals involved, but it reflects only the value of the damaged or destroyed property as a result of wrecks.

The accident frequency in this area is up, and the accidents are becoming more costly to the individuals involved, as well as reflecting an added financial burden on everyone because of increased insurance rates.

Kemp, during his discussion reviewed a number of the problems which face traffic enforcement officers and others interested in highway safety. A broad program, which he stated, has been successful in other states was covered in detail.

Unless some positive action is taken toward accident prevention the matter of accidents will increase in the future. Factors cited by Kemp to produce the increased accident rate included, an ever increasing number of cars on the highways; more miles of improvement in other states was covered in detail.

Emergency Polio Fund Drive Set Aug. 16-31

CONTRIBUTIONS PUSH MADDUX FUND NEAR $200 MARK TODAY

The fund being raised in Ranger for the aid of Mrs. C. S. Maddux, whose two children are stricken with polio and are in Hendricks Memorial Hospital at Abilene, had early today reached a total of $198.15.

Donations amounting to $64.65 had been received since Tuesday at which time $133.50 was reported. Donations are being accepted at the Chamber of Commerce, "500" Cleaners and the Ranger Times.

The latest report on the condition of the two children indicate that Mary Jane has been removed from isolation, but Robert remained in the isolation ward. Physicians had indicated to Mrs. Maddux that the condition of Robert was not as serious as that of Mary Jane, and there might be a possibility of his being able to attend a part of the school term next spring. There is little or no encouragement that Mary Jane will be able to attend school at all during the coming year.

Contributors to the fund since the Tuesday report included: Ranger Rehekah Lodge, Ranger Volunteer Fire Department, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Chastain, E. L. Noyes, Price R. Ashton, Isaac Jenkins, Lee Eloy Farr, O. C. Warden, Royce Phillips, Mr. L. H. Hagaman, Mrs. Edna Chambers, Mrs. W. F. Deaton, R. L. Willis, W. H. Shaffer and Mrs. J. R. Scott.

The annual audit of the city's books was made by the certified public accounting firm of James P. Watson and Company of Dallas.

City Commission Approves Audit Of Past Year

At a regular meeting of the Ranger City Commission Tuesday night, the audit of the city records at the close of the fiscal year, April 30, 1954, was officially approved and accepted.

The Community Election Board, consisting of three farmers of each community of Eastland County, will meet and select nominees of farmers in the communities who are eligible to serve as community representatives Monday.

In addition to those farmers who are nominated by the Election Board, there will also be included in the slate of nominees any names of farmers submitted to the Board by petitions signed by 10 or more eligible voters in the community. J. M. Cooper, chairman of the board, said.

The petitions must be received by Cooper by August 16 to be included in the list of nominees.

County Still Lacks Second Primary Ballots

Eastland County voters who sought to cast absentee votes still couldn't Thursday morning.

The ballots for the second primary election were slow in getting to the printer and were not expected to be ready before Friday.

The state law says absentee voting should begin on August 8. The same law conflicts itself by setting August 9 as the deadline for the county committee to get the ballot ready.

Burleson Asks For Five Brazos River Dams

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Omar Burleson of the 17th District of Texas has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives to authorize purchase of a portion of the bonds issued by the Brazos River Authority, an agency of the State of Texas, to finance the early development by it of the water resources of the Brazos River Basin.

In a statement to Congress, Burleson pointed out that it was not expected that the legislation could be considered in this session. The purpose of presenting it at the present time is to allow the various departments and agencies of the government, and others interested, to study the proposition before Congress convenes again in January, he said.

Burleson said the bill is in behalf of the Brazos River Authority, which he said, "does not ask the Government for a hand-out."

"What it does is to offer the Government $6 million dollars worth of bonds bearing 2 1/2 percent interest out of a total of 140 million dollars for the development of five dams below Possum Kingdom on the Brazos River, and for the improvement of the Possum Kingdom Dam itself."

He also mentioned the fact that at present the two Maddux children of Ranger who are now in Hendricks Memorial Hospital at Abilene are to receive benefits from funds of the local chapter, and the organization is in process (Continued On Page Two)

Firemen Give $10 To Maddux Fund

Members of the Ranger Volunteer Fire Department at the regular meeting Tuesday night held a pumper drill and burned dry grass on several vacant lots. Fifteen firemen answered roll call. During the business session it was voted that the Department make a contribution of $10.00 to the Maddux fund.

District Patrol Captain Issues Warning On 'In A Hurry' Complex

State highway law violations in Eastland county as a result of arrests by State Highway Patrolmen in July amounted to $100 being assessed in fines. This information is revealed in a report released today by Capt. G. L. Morahan, in charge of the Abilene district headquarters of the Texas Highway Patrol.

"Too many of our motorists are suffering from an 'in a hurry' complex," Morahan said. "This attitude is characterized by excessive speed; speed too fast for local conditions; following too closely; failing to yield the right of way, and improper passing."

"Slow Down and Live"—that's the watchword of the highways now, Capt. Morahan pointed out.

Patrolmen investigated 88 motor vehicle accidents where eight people died and 61 were injured in July, with property damage of $52,491.00. In comparison with July, 1953, two more persons died in the 13 county area this year than a year ago.

During the first seven months of 1954, 46 people have been killed as a result of motor vehicle accidents in the area of the Abilene Highway Patrol district. This is seven more than died during the same period of 1953.

"Observing traffic laws is the best way to cure the 'in a hurry' complex and to protect your life and the lives of others," Captain Morahan said.

Due to a heavy drain on the national funds, it has become necessary to stage an emergency polio fund raising campaign on a nation-wide basis. Jess Cole, newly elected chairman of the Eastland County chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, said today.

The drive for more cash will be conducted from August 16 through 31. Cole said this campaign will have to be short, and urged immediate response from people of this area.

Cole, who is M-Sgt. in the Texas National Guard unit of Ranger, has been active in the work of the polio campaigns in past years, was named county chairman at a meeting at the Texas Electric Service Company offices in Eastland on Tuesday night.

Bill Elmendorf of Austin, who is director in Texas for the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, attended the Eastland meeting and fully explained the need for this emergency fund campaign.

One method of raising the needed funds will be an appeal by mail, and Cole said that anyone contributing can be assured that proper credit will be given to their local chapters. Fifty cents of each dollar raised will go to the local chapters.

The national funds are depleted, and an additional 20 million dollars is needed at this time. In addition, Cole explained, a lot of local chapters throughout the area are short of funds.

This is an unforeseen emergency, Cole said, in citing the need. This emergency is the result of the high costs in continuing care for 67,000 patients stricken in earlier years and an unknown number of victims of the current outbreak.

Cole said there are some cash in this immediate area, although they are of several years' duration, which now require periodic treatment and special care.

With the national funds at a very low level, it was a matter of making a decision to either curtail services for patients who need care or else launch another drive for more funds. Cole said the choice was another appeal for cash, as an one with the foundation wanted to see any medical attention denied even one needy victim of polio if it could be possible to provide proper care.

He also mentioned the fact that at present the two Maddux children of Ranger who are now in Hendricks Memorial Hospital at Abilene are to receive benefits from funds of the local chapter, and the organization is in process (Continued On Page Two)

Death Claims Paid On Texas Insurance Policies Increases

Texas families received $36,516,000 in life insurance death benefits in the first half of this year, compared with $33,522,000 in the corresponding period of last year. It is reported by the Institute of Life Insurance. This year's payments were 101 per cent greater than those in the corresponding period nine years ago, when the six-month total was $18,338,000.

The number of policies paid off because of death in the first six months of 1954 was 22,583, which compared with 22,657 in the first half of 1953 and 15,383 in the first half of 1954.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

HOMEOWNERS MAY BE LIABLE FOR ACCIDENTS ON PREMISES

Can a homeowner be held responsible for accidents that happen on his property? Lawyers say it is difficult to state a hard and fast rule about liability for such accidents because the facts differ so much from case to case. However, some conclusions can be drawn by noting how the courts have decided in specific cases which have been brought before them.

A postman delivering mail slipped on a child's roller skate one morning. He sued the homeowner for damages. The court held that the delivery of mail is for the benefit of the homeowner and that he must take care to remove any conditions on his property which would make delivery of the mail dangerous.

Then there was the case of the meter-reader who slipped and fell on the basement steps and the courts held the owner responsible because the steps were defective.

On the other hand, a guest sued her host because she slipped and fell when she stepped on some beans strewn about the owner's living room. The host's children had been playing with bean-shooters on the day she chose to visit. The court held in this case that the host was not liable for her injury.

Similar cases where social calls resulted in disaster involved a guest slipping on a small scatter rug, and another overnight guest who slipped and fell in a shower. Both cases were decided in favor of the homeowners — not the visitors.

From these cases it may be seen that the law is usually more strict about accidents befalling tradesmen and others who enter your premises in the line of duty so to speak — postmen, laundrymen, meter-readers, delivery boys and the like — than it is in the cases of those who enter your home for purely social reasons.

This does not mean that a homeowner is absolved of all responsibility for injury to his guests. If he knows a dangerous condition exists, he has a duty to correct it and can be held liable for accidents which might happen if he doesn't. For example, a rotted tree branch fell to the sidewalk, injuring a passerby. The general rule here is that the owner was responsible because he knew of the defective condition and should have remedied it.

Fortunately, not everyone who falls down the front steps gets up and rushes off to sue his host. However, a substantial body of law has grown out of this type of negligence case. This is not surprising when you realize that more fatal accidents occur in and around the home each year than from traffic accidents on the highways.

(This column, based on state and federal law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Pack Your Basket! Pick Your Spot! It's Picnic Time Again

Outdoor eating is fun for the whole family.

And it's even more fun for those who know the short cuts that make it easier. That's why menus that are quick and easy yet super-delicious make good sense.

Variety is the spice of the picnic, so when you plan yours bring along a choice of food that offers variety but means little work beforehand for you. Typical of these are assorted sausages such as Bologna, liver sausage, cervelat and salami. — and, of course, the famous skinless frankfurter. Be sure to add pickles, mustard, mayonnaise, chili sauce, tomato slices, onion rings and lettuce.

All of these are excellent choices to go into those "almost-meal" sandwiches which really fill the bill when just the very thought of eating in the open makes one hungry.

As well known as they are popular, skinless franks should head any worthy picnic basket list. They're ideal to be grilled plain for the young fry or zipped-up with a spicy barbecue sauce for the adults.

Another way to dress them up, and very easy too, is to split them lengthwise leaving the sides attached. Open them and spread with mustard or chutney. Close and wrap each one with a strip of bacon. Then skewer and broil.

Kabobs are still another tantalizing way to do skinless franks.

They are simple to fix and easy to cook. — three important factors not to overlook. — but it's the taste that makes these so special. Cut the frank into 5 pieces. Alternate on the skewer with pineapple chunks; brush with salad oil. Broil, turning, till browned. Place in a toasted split bun, remove skewer. Nice with mustard or barbecue sauce.

For a more hurry-up picnic meal, start the franks on the kitchen stove and bring them to the picnic wrapped in foil so they keep warm. Put them on the grill when you're ready to eat so they maintain their heat and have a chance to absorb the delicious charcoal aroma.

Another tip to remember, if the chef is too busy with other things to attend to a grillful of skinless franks, toast them all together on a

Cutting, Quarter Horse Shows Set For Fair At Waco

WACO, (Spl.) — An open cutting horse contest and a Quarter Horse show will be featured of the Heart O' Texas Fair, dates of which are Oct. 2-9. The cutting horse contest, approved by the National Cutting Horse Association, will be presented at each rodeo performance. The Quarter Horse show, approved by the American Quarter Horse Association, will be for a single day, Oct. 8.

Dr. Jerry Millar, Waco rancher, will be superintendent of the cutting horse contest. Entry deadline is Sept. 27 and the entry fee is $25. The purse will be $400 plus entry fees. A limited amount of stall space will be available. There will be no eliminations and two go-rounds will be held. The four highest scoring horses will compete in the finals.

Only halter classes will be shown in the Quarter Horse show. Entry fee is $5 per animal. All horses must be on the grounds by 10 a.m. on Oct. 8 and judging will begin at 1 p.m. All entries will be released when the judging is concluded. Trophies will be presented for champion and reserve champion stallion, champion and reserve champion mare, first place get-of-sire and first place produce-of-dam. Rosettes also will go to champions and reserve champions and ribbons will be given for the first four places of each class.

Ed Martin, Waco rancher, and W. E. Felton, Waco, are superintendent and assistant superintendent, respectively, of the Quarter Horse show.

Water Witches Can Find Streams With Tree Forks

Water witches are making water witches come true. Call it art or accident science or superstition, but water witches and their tree-branch divining rods still play an important part in the hunt for life-giving water.

In fact, their skill continues to be in demand in this technical age just as it was centuries ago, according to Davey tree experts.

Water witches, or dowzers, usually have their own favorite branches to use in their dowzing operations. Popular trees for water-hunting sticks include the apple, beech, willow, hazel, peach, as well as many others.

While innumerable kinds of forked branches can become magic rods in the hands of experienced dowzers, nothing will work for some would-be water witches who are not endowed with the necessary "mystic power."

Holding his forked stick in front of him, the dowzer walks slowly over the area where he wants to locate water. When he reaches a spot where water lies beneath the earth's surface, the stick automatically points downward. Why it becomes agitated, no one knows. Not even the water witch.

In England, members of the Society of Dowzers report good demand for their services. The Royal Engineers, during World War II, included a special company of dowzers to assist in finding water for troops in arid regions. Their services were considered invaluable.

Cattle Exhibits And Sales Set For Waco Fair

WACO (Spl.) — Five beef breeds will compete for almost $10,000 in cash awards at the Heart O' Texas Fair in Waco, Oct. 2-9. Executive Vice President Othel M. Neely announces. The breeding cattle competition will include Herefords, Aberdeen-Angus, Shorthorns, Brahmans and Santa Gertrudis.

In addition, Charolais and Charbray will be exhibited but will not be in competition. Prize money for breeding cattle has been allotted as follows: Herefords, $3,125; Angus, $2,040; Shorthorns, $1,447; Brahmans, $2,043.75; and Santa Gertrudis, $1,000.

The total of $9,685.75 for beef breeds does not include $4,102 offered in the junior steer show, in which Shorthorns, Angus and Herefords will participate.

Sales will be held as follows: Santa Gertrudis, Oct. 4, at 10 a.m.; Herefords, Oct. 5, at 1 p.m.; Shorthorns, Oct. 7, at 1 p.m.

Go Ahead and Plan That Picnic — And Don't Fuss If It Rains

If there's one thing a picnic should be — it's carefree. And the other thing is delicious. So go right ahead and plan the food, without keeping an anxious eye cocked at the sky, and an ear tuned to the radio.

Yes, I know you're busy, and you hate to spend time cooking for a picnic unless you're really going to have it. The answer is, have it anyhow, regardless of weather! One of the most successful picnics we know of was held in a garage out in back of the house, while the rain pelted on the roof. Afterwards they had a square dance, and so much fun they wondered if it really paid to have picnics in the open.

Most people's idea of super delicious food is Fried Chicken. It's really de luxe picnic fare. Deet fry it at home to a rich crunchy brown, and pack it away to be eaten cold when you reach the picnic site. Then you have time to enjoy yourself without worrying about gathering wood for a fire and burning the food.

Mrs. Winifred S. Carter, director of Proctor & Gamble's Household Information Service, has a recipe for Fried Chicken dipped in batter — real Southern fashion — that you'll want to clip for your recipe file. It's something worth crowing about. And when you eat it, you won't care if you're sitting on a grassy knoll under a smiling sky . . . or on a cushion plunked on the floor of a familiar living room.

FRIED CHICKEN DE LUXE

Makes 4 servings

- 1 frying chicken cut in pieces
- 1 egg
- 3/4 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons melted Crisco
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1-4 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- Crisco for deep frying

Steam chicken 20 to 25 minutes. Beat egg with milk and add melted Crisco. Add sifted dry ingredients. Beat until smooth. Salt chicken and then dip into batter. Fry in deep Crisco heated to 365 degrees F. (or until an inch cube of bread browns in 60 seconds). Fry until golden brown, about 7 to 10 minutes.

BETTI'S BUDGET of HELPFUL HINTS

Chicken a la Hawaiian is "party perfect" but treat the family to it, too. It's easy! Cook 1 cup drained pineapple (use cubes if you like) in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour. Slowly stir in 1 1/2 cups water. Add 1-4 cup each of diced celery and diced green pepper, 1 cup (more if you like) diced cooked chicken and 2-teaspoons soy sauce. Cook 10 minutes. Add water if you want a thinner mixture. Serve over hot fluffy cooked white rice.

It's so much easier to wash a thin cotton crepe blanket protector than it is to wash wool blankets—and you know what drudgery that can be if you have a family of youngsters! Keep these pastel crepe covers with their pretty white ruffles clean as a whistle with quick and frequent washings. Put them back on the bed without ironing, and you have a clean "protector" as well as an easy-to-keep bedspread.

If you are pan-roasting potatoes, do a few extra. Store in the refrigerator. The next day, salt them a little and fry. Drain and add to the breakfast menu. Served with bacon or ham, they make a good weekend morning combination.

Yarborough To Speak At County Rally Friday

RALPH YARBOROUGH

An Eastland County rally for Ralph Yarborough is planned in Eastland at 2:30 p.m. Friday, which the candidate personally brings his run-off campaign for governor to this area.

Plans announced by Earl Canner, Jr., of Eastland said that Yarborough would speak at the Eastland County courthouse square. He is expected to arrive by plane at the Ranger airport and will be taken to Eastland for the address.

Yarborough made the race for the governor's office in 1952, but was defeated by Gov. Allan Shivers. Shivers led Yarborough by approximately 6,000 votes in the July Democratic primary this year. He carried Eastland County in the July election by a margin of 62 votes over Shivers.

One of the highest honors in Association's Distinguished Service Award was recently bestowed on Dr. William Wayne Babcock, of Philadelphia, Pa., for "outstanding contributions to medicine and humanity."

Research Shows Animals Needing Better Rations

Research findings in the feed industry are shedding light on many of the long-time mysteries of ruminant nutrition. As a result, feed makers are better able now than ever before to formulate rations that will result in maximum production efficiency.

A ruminant is an animal that has not one, but four, stomachs. The principle ruminants are cattle, sheep and goats. Some of the most interesting and helpful research that has been conducted by feed industry scientists concerns the digestive processes of the ruminant.

So little has been known about these animals, that in the past it has often been called "the darkest place in the world." To bring the light of research into the rumen, scientists literally cut permanent "windows" into the sides of a few experimental steers and cows. This enabled researchers to observe digestive processes in action that turn feed and roughage into meat, milk and wool.

One of the interesting facts scientists have found is that millions of tiny microorganisms lurk inside the first stomach of these animals. As roughages that the animal eats enter the stomach, these microorganisms attack them, transforming the roughages into a digestible form. Feed manufacturers have learned that by feeding these microorganisms through elements in the animal's rations, maximum benefits may be gained from roughages.

Cobalt, as an example, is a trace mineral that the cow needs in her feed to nourish these microorganisms. The cow needs only a trace of cobalt, but if she gets none at all she cannot live. If the cobalt is put directly into her bloodstream, by-passing the stomach and the microorganisms, it does her no good. It has to be in feed she eats.

The modern feeder of today who uses up-to-date rations has in every bag of feed the advantage of scientific knowledge unheard of a few years ago.
