The Pathfinder

by Lee Harr

Since the detonation of the first atomic bomb up until the most recent hydrogen explosion, officials and top brass have stood steadfast in denying that the blasts had any effects whatsoever on the weather picture.

Now as time wears on, there has been some "over the back fence" speculation that the blasts might—just might—have some adverse effects.

It is a known fact that heavy rainfall has followed in the immediate blast areas accompanied by turbulent weather to some degree in several instances.

Regardless of past happenings, U. S. Weathermen will soon be able to run a fairly accurate tabulation on the effect of the explosions. It seems that if the H-bomb is powerful enough to cause a major change in the weather picture, that Japan and surrounding territory will experience a long and bitterly cold winter this year. The winter months seem to be the true test.

That according to the officials is the test that they have been waiting on.

If the detonations do encourage precipitation this winter, believe it or not, we could find enough bare space out on the barren plains of West Texas for just one little explosion.

Saturday, Arkansas again accomplished the impossible by thoroughly slaughtering the once powerful but now passive Longhorns. The Razorbacks first two wins of the season over TCU and Baylor threw a tilt into the Southwest rating charts, but the win down in Austin Saturday threw the entire picture out of hella.

Some are now predicting Arkansas to acquire the conference crown this year to match the only clear title that they won in 1936. They shared the flag with Rice in 1944. However, with the odds definitely favoring the Razorbacks, I can't see them getting off with a clear title this year.

We are going to predict a three-way tie.

Epish, maybe so, but here is my line of reasoning. The Texas backfield is bound to start moving behind that big line and eventually grow weary of being pushed all over the carpet on these Saturday afternoons by a handful of nothing more than "high school kids" as a comparison in size and experience with the other forward walls. With my tongue in my check, I do not believe that the Steers will lose another conference game this year.

Also, coming in the back door that Arkansas left slightly ajar on their way in, are the Mustangs of SMU who are strong enough to upend the roaring Razorbacks. The Pones got by their big stumbling block in Rice at Houston Saturday. So, as we surmise, they are in for one conference defeat. That is at the hands of the University Steers.

Rams Fourth Quarter Rips Rangers 36 to 7

By Staff Writer

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Junior College's Rams rudely burst the bubble Ranger Junior College fans had placed around their hopes for a Pioneer Conference championship Saturday night when they humbled Coach Dick Henderson's charges 36-7 in a game that saw the Rangers look hopeless at times and brilliant at others.

San Angelo's veteran quarterback, Jerry Sessom, teamed with 198-pound Fullback Benjamin Kelley to spark the Rams to the remarkable easy victory. Kelly, you might remember, is the first Negro player ever to participate in Pioneer Conference play.

It was a hard dose of medicine for the Rangers to ride 150 miles to take Coach Max Bumgardner's eleven proved that a good defense is better than a good offense, at least on this particular occasion. Ranger went into the game the top offensive team in the conference while Angelo was ranked tops in defense. Ranger was rated as a one touchdown favorite by San Angelo sports writers. The favorites role came because Ranger beat Wharton JC while the Rams were beaten by the same crew.

San Angelo led only 7-0 at the end of the first quarter, 14-0 at halftime and 16-0 at the end of the third period of play. Ranger's guard dropped all the way in the final period, however, and the Rams paced off three quick tallies. The Rangers had one touchdown called back because of an offside penalty. Trailing 14-0, Quarterback Floyd Hacker gave good from the 50 back to his own 35 and then threw a lofty pass that caught End Raymond Gilstrap on the dead run at the 15. The shifty end took the aerial over his shoulder and raced over untouched. The red flag treatment rubbed out the play, however.

The only Ranger TD that counted came late in the fourth quarter. Following the Rams final touchdown, the Rangers took possession of the ball on their own 17 following the kickoff. From there Quarterback Tommy Wood passed to Gilstrap, just about the only pass receiver the Ranger passers could see all night, out to the 27 for a first down. From there Wood raced 73 yards for a score on a brilliant run that saw him outsmarting the Ram defensive back J. D. Hanson then converted.

The Rams scored their first touchdown the second time they had possession of the ball in the initial quarter. Taking possession on their own 48, Sessom hit Benny McCollum for 16 yards, Horns picked up 17 yards on two carries and Sessom traveled 11 to put the ball on the Ranger 10. From there Sessom raced over on a keeper play and Roy Bush converted. The clock showed 4:45 minutes remaining in the first quarter.

The second Ram score came when McCollum raced back to punt off the toe of Bobby Pharis to the Ranger 41. Kelly raced to the 16, the Rangers threw Bobby Tobin back to the 17, Kelly took it to the 13, Tobin was thrown back to the 15 and Sessom passed to McCollum to the six. Tobin went to the four and then Kelly powered his way over. Bush again converted.

A pass interception set up a field goal try for San Angelo on the Ranger nine as play ran out in the first half. Bush's try was no good.

In the third quarter, with just two minutes remaining in the per-

Dogs Rate Slight Edge Over Cisco

If sports prognosticators have anything to do with it the Bulldogs will eke out a slight victory over Cisco Friday night when the two teams meet at Cisco Stadium to inaugurate the 1954 District 9-AA title race.

Sports writers in the state have placed Ranger in the number nine spot in class AA teams while Cisco is ranked in the eleventh position.

Three officials from Ranger's City government will journey to Fort Worth next week-end for the 42nd Annual Convention of the League of Texas Municipalities.

Advances in information on subjects to be covered in business sessions, on featured speakers, on entertainment events for delegates and wives brought an early influx of reservation requests which have kept local arrangements committees busy since late spring.

Numerous problems generated by the rapid growth of Texas cities will be analyzed by authorities in addresses and by practicing city officials in round table sessions. Especially significant among topics to be discussed are governmental relationships, city planning, league problems, public utility regulation, traffic, personnel administration, public works, training for public employees, tax assessing and property valuations, finance, water, social security, and the place of cities and towns in Texas' system of government.

The League is composed of 572 member cities and towns, assuring full representation of all sections of the State at the Annual Convention. To its present all-time high, membership has increased from a total of 527 in 1946 the first post-war year. Approximately 99 percent of the urban population of Texas is represented by the League.

Monday's prices included: fat calves, $16-$19.50; common and medium calves, $10-$15.50; fat cows, $9-$12; canners and cutters, $5.50-$9; Bulls, $9-$12; Stockers, $17-$19.50; stocker cows and calves, $90-$135 pair; top hogs, $19.25; and sows, $18.00 down.

LeTourneau Arriving By Air For Chamber Talk

Predict Ticket Sales Finish Wednesday

Tickets to the annual Banquet of the Chamber of Commerce will be available until late Wednesday, it was announced after a called meeting of the Chamber's board of directors and committee chairman Monday night.

The ticket committee reports that ticket sales have been very brisk and a complete sell-out is predicted by Wednesday night.

The group met to determine the progress of the various banquet committees and heard reports from the chairman which indicated that all committees have been active and only a few details need to be completed.

Consisting of several local women who volunteered their work the decorating committee has transformed the Recreation Building into a thing of beauty—carrying out the Lake Leon theme in every possible way.

Tickets may still be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce, Commercial State Bank or from members of the ticket committee.

R. G. LeTourneau, the internationally famous industrialist and church layman from Longview, will arrive by plane Thursday for the banquet that night.

The wisdom of the words of this eminent industrialist who began his career in a small factory which he built in Stockton, Calif. and eventually revolutionized the "offset" and equipment utilized in the earth moving industry, have been heard and heeded world wide.

LeTourneau was born in Richmond, Vermont on Nov. 20, 1888. He spent his early boyhood in Minnesota and the years of his early manhood in California where he met and married Evelyn Peterson on Aug. 29, 1917.

When R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., came into being, Mr. and Mrs. LeTourneau established the LeTourneau Foundation in 1935 and donated to it 98 per cent of their earthly goods. Today, the LeTourneau Foundation is planning to dedicate that period to acquainting Texas citizens with the program of the organization according to Post Commander A. H. Powell.

According to Powell, October 20 is the beginning of the new fiscal year of the American Legion and since World War I, November 11 has been known as "Armistice Day."

"American Legion Days" will be concluded locally with a full scale observance of November 11, which has now become known as "Veterans Day."

Commander Powell explained that Armistice Day, VJ Day, VE Day and other dates were all of great importance but it was decided to name one day in the year when all veterans will be honored.

The Texas Legislature and the United States Congress have designated November 11 as "Veterans Day" and the American Legion plans to make its first observance a banner one in Ranger.

Fitting church observance and memorial services are planned for November 11. Full co-operation from business houses, schools and other organizations has been assured.

Whereas, October 20 is the beginning of another fiscal year of the American Legion and

Whereas, November 11, since the close of World War I has been traditionally known as "Armistice Day" but by act of the Texas Legislature and the Congress of the United States has now been designated as "Veterans Day" and

Whereas, the American Legion generally has for the past 36 years presented a united front for a strong, continuing defense policy and has been the foremost advocate for protecting the interest of disabled veterans and the widows and orphans of those veterans who made the Supreme Sacrifice and

Whereas, the American Legion post of Ranger has always been a strong factor in this community for God and Country, now I as mayor of Ranger do hereby declare the period of October 20 through November 11 as "American Legion Days" and ask that our entire citizenry join in honoring the veterans of all wars in that period and co-operate with our local American Legion in whatsoever observances it arranges for this period.

Given under my hand and seal, this the 19 day of October, 1954.

Ex-Bulldog Leads Rice Frosh Win

Dan Mitchell, a member of Ranger's state champions football team last year, scored the only touchdown in the Rice freshman 6-0 victory over the Southern Methodist Colts Friday night in Houston.

A guard in his high school days, Mitchell has been transplanted at the left end position on the Rice squad. His touchdown came in the fourth quarter of the contest when he pulled in a pass good for 27 yards and a tally.

Mitchell lettered on the Bulldog eleven in 1952 and 1953.

Conclave To Include Local City Officials

Three officials from Ranger's City government will journey to Fort Worth next week-end for the 42nd Annual Convention of the League of Texas Municipalities.

Ranger's group will be comprised of Dr. Calvin Harris, Mayor; Lester Crossley, City Manager; and Lee Cantrell, Water Commissioner.

Joining the main League for the three-day conclave will be nine other cities.

Advances in information on subjects to be covered in business sessions, on featured speakers, on entertainment events for delegates and wives brought an early influx of reservation requests which have kept local arrangements committees busy since late spring.

Numerous problems generated by the rapid growth of Texas cities will be analyzed by authorities in addresses and by practicing city officials in round table sessions. Especially significant among topics to be discussed are governmental relationships, city planning, league problems, public utility regulation, traffic, personnel administration, public works, training for public employees, tax assessing and property valuations, finance, water, social security, and the place of cities and towns in Texas' system of government.

Lake Leon Park Plan Submitted To State Agency

Members of the Eastland County Water Supply District met with representatives of the State Park Board in Bastrop Friday to discuss the possibilities of establishing park sites around the Lake Leon area.

While the state usually requires somewhere near 500 acres of land before establishing park and camp areas similar to those requested for Lake Leon, the Park Board indicated that Eastland County's 206 acres is deemed insufficient for state supervision, that possibly state funds could be allocated to the county for the construction and maintenance.

Primary concern of the Water Supply District's meeting with the Park Board was ascertaining that hard top highways would be constructed around the entire lake area which would follow if the state assumed the park responsibility.

The board agreed to dispatch engineers to the lake site in the near future to determine the validity of the request and to submit their report to the Park Board for a final decision.

Those meeting with the board in Bastrop were the Eastland County Water Supply District president, C. E. Frost, D. D. Fickrell, secretary; Wilson Guest, treasurer and M. H. Perry, board member from Eastland.

Also, R. V. Galloway, represented the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, and the Eastland Chamber of Commerce was represented by V. T. Seaberry, Jr. and Herbert Tanner.

WIND EROSION PROBLEM IN COUNTY COULD BE SEVERE

Where the practice of burning small grain straw and stubble or overgrazing stock fields is followed, the land will get in condition to blow away in time drought prevents normal plant growth. Heavy grazing of small grain and tramping by livestock not only removes much of the plant material but also tends to pulverize the surface soil. Where crop residues are regularly plowed under to such a depth that they give the land no surface protection, the soil is likely to get in condition to blow.

Any method of tillage that turns under all crop residues may lead to soil blowing. A crop planted during a drought year is likely to fall, but soil blowing is not likely to occur if the ground surface is protected by residue of previous crops.

Sandy soils blow more readily than most other soils unless they have good surface protection in form of cover and litter. The use of crops which furnish little surface protection on these soils during the windy months of the year often leads to soil blowing.

Loss of water that falls as rain may lead to conditions that will cause wind erosion. Unless water conserving practices are used, much runoff may occur. The loss of water through runoff means (Continued On Page Two)

WIND-

the difference between a crop and a crop failure. A crop failure always tends to make the soil more susceptible to blowing.

Drouth, in itself, does not necessarily cause wind erosion. Drouth simply helps cause conditions that may lead to soil blowing on land that is mismanaged. Soil that has adequate protection from the wind will not blow regardless of how dry it gets, and severe dust storms may start on bare fields only a few hours after heavy rains.

The dust bowl of 1934 to 1940 was not caused by the drouth but by loose, bare soil exposed to the wind. The dust bowl area had dry years long before the country was settled. Serious soil blowing did not start until the land was plowed and the vegetation was removed. Farmers living on the land who survived the dust bowl have learned to control serious soil blowing, but less than half of the land is still being farmed by those who lived on it and survived the last dust bowl.

Eastland Man In Accident

LAS ANIMAS, Colo. (Spl.) — An Eastland man narrowly escaped death last week near here when a pickup truck struck the corner of a trailer house he was pulling during a heavy rain on U. S. Highway 50.

A 27-year-old Washington man was killed in the wreck. He is Harvey L. Buckner, Jr. of Relso, Wash. He was a driver of the pickup and suffered a broken neck.

Buckner's truck veered into the east lane of traffic into the path of a car driven by Leonard D. Todd, 38, of Eastland. The Todd car was pulling a trailer house, Patrolman Robert W. Butler said. Todd swerved to the shoulder of the road to avoid a collision, the patrolman reported. Buckner's truck missed the car but struck a front corner of the trailer house. Patrolman Butler said Buckner was traveling west on the highway seven miles east of here when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

IT'S THE LAW

RIGHTS OF ACCUSED EXPLAINED

Most criminals have a good idea of their rights in court, but the average citizen, confronted with a traffic ticket or court summons, has little knowledge of the protection provided for him. Having had little experience with the courts, he is apt to view with a singing feeling any document requiring his presence in court. However, if he is innocent of the charge and knows his rights as a citizen in court, he need have no fear of appearing before judge and jury.

Probably the most fundamental and important right is summarized in the wellknown adage, "Every man is innocent until proved guilty." It is up to the prosecuting authorities to prove that the person on trial is guilty — and not the obligation of the person accused to prove that he is innocent. The prosecution must prove your guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, or you will be acquitted. The mere fact that you have been given a ticket or accused of a crime is not even evidence of guilt.

Another important protection is the right to have a witness testimony you may need subpoenaed to appear in court and testify. Many people are reluctant to go to court when their own rights are involved, and unless you had a means for compelling their attendance and testimony, you often would be unable to prove the facts necessary for success in your case.

It is the duty of every citizen to testify if he has information important to a law suit and is called upon to do so. The courts can and do enforce attendance in court and the giving of testimony. Certain other safeguards are valuable to you. A person may refuse to testify in any proceeding if he has a reasonable belief that his testimony could be used as a basis of a criminal proceeding against him. This does not mean, of course, that a confession given freely and voluntarily cannot be used in evidence. But it does mean that an accused cannot be compelled to take the witness stand. Nor can his failure to testify be commended upon by the prosecution.

Our courts provide many safeguards for the innocent against false accusations of crime. But many of these rights would be valueless without the assistance of a lawyer, who has been schooled in legal principles and rules of statute or decision involved, to invoke these rights. The "right to counsel" must be granted to every accused person brought before any court in the state. In capital cases, if an accused person cannot afford to pay for legal counsel and desires it, the court must appoint a lawyer to represent him.

Every person charged with an infraction of the law has the right to consult counsel before making any plea. This applies to cases in every court — including justice of the peace courts, municipal courts, traffic courts and district courts. It does little good to consult a lawyer after you have pleaded guilty and paid the fine, for then the damage has been done.

The courts are open to you any time one of your legal rights has been denied or any of your property has been unlawfully taken. This is one of your most precious rights. The courts are the only peaceful means of enforcing your rights.

(This column, based on Texas Law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

There are more than 450,000 American Indians, on reservations or registered with the government, in the U. S. today. Most numerous are the Navajos of Arizona, New Mexico and Utah, with the Hopis, Apaches and Blackfeet next in order.

The heating of wood in order to convert it into carbon or charcoal may have been the first chemical process discovered by man. Charcoal fuel has twice the heating power of wood and burns without flame or smoke.

"Not at all, son. Some people said that even back in Thomas Edison's time. Look what he did... and what's been done since then!"

"It's been just 75 years since he invented the first incandescent light bulb. Then he built the first commercial electric light and power plant. This opened up an entirely new world of electrical living."

"Now we take good electric service for granted. We have television... radio... electric refrigeration and dozens of electrical appliances that make our lives more pleasant and our work easier."

"Best of all, progress will go right on... and someday you will have a part in it."

LIGHTS DIAMOND JUBILEE is being celebrated nationally to commemorate Thomas A. Edison's invention of the first practical incandescent light on October 21, 1879, and to recognize progress made in finding better ways for electricity to serve more people.

This progress has been possible because the American system of Free Enterprise, which recognizes individual initiative, has provided opportunity and encouragement for each person, as well as for business and industry.

Thousands Visit 1955 'House Beautiful' At Texas State Fair

Thousands upon thousands of visitors to the 1954 State Fair of Texas at Dallas have filed through the fabulous "House Beautiful Face Setter House for 1955," which was built for exhibition at the fair.

Purpose of the house is to set a standard for fairgoers by setting before them the latest in contemporary architecture, designed just for Texas, and the newest decorating trends, said Miss Elizabeth Gordon, editor-in-chief of House Beautiful Magazine, whose staff furnished and decorated the house.

"The primary goal of the House Beautiful Face Setter House is educational," Miss Gordon explained. "Not until you know the best that is possible can you tell whether you are expecting enough of your own current living and hitching future dreams to high star."

"The State Fair house is one from which everyone—even if they are planning nothing more expensive than a new flower vase or a chair for the lawn—may draw inspiration," she said.

While friendly, the house maintains its sense of privacy and dignity, Miss Gordon said. A garden outside each major room lends green and sunny cheeriness as well as hygienic and health-giving properties. An extensive use of glass gives the home a feeling "of being outside."

Broad sheltering eaves shade the big windows and protect them against hot summer sun rays.

Specially designed lighting of the home is a wonderful example of the thinking and planning which goes into the design and building of the modern home, Miss Gordon said.

"It illuminates, it protects and it delights," she pointed out.

Other characteristics in developing the Texas style include the house's one-story redwood-and-stone construction, its patio separating living, working and sleeping areas, privacy from street and neighbors, and off-street parking.

The model, all-electric home will be an exhibition throughout the fair, which closes Sunday, October 24.

Local Groups Are Assured Benefits Under Latest Flood Prevention Act

The way to more harmonious cooperation between local watershed groups and the federal government in solving water management and flood prevention problems has been paved with the passage of the new Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act. This act was passed recently by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower.

It provides federal help to assist local organizations plan and install needed water-management and flood-prevention measures that cannot be installed under other current programs.

The program supplements both the farm-by-farm conservation approach of soil conservation districts and programs for development and flood protection of major river valleys. Details will be worked out by the Soil Conservation Service and Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Local organizations are authorized to ask the Secretary of Agriculture for assistance which cannot be obtained from resources available in the watershed or state. Organizations eligible to sponsor a project include any state or its political subdivisions, a soil conservation district, or any other agency having authority under state law to carry out, maintain and operate works of improvement.

Local people are expected, under the act to share costs of installation in accordance with the benefits they expect to obtain.

One of the conditions for federal assistance specified in the act is that the local organization shall: "Obtain agreements to carry out recommended soil conservation measures and proper farm plans from owners of not less than 50 per cent of the lands situated in the drainage above each retention reservoir to be installed."

"Kitchen of Tomorrow" Will Be Shown At State Fair of Texas

An all-electric "dream kitchen" incorporating labor-saving appliances whose concepts of design are so new that many of them may not be on the market for years will be demonstrated in the Electric Show at the 1954 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-24.

The "Kitchen of Tomorrow" to be seen at the fair was featured on Arthur Godfrey's nationwide television show recently. It was built by General Motors and Frigidaire as a laboratory for practical testing of mechanical and styling ideas. Although some of the ideas will not be adapted for home use for years, others are expected to be on the market "very soon." One of the new household appliances automatically provides a supply of ice cubes, crushed ice, and cold water.

Matching refrigerator and food freezer units are each set into the wall at waist height with vertical sliding doors.

Two ovens rise from counter level to waist height at the press of a button. In one is a removable rotisserie, and a device which passes charcoal or hickory smoke through the open to flavor meats. The other is an electronic oven which will bake potatoes in five minutes, a turkey in 45 minutes.

Built into a stainless steel range top are a four-slice toaster, a combination Dutch oven and gridle and a deep-well cooker. A double sink is set in an island in the center of the kitchen and has a dial to set the temperature of the water. The train is electrically operated. The mixing center is enclosed in a wall cabinet moving down to working level at the touch of a button.

Other special features in the kitchen are a photographic viewer for menus and recipes, spring-loaded latches on all cabinets so that they open at the brush of a hand, and a flour sifter dispenser with a motor-driven sifter.

Texas' First Public Big Game Hunt Authorized By Commission

AUSTIN — Texas' first free public big game hunt was authorized by the Game and Fish Commission meeting in Austin.

The Executive Secretary of the Commission said the hunt will involve only 100 head of deer which will be taken, one to a hunter, by permit on the Kerr (County) Wildlife Management Area. He said it is significant that the comparatively new wildlife demonstration program already is yielding its first harvest of big game.

Deer hunting in Texas traditionally is provided on a land ownership-game management basis because of the unavailability of public lands.

The Commission has established experimental-demonstration areas in key regions as a major phase of its wildlife restoration program. Game management technicians recommended the Kerr County harvest, which will be limited to fifty bucks and fifty does, because the big game population now exceeds the carrying capacity of the tract. Technicians consider it sound conservation policy to harvest excess population since overstocking invariably results in dieoff.

The Commission discussed the proposed expansion of both the Black Gap Wildlife Management Area in Brewster County and the Gene Howe Wildlife Management Area in Hemphill County.

The Commission renewed its one-year old experimental antlerless deer harvest program which now covers Gillespie, Mason and Llano Counties. The dates were set for December 4 through 12 inclusive, with the stipulation that the regular buck deer season for the particular areas permitting antlerless deer shooting, will be suspended for the special twelve-day period. This was done at the request of both ranchers and hunters.

The Commission voted to increase the cost of coastal shell from seven cents to ten cents per cubic yard with the exception of fine shell which will be increased to eight cents per cubic yard.

The Commission also voted to publish an official state bird book, as requested by groups and individuals. It will be distributed at cost.

A survey was approved on marsh land along the coast suitable for possible purchase for a duck and goose refuge and on brush

It costs a lot of money to keep a cow. A lot of that money is lost if she fails to settle or drops small, weak calves that die or develop into "tail-enders."

THE FUTURE BELONGS TO THOSE WHO PREPARE FOR IT

(Editor's Note: This article was written by Dorothy Stagner, a member of the Ranger chapter of the Future Homemakers of America. We believe it to be worthy of being passed along to our readers.)

The FHA girls of Ranger have learned, realized, and accepted the meaning and purpose of the creed of the national Future Homemaker organization. It is as follows:

"We are the Future Homemakers of America. We face the future with warm courage. And high hope. For we have the clear consciousness of seeking Old and precious values. For we are the builders of homes, Homes for America's future. Homes where living will be the expression of everything That is good and fair. Homes where truth and love and security and faith Will be realities, not dreams.
