The Pathfinder

by Lee Harr

Notice anyone suspiciously slipping around town in the past few days with a bright streamer of paper hanging unknowingly from a back pocket or a silver-coated star falling accidentally from their shirt pocket.

If so, its just one of the local merchants on a return trip with more material to decorate his float hidden away in some garage or alley, that was being prepared for today's Christmas parade.

The location of the preparation on our float probably drew more attention than if it had been prepared right in the middle of the intersection of Main and Austin Streets. Actual work on the entry was accomplished in the front office of the Times Building.

Of course, there was the usual amount of speculation as to how the vehicle was driven or brought inside. It was all very simple. By tearing down the front part of the building, then re-building a road following the same procedure to provide and exit the maneuver was no chore at all.

Building a float though is not an idea exactly cherished and the planning of such a project can well provide the stimulant for a very hot fess.

Its always one of those deals where everyone has their own little ideas about how the job should be accomplished and by the time they are all mixed into one, where each individual realizes his own ideas to a certain extent, you sometimes develop something that is slightly less than monstrous.

So it develops into a tangled mass of paper, a large ball of glue and a group of decorations turned wrong side out. So, you are displeased, and what do you do? You start all over. And you continue this process until something is developed that pleases at least half of the "bosses" who have been planning this for weeks, but on the big day, find a critical shortage of the materials required to piece the nightmare together.

All of this coupled with a few hot tempers, hurt feelings, and shattered nerves provide a three dimensional feud.

But then you begin, tear down, begin again, retouch, and re-do and finally your entry is ready. You roll it out of its hideaway and drive, pull, or push, your way to the point of the parade's origin. Oh, it looks terrible to you. You can't wait until the affair is over. You think that you won't be able to stand the embarrassment caused by those ridiculing your work.

Then the dread moment is upon you. The parade begins. Yells, shrieks and laughter fills the air. "They're laughing at me," you think. "No, wait, their complimenting my work and then suddenly you're at the finish line."

You're really undecided now. Your doubts and fears were partially dispelled by the attention your entry was drawing. Wait, they're calling your name on the public address system. "Part of my float must have fallen off during the procession, you say. "Oh, it should happen to a dog. What's this, second place? Mine—the second best float." It can't be but it is.

Now you're not undecided—you're happy.

Letter Carriers Climax Muscular Dystrophy Drive

O. M. Franklin, of Branch 1903 National Association of Letter Carriers (AFL), has announced that Ranger Letter Carriers have collected $84.34 for this year's annual Muscular Dystrophy Drive.

Ranger's collections will be deposited with those donations from all over the nation to fight Muscular Dystrophy, which is the fatal disease that afflicts more than 200,000 victims in the United States, including more than 130,000 children.

The Ranger letter carriers' campaign was a part of the national Thanksgiving appeal of Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc., for funds to support increased medical research into the mysterious killer, to establish more clinics across the country, and to help the patient and their families in the purchase of wheel chairs and other orthopedic equipment.

One To Sweeten Santa's Visit On Christmas

At least one little letter writer is willing to provide for Santa on the night that he makes his rounds with the toys and gifts.

Nan Grable, of Ranger, is planning to provide Santa with a piece of cake.

Here's what she had to say in her letter to Saint Nick.

Dear Santa Claus,
I want a doll with clothes and suitcase and a jewel set, and doll dishes and a telephone and make-up kit.

Thank you
Nan Grable.

P. S. We will be at Grandma's house in Mineral Wells. We will have a piece of cake on the table for you. Don't forget Gary, my little brother.

Ranger Junior College was the recipient of a film library valued at nearly $8700, it was announced this week by the college president, Dr. Price Ashton.

These films were donated to the college library by the famed radio-TV program, Facts Forum.

Facts Forum, a well-known national network program, is headed by R. A. Hardey, Chairman of the Advisory Board. Counselors for the program include General Robert E. Wood, W. G. Volmer, John Wayne, Lloyd E. Skinner, Governor Allan Shivers, Dr. Francis P. Gaines, General Hanford MacNider, and General Albert G. Wodensmyer.

Officers of the organization are Robert H. Dedman, president; Warren Gilbert, secretary; Joe Nash, treasurer; Dan Smoot, commander; and Medford Evans, coordinator.

One other film, twice monthly, will supplement the 87 that have already been received by the college. A copy of each film made will be added to the college library at no charge.

Each of the films consists of a panel discussion with a person who has gained world fame in some manner. Some of those listed on the films are Senator Paul Douglas, Arthur E. Sommerfield, Ezra Taft Benson, Dr. Harry Schwartz and scores of others.

Films already on hand and ready for distribution at Cooper Library are as follows:

Over 7000 Gather For Santa's Early Arrival

Crowds estimated at more than 7,000 swarmed into Ranger this afternoon to witness the largest parade ever produced by the city.

The Ranger High School Band and saucy Rangeans from Ranger Junior College led the huge parade that snaked its way down Main street beneath the city's new set of colorful decorations.

Killingworth took first place in the parade with their interpretation of Santa Claus. Santa, Jimmy Matthews was pushing a toy-filled sleigh which was pulled by a reindeer, the front of which was Mike Coody and the back of which was John Hopper.

The Junior College took second place honors with their purple and white decked car. Miss Letty Francis, in an aqua net formal, was riding on top.

The Ranger Times float won fourth place. The entire float was covered with white cotton and red, gold and blue stars. It featured a fireplace with well-filled stockings, a Christmas tree surrounded by toys and Pam Dennis and Cheryl Huffman, in their pajamas and robes, were sitting in front of the fireplace.

All types of Christmas scenes were depicted by the twenty-four floats that braced the frigid wind to bring each organization's Christmas message.

The cities older citizens surmised that more people were in town than at any one time since the oil boom days.

Last Rites Are Held Wednesday For Mrs. Boen

Funeral services for Mrs. G. H. Boen 61, who died at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. J. Biles, in the Grapevine Community, were held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Mangum Baptist Church. Rev. Tommy Grotier and Rev. Lee Fields, Baptist ministers, officiated.

Mrs. Boen had been ill for several months and had just recently returned from a visit in California. She formerly lived in Eastland with her husband, who died here in 1941.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Eiles and Mrs. J. M. Locklear, Long Beach, Calif.; her mother, Mrs. W. D. Warrick, Pampa; two brothers: J. W. Warrick, Lubbock; and B. R. Warrick, Plainview; five sisters: Mrs. Mary Wilburn, Bakersville, Calif.; Lucy Cunningham, Takoha; Nancy Freeman, Denver City, Clara McElyea, Spur; and Mrs. Annie Wade, Pampa; and four grandchildren.

Burial was in the Eastland Cemetery under the direction of Hamner Funeral Home with services of the deceased, Leonard Dribble, Wilber Wade, Sam McDonald, Pat Minor, B. C. Boen and Truman Boen, pallbearers.

Grand Jury Returns Four Indictments

Four indictments against three persons were returned by a 91st District Court grand jury Tuesday afternoon. Two indictments were for theft and two for accessory to passing a forged instrument.

Herman Lee Jones was billed on two counts of theft. William A. Byrd and Ida Belle Gibbs were indicted for accessory to passing a forged instrument.

Two Lettermen Head Hoop List

Seventeen aspirants answered the basketball call at Ranger High School Wednesday. Coach Boone Yarborough has announced.

With only two returning lettermen from last year's district winners, Coach Yarborough said that he was uncertain of the starting line-up with practice sessions just beginning.

He added that most berths on the squad were wide open for hopeful contenders.

Returning from last years district winners are Scott Forney and John Bush. Bush's arm remains in a cast from an injury received in the Stephenville - Ranger football game and he will not see any service for nearly two weeks.

Others turning out for the first days session which consisted on the most part of issuing uniforms were: Charles Bonney, Gene Bagwell, Gerald Shockey, Clifford Estes, Wayne Jowers, David Wharton, Jerry Cantrell, Dan Cruise, Robert Watson, Dwan Brown and Robert Watson.

Also, Jim Nail, Stanley McAnelly, Ronald Bush, Jim Littlefield, and Jerry Wharton.

Coach Yarborough said that most contention for the starting team positions will come from Shockey, Bush, Littlefield and Wharton besides last year's two returning lettermen.

He also said that elimination would be made later to reduce the number to first and second string teams with only a few substitutes.

Last year, Ranger lost their bi-district contest to Merkel by only one point.

Survivors include his mother; his wife; one son, Dennis; three brothers, Bill of Odessa, Clyde of Washington, D. C. and Guy of Deadwood; one sister, Mrs. Jeanette Keulher of Ranger.

Burial was in the Desdemona Cemetery under the direction of Higginbothams Funeral Home of Gorman.

First Of A Series CHRISTMAS LIGHTING MAKES SMALL HOUSES LOOK LARGER

Editors Note: This is the first of a series of ideas that we wish to pass along for those contemplating residential decoration for the Yule season and an entree for the Chamber of Commerce's home decoration contest.

Smaller homes really come into their own at Christmas. If you've ever wished you could make your house look a little larger, then do it with Christmas lights this season.

Naturally there's some expert reasoning behind such thinking, but even a quick glance at the pictures above will show how the illusion is gained.

Secret is to use the tiny bulbs in outdoor strings. The tiny incandescent bulbs which are in perfect scale with small architectural features may be placed about two inches apart for a good undiluted effect. Actually these plasmas, creates the illusion of a continuous solid line of light which makes the house seem larger. Easy way to do this is with push-type sockets which can be placed wherever wanted on the wire.

In the picture window above, indoor Christmas tree lights are "nestled" against a flameproof midnight blue crepe paper sky. Lighted twin chair cushions, 19 inches high and made of red and white plastic, "sing" from a Scotch lynn book stars which are small aluminum frozen pie line punched into five points and inserted over bulb sockets, are held in place with fine wire.

Hunter 'Finds Self' After Search Begins

A mass search was being organized yesterday for a lost Dallas deer hunter when he phoned Ranger Police headquarters that "he had found himself."

Missing since early Tuesday evening, the nimrod had walked upon a drilling rig and phoned from one of their portable telephones. A wife of one of the employees drove him to town.

The Eastland County sheriff department and the Ranger Police were already searching for the lost hunter when the phone call was received. The Ranger unit of the National Guard was in the process of gathering their forces and plans were being made for an aerial search.

Hunting with a party of two others, the Dallasite failed to make his way to a point of rendezvous yesterday evening and became lost as the night closed in.

The anonymous hunter is engaged in a sporting goods business in Dallas and he stated that he spends a great deal of time hunting and fishing and at often times he has had occasion to advise others on standard procedures to follow to keep from becoming lost.

The nimrod allowed that as darkness fell, he built a fire and remained during the night instead of attempting to locate some means of aid.

He reported hearing rifle shots of others in his party in the distance near dark Tuesday and car horns earlier Wednesday morning of those seeking his whereabouts.

W. L. Fannin Succumbs After Heart Surgery

Mr. Fannin had journeyed to Washington two weeks ago for heart surgery. The operation was performed the day before his death.

The deceased had worked and operated a boat dock and fishing camp at Possum Kingdom before his death.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

SOCIETY
Christmas Tree Industry Really Helps Forests

That beautiful Christmas tree you're soon going to have in the living room needn't cause any qualms of conscience if you're the type who worries about the effect of the Christmas tree business on our forests.

Rather, the case is becoming more and more the contrary, says the December issue of Better Homes & Gardens. You will be one of 31 million trees used for holiday decorations this year, and at least half of these are coming from sources that did no harm or actually improved the forest land they occupied when cut.

Big dealers in trees can't afford bad forest practices, and, as a result, they are directly concerned with reforestation. In reforestation, "parent" trees are left standing so that seedlings will grow up around them. Thousands of these tiny trees may pop up, many only six inches apart. After a few years, this over-crowding would be fatal for the trees, so the stand must be thinned. Thus, trees that reach your home from these areas are those that would have died from root and sunlight starvation if they had not been cut.

Foresters who grow saw-log trees generally divide cut-over land into four classes. Christmas-tree land is the lowest classification. It won't grow good forests, but it is ideal for Christmas trees since it barely supports tree life. The tree, in its struggle to exist, throws out thick and frequent branches.

On such land are the Christmas-tree farms, such as those operated by Paul Kirk of Tacoma, Washington, sometimes called the "Christmas tree king." He distributes 4 to 5 million trees a year and keeps several times that number growing.

Each Christmas-tree farm may be spread out over 20,000 acres where seedlings are watched, pruned, thinned and finally cut for shipment as Christmas trees.

The last two or three weeks before Christmas are about the busiest of Paul Kirk's year, for those carefully grown trees simply have to arrive at their destination on time. It isn't unusual for him to tour dozens of cities checking on shipments before he gets home at the last moment to gather with his family around the Kirks' huge white-sprayed tree.

of HELPFUL HINTS

You'll have time to put extra little touches on Christmas morning's breakfast because no one in the family will realize he's hungry for awhile. The children will be overwhelmed with their new treasures and dad will be occupied picking up the gift wrappings.

This breakfast doesn't necessarily have to be heavy, since you're probably planning a big feast later in the day. But why not make it a holiday-pretty one. Here's a menu idea: Grapefruit-Blueberry Cup, sausage links, bacon curis, scrambled eggs, cheesy cherry muffins, and coffee.

To make colorful Cheery Cherry Muffins, fold a few well-drained cherry halves into plain muffin batter, just before you put the batter into the muffin pan. They'll be a novel surprise for your family when they open the muffins and find the Christmas-colored cherries inside.

Handy travel companion is a new drying rack that folds up like an umbrella and slips right into your suitcase. Made of metal, it weighs only thirty ounces, and has six-drying arms when opened. A whole suitcase full of lingerie can be dried and dried conveniently wherever you happen to stop.

If you had to buy a ticket every time you step into your bathtub, it would be well worth the price of admission. Even though the cost of warm water and soap is negligible, the daily bath is invaluable as the basis for health, beauty, and comfort.

Turning out mealy, tender boiled potatoes is no problem when this method is followed: Boil in salted water until done, then drain off the water and sprinkle salt over them. Shake the pan vigorously back and forth over a lighted burner. The salt draws out excess water and leaves the potatoes dry and flaky.

Today's quip — Santa enters through a hole in the chimney and leaves through a hole in your pocket.

ROUND-UP on the CAMPUS at Ranger Junior College

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Steel of Anson were visiting in Ranger Sunday. They brought their daughter, Joyce, back to school.

Coach and Mrs. Dick Henderson were holiday guests of their parents, in Gustine and Electra.

Miss Rhelda Reed of Cisco took part in a wedding at Snyder last weekend.

Miss Pat Williams visited her sister in Graham on Thanksgiving. She had as her guest, Mr. Jimmy Cole.

The darling little puppy that some hard-hearted creature dumped out at the college has found a good home after nearly a month's visit at the dorm. Miss Linda Pearl Houston of Eastland gave the winsome little fellow a permanent home.

Mrs. Jameson is all smiles when she thinks about Christmas. The reason is that she's expecting her son, Lt. Col. Roy Jameson, who is now in the War College in the Staff and Command School, to spend Christmas with her.

Dr. and Mrs. David L. Norton visited in Ft. Worth over the holidays.

Dr. and Mrs. Grady Tice visited friends and relatives in Ft. Worth on Thanksgiving day.

It was wonderful to see almost 100 percent attendance of college students at the Thanksgiving service Sunday evening.

Eddy Wallace and Floyd Woods have already killed deer this season. Each killed a four-point buck and Eddy bagged a nine-point on the Wallace ranch near Ranger.

Mr. Martin Luther Bailey, custodian at RJC, gave the place a "new look" over the holidays. He painted and waxed all of the floors in the Administration building. Looks wonderful, Mr. Bailey.

Mr. Blakensley is reported to be getting along very well and showing rapid improvement.

The entire student body is enjoying the new 24-inch TV given the girl's dormitory by local businessmen. Mrs. Jameson reports a "full house" each evening.

Miss Margaret Alford visited friends in Doodemona over the weekend.

Floyd Hacker attended the bi-district game between Van Horn and Hermleigh. Score, 14-14 in a very exciting tilt.

Glenn Clifton visited his brother, B. F. Clifton who coaches at Sealy. Sealy played and beat Deer Park in the bi-district contest. Glenn also visited Miss Della Joiner at Little River.

The nicest Thanksgiving news on the campus was that Dr. Kuykendall is greatly improved and well on the road to complete recovery.

Jerry and Roddy Carter attended the Hardin family reunion at Lake Cisco Thursday. On Sunday they took Gaylia, their sister who teaches at Odessa, to Abilene.

Miss Lanell Rowell is attending the New Castle Sanger bi-district game at Graham on Friday night. George "Gabby" Simms is the coach of the New Castle Bobcats.

W. H. White and Diane Koenig attended the McCallum - Travis football game in Austin Wednesday night. McCallum won to the score of 33-7 and tied with Temple for district championship.

Haydrin Chapman reported an excellent holiday stay in Waco.

Miss Jo Ann Crider, Jim Shurtliff, and Richard Johnson spent the holidays in Austin.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
Partnership or Corporation
John Brown and Bill Smith desire to operate a business together as a corporation? The answer to this problem involves many legal questions. Perhaps the most important factor is that the business or personal acts of either John or Bill may be binding upon the partnership. The corporation, however, can act only through its officers and agents, and then only within the limitations granted by the articles of incorporation. As members of a partnership both John and Bill are liable for all of the debts of the business. In the case they have business losses, the creditors of the partnership could take all of the assets of the partnership, and all of the personal assets of either John or Bill, or both (except a few exempt by law), in order to satisfy the partnership debts.

On the other hand, if they form a corporation the creditors may go only against the assets of the corporation so that the most that either John or Bill can lose is the amount they have invested in the business. The creditors could not touch the personal property of either John or Bill.

Upon the death of John or Bill, it is necessary to liquidate the partnership but in the case of a corporation the operation of the business is not affected by the death of either. The firm continues as the same business with the heirs of the one who died substituted as the owner of the stock.

Of primary interest to John and Bill is the amount of income taxes they have to pay. As a partnership, each includes on his individual income tax return his proportionate share of the income as shown on the partnership return. This is because the partnership is not recognized as a taxable entity. The corporation is recognized as a taxable entity, so it pays a tax on the amount of its net income, after deducting the salaries of John and Bill and other expenses.

If over a period of years the earnings of the corporation exceed reasonable salaries for the two owners, these earnings will be distributed to John and Bill in the form of dividends. The funds with which the dividends are paid have already been subject to tax in the hands of the corporation, but are again taxed on the individual returns of John and Bill when distributed.

The income tax advantage or disadvantage of a partnership as compared with a corporation depends on the net income from the business, the salaries John and Bill receive, the amount of their other income, and the requirements of the business for liquid funds.

In the event either of the owners is interested in planning his estate to reduce taxes at the time of his death, he can do it more easily through a corporation than a partnership. (This column, based on Texas and Federal law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

STUDY IN CONTRAST—If little girls are really made of "sugar and spice, and everything nice," then this youngster is out of place as a huge U. S. The weapon was used during the biggest postwar maneuvers to be held in Germany, with more than 140,000 soldiers from five western countries participating.

Brighten Your Christmas Table With These Colorful Goodies

Specially made Christmas treats will add the warmth of hospitality to a merry Christmas party or open house.

Such tempting and eye-appealing morsels as Divinity Sno Peaks, Poinsettia Sandwich "Cake," ice cream prepared in fancy molds, gala casserole supper dishes, and fancy Christmas cookies all give that festive air to your table.

Santa-Time Snacks

A lovely main dish for your Noel buffet is a Poinsettia Sandwich "Cake" that features a brilliant red poinsettia cut from pimento set in the center of the "cake" and brilliant green holly leaves around the side cut from green pepper. The snack is filled with a ham filling and egg filling placed between three circular slices of bread. The outside is covered with a white cream cheese mixture.

Other snacks which look pretty on the table are Divinity Sno Peaks, that have red cherry pieces accenting their creamy whiteness; Mrs. Claus' Fudge, which fairly melts in your mouth; candied orange peel; and refreshing Jiffy Cranberry Punch.

Ice Cream In Merry Christmas Styles

Ice cream—usually just dish-

ed out plain as dessert—can add its festive note to your table. Take, for instance, the Christmas ice cream mold with a red top of strawberry ice cream and a bottom layer of vanilla ice cream with toasted almonds throughout. An ice cream mince pie is simple; just fold mince into vanilla ice cream and freeze firm in a graham-cracker crust.

Another Christmas tidbit is Candy-cane Yule Log made of green mint ice cream rolled up in a chocolate sponge cake with whipped cream frosting. Candy walking sticks are set into the cake at intervals so there's one for each slice.

Casseroles make holiday entertaining easy. They can be prepared for the oven early in the day and left in the refrigerator until it's time to make them. Then, while supper cooks, the hostess is free to chat with her friends.

Holiday ham and asparagus is a favorite casserole which can be made Christmasy with an asparagus-tip star, centered with evergreen, placed on top. A Party Buffet Casserole made of ham, sweetbreads and almonds, can be topped with triangles of toast that become Christmas trees when decorated with swags of pimento. Noel Shrimp Bake can be topped with a wreath of parsley and sliced stuffed olives.

Seasonal Cookies

Cookie making is as much fun for the kids (and cooks) as cookie eating. Gingerbread snowmen can be made simply by cutting separate parts for the snowmen with different size round cutters and then pressing the circles together for arms, legs and head. Alaska Logs are chewy and full of dates and walnuts. They can be cut into bars and rolled in fine granulated sugar for the final tasty covering. Gingerbread men, of course, are a traditional Yule cookie which should not be left out of the holiday menus.

Our Khaki-Cloth Santas in Korea

Santa wears khaki in Korea. Though he appears in the traditional red suit at Christmas parties, Korea's youngsters aren't fooled. They know that the boyhood, kindly gentleman is really their year-round friend in the khaki uniform.

The knowledge comes naturally to thousands of our U.S. Eighth Army khaki-clad boys. Billions of dollars out of their own paychecks to give Korean children needed supplies, much of it in CARE packages. Gifts from other American service units in Korea run in thousands more, as the holidays spurred to a climax the giving that goes on day after day. Ever since American troops landed in Korea in 1950, our men in uniform have shared their ration with the hungry, have helped to build new and old schools, hospitals, churches and clubs.

This spirit of helpfulness is due to the fact that the khaki-clad boys are the best of us. And this year—the boy-folks willing to give their own paychecks to help the boys in Korea. CARE has pledged that every gift bought by American servicemen for their "adopted" Korean orphanage or destitute family will be matched with a CARE package from Mr. and Mrs. Civilian in the USA.

Arbor Day Observed January 21

College Station, Nov.—Arbor Day will be observed in Texas January 21 according to a proclamation issued by Governor Allan Shivers. The proclamation reads as follows:

"The economic health of Texas depends on its natural resources including trees and forests," Governor Shivers said. "It is, therefore, appropriate to encourage the planting of trees in Texas, for usefulness as well as beauty. The third Friday in January of each year has been designated as Arbor Day by the State Legislature. Therefore, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby order that the observance of Arbor Day and tree planting, and particularly the schools of the state, to observe this occasion." Arbor Day originated, and was first observed in Nebraska in 1872. J. Sterling Martin, then a member of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture and later United States Secretary of Agriculture, conceived the plan and the name. This plan was adopted on April 10, 1872, the first Arbor Day was observed. This Nebraska became known as "The Tree Planter's State".

Arbor Day is more than a time set aside to plant a tree and glorify it with a song, for it stimulates public spirit and a responsibility is assumed in caring for trees so they will grow. Proper observance of Arbor Day will result in the planting of every one, and especially school children, a wholesome interest and caring for trees, shrubs and forest.

Teacher in Bay Village, Ohio, cautioned her charges against too much attention to comic books. At least one sprout's non-interest has been converted into a full-time counter-revolutionary project. She should use a new approach— forbid him to read his history book.
