Rural Housing Program Has Recently Increased

Families living in small rural communities and in rural areas, even though not engaged in farming may now be eligible for the housing loans made by the Farmers Home Administration...

communities of not more than 2,500, as well as farmers, may be eligible for this type of credit. "This program is an important new tool in promoting the development of rural areas," Cole says.

construction, repair, and remodeling of dwellings and essential farm buildings and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction, funds are available to modernize homes—add bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens, and other home improvements, as well as to enlarge and remodel farm service buildings and put in related facilities such as paved feedlots, yard fences, and driveways.

Rural housing loans may also be used for the construction of full-out and storm shelters.

The interest rate is 4 percent per year on the unpaid balance of the loan. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

The proposed housing must be adequate to meet the family's needs yet modest in size and design.

To be eligible and applicant must own a farm or a housing site in a rural area; be without decent, safe and sanitary housing; be unable to obtain the needed credit from other sources; and be without sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing on his own accounts. He must also have or be able to obtain sufficient income to meet payments on existing debts, take care of his other expenses, and make the payments on the proposed loan.

The local county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will review building plans and inspect the housing construction as it progresses in order to make certain that the borrower obtains sound and acceptable construction.

The local county or area committee of the Farmers Home Administration determines the eligibility of applicants.

Farmers who need to enlarge or develop their farming operations in order to obtain enough income to pay for housing loans may obtain farm enlargement and development loans and farm management help from the Farmers Home Administration.

Rural families who need emergency assistance should contact the local county supervisor.

Introducing 1961 Bulldogs

BOB TOWNZEN

ALFONSO VASQUEZ

DAVID SUTTON

DONALD RAY LEWIS

Bob Townzen, a 163 pound guard, is playing his first year with the Bulldogs. Bob gained experience in football while playing on the Junior High team last year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Townzen.

A one year letterman is Alfonso Vasquez, who is a 155 pound starting guard for the team this year. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Emeterio Vasquez, he is classified as a junior.

David Sutton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Sutton. David is a sophomore this year and played on the reserve squad last year. He weighs 155 pounds and plays the guard position.

Donald Ray Lewis is a junior this year and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lewis. This is his first year to play football. He weighs 185 pounds and is a starting end for the Bulldogs.

Calvin Brown to Command Texas State Guard Here

Calvin Brown, owner of the Ranger Lumber and Supply Co. in Ranger, received official notification Thursday that he has again been placed on active duty with the Texas State Guard. He will be commander of a unit to be organized in Ranger, in absence of the Texas National Guard unit. The Guard Unit left Ranger last week to report for active duty at Camp Polk, Louisiana.

Brown just recently received a discharge from the Texas State Guard with the rank of Major. Major Brown has been authorized to select one lieutenant and 10 enlisted men for the Security Unit in Ranger. The unit will use facilities of the National Guard Armory located on Highway 80 West. Major Brown will also have complete charge of the building.

He said that Ranger Junior College would continue to have access to the building at all times. The college has used the building in the past in connection with their physical education program.

Lt. Col. Otto E. Scherz of the Texas National Guard in San Angelo, notified Major Brown of his appointment.

C of C to Elect Five Directors To Board

Five directors are to be elected for the Ranger Chamber of Commerce by the membership. It was voted earlier this year by the directors to change the voting method. Now, instead of the directors being selected by the City Commission, they will be elected by the Chamber membership.

The Chamber board of directors is composed of 15 members of the Chamber who are elected for three year terms, and the terms of three expire each year.

Lists containing the names of those eligible to be elected have been sent to the Chamber members.

Grand Jury Indicts 5

The 91st District Court Grand Jury returned five indictments before they adjourned Wednesday until Monday, Nov. 6th.

Two of the indictments were for assault with intent to rape; one was for enticing a child for immoral purposes; and two for burglary.

Warrants for arrest of the indicted parties were issued by the district clerk's office, but haven't been returned.

of local tax money (annually): "One assist. supt., $6,000; One assist. band dir., $6,000; "Five vocational agriculture teachers (state pays for 2—county now has 7), $29,500; three teachers to replace land now carried by nine superintendents, $13,500; and three traveling band and music instructors, $18,000, three traveling voc. ag. teachers, (plus mileage), $17,400, and three traveling economics teachers, $15,900 (these last three categories are for traveling teachers who would teach in the remaining junior highs and freshmen classes remaining at the present school sites, should the upper three grades of all the schools be consolidated.)

"Total for additional teachers is $127,000.

"We will consider teacher salaries above base allowed by state, but necessary if we are to compete for teachers with other 4-A AAA schools. All of this additional money must come out of local taxes."

"Superintendent, $5,000; head coach, $3,000; assistant coaches (4 at $1,500) $6,000; band director, $2,000; head science department, $1,500; 146 classroom teachers at $500, $73,000; and junior high and freshmen coach for basketball, football, physical education and full-time teaching load (seven at $5,000) $35,000. All for total of $94,000.

"The $94,000 plus $127,000 for additional teachers, plus $40,000 for extra transportation cost due to the Eastland County School Boards to extra drivers, extra mileage, maintenance of present, plus extra equipment; plus $9,000 for a minimum of nine buses at $5,000 each figured over a five-year period (average life); plus $60,000 in interest on present indebtedness and cost of proposed new plant at $2,000,000, equals $3,000,000 at three per cent; making a grand total of $3,300,000 for a ten-year period, plus the cost of the $2,000,000 new school plant, equals $5,300,000 that the consolidation would cost out of local tax money, and affording educational facilities equal to what is being offered now."

Continuing, Covington said, "Of prime consideration is the problem of better education, as mentioned earlier if this would result then we would necessarily have to weigh all the other objections against this one. Our opinion is that the reverse would result for several reasons.

"1. The geographic area is too large and too evenly populated to make such a plan practical or desirable.

"2. Such a consolidated school would result in less teachers—or more students per teacher. This is where most of the so called incentive aid comes from, when a school is as large as 1600 ADA one teacher is allowed per each 26 students. In a school of our size one teacher is allowed per each 25 ADA.

"3. There would be a loss of community spirit among students as they would lose their identity with their neighborhood, church and community. This would no doubt result in increased juvenile delinquency.

"4. Larger schools must necessarily be organized along progressive lines. Many educators feel that so called progressive education has set us back many years. The pendulum that swung way to the left after World War II is now swinging back to the thing that originally made us—the greatest nation on earth.

"5. An original argument was advanced that more subjects can be offered. We have shown that it is unfortunate, but money does play a part—actually we will be able to offer less because of our present state aid will be earmarked to pay existing indebtedness plus cost of construction.

"6. We know that state accreditation committees will cause schools a loose accreditation if they do not keep up with prescribed standards. We know that we have a clean bill of health in the Ranger School District and do not even expect a visit for 6 or 7 years.

"7. We know that our standards are high. We have students come from other states who have A reports cards and that they make C's in our school. We also have students transfer to other schools in the state that are good H-C students—they make A's in the other schools and when they return to Ranger again make to B-C.

"8. We know that our buildings and entire school plant has been improved, additional teaching aids have been purchased, our science laboratories have been improved, new desks have been installed, fluorescent lighting has been installed and many other improvements made to cause us to do the best possible job of educating our students.

"We think that our teachers are doing a good job of preparing themselves in keeping up with new ideas, ones that work. We think to move out of such a school plant into a so called neutral High School would be extremely poor judgement.

"We are opposed to the consolidation plan because the loss of churches and schools completely eliminates the reasons for a town existence, and the loss of a high school, initially, would certainly affect the spirit de corps of the community and its students.

"We are opposed to the consolidation plan advanced, because we still dare say that we are Americans. We believe in the rights of individuals and communities to determine their own course of action and feel that consolidation should take place only when the people, the elected school board members and the school administration feel that such action is desirable."

In his rebuttal, Dr. Whittington read what he called "silly-fistics" which show that "you can prove anything with figures", he said: "Under conditions that now exist..." (Continued on page six)

Cisco Takes Two-Point Win Over Bulldogs Friday Night

Game At A Glance table with columns for Ranger and Cisco stats: First Downs, Yds. Rushing, Yds. Passing, Passes Int. by, Passes Lost, Punts, Punt Avg., Fumbles, Fumbles Lost.

The winning 17-0 points were collected by Cisco on their first touchdown.

Scoring first, the Bulldogs went ahead on their first series of downs Johnny Wells received Cisco's punt on Ranger's 25 and raced down to Cisco's 22 before being stopped. Terry Townzen hit Donald Ray Lewis with a 14 yard pass down to the Cisco six. One line plunge and another Townzen to Lewis pass, put the Bulldogs in business with a 6-0 lead. The extra pass attempt was blocked by Cisco.

Cisco, not to be out-done, marched 49 yards to pay dirt, with David Callaman and D. O. McCary leading the way. Bill Adling went over from the three for the score. Vernon Phipps received a pass in the end zone for the two extra points. Score 8-6, Cisco. McCary scored again for Cisco on a three-yard plunge over right guard. He was stacked up by the Bulldogs defensive line on the extra points attempt. Score 14-6, Cisco.

Taking over on their own 34, the Bulldogs used Joe Barker and Ray Newham on the ground and Townsend aerials to Wells—a 34 yard pass to cover 50 yards down to the Cisco 10. From there, Townzen hit Wells with a jump pass over center for the necessary 10

SUNDAY DEVOTION

Genuine Revival, One of America's Greatest Needs

By Bobby R. Ferguson Pastor Church of the Nazarene

One of America's greatest needs of our day is a genuine revival. In II Chron. 7:14, we have a Biblical prescription for revival. "If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land."

Notice first of all, God's people must humble themselves. Humility is one of the graces of the Christian life. But here God is calling for a special anointing of humility upon His people for a special responsibility. Revivals cannot come to a proud, self-righteous people. The call of Christ is for humility, self-abasement, and a meekness asking to that of our Christ.

Not only do we have an exhortation to humility but the prescription calls for intercession also.

Intercessory prayer is humility in action. Intercessory prayer is God's way of sending to us a real revival.

One Spiritual writer reminds us that when we depend upon organization, we get what organization can bring; when we depend upon human manipulation, we get what human manipulation can bring; if our dependency is upon the preacher, we get what the preacher can bring; But when we depend upon prayer we get what God can bring. Prayer is an essential part of revival prescription.

"Seek My Face," is another phase of God's revival prescription. Man cannot really rest until he has found rest in Christ. There is no real peace outside of the peace of God. There is no earthly favor that can compare with the smile of God upon our lives.

Seeking Christ is not only a privilege to enjoy, it is also a duty to perform. We cannot be a blessing (Continued on page six)

Laticia Wheat...twirls fire baton

Laticia Wheat Performs at College Game

Miss Laticia Lynn Wheat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wheat 1301 Vitalious, gave a performance with a flaming baton at the half-time period of the Ranger Junior College-Blinn Junior College football game Saturday.

Laticia, a fourth grade student at Young School, and a member of the school's twirling corps has only been working with the fire baton for three weeks.

Many telephone calls and requests have been received for Laticia to perform again. A report from Oklahoma has been received on this splendid half-time act.

The Rangemans, under the direction of Sandi Taylor also performed during the half-time.

Dr. Jim Whittington, Eastland physician, and Glenn Covington, former Ranger school board member and safety director for Lone Star Gas Co., debated the merits of consolidation for the school districts in Eastland County Monday night.

The following are excerpts from the two speakers' prepared notes: Dr. Whittington, speaking for the consolidation, emphasized the need for a comprehensive study of the measure.

He read a letter, a copy of which he said had been sent to Wendell Siebert, Eastland school superintendent.

The letter read, in part: "I notice in the Eastland Telegram that you have been elected president of the consolidation of the Eastland County School Boards. I would like to congratulate you. I know that you are an able leader. If you lead the county school boards as well as you have led the Eastland school board through the years, you will do a wonderful job."

In another paragraph Dr. Whittington wrote: "I would like to offer this suggestion to the group. If they really want a true report that is not influenced by any conflicts of interest, I would suggest an out-of-county firm or university run a facility survey and get the true objective facts and recommendations. It would be good to see if our system could stand the exposure of objectivity."

He concluded the letter with three suggestions: 1. "Appoint the 'third man' for your study from the tax-paying, pro-consolidation group (Glenn Covington has been named to the study group).

2. "Have a facility analysis made by an impartial group, and 3. "Invite Dr. J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education, to speak to your group and the public."

In Covington's opening remarks in the debate, he said: "... I am sure that you understand that none of the incentive aid money that has been mentioned is additional money to Eastland County schools. It is not one cent additional, but only that which we are presently receiving from the state and which the state says that they will continue to pay for ten years.

"I would also like to emphasize that regardless of the motive of the people who introduced Senate Bill 80, it was voted and passed for the purpose of encouraging larger schools to accept smaller school districts, who could no longer conduct their affairs, without penalizing the larger school district. All that we have really been told is that we will continue to get the money that we are now getting, but all of the so-called incentive portion must be earmarked to pay off existing indebtedness over $1,000,000 plus an additional cost of construction of a 4-AAAA high school, football stadium, gymnasium, track field, parking area, etc., at a cost, conservatively estimated at $2,000,000.

"It is unfortunate that we cannot initially talk more on the pros and cons of better education, but available money is one of the major factors in determining what can and cannot be done."

"Actually," Covington said, "what would happen (should the schools consolidate) is this—29 teachers and administrators would be terminated, their present annual salary is $173,000 would be earmarked to go back to the state to pay on existing indebtedness plus cost of new construction."

Covington used a chart and said: "Let's look at teachers not allowed by the state, (under the consolidation) but absolutely necessary if we are to offer a program as good as that which we presently have. All of this must be paid out of local tax money (annually): "One assist. supt., $6,000; One assist. band dir., $6,000; "Five vocational agriculture teachers (state pays for 2—county now has 7), $29,500; three teachers to replace land now carried by nine superintendents, $13,500; and three traveling band and music instructors, $18,000, three traveling voc. ag. teachers, (plus mileage), $17,400, and three traveling economics teachers, $15,900 (these last three categories are for traveling teachers who would teach in the remaining junior highs and freshmen classes remaining at the present school sites, should the upper three grades of all the schools be consolidated.)

"Total for additional teachers is $127,000.

"We will consider teacher salaries above base allowed by state, but necessary if we are to compete for teachers with other 4-A AAA schools. All of this additional money must come out of local taxes."

As It Looks From Here

New York, with its skyscrapers, is about as much perpendicular as it is horizontal; and the United Nations, which is truly a foreign territory, is more like another world than real.

For this reason, the feeling is soon caught that the United States Delegation itself is removed from the people. This suggests the reason why they seem to see through the eyes of an internationalist more than the eyes of a citizen of the United States.

To convince our own people here that the sentiment of the average United States citizen is important as to what is done in the United Nations, would seem to be one of the most important things which I, as a representative of the United States Congress, could do in my role as a Delegate.

For instance, our top level people have been reminded and given the strong assurance that the people of this country, reflecting their sentiment through the Congress of the United States, will demand that our contribution of funds to operate the United Nations be drastically reduced or completely cut off if Red China is permitted to become a member of the United Nations.

There are other broad issues on which our delegates and State Department officials will be reminded of the feeling which is believed to be that of the vast majority in the United States. These issues include any decision on Berlin which is not our own, and not that of Nations never involved in World War II; the admission of Outer Mongolia to the United Nations; any disarmament to any degree without an absolute system of inspection, without relying on any treaty agreements with the Soviet Union.

Our own people here are being warned that we cannot be controlled in matters of our own foreign policy by actions of the United Nations. This means the surrender of any part of our sovereignty, such as recommending the repeal of the Connally Amendment.

During this first week's experience, I have taken every occasion to remind my fellow Delegates that our past policy of being concerned at every move as to what other nations think of us, has not accomplished any great good. It is not suggested that the United States should dominate, or be overbearing with either the small or the great nations, but it does mean that being in the position of leadership, it should lead and not be led.

One only needs to sit, as I have done now for a full week, and listen to some of the harangues and out right insults against the Western Nations—and particularly the United States—coming from many of those whom we have helped through foreign aid and through agencies of the United Nations to which we contribute, to realize we have not made supporters by our handouts.

On three occasions, speakers from Nations whom we have been helping for eight years stated that it was not foreign aid they received, but only a partial payment for our having exploited their natural resources. This, seemingly, is the feeling of many of the so-called neutrals or uncommitted nations, whose vote in the General Assembly is the same as that of the United States.

As long as we submit to such treatment, not only will we not have the respect of these people, but others see a great nation slumped in the face without a murmur being raised.

It is time a more realistic, if not a tough policy be applied. We can regain some self-respect which we have been steadily losing since the end of World War II by assuming our rightful role as a world leader. We cannot do so, in my opinion, by a weak and leaderless attitude.

There are other broad issues on which our delegates and State Department officials will be reminded of the feeling which is believed to be that of the vast majority in the United States. These issues include any decision on Berlin which is not our own, and not that of Nations never involved in World War II; the admission of Outer Mongolia to the United Nations; any disarmament to any degree without an absolute system of inspection, without relying on any treaty agreements with the Soviet Union.

yards. Score 14-12, Cisco, at half-time.

Jimmy Drennan received the kickoff after half-time, an Ranger's 15 yard line and raced back to the 48. Barker and Newham again picked up good yardage down to the Cisco 15, where Townsend hit Lewis with a six yard pass and Wells received another serial for the score, Score 18-14 Ranger.

Cisco took over on the Bulldog's 48, when an inside kick backfired. McCary took off around left end for 38 yards, down to the Bulldog 10. From there McCary went over center for the TD. Score 20-18, Cisco.

Cisco's kickoff was received by Lewis on his own 30 yard line, where he did a bit of fancy sidestepping, picked up several key blocks and broke into the clear on the 50. Lewis out-ran the three would-be tacklers from the 50 to collect the 6-point. Extra pass attempt was short. Score 24-20, Ranger.

Ranger held Cisco for four downs on the five and took over with only two minutes left to play. But the determined Cisco laid a shock blocker loose from the ball on the Bulldog six. From there, Danny Phins plunged over for the winning TD Score 26-24, Cisco.

The Ranger High School Band, under direction of Bill Auvenshine again displayed their marching and playing ability to the delight of the fans. Using their new entrance formation, the band presented several speciality drills.

Most Home Accidents Avoidable

Home accidents, like other accidents, are fundamentally the result of inadequate knowledge, insufficient skill and faulty attitudes.

Most of the annual four million or more deaths and injuries caused by home accidents can be prevented if we observe four rules:

1. Learn to recognize and understand the many hazards in the home.
2. Develop a sense of responsibility toward safeguarding ourselves and others against the possibility of home accidents.
3. Acquire the skills required to perform household tasks safely.
4. Acquire safe, orderly habits in all of our activities in the home.

Let us insure our own safety and the safety of our families and friends by observing these four simple rules of home safety.

Eastside Church of Christ

For the benefit of those that believe that the Eastside church of Christ does not believe in the care of needy people such as orphans, homeless children, and others, we would like to extend an invitation to be at the 10:45 service for the next two Sunday mornings. This Sunday I will present a lesson on the work of the local churches, which includes the examples of the churches working in the days of the apostles. This will be what some call cooperation. On Sunday morning, October 29, I will present a lesson on the care of the needy. Some honest brethren have been misinformed as to what we believe about these things. The truth is, we believe what we can find in the New Testament and reject all other. Some say we do not believe in the care of homeless children, but the truth is we do not believe that anyone can find authority for another organization other than the church. At present there are institutions with boards of directors, superintendents, chartered and licensed by the state of Texas and other states that are operating in the field of benevolence and the preaching of the gospel. We do not question the authority for doing the work that these institutions do, for we practice these things ourselves, but we want the authority for the building and support of these things by our brethren. For years the brethren have taught that the Missionary Society was sinful because no authority could be found for it in the scriptures. Likewise the conventions, synods, and conferences of the denominational churches were pictured as sinful. Now our brethren have done likewise and cannot deny it. I extend to all preachers in the church of Christ in this county to meet me in public debate in this matter, not on the care of orphans and the needy, but on the institutions. If they are to be found in the doctrine of Christ, then we want to see the scripture. And if not, then they are a sinful practice. (2 John 9).
