Williams Says Eye Operation Is Successful

J. B. Williams, who announced his candidacy for the office of Eastland County sheriff late in December, is not blind. And he has not withdrawn from the race.

Monday from his ranch home north of Gorman he issued a brief statement relative to rumors circulating over the county regarding his eyesight.

"It has come to my attention," he said, "that reports have been circulated to the effect that I had gone blind or that my vision was critically and seriously impaired. Reports also led many to believe that I would not be a candidate for the office of sheriff in the May 2 Democratic primary as earlier announced.

"It is true that I have had some difficulty with my right eye," he added. "However, recently I underwent surgery and had a cataract removed and the operation was highly successful and I am enjoying a speedy recuperation."

Williams said he expected to begin an active campaign within the next week or 10 days.

Behind many "For Sale" signs there is a sad story: A family borrowed more than they could afford to pay for a home, or payments and interest rates were too high; the home had to be sold, often at a loss. ## MORE THAN 2,700 TEXANS KILLED IN 1963 MISHAPS

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety reported today that a preliminary count of traffic deaths in the state for 1963 shows that 2,703 persons were killed — by far the greatest toll in history.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, noted that this means 282 more persons died in traffic last year than in 1962, or an increase of approximately 12 per cent. He also pointed out that the 1963 toll of lives was 92 greater than the previous all-time high of 2,611 in 1956.

DPS Statistical Services said it is estimated that when all reports are received for the year 1963, the death figure from traffic accidents in Texas will be 2,725.

"To attempt to place the blame for this great tragedy on one single factor would be pure speculation, Garrison said. "The records indicate consistently that speed too fast for conditions is the most prevalent law violation involved in fatal accidents. The second most frequent factor involved in fatal accidents is driving while drinking, and the third is driving on the wrong side of the road. A combination of these things often is involved. And we do know that in almost every fatal accident there is at least one violation of some traffic law involved.

"Therefore, it would seem that the best explanation for the upward spiral in traffic fatalities, both in Texas and in the nation, would be a combination of general carelessness and disregard for the law. "As for the matter of speed, we cannot over-emphasize that the Texas law clearly states that no vehicle shall be driven at a speed greater than that which is reasonable and prudent for existing conditions. This holds true regardless of what the posted limits may be.

"In other words, the law clearly places the responsibility for not exceeding a safe driving speeds upon the driver himself.

"With these things in mind, we wish to appeal to all Texans to recognize the seriousness of the traffic situation with which we are faced, examine the facts, and determine to resolve the matter in the true tradition of responsible Texas citizens.

SNEA Groups Of County Colleges Meets At Cisco

The Cisco Junior College Chapter of Student National Teachers' Association was a host to the Ranger Junior College chapter of SNEA recently at a meeting held in the CJC Science Hall, according to Mrs. Beryl Cutting, sponsor.

The Cisco Junior College chapter organized the RJC chapter shortly after Christmas. They met with Ranger to further familiarize the newly-organized chapter members with the local, state, and national organizations.

First on the program was CJC SNEA president, Dave Dawson, who spoke on the CJC chapter, its procedures, and its activities. Judy Clary, vice-president, and Mitzi Rieder, secretary-treasurer, told of their duties and responsibilities in SNEA.

Sue Lack showed the Cisco Junior College scrapbook that has won several awards at the state convention. Mrs. Cutting gave the requirements for SNEA membership and gave the relationship between

Biologists Are Studying Animal 'Toxic' Group

AUSTIN — More and more hunters and explorers in the field are seeing animals new to Texas. These "Toxotics" are animals introduced into the Lone Star State by various means.

The Wildlife Restoration Division of the Parks and Wildlife Department is conducting a survey of these animals to determine which foreign species are present and in what numbers, according to Al Springs, coordinator for the division.

Eventually, the study will determine the value and significance of these animals, including their effect on native game.

So far, 17 species have been found in varying numbers of 1 to 4,334. Listed in descending order according to numbers thus recorded they are nilgai antelope, blackbuck antelope, axis deer, mouflon sheep, Barbary (aoudad) sheep, sika deer, fallow deer, sambar deer, barasingha deer, African antelope, English red deer, eland antelope, spotted fallow deer, albino phase of fallow deer, Asiatic sheep, Puerto Rican deer. The European boar is included in the survey, but a placement according to numbers present is not available.

An article in the January issue of Texas Game and Fish includes line drawings by Nancy McCowan of 10 of the species mentioned. Accompanying cutlines briefly describe the animals' physical appearances and note their native ranges.

Partial results of the survey will appear in a spring issue of Texas Game and Fish. If you wish to subscribe to the magazine, send $2 to Parks and Wildlife Department in Austin.

As 1963 drew to a close, textile men estimated that total production of cotton and cotton-blend stretch fabrics would reach the 29-million-yard mark. More consumer products of 100 percent stretch cotton may be seen soon, industry leaders predicted.

More and more manufacturers are entering the stretch fabric field. Mills are able to work out the technical and practical details for making the new fabrics as rapidly as chemists can devise new ways of creating finishes for stretch development.

Prior to the time of chemical finishing techniques, stretch properties were created by knit construction. Later, blends of cotton and synthetics provided stretch. Cost advantages are found in chemical treatment of cotton, and another basic advantage of chemically finished cotton is the ability of stretch finishes to team with wash and wear finishes in cotton. Chemical finishing is the leading method of imparting wash and wear properties, according to research.

The popularity of stretch fabrics is shown by this market research information. Wider use of stretch fabrics is noted principally in sportswear, active work clothes and children's garments.

Award Awaiting Hero In Texas Rural Regions

COLLEGE STATION — Somewhere in rural Texas lives a person who is due a hero's award. He or she, adult or youth, may be your neighbor.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council is now seeking that individual and you can tell them where he or she lives and about the deed performed.

The individual being sought by the Council may have rescued another person from a burning building, saved a child from drowning, rendered services beyond the call of duty during a neighborhood or countywide emergency or risked his life to save another from electrical shock or a highway or farm accident.

There are many rural heroes in Texas, the Council believes, and they want to recognize and show their appreciation to the one considered by a selection committee as most typical of the nominees.

The Council will present to the person selected their rural Heroism Plaque. Nominees must come from a rural area or from a town of less than 2,500 population.

It is easy to make the nomination. Just submit a narrative covering the heroic deed but include the details, such as the full names of all persons involved and include news clippings and pictures if available.

Then mail the entry before March 1 1964 to Rural Heroism Award, 3900 Barnett

Street, Fort Worth 3, Texas. By recognizing heroic rural service in this manner, the Councilmen believe attention will be focused on the continuing need for improved safety conditions in our rural areas — at work, at home and at play.

ADOLESCENCE

By Linda Duncan - Junior

Adolescence is the in-between years of growth. The adolescent is not grown, but not young. Our parents say we are too old to be acting the way we act; then they turn right around and say we are too young to understand. Sometimes it is very confusing. Are we too young or are we too old? In the years of adolescence we are all different sizes and shapes. Some are short and fat. Some are tall and skinny. We must really be a funny sight. Adolescence may be the happiest years of our lives. The way we act and think in our adolescent years and new things are growing quickly into adulthood. But we are still in our adolescent years and new things are still appearing.

PEOPLE OF TODAY

By Celeste Scott - Junior

In today's jet age world, people find themselves moving at a rapid pace. Hurry here! Hurry there! Will it never end? Because we, the modern people of today, are living in an age of jet planes, television sets, and various electrical appliances, the logical idea is that we should have more leisure time than did people living one hundred years ago. Do we? Although we now have many time-saving devices, we also have additional time-consuming duties. One hundred years ago our ancestors weren't concerned with the problems of washing cars, attending club meetings, or preparing programs of civil defense. Yes, we live in a complex world that seems to be rapidly moving forward. However, if possible, would you exchange places with someone that lived one hundred years ago? I one hundred years ago? I wouldn't. Why? I enjoy being world!

FACING TRUTH

By Bob McCleskey - Junior

Why does half the world search for truth, when the other half is so busy running from it? Why are we afraid to face truth? We build dream worlds in our minds, where we play God. To escape from the truth, we create a paradise where everything obeys our will. We lie, fearing the sting that exposure of a fault would bring, and lie again to cover up the first lie. And so goes the cycle, until we suddenly find ourselves hopelessly bound in the chains of our deceit. Why? Why do we turn civilized conversation into a smuck of flattery and trickery, instead of a free and clear expression of ideas? Why do so many twist and bend truth for their own selfish ends? Why do so many other virtue endure for long when truth is being strangled in the back alleys?

COMMUNISM, A DISEASE

By Don Hartsfield - Junior

Few people of the world realize the threat of the old but thriving disease which started its drive in the early 1900's to murder the free powers of the world. What can be done to stop this plague, which is worse than the Black Plague that swept Europe long ago? Actually the answer is right in front of us. Freedom and democracy, the panacea for the sickness, can be the solution to stop the disease. The epidemic has moved into most of the largest continents on earth, and it is spreading to the Western Hemisphere and the United States. The United States is already infected with that devastating carrier of the dreaded disease which can be stopped by simply having the knowledge and the courage to fight it. Will it succeed in destroying peace, the desire of the world, and the United States? Let us have faith in God.

THE IDEAL TEACHER

By Susan Woods - Senior

The ideal teacher is considerate, honest, kind, stimulating, and entertaining. He is considerate in giving his assignments and takes other studies into consideration. Since he is not perfect, he sometimes makes mistakes, but he admits his errors. His kindness extends to all people in his classroom. His lectures are stimulating because he understands his pupils and knows his subject. Occasionally he will tell a joke to prevent tension from building up. Yes, the ideal teacher is all of these things, and he has one more quality, a love of his work!

UNDERSTANDING

By Janice Smith - Senior

Understanding is a most important quality in today's world. When trials and problems arise from day to day, understanding is the key to solving those problems. Understanding may unlock many doors. Even in our complex world understanding is essential to world peace and harmony among the countries. Every person wants and needs understanding. In love or friendship, understanding is the magnetic action which induces enjoyment and compatibility. Because many times people are prejudiced, they will not truly understand. Thus, through understanding we gain knowledge. Understanding provides an oiling agent to keep order and smoothness not only in our personal affairs, but also in our nation's affairs. Without this oil, turmoil and tension will result.

SELF-PITY

By Robby Robinson - Junior

What good does self-pity do a person? Self-pity does no good whatsoever. Whenever a person accepts his troubles without complaint, he not only gives himself satisfaction, but he also proves to others that he is a strong person inside. A person who feels sorry for himself usually has fewer

FACES ON MONEY

By Butch Seymour - Junior

Why does the mint put pictures of men on money? Why not pictures of mountains, horses, or just some pretty pictures? People get tired of looking at Jackson, Washington, and Lincoln just staring at them. Maybe people would like to see many different pictures on money. Why not have red, blue, orange, and different colored money? Make having mon-

KINDNESS

By Donna Effe - Senior

Even though kindness is completely forgotten. Only a few seconds are used to thank a person when he has done for us; but so many times we forget or do not take the time. To speak to the ignored student in a class is a small thing, but to him it is great because someone noticed him. Visiting an elderly friend does not take long, but it is not often done. At home how many times do we volunteer because someone noticed him, and Dad? It is not often enough, and too many times our parents have to remind us several times before we do what they ask. The small things that we do mean a lot to other people. Kindness enriches our lives while it enriches the lives of those around us.

Nick Miller Sells Cisco Man's Store To Bob Elliott

Sale of The Man's Store, one of Cisco's oldest business firms, to Bob Elliott was announced Saturday by Nick Miller. Mr. Elliott had been an employee of Mr. Miller at the store for 19 years. The transaction was effective Feb. 1.

BOB ELLIOTT

In announcing the sale, Mr. Miller recalled that he and Dick Lauderdale purchased the store from Hogan and Patton on Aug. 15, 1925, and Mr. Miller became the sole owner on Jan. 1, 1936. Mr. Miller's connection with the store totaled 35 years.

Mr. Miller said he had made no definite plans for the future. He has lived in Cisco since 1904, having moved there from his native Gatesville as a boy. Before going into business for himself, Mr. Miller spent some 10 years as an employee of the John H. Garner Company. He served in World War I.

NICK MILLER

Mr. Miller is well known throughout this region, having long been active in community affairs. He is the father of one daughter, Mrs. Wm. R. Cornish, of Fort Worth. He has two grandchildren.

Mr. Elliott is a native of Cisco and is the son of Mrs. R. S. Elliott and attended the Cisco schools and served in the U. S. Army in World War II. He is a member of the First Methodist Church, is a vice president of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce and the Cisco Country Club.

Mrs. Louise Pryor, an employee of The Man's Store for the past 10 years, will continue with the new owner.

Mr. Elliott said The Man's Store will keep that name and will continue to handle the many brand names that have stocked its shelves for many years. "I am looking forward to serving the many people who have long traded with The Man's Store," Mr. Elliott said. "They can be sure of the same good treatment and fair dealings that they have come to expect at the store."

LIFE AND LIVING by Dolly Hunt

DEAR DOLLY: After going with a fellow for almost two years, we broke up by mutual agreement, and without any unpleasantness. Now I'm wondering what to do about some of the gifts he gave me. Among them a number of smaller things. I received a diamond-studded watch and a tape recorder. I'm sure he won't accept these back, but I feel I should make the offer, although I don't want to offend him. Please advise me.

PATSY: Of course, you realize now that you should not have accepted these expensive gifts in the first place. Now the only right thing for you to do is either speak to him or write to him, telling him that you feel you should not have accepted these gifts and that you would like to return them, although you wish of course to remain good friends. Even if he does refuse to take them back, at least you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you made the proper gesture. And in the future, don't put yourself in a position where a man can say, should a relationship dissolve in a less friendly fashion than this one did, "She only went with me for the gifts she could get out of me, and then when she got tired of me, that was that."

DEAR DOLLY: My husband and I are in a real quandary. Last weekend we had dinner in a nice place about ten miles from our town, and we saw the husband of one of my dearest friends sitting at a corner table across the room from us with another woman. He didn't see us, but we were able to watch him throughout the entire time we were there, and everything seemed very chummy between him and this other woman. Needless to say, we were very much shocked over this, and now I'm wondering whether I should go to my friend and tell her we saw her husband stepping out on her. SHOCKED.

DEAR SHOCKED: Stay out of this! It's none of your business. Moreover, there is always the possibility that this was a perfectly innocent and legitimate dinner engagement about which his wife already knows. And furthermore, real friends never deliver this kind of news—the kind of news that might produce a big hurt.

DEAR DOLLY: I'm a widow of 35 with two little daughters ages 6 and 8. For about a year I've been going with a fine man of 36 who has given every indication that he loves my little girls, and they have always seemed to be fond of him, too, until last week. I told them that we were planning to be married next June, and this set them off on a big crying and screaming spell. They told me they just wanted him for a friend, and not a daddy, and I have not been able to reason with them at all. Now I don't know what to do, whether I should sacrifice my happiness in marriage with this man for the happiness of my girls. Will you please advise me? FRUSTRATED.

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You should NOT be sacrificing the happiness you are entitled to, just because your two little girls are now raising such a big storm. This is not a new problem, and the best way to handle it is with a firm hand. They'll get used to the idea in time. I'm sure, and will learn to love their new daddy.

MAJOR GENERAL WEST
Boss of TNG's 49th

Guard Field Training Set Late In June

Eastland County National Guardsmen of Texas' 49th Armored Division will undergo two weeks of field training June 21—July 5 at Fort Hood, it was announced in Dallas by division headquarters.

More than 7,000 officers and enlisted men from units in 79 Texas cities—including Ranger and Cisco—will participate in realistic combat-like exercises along with regular Army troops, said Maj. Gen. Harley B. West of Dallas, division commander.

Gen. West holds the second-longest tenure as commanding general of the "Lone Star" division—now in his fourth year. He was division commander when the 49th was called to a year of active duty in 1961 during the Berlin Crisis.

The 49th Armored Division—ranked among the top armored reserve divisions in the nation—will be making its 16th post-World War II encampment this year.

The field exercises will employ all the division's organic elements—tank, infantry, artillery and air power—before the close eyes of high-ranking Army and defense officials.

An annual motorized division review will be held Saturday, June 27, at the midpoint of the intensive training period.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Capitol talk is centering around Texas' new double-standard for voter qualification.

There's a lot of speculation and some concern in political circles.

Ratification by South Dakota will place into effect a Federal constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax as a requirement for voting in future federal elections.

1. Texans who want to vote for state and local, as well as federal officials, still must have poll tax receipts or appropriate exemptions.

2. Those who are content to vote for federal, vice president, U. S. senator and Congressman only, won't have to pay. But still they must get a free poll tax receipt from their tax collector.

The new "registration" requirement for federal elections takes effect after the U. S. General Services Administrator certifies that the amendment is officially part of the federal constitution.

Thirty days will be allowed voters, after the amendment goes into effect to obtain the special receipts stamped "poll tax not paid." These "tickets" admit one to vote in federal elections. After this year, they must be obtained during the regular poll tax period of October 1-January 31.

For tax collectors and election officials these additional headaches will be presented: Separate poll lists must be compiled for those who have paid the poll tax and those who have not; non-paying voters must get a ballot containing only the offices and propositions which they are eligible to vote on; all propositions except federal offices must be "locked out" on voting machines; and election returns must show separately those voting on free receipts.

Legal experts think the state law passed in anticipation of the federal amendment's ratification takes care of most emergencies and will prevent chaos, if not confusion. Detailed instructions soon will be sent to county tax collectors by Secretary of State Crawford Martin.

Gov. John Connally, meanwhile, warned Texans that failure to pay the poll tax commits them to "only half a vote in the 1964 elections." Connally joined groups on all sides of the political fences in the final week's campaign to pump up lagging payments.

Governor Connally anticipates no disruption in congressional district races this year, since the U. S. Supreme Court recessed until February 17 without taking action on pending redistricting cases.

Filing deadline for Texas primaries is February 3. Connally and other state officials do not think the high court will interfere with election machinery already in progress.

Last October a Houston federal court held Texas congressional district boundaries unconstitutional since they are not based on equal population. Republicans brought the suit seeking to redraw the districts in the interest of metropolitan areas. The Houston decision, which has since been stayed pending the state's appeal, ordered all 23 congressmen to run statewide unless the districts are equalized on the basis of population.

Court of Criminal Appeals has been ordered new trials for two men who had served a total of 43 years in Texas prisons.

Decision was in line with a recent Supreme Court ruling that all indigent persons accused of crimes are entitled to court-appointed counsel. Texas law has required designation of such counsel only in capital cases. Several similar appeals already are before the court here.

State Supreme Court heard arguments as to whether the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission can prevent use of nets and seines in Galveston, Trinity, East and West Bays, in view of a 1957 law apparently permitting use of trammel nets there.

Lower courts have held for fishermen opposing a 1949 commission order against netting.

Supreme Court also agreed to permit a coastal hospital district to request clarification of a state constitutional amendment authorizing such districts to be created by statute. Sweeney Hospital District wants to determine if citizens voting on district bonds have to render personal property for taxation.

Three contempt of legislature cases growing out of investigation of Southwest Conference basketball point-fixing allegations and another arising from slant hole oil probes were postponed by an Austin district court until March.

Texas Civil Judicial Council reported that about two-thirds of the nearly 200 State district judges in Texas receive salary supplements from County governments in addition to their $12,000 annual pay from the state.

Supplements range from $600 a year in some rural areas to $8,000 in Harris County, where district judges make $20,000 a year.

Large Crowd Attends FB Meet At Cisco

A large crowd attended the Great Plains program presented by the Eastland County Farm Bureau at the Cisco Junior College in Cisco Monday night. This was the first of a series of programs to be presented by the Bureau during this year.

Jack Cozart, president of the Bureau, introduced the guest speaker, E. E. McAllister, manager of the Eastland County Soil Conservation Service. McAllister explained the Great Plains program and discussed the importance of soil conservation to farmers and ranchers.

Mrs. Henry Fry of Cisco was chairman of the program.

A group of men from Cisco was introduced by Jack Cozart and presented a good musical program. They were Al Anderson, S. E. Hittson, Harry Schaefer, and A. E. McNeely.

The next meeting and program will be held March 2 in Ranger and the program will be presented by a youth group. John Love will be program chairman.

All farmers and ranchers are urged to attend all of these programs.

Mr. T. C. Fambro of Strawn was in Ranger Friday on business.

4,058 Poll Taxes Sold In 3 Towns

A total of 2,652 poll taxes were sold at the tax assessor-collector's office in Eastland, and reports from two sub-stations have not been turned in.

A total of 798 was sold in Ranger and 598 in Cisco through Wednesday when that station ran out of receipts.

A tax office deputy will collect the receipt books from the sub-stations this week, it is reported. Poll taxes were sold at Cisco, Ranger, Gorman and Rising Star.

Questioned about the "shortage" of receipt books this year, a tax office deputy explained that sufficient tax receipts had not been on hand. The office had ordered four books, believed to be enough with what was already on hand. However, when the books arrived it was found that the new books contained only 50 receipts per book, rather than the customary 200.

So the substation at Cisco ran short, as did the county tax office, and deputies were forced to use old (1962) receipt books, marking through the "1962" and writing in "1963."

New Gas Discovery Reported For Eastland County Area

A new gas discovery has been reported for Eastland County by Texas Railroad Commission.

It's a successful venture completed as a conglomerate gasser prorated in Eastland County regular field by Texzona Petroleum Inc. of Abilene.

No. 1 M. L. Woods, W. F. Davis Survey, is located five miles northeast of Ranger.

Absolute, open flow was 290,000 cubic feet of dry gas daily, from perforations at 3,390 to 3,460 feet.

A 4 1/2-inch casing is set at 3,434 feet, above total depth of 3,540 feet.

The original application was filed Nov. 28, 1958 by Deimos Wadsworth.

In Stephens County, Longhorn Production Co., Dallas, has filed application to re-enter and plugback a wildcat located 14 miles north of Breckenridge.

No. 1-A T. C. Harris is spotted 100 feet from north line (river) and west line of Section 124, TE&L Survey, A-478 and a 200-acre lease.

Operator will test the Strawn cleaning out to 2,900 feet with rotary.

The test was originally drilled as Byron Haynes No. 1-A Harris, and produced from Caddo perforations at 3,611-17 feet. It was completed Nov. 18, 1956.

4-H'ERS INVITED TO COMPETE IN CIVIL DEFENSE CONTEST

4-H boys and girls, accustomed to living in the nuclear age, will have an opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge of civil defense and emergency preparedness in a new contest, just announced by the Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

Interested 4-H members should discuss this with their 4-H adult leader, assistant county agricultural agent, Roger Blackmon, and ask for a copy of MP-664, A Guide for 4-H Civil Defense.

The finals of this contest will be held during Texas 4-H Roundup, June 2 and 3, 1964, on the Texas A&M University Campus. Prior eliminations will be held in each county, with winners of the county contest competing for state honors.

The objectives of the civil defense demonstrations are to help 4-H members learn the fundamentals of civil defense and how it affects them in their home, community, state, and country; develop effective leadership talents, and to exhibit those abilities through public appearances; and demonstrate to others effective civil defense preparedness measures.
