

Polio Vaccine To Be Given Here Saturday, July 11

Type 3 polio vaccine will be given here Saturday, June 11 at the National Guard Armory. The vaccination will be given starting at 10 a.m. Dr. W. P. Watkins, chairman of the community health committee of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, will administer the vaccine.

To those financially unable to afford the immunization, it will be given free, but others are asked to donate 25 cents per dose.

This inoculation will be the second assault of the city and area against the dread disease. In 1962, 3,515 persons received dosages of the Type I oral vaccine.

The sequence runs Type I, Type III, and Type II, according to Dr. Watkins.

The Ranger Explorer Scouts will furnish transportation for persons unable to reach the Armory. Those desiring rides should call the Chamber of Commerce office — MI 7-1141 — before Friday at 5 p.m. or Saturday morning between 9 a.m. and 12 noon, Dr. Watkins said. All adults and infants over six weeks of age are eligible — and urged to take the vaccine which is a proved deterrent to polio.

Among subjects to be covered are: beef imports, declining prices, build-up in cattle numbers, present USDA actions to alleviate the problems, proposals for government programs for livestock, voluntary proportion programs, and related farm programs affecting the industry.

Discussing and evaluating these subjects will be Ed McKay, TBF assistant legislative director, and W. C. (Bill) Wedemeyer, TBF research and education director, both of Waco. District 7 Director Billy Joe Gist of Abilene will preside.

The bank burglary went off smoothly. The thugs overpowered the guard and herded the employees in the back room and were about to take off with $50,000 in cash.

The cashier made desperate, pleading noises through his mouth gag, and taken with curiosity, one thug leaned over to hear what he was saying. "Take the books, too," the cashier pleaded. "I'm $5,000 short!"

Battle, Charged In Slaying, Free On $2,500 Bond

James Will Battle, 49-year-old owner of the Little Jim Hotel in Ranger, is free under $2,500 bond after having been charged with murder in the fatal shooting of a 45-year-old Latin American.

Battle was taken into custody by Ranger officers a few minutes after the slaying took place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The shooting victim, Don Gonzales, 45, allegedly was creating a disturbance at the colored hotel and Battle, at the rear of the frame building barbecuing some meat, rushed inside to stop the commotion. Gonzales reportedly pulled a knife and lunged toward Battle, a World War II overseas combat veteran, who grabbed a .25-caliber automatic and blazed away at his attacker. The gun spewed out four fast shots. One bullet plunged into Gonzales' right chest, another into his left chest, a third ripped into his left jaw and the fourth pierced his forehead just above the hairline.

The Negro was charged with murder Saturday afternoon in the court of Justice of the Peace M. D. Underwood and bond was set at $5,000. He was transferred to the county jail at Eastland.

Justice of Peace Underwood said that Battle's bond was lowered to $2,500 following a conference with District Attorney Earl Conner Jr. and the Negro's legal counsel in Eastland Monday morning. He was released under bond that afternoon.

Underwood, Sheriff Lee Horn and Chief of Police Bill Ogden all checked Gonzales' corpse and noted that he had been shot four times. Underwood also added that still missing is the knife which Gonzales is alleged to have used at the scene of the shooting.

Justice of Peace Underwood said his charge Saturday was "for murder with malice."

Battle probably will be arraigned before the next session of the grand jury which convenes at Eastland next Tuesday, July 14.

Gonzales died 10 minutes after the shooting in the emergency room of Ranger General Hospital.

He had been rushed to the hospital for treatment in a private car by persons at the scene of the incident.

Battle probably will plead self-defense.

Investigation Begins As Man's Skeleton Is Found

Eastland County authorities launched an investigation Monday after the discovery of a man's skeleton in a pasture northwest of Eastland in the Yellow Mound community.

The complete skeleton, believed to be that of a middle-aged man, was discovered by a farm hand employee of R.

The possibility that the skeleton might be that of a Latin American who disappeared from the Gordon Woods Ranch in the Yellow Mound area two years ago was being investigated Wednesday, this newspaper learned from reliable sources.

The Latin American — Jesse Torres — was a young man who had been ill and left the ranch where he worked. He was reported seen several places in the community but an extensive search conducted for a week or more failed to find him.

It was understood that authorities planned to have a dentist who employed the man at one time, check the skeleton's teeth for possible identification.

d. Sneed of Eastland in a pasture seven miles northwest of Eastland. The pasture is leased by Mr. Sneed from Mrs. Roy Miller for grazing purposes.

The skeleton was discovered at about 9:30 a.m. Monday morning. By noon Sheriff Lee Horn, Deputy Sheriff Lefty Sublett and District Attorney Earl Conner Jr. went to the site and moved the remains back into Eastland where they were stored in a box at the sheriff's office. They were to be re-assembled by physicians, it was reported.

Plans also included having a longtime Eastland dentist examine the skeleton teeth which appear to be those of an adult male. The teeth include two bridged teeth and four gold-capped teeth.

A black leather sport shoe with white stitching and a white shoe lace was found with the skeleton. Portions of one foot's toe bones were still in the shoe, positively linking it with the skeleton, Sheriff Horn said. The shoe, approximately a size 6, was in good repair, but was very small and indicated a man of small stature.

Investigating officers said that indications were that the skeleton was definitely not buried, but on top of the ground when the body was deposited. Sheriff Horn estimated the bones had been in the pasture from 12 to 15 years. They were bleached white by the sun.

Persons knowing of relatives or others missing in the last 10 to 20 years who had gold capped teeth were asked to contact the sheriff's department for further identification.

Sheriff officials stated that there is a possibility of the missing person's division in Washington being called in to help solve the mystery.

More complete information on the skeleton, including size, age and definite identification as to male or female is expected after the bones are re-assembled by physicians.

DA Earl Connor examines skeleton head found Monday in Yellow Mound community.

Rash Of Grass Blazes Keeps Firemen Busy

A rash of fires along the right-of-way of the Texas & Pacific Railway had firemen in Strawn, Ranger and Eastland in a dither Thursday.

At 5:30 p. m. Thursday the Ranger Volunteer Fire Department rushed to a call at the C. D. Hartnett warehouse where grass was ablaze along the railroad tracks.

Fifteen minutes later another grass fire had a second unit of firemen on the move to the Moss Nantz place out near the Lone Star plant on Highway 80.

The fast-spreading flames covered about a three-mile stretch along the T&P's main line and similar outbreaks were reported along the right-of-way from Strawn through Ranger to Eastland.

Friday morning at 10:33 o'clock Ranger firemen extinguished a blaze at the Ranger Peanut Co. warehouse. Peanut hulls had become ignited.

Less than an hour later—at 11:03 a. m.—the fire fighters were summoned to douse out a grass fire at the Colony Creek bridge.

Saturday at 8:15 p. m., Ranger firemen were called out to Lake Leon to battle another grass fire. In a wooded area, it was difficult for the crew to get equipment in, so they rammed the truck into smaller trees and cleared a pathway.

About 2 a. m. Sunday, John Hopper was driving to the Hoppers' lake home when he noted that the same area was burning again. He summoned Ranger firemen who sped back to the scene and finally brought the blaze under control. Several trees were burned, however. But a cabin, several hundred feet away, threatened by the fire, was saved.

Fishing Contest Will Be Held Through July 11

One night's free lodging with all facilities and accommodations in a cabin at the Lake Leon Boat-club will be given for the largest rough fish caught at Lake Leon and weighed at the Boat-club. Another night's free lodging will be given for the largest game fish, black bass or catfish, caught and weighed at the Boat-club, according to an announcement made by S. J. (Jack) Chapman, manager of the Boat-club.

The contest started July 11 and will continue through July 11 at the lodges, one-half mile northwest of the Lake Leon dam.

Social Security Payments Over Billion Monthly

Payments totalling some 1.5 billion dollars are now going each month to nearly 20 million people in the form of retirement, disability, and survivors payments under the Social Security Act.

These figures were given day in a statement released by R. R. Tuley, Jr., social security district manager in Abilene.

At the beginning of 1964, some 92 million workers were insured, 56 million were permanently insured, and 54 million had worked long enough to qualify in case of disability. These figures have increased during 1964 and up to the present time.

The 56 million can expect to receive retirement payments whether or not they do additional work. The families of the 92 million can expect to receive monthly payments, a lump-sum amount, or both, in case of the worker's death. The 54 million and their families are protected in case of disability. The net effect is that some 90 per cent of the working population has protection against one or more of these risks.

Since all of these hazards are universal, social security is a basic source of income at retirement, disability, or death.

SENIOR CITIZENS ARE GIVEN HINTS FOR PLEASANT LIVING

About 20 years ago the average American could expect to die when he reached the retirement age of 65.

Today seventeen and a half million Americans are over 65, and the generation that can expect to live an average of 100 years may well be the generation now being born.

But just living longer isn't enough. Extra years mean little unless they're healthy, active years. You can keep young in spirit, body and mind—by practicing a little moderation and following these seven simple steps:

1. See your family physician regularly for a physical checkup. Today he can diagnose and treat successfully almost any disease or ailment, if he finds it early enough. He can also prevent many of the illnesses that may otherwise come your way.

2. Watch your diet. As the years pass you usually need less food, and there is some shift in nutritional requirements. You will need more protein, vitamins and fluids, but fewer fats and calories. No one can feel young and peppy when he's carrying extra weight. It's not only tiring, it's a threat to your health. If you need to lose weight, see your physician. He can establish a proper diet without missing out on important nutrients.

3. Get adequate rest. Both mind and body need peace and quiet to recoup from the rigors of the day. Know your limitations and avoid over-exertion and strain, both physically and mentally. Excessive emotional tension can wear you down too, so take each job as it comes; not everything at once. Plenty of rest can help you see things in their proper perspective, and a sense of humor is your best antidote for tension.

4. Pursue physical exercise. The mark of an "old" person is creaking joints, aching backs and a myriad of complaints. Keep all your body parts in good working order by using them. Frequent and planned exercise — mowing the lawn, a brisk walk to work, a round of golf, a refreshing swim, or even a game of croquet—will give you a zestful enjoyment of life.

5. Fill your days with productivity. The quickest way to "old age" is through boredom. So keep up your interest in your work and your surroundings. By doing a good job and taking pride in your work, your enthusiasm for living will be your years.

6. Participate in community affairs. Some people pursue the luxury of fussing and fretting about themselves at home alone. But, if you want to be among the happiest people — the doers — share your time and talents with such things as raising funds for charity, getting out the vote and participating in programs for civic improvement.

7. Prepare for your future. Another shortcut to "old age" is worry — and worry, besides putting you in an unpleasant frame of mind, can sometimes lead to illness. Many worries about tomorrow can be avoided if you plan today and budget for your future financial needs with such things as insurance and savings programs.

Rough, Tough Stock Now Hard To Find Provides Rodeo Thrills

No rodeo is better than its stock — and for that reason a hunt for outlaw horses and bulls with special talent for unseating a cowboy goes on year-long throughout the season.

Lloyd Woodley of Lampasas, producer of the 1964 Ranger Rodeo here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 9-10-11, is one of the men who make a business of providing such spirited animals for arena competition.

Woodley has been providing action and thrills for avid rodeo fans for 15 years and the secret of his success is his string of stock. And he has a woefully small surplus from which to draw. But, backed by experience and real savvy, he keeps his rodeo arsenal loaded with real dynamite.

In the past twenty years ranches which raised horses in vast numbers gradually have disappeared from the scene. These herds, from which rodeo drew many of its bucking prospects, have been supplanted in great part by the pickup truck and jeep.

Where once bucking horse prospects were purchased in car-load lots, now the stock contractor finds an individual animal. The shortage has made the search a day-to-day, overlook — nothing enterprise, fiercely competitive.

Oldtimers freely admit the present day bucking horse is ranker and harder to ride than when horses were plentiful. They have to be, for the current crop of riders have perfected the art of staying aboard.

With quality higher and quantity lower, the old rule of supply and demand has reached the rodeo arena. Value of a top bucking horse today can run into five figures, astronomical, when little over a decade ago a thousand dollars was top price for such an animal.

So far, the hump-shouldered brahma bulls used in rodeo contests present no such problem. A part of the nation's cattle industry, they can be found in almost every sector of the country. Once purchased, the best are screened for the arena, the remainder resold.

Rodeo bucking stock lead a good life. Their actual working hours are capped into a few minutes each year. Well-fed and cared for, as a category, the horse especially, outlast other types by years.

Cowboys themselves have great respect for the honest bucking animal. This accounts for their decision some years ago, to acknowledge the horse hardest to ride each season with the "bucking horse of the year" award. The selection is made from the collective stock contracting strings in the United States and Canada.

VISITS HERE

Norman Bailey of Oklahoma City was a Fourth of July visitor of his aunts, Mrs. W. P. Powell and Mrs. L. L. Bruce and other relatives.

He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matt Bailey of Ranger and is an industrial engineer at Tinker Field near Oklahoma City.

Typical Cowboy Much Different Than TV Type

According to tradition, fiction, the movies and TV, the cowpuncher is a strong and silent man. He is supposed to be slow to speak but faster than chain lightning when time comes for action.

Above all the man of the West is, if literature and popular opinion are to be believed, a modest person. His conversational abilities are supposed to be limited to monosyllabic expressions regarding the weather or some other such impersonal subject, says the San Angelo Standard-Times. From the way our cowpuncher has been written up for eastern readers, it is not surprising that the latter have gained the impression that the he-man of the West is as eloquent as a clam and as shy as a fawn. Such is far from the case—it is true that many range men are reticent and loathe to tout their own horn but those who are not afflicted with bashfulness and veracity make up for their neighbors who are.

For instance, there is the story told of an old timer regarding a certain roping match. He was pursuing a fleet calf, riding his best horse. The ground was muddy and slick, and just as the rider threw his rope his horse fell. This caused him to drop his tyne string from his mouth. How was he to tie the calf which was bawling and bucking at the end of the rope? Well, just as his horse fell he jerked off the bridle and tied the calf with the reins, winning first money.

Then there was the fellow who suffered a broken leg when his horse fell near a water hole. The horse broke its neck. There was our hero, miles from camp, suffering untold agonies, with no help in sight. He simply wiggled around and got his saddle and bridle off the dead horse. Then he snared a wild stallion that came to the water hole. Then he saddled and bridled the stallion and rode him back to camp. Then everybody who heard him tell this story got up and left.

These are stories actually told for the truth. They are not to be confused with the fables told for purposes of entertainment only. Either way the tales are told, however, they shouldn't refute the idea that no man born west of the Mississippi has an imagination of his own. Fact is, many westerners are as windy, as a day in March, and they're proud of it.

For instance, an old-timer swears that once in his youth, he roped a steer near the Llano River. Just as he caught the steer he jerked the slack out of the rope, and the rope flipped his expensive watch out of his pocket into a deep hole of water that was known as the home of big fish. Some 10 years later he returned to the spot to fish recently, he snagged a huge bass that weighed at least 10 pounds. The fish had a large knot on his jaw, and our hero was just about to throw it back when he decided to investigate the fish's swelling. Of course, the knot on the fish's jaw was caused by the presence of that high-priced watch. Moreover, the watch's stem had become entangled in the fish's gills so that it was wound each time the fish breathed. It had lost only 10 seconds in 10 years.

A HANDFUL OF DIRT will be this cowboy's only reward as he fails to stay aboard this wily mount for the action-packed 10 seconds required in the bronc riding event. Several cowpokes will eat lots of terra firma during the Jaycees' 1964 Ranger Rodeo on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 9-10-11.

Pronunciation Of A Popular Word Simple

This is tourist time. Highway 80 is buzzing with east and westbound traffic and, no doubt, there'll be a number of them in the stands watching the action at the 1964 Ranger Rodeo which explodes here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 9-10-11.

As a precaution, the visitors should be warned how to correctly pronounce "RODEO." Some folks will stand by their dictionaries and insist r-o-d-e-o pronounced "row-day-o." Others will put a slangish twist to the pronunciation with such effect as "ra-dio," "raw-dio," and "ray-dio." But if you go around the corals or are talking with the bow-legged gents who do the exciting happens in the ar-riding and roping, unless you want to arouse a few smiles, rodeo had better be pronounced "row" (like you pull on the oars) "de" (like in dees, dem and does) and "o" (like the gals say when something exciting happens in the arena.) Regardless of how you say it, it's one of Texas' and Southwest's most popular words. Yes, and it describes a very popular affair.

Ike Agronsky Biggest Moocher In Old Days; Antics Are Recalled

From the Sterling City News-Records, over the signature of "Uncle Bill" Kellis, comes the following story:

Most every old-time rancher between Colorado City and the Rio Grande remembers Ike Agronsky as the greatest moocher that ever pestered a cowman . . . Ike was a funny fellow. It was said that at one time he owned 40,000 head of sheep with never an acre of land on which to graze them, and yet, he managed to graze them on the choicest range.

After shearing his sheep at Colorado City he would steer his numerous flocks toward the Rio Grande. It took him six months to reach that river and six months to drive them back again. When these vast bands of sheep would enter a pasture, before they left it, the range would look like a swarm of Kansas grasshoppers had been there.

When Ike parked his outfit in a pasture he always had a good excuse for staying there as long as the grass and weeds lasted. The cowpunchers would cuss him until they exhausted their vocabulary of cuss words. Ike was a gentle natured individual, and would never cuss or fight back. He would willingly take a beating if he knew that his sheep were grazing on his attacker's land.

One day he drove his flocks into a fresh pasture and the owner proceeded to kick Ike and otherwise add to his discomfort. When asked the next day about the affair, Ike replied: "Well, vile he was kickin' me a roundt, my sheeps was eatin' his weeds."

Another day Ike invaded a pasture in which Bill Hiler was the foreman. Bill tried to get Ike to move on. Ike said he would do so as soon as his man got back from Colorado City with a wagon wheel which he sent there to be repaired. Bill saw the chuck wagon with one wheel missing but had his doubts about the wheel being broken. Ike assured Bill that as soon as he got his wheel he would move on. As Bill rode away, he noticed a wheel track in the dust and followed it to a waterhole. Bill fished the wheel out, tied his rope to it and dragged it back to Ike's camp and held him to his promise. With Bill's help, Ike moved on to fresh trouble.

Bill afterward became the first sheriff of Sterling County. The reason the boys didn't shoot Ike was because he never resented a wrong or an insult, but took what he wanted by passive force. Ike is dead. So are most of the men from whom he mooched grass and water.

Cowpoke Ballads, New And Old, Add Spice To Living In Cow Country

Nothing brings a broader smile or a happier glow to the faces of veteran ranchmen but here in the best of Texas area than the old time cowboy songs and ballads — songs that will live on as long as the ranching industry is carried on in West Texas.

Not only ranchers, but hundreds of county farmers and their families enjoy singing cowboy songs even now and then, for in cowboy songs folks find something of the clean, wholesome spirit that keeps the West—the West that early settlers knew—alive in the hearts of West Texans.

From 1910 to 1930, 1,000,000 Mustangs and 12,000,000 head of longhorn cattle were driven up the trail from Texas markets in Kansas, Wyoming, Montana and other Western states.

Behind and around each bunch of cattle rode a group of men, mostly very young, old, youthful vikings of the sea of sage grass — cowboys who rode with a song on their lips, hence the origin of many of our present-day cowboy songs.

What rancher and western fan doesn't remember songs of the open range like The Colorado Trail, Old Chisholm Trail, The Cowboy's Dream, Night Herding Song, Diamond Joe, Trail to Mexico, Goodbye, Old Paint and hundreds of others.

Just for the benefit of old times, as veteran ranchers put it, here are the names of some of the ever-new cowboy favorites:

The Big Corral, Utah Carrol, Home on the Range, Gal I Left Behind Me, Cow Camp on the Range, I Want to Be a Cowboy's Sweetheart, The Dying Cowboy, Whoopie Ti Yi Co, Got Along Little Dogies, Red River Valley, Jack Donahue, Sam Bass, Roy Bean, Rye Whiskey, Bill Venero, Cowboy Jack, Billy the Kid, When The Work's All Done This Fall, Zebra Dun, Little Joe the Wrangler, Great Granddaddy, The Great Roundup, I'd Like to Be In Texas When They Roundup in the Spring, Santa Fe Trail, Rounding Up in Glory, California Joe, The Dying Ranger, Cowboy's Lament, Sweet Betty From Pike, Little Old Shanty, Night Time in Nevada, Cow Camp on the Range, and literally hundreds of other numbers.

HIGH, WIDE AND HECTIC is action in bareback bronc riding to be featured as one of the top events during the 1964 Ranger Rodeo to be staged here at the Jaycees' arena on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 9-10-11.

Goat Roping Is Popular Sport

Faster than a calf, smarter than a steer, and as elusive as a greased pig. That is a fitting description of a goat.

Because of those qualities the sport of goat-roping is finding many followers.

Many communities have organized goat-ropers clubs, and every Sunday the boys get together, put up a jackpot, get a couple of timbers and go after the goats. The procedure is about the same as calf-roping with the same rules applying, but the times are lower.

The goats have a pernicious most sudden when a rider gets within looping distance and as a result it takes a good cow pony habit of changing their course and a rider who is able to stand the turn of a polo game to get the job done. And even after the loop is fastened over the goat, he most likely will take a notion to back track, which often causes roper, rider and horse and if the horse is on the excitable side, there is every chance the rider may find himself in a heap.

Goat clubs have been formed over the state and have been exceptionally successful everywhere. "Goat roping is just like trying to rope a jackrabbit," one of the ropers said but did not explain why jackrabbit roping had not been tried.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Thomas of Abilene were guests over the weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bruce.

Rodeo Sport Begin in '88 In Arizona

The popular rodeo sport is 76 years old this year.

The history of arena action dates back to 1888 when the first public rodeo was staged in Prescott, Ariz. Since that first competition, cowboy contests have grown in popularity until they now are attended by millions of ardent fans.

Rodeo is a word of Spanish origin signifying the roundup of cattle on the open range. Rodeo comes from the wide open range of the cattle country in frontier times.

In those days ranches were few and far between. Cowboys would often spend months out of sight of their own ranch house, their only companion being some of their fellow hands, their horses and their herds of longhorn steers.

Their one yearly gathering was the roundup. Here their natural exuberance was given full sway, friends would vie with one another in feats of horsemanship and the handling of cattle — the thing that was their daily life.

Pride in the home ranch led to challenges of one ranch outfit against another and soon the contests were extended to neighboring ranches and then into other states. As the competition grew the rodeo ceased to be confined to the time and place of the cattle roundup. Today they are being successfully staged from Canada to California, with livestock specially selected to tax men's skill so that now rodeo is far more thrilling than it was in the early times.

A rodeo is first, last and all the time a contest of superiority, where cowboys and cowgirls assemble at their own expense, pay an entrance fee in each and all the events and ride and rope according to rigid rules.
